2 For Iudáh preuailed aboue his brethren, & of him came ^b the prince, but the birthright was Ioséphs)

3 The sonnes of Reuben the eldest sonne of Isráél were Hanóch & Pallú, Hezión and Carmí.

4 The sonnes of Ioél, Shemaiáh his sonne, Gog his sonne, and Shimei his sonne,

5 Micháh his sonne, Reaiáh his sonne, and Báal his sonne,

6 Beeráh his sonne: whome Tilgáth Pilne-éser King of Asshúr ^c caryed away: he was a prince of the Reubenites.

7 And when his brethren in their families reckened the genealogie of their generations, Ieiel and Zechariáh were the chief,

8 And Béla the sonne of Azáz, the sonne of Shéma, the sonne of Ioél, which dwelt in ^d Aroér, eue vnto Nebó & Báal-meón.

9 Also Eastwarde he inhabited vnto the entring in of the wildernes from the ri-uer ^e Peiáth: for they had muche catell in the land of Gileád.

10 And in the dayes of Saúl they warred with the ^e Hagarims, which fell by their hands: and they dwelt in their tents in all the East partes of Gileád.

11 And the children of Gad dwelt ouer against them in the land of Bashán, vnto Salehá.

12 Ioél was the chiefest, and Shaphám the seconde, but Iaanái & Shaphát were in Bas-ahán.

13 And their brethrē of the house of their fathers were Michaél, & Meshullám, & Shebá, & Sorái, and Iacán & Ziá, & Ebér, & Seué.

14 These are the children of Abihái, the sonne of Hurí, the sonne of Iaroáh, the sonne of Gileád, the sonne of Michaél, the sonne of Ieshishái, the sonne of Iahabó, the sonne of Buz.

15 Ahí the sonne of Abdiél, the sonne of Guní was chief of the householde of their fathers.

16 And they dwelt in Gileád in ^f Bashán, & in the townes thereof, and in all the suburbs of Sharón, by their borders.

17 All these were reckned by genealogies in the dayes of Iothám King of Iudah, & in the dayes of Ieroboám King of Isráél.

18 The sonnes of Reuben and of Gad, & of halfe the tribe of Manasséh of those y were valiant men, able to beate shield, & sworde, and to drawe a bowe, exercised in warre, were foure & fourtie thousand, seuen hundred and threescore, that went out to the warre.

19 And they made warre with y Hagarims, with ^g Ietúr, & Naphísh and Nodab.

20 And they were ^h holpen against them, & the Hagarims were deliuered into their hand, and all that were with them: for they cryed to God in the battel, and he heard them, because they trusted in him.

21 And they led away their catell, ⁱ eue their camels fiftie thousand, and two hundred, & fiftie thousand shepe, and two thousand asses, and of ^j persones an hundred thousand.

- 46 The sonne of Amzí, the sonne of Baní,
the sonne of Shámer,
- 47 The sonne of Mahlí, the sonne of Mushí, the sonne of Merarí, & sonne of Leuí.
- 48 ¶ And their brethren the Leuites were appointed vnto all the seruice of the Tabernacle of the house of God,
- 49 But Aarón and his sonnes burnt incense vpon the altar of burnt offering, and on the altar of incense, for all that was to do in the moste holy place, and to make an atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the seruant of God had commanded.
- 50 These are also the sonnes of Aarón, Eleazár

Of Tola were valiant men of warre in their generacions, whose number was in the daies of Dauid two & twentie thousand, and six hundreth.

3 And the sonne of Vzzí was Izíahaiáh, & his sonnes of Izíahaiáh, Michaél, & Obadiáh, and Ioél, & Ishírah, five men all princes. 4 And with them in their generacions after the householdes of their fathers were bands of me of warre for battel, six & thirtie thousand: for they had many wiues and children.

5 And their brethren among all the families of Issachar were valiant men of warre, rekened in all by their genealogies foure score and seuen thousand.

6 ¶ The sonnes of Benamín were Béla, & Bécher, and Iediaél, three.

7 And the sonnes of Béla, Ezbón, & Vzzí, and Vzzíel, and Ierimóth, & Iri, five heads of the householdes of their fathers, valiant men of warre, and were rekened by their genealogies, two and twentie thousand & thirtie and foure.

8 And the sonnes of Bécher, Zemíah, and Ioásh, and Eliézer, and Eliocnáí, & Omrí, & Ierimóth, & Abiáh, & Anathórh, & Alámeth: all these were the sones of Bécher.

9 And they were nombred by their genealogies according to their generacions, and the chief of the houses of their fathers, valiant men of warre, twentie thousand & two hundreth.

10 And the sonne of Iediaél was Bilhán, and the sonnes of Bilhán, Ieúsh, and Beniamín, and Ehúd, and Chenaanáah, and Zethán, and Tharshísh, and Ahísháhar.

11 All these were his sonnes of Iediaél, chief of the fathers, valiant men of warre, seutene thousand & two hundreth, marching in battel aray to the warre.

12 And Shuppím, & Huppím were the sonnes of Iri, but Hushim was the sonne of another.

13 ¶ The sonnes of Naphtalí, Lahziél, and Guni, and Iézer, and Shállum: of the sonnes of Bilhán.

14 The sone of Manasséh was Ashiél, whom she bare vnto him, but his concubine of Arám bare Machíu the father of Gileád.

15 And Machíu toke to wife the sister of Huppím & Shuppím, and the name of their sister was Maacháh. And the name of the seconde sonne was Zelophehad, and Zelophehad had daughters.

16 And Maacháh the wife of Machír bare a sonne, and called his name Péresh, and the name of his brother was Shéiesh: and his sonnes were Vlám and Rakém.

17 And his sonne of Vlám was Bedán. These were the sonnes of Gileád the sonne of Machír, the sonne of Manasséh.

18 And his sister Moléchet bare Ishód, & Abiézer, and Mahaláh.

19 And the sonnes of Shemidá were Ahíán, and Shéchem, and Likhí, and Aníam.

20 ¶ The sonnes also of Ephraím were Shuthélai, & Béréd his sonne, & Táthath his sonne, and his sonne Eladáah, & Táthath his sonne, 21 And Zabád his sonne, and Shuthélah his sonne, and Ezéi, and Eleád: and the men of Gath that were borne in the land, slew them, because they came downe to take away their cattel.

22 Therefore Ephraím their father mourned many dayes, and his brethren came to comforte him.

23 And when he went in to his wife, she conceived, and bare him a sonne, & he called his name Beriáh, because affliction was in his house.

24 And his daughter was Sheráh, which buylt Beth horón the nether, and the upper, and Vzzén Sheeráh.

25 And Réphah was his sonne, & Resheph, and Télah his sonne, & Táhan his sonne,

1 The battel of Saúl against the Philistims, 4 In which he dyeth, 5 And his sonnes also. 13 The cause of Sauls death.

1 Sam. 31, 5. THEN * the Philistims fought against Israël: and the men of Israël fled before the Philistims, and fel downe slaine in mount Gilbóa.

2 And the Philistims pursued after Saúl & after his sonnes, and the Philistims smote Ionathán, and Abinadáb, & Malchishúa the sonnes of Saúl.

3 Elr founde. 3 And the battel was fore against Saúl, and the archers hit him, and he was wounded of the archers.

4 Then said Saúl to his armour bearer, Drawe out thy sworde, and thrust me through therewith, lest these vncircumcised come & mocke at me: but his armour bearer wolde not, for he was fore afraid: therefore Saúl toke the sworde & fel vpon it.

5 And when his armour bearer sawe that Saúl was dead, he fel likewise vpon the sworde, and dyed.

6 So Saúl dyed and his thre sonnes, and all his house, they dyed together.

7 And when all the men of Israël that were in the valley, sawe how they fled, and that Saúl and his sonnes were dead, they forsake their cities, & fled away, and the Philistims came, and dwelt in them.

8 Elr fallen. 8 And on the morowe when the Philistims came to spoile them that were slaine, they found Saúl & his sonnes lying in mount Gilbóa.

9 And when they had stript him, they toke his head and his armour, and sent them into the land of the Philistims round about, to publish it vnto their idoles, and to the people.

10 And they laied vpon his armour in the house of their god, and set vpon his head in the house of a Dagón.

a Which was the idole of the Philistims, & from the belly downward had the forme of a fish & vponwarde of a man.

11 ¶ Whé all thei of Iabésh Gileád heard all that the Philistims had done to Saúl, then they arose (all the valiant men) and toke the body of Saúl, and the bodies of his sonnes, and broght them to Iabésh, and buryed the bones of them vnder an oke in Iabésh, and fasted seven dayes.

12 Sam. 31, 13. 12 So Saúl dyed for his transgression, that he committed against the Lord, * euen against the worde of the Lord, which he kept not, and in that he fought and asked counsell of a familiar spirit,

CHAP. XI.

1 After the death of Saul is Dauid anointed in Hebrón. 5 The Iebusites rebell against Dauid, from whence he taketh the towre of Zión. 10 Ioáb is made captaine. 10 His valiant men.

2 Sam. 5, 1. THEN * all Israël gathered them selves to Dauid vnto Hebrón, saying, Beholde, we are thy bones and thy flesh. 2 And in time past, euen when Saúl was King, thou leddest Israël out and in: and the Lord thy God said vnto thee, Thou shalt fede my people Israël, and thou shalt be captaine ouer my people Israël.

3 So came all the Elders of Israël to the King to Hebrón, & Dauid made a couenāt with thei in Hebrón before the Lord. And they anointed Dauid King ouer Israël, according to the worde of the Lord by the hand of Samuél.

4 ¶ And Dauid & all Israël went to Ierusalém, which is Iebús, where were the Iebusites, the inhabitants of the land.

5 And the inhabitants of Iebús said to Dauid, Thou shalt not come in hither. Neuer theles Dauid toke the towre of Zión, which is the citie of Dauid.

6 And Dauid said, * Whoso euer smiteth the Iebusites first, shal be the chief & captaine. So Ioáb the sonne of Zeruiáh wēt first vpon, and was captaine.

7 And Dauid dwelt in the towre: therefore thei called it the citie of Dauid.

8 * And he buylt the citie on euerie side, fro Milló euen round about: & Ioáb repaired the rest of the citie.

9 And Dauid prospered, & grewe: for the Lord of hostes was with him.

10 Sam. 33, 8. 10 ¶ These also are the chief of the valiant men that were with Dauid & ioyned their force with him in his kingdome wth all Israël, to make him King ouer Israël, according to the worde of the Lord.

11 And this is the nombre of the valiant men whome Dauid had, Iathobeám the sonne of Hachmoní, the chief among thirty: he list vpon his speare against thre hundredth, whome he slewe at one time.

b Meaning the moste excellent & best esteemed for his valiantnes some read, the chief of the princes 10 Or, his vncle.

12 And after him was Eleazár the sonne of Dódo the Ahohite, which was one of the thre valiant men.

13 He was with Dauid at Pas-dammím, & there the Philistims were gathered together to battel: and there was a parcel of ground ful of barly, and the people fled before the Philistims.

14 And thei stode in the middes of the field, and saued it, and slewe the Philistims: so the Lord gaue a great victorie.

15 ¶ And thre of the thirtie captaines wēt to a rocke to Dauid, into the caue of Adullám. And the armie of the Philistims camped in the valley of Rephaim.

16 And when Dauid was in the holde, the Philistims garison was at Beth-léhem.

c This ad is referred to Shāmā, 2 Sam 23, 11. Wherewith was the chiefest of these d that is Eleazár & his two companions

2.Sam 23,15. 17 And Dauid longed, and said,* Oh, that one wolde giue me to drinke of the water of the well of Beth-léhem that is at the gate.
18 Then these thre brake thorowe the hoste of the Philistims, and drewe water out of the well of Beth-léhem that was by the gate, and toke it and broght it to Dauid: but Dauid wolde not drinke of it, but powred it for an oblation to the Lord,
19 And said, Let not my God suffer me to do this: shulde I drinke the blood of these mēs lues: for they haue broght it with the reopardye of their liues: therefore he wolde not drinke it: these things did these thre mightie m.n.
20 ¶ And Abshái the brother of Ioáb, he was chief of the thre, and he lift vp his speare against thre húdreth, and slewe thē, and had the name among the thre.
21 Among the thre he was more honorable then the two, & he was their captain: * but he attained not vnto the first thre.
2.Sam 23,19.
22 Benaiáh the sonne of Iehoiadá (the sonne of a valiant man) which had done manie act:s, and was of Kabzeél, he slewe two strong men of Moáb: he went downe also and slewe a lion in the middes of a pit in time of snow.
23 And he slewe an Egyptian, a mā of great stature, even five cubites long, and in the Egyptian hand was a speare like a weauers beame: and he went downe to him with a staffe, and plucked the speare out of the Egyptians hand, and slewe him with his owne speare.
24 These things did Benaiáh the sonne of Iehoiadá, & had the name among the thre worthies.
25 Bchelde, he was honorable among thirtie, but he attained not vnto the first thre.
* And Dauid made him of his counfel.

- Or, Mithmanah* Eliab the third,
 10 Mithmanah the fourte, Teremiah the fiftie, 11 Attai the sixt, Eliel the fevente,
 12 Iohanán the eight, Elzabád the ninte,
 13 Jeremíah the tente, Macbannái the eleuente.
 14 These were the sonnes of Gad, captaynes of the hoste: one of the least colde rest an hundreth, and the greatest a thousand.
 15 These are they that went ouer Iordén in the first moneth whē he had filled ouer all his bankes, and put to flight all them of the valley, towarde the East and the West.
 16 And there came of the children of Beniamín, and Iudah to the holde vnto Dauid, 17 And Dauid went out to mete them, and answered and said vnto them, If ye be come peaceably vnto me to helpe me, mine heart shalbe knit vnto you, but if you come to betray me to mine aduersaries, seing there is no wickednes in mine hádes, the God of our fathers beholde it, and rebuke it.
 18 And the spirit came vpon Amasai, which was the chief of thirtie, and he said, Thine are we, Dauid, & with thee, o sonne of Ishai. Peace, peace be vnto thee, and peace be vnto thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Thē Dauid receiued them, & made them captaynes of the garison.
 19 And of Manasséh some fel to Dauid, when he came with the Philistims against Saúl to battel, but they helped them not: for the princes of the Philistims by aduisement sent him away, saying, He wil fall to his master Saúl for our heades.
 20 As he went to Ziklag, there fel to him of Manasséh, Adnah, and Iozabád, and Iediaél, and Michaél, and Iozabád, and Eliahú, & Ziltai, heades of the thousands that were of Manasséh.
 21 And they helped Dauid againsts that báde. for they were all valiant men and were captaynes in the hoste.
 22 For at that time day by day there came to Dauid to helpe him, vntil it was a great hoste, like the hoste of God.
 23 And these are the numbers of the captaynes that were armed to battel, & came to Dauid to Hebion to turne the kingdome of Saúl to him, according to the worde of the Lord.
 24 The children of Iudah that bare shield & speare, were six thousand & eight hundred armed to the warre.
 25 Of the children of Simeón valiant men of warre, seven thousand and an hundred.
- 26 Of the children of Leui foure thousand and six hundred.
 27 And Iehoiadá was the chief of them of Aarón: and with him thare thousand and seven hundred.
 28 And Zadók a yong man very valiant, and of his fathers housholde came two and twentie captaynes.
 29 And of the children of Beniamín the brethré of Saúl thre thousand: for a great parte of them vnto that time kept the warde of the house of Saúl.
 30 And of the children of Ephraím twēcie thousand, & eight hundred valiant men & famous men in the housholde of their fathers.
 31 And of the halfe tribe of Manasséh eightene thousand, which were appointed by name to come and make Dauid King.
 32 And of the children of Issachár which were men that had vnderstanding of the times, to knowe what Israël ought to do: the heades of them were two hundred, & all their brethien were at their commandement.
 33 Of Zebulún that went out to battel, expert in warre, & in all instruments of warre, fiftie thousand which colde set the battel in aray: they were not of a double heart.
 34 And of Naphtalí a thousand captaynes, and with them with shield and speare seuen & thirtie thousand.
 35 And of Dan expert in battel, eight and twentie thousand, and six hundred.
 36 And of Ashér that went out to the battel and were trained in the warres, fourtie thousand.
 37 And of the other side of Iordén of the Reubenites and of the Gaddites, and of the halfe tribe of Manasséh with all instruments of waire to fight with, an hundred and twentie thousand.
 38 All these men of warre that colde lead an armie, came with vpright heart to Hebion to make Dauid King ouer all Israël: & all the rest of Israël was of one accorde to make Dauid King:
 39 And there they were with Dauid thre dayes, eating and drinking: for their brethren had prepared for them.
 40 Moreouer they that were nere them vntil Issachár, and Zebulún, and Naphtalí brought bread vpon asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, even meate, floure, figges, & reifins, and wine & oyle, & beues and shepe abundantly: for there was ioye in Israël.

And Dauid said to all the Cōgregation of Israél, If it seme good to you, and that it procedeth of the Lord our God, we wil send to and fio vnto our brethren, that are left in all the land of Israél (for with them are the Priests and the Leuites in y cities and their suburbs) that they may assemble them selues vnto vs.

And we wil bring againe the Arke of our God to vs: for we fought not vnto it in the dayes of Saúl.

And all the Congregation answered, Let vs do so: for the thing semed good in the eyes of all the people.

¶ So Dauid gathered all Israél together fió Shihór in Egypt, euē vnto the entring of Hamáth, to bring the Arke of God from Kiriath-iearím.

And Dauid went vp & all Israél to Baa-láth, in Kiriath-iearím, y was in Iudá, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lord that dwelleth betwene the Cherubims, where his name is called on.

And they caried the Arke of God in a newe cart out of the house of Abinadáb: and Vzzá and Ahíó guided the cart.

And Dauid and all Israél plaied before God with all their might, bothe w songs & with harpes, and with viols, and with timbrels and with cimbales and with trú-pets.

¶ And when they came vnto the threshing floore of Chidón, Vzzá put forthe his hand to holde the Arke, for the oxen did shake it.

But the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Vzzá, and he smote him, because he laied his hand vpon y Arke: so he dyed there before God.

And Dauid was angrie, because the Lord had made a breache in Vzzá, and he called the name of that place Pérez-vzzá vnto this day.

And Dauid feared God that day, sayíng, How shal I bring in to me the Arke of God?

Therefore Dauid broght not the Arke to him into the cite of Dauid, but caused it to turne into the house of Obéd Edóm the Gittite.

So the Arke of God remained in the house of Obéd Edóm, euen in his house thre moneths: and the Lord blessed the house of Obéd Edóm, and all that he had.

Hiram sendeth wood and workemen to Dauid. 4 The names of his children. 8. 14. By the counsel of God he goeth against the Philistims & ouercometh them. 25 God fighteth for him.

THen sent Hiram the King of Tyrus messengers to Dauid, & cedre trees, with masons & carpenters to buylde him an house.

Therefore Dauid knewe that the Lord had confirmed him King ouer Israél, & that his kingdome was lift vp on hie, because of his people Israél.

¶ Also Dauid toke mo wiues at Ierusalém, & Dauid begate mo sonnes & daughters.

And these are the names of the children which he had at Ierusalém, Shammúa, and Shobáb, Nathán, & Salomón,

And Ibhár, and Elishúa, and Elpálet,

And Nógah, and Népheg and Iaphíá,

And Elishamá, and Beeliadá, and Eliphálet.

But when the Philistims heard that Dauid was anointed King ouer Israél, all y Philistims came vp to seke Dauid. And when Dauid heard, he went out against them.

And the Philistims came, and spred them selues in the valley of Rephaím.

Then Dauid asked counsel at God, sayíng, Shal I go vp against y Philistims, & wilt thou deliuer them into mine hand? And the Lord said vnto him, Go vp: for I wil deliuer them into thine hand.

So they came vp to Báal-perazím & Dauid smote them there: and Dauid said, God hath deuided mine enemies with mine hád, as waters a. e. deuided: therefore thei called the name of that place, Báal-perazím.

And there they had left their gods: and Dauid said, Let them euen be burnt with fyre.

Againe the Philistims came and spred them selues in the valley.

And whē Dauid asked againe coufel at God, God said to him, Thou shalt not go vp after them, but turne away from them, that thou maiest come vpon them ouer against the mulberry trees.

And when thou hearest the noise of one going in the toppes of the mulberry trees, then go out to battel: for God is gone forthe before thee, to smite the hoste of the Philistims.

So Dauid did as God had commanded him: and they smote the hoste of the Philistims from Gibeón euen to Gézzer.

And the fame of Dauid went out into all lands and the Lord broght the feare of him vpon all nacions.

1 a And Dauid made him houses in the citie of Dauid, and prepared a place for the Arke of God, and pitched for it a tent.

a That was in the place of the citie called Zion, 2 Sam. 5, 3 Numb. 4, 8 & 20.

2 Then Dauid said, *None ought to cary the Arke of God, but the Leuites: for the Lord hath chosen them to beare the Arke of the Lord, and to minstre vnto him for euer.

b From the house of Obéd Edóm, 2 Sam. 6, 10

3 ¶ And Dauid gathered all Israël together to Ierusalém to bring vp the b Arke of the Lord vnto his place, which he had ordeined for it.

4 And Dauid assembled the sonnes of Aaron, and the Leuites.

c Or, his brethren

5 Of the sonnes of Kohath Vriél the chief, and his brethren six score.

6 Of the sonnes of Merari, Asaiáh the chief, and his brethren two hundred & twentie.

8 Of the sonnes of e Elizaphán, Shemaiah the chief, and his brethren two hundred.

9 Of the sonnes of d Hibrón, Eliél the chief, and his brethren foure score.

10 Of the sonnes of Vzziél, Amminadáb the chief, and his brethren an hundred & twelue.

11 ¶ And Dauid called Zadók & Abiathár the Priests, and of the Leuites, Vriél, Asaiáh and Ioél, Shemaiah, and Eliél, and Amminadáb:

e Prepare your selues, & be pure, & abstaine from all things where-by ye might be polluted, & so not able to come to the Tabernacle Ch. 13, 10. f According as he hath appointed in the Lawe 12 And he said vnto the, Ye are the chief fathers of the Leuites: sanctifie your selues, and your brethren, and bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israël vnto the place that I haue prepared for it.

g These instruments & other ceremonies, & the obseruance of their infirmitie, which continued to the coming of Christ.

13 For *because ye were not there at g first, the Lord our God made a bicache among vs: for we sought him not after due f order.

Exod. 25, 25.

14 So the Priests and the Leuites sanctified them selues to bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israël.

15 ¶ And the sonnes of the Leuites bare the Arke of God vpon their shulders with the bannes, as Moisés had commanded, *according to the worde of the Lord.

16 And Dauid spake to the chief of the Leuites, that they shulde appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with g instruments of musike, with viols and harpes, & cymbales, that they might make a sounde, and lift vp their voyce with ioye.

17 So the Leuites appointed Hemán the sonne of Ioél, and of his brethren Asaph the sonne of Berechiah, and of the sonnes of Merari their brethren, Ethán the sonne of Kufhaiáh,

18 And with them their brethren in the h seconde degre, Zechariah, Ben, and Iazziel, and Shemiramóth, and Iehiel, and Vnni, Eliáb, and Benaiáh, and Maasiah, & Mattithiah, and Elipheleh, and Mikneáh, and Obéd Edóm, and Ieiel the porters.

h Which were inferior in degree

19 So Hemán, Asaph & Ethán were singers to make a sounde with cymbales of brasle, 20 And Zechariah, and Aziél, and Shemiramóth, and Iehiel, and Vnni, and Eliáb, and Maasiah, and Benaiáh with viols on Alamóth, 21 And Mattithiah, & Elipheleh, and Mikneáh, and Obéd Edóm, and Ieiel, and Azaziah, with harpes k vpon Sheminith le-nazzeáh.

i This was an instrument of musike, or a certaine tune, whereto they accustomed to sing Psalms. k Which was eighth tune, order the which he was most excellent had charge l To wit, to appoint psalms, & songs to the that sang

22 But Chenaniah the chief of the Leuites had l the charge, bearing the burden in the charge, for he was able to instruct.

23 And Berechiah & Elkanáh were porters for the Arke.

24 And Seccaniah and Iehoshaphát and Nathaniel and Amathai, and Zachariah, and Benaiáh, and Eliezer the Priest, did blowe with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obéd Edóm and Ieiah were porters m for the Arke.

m With Berechiah & Elkanah, v. c. 23 2 Sam. 6, 18.

25 *So Dauid and the Elders of Israël and the captaynes of thousands went to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lord from the house of Obéd Edóm with ioye.

26 And because that God n helped the Leuites that bare the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, they offered o seuen bullockes and seuen rams.

n That is, gave them strength to execute their office. o Besides the bullocke and the fat beest, which Dauid offered at euery sixt parte, 2 Sam. 6, 13

27 And Dauid had on him a linen garment, as ail the Leuites that bare the Arke, and the singers and Chenaniah that had the chief charge of the singers: and vpon Dauid was a linen p Ephód.

p Read 2 Sam. 6, 14

28 Thus all Israël brought vp q the Arke of the Lords couenant with shouting and sounde of trumpets & with cornet, & with cymbales, making a sounde with viols & with harpes.

29 And when the Arke of the q couenant of the Lord came into the citie of Dauid, Michal the daughter of Saúl looked out at a window, & sawe King Dauid dancing and playing, and *she despised him in her heart.

q It was so called because it put the Israelites in remembrance of the Lord couenant made with them 2 Sam. 6, 16.

2 And when Dauid had made an end of sing y^e burnt offering & the peace offerings, he ^a blessed the people in the Name of the Lord.

3 And he dealt to euerie one of Israel bothe bread, and a piece of flesh, and a bottel of wine.

4 And he appointed certeine of the Leuites to minister before the Arke of the Lord, and to ^b rehearse and to thanke and praise
the Lord God of Israel,

the couenant of God.

7 Then at that time Dauid did ^c appoint at the beginning to giue thanks to the Lord by the hād of Asaph & his brethren.

8 *Praise the Lord & call vpon his Name:
declare his ^d workes among the people.

9 Sing vnto him, sing praise vnto him, and talke of all his ^e wonderful workes.

10 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the hearts

thē, that we may praise thine holy Name, and ^u glorie in thy praise.

36 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer: and let all people say, ^v So be it, and praise the Lord.

37 ¶ Then he left there before the Arke of the Lords couenant Asaph and his brethren to minister continually before the Arke, that which was to be done euerie day:

38 And Obéd Edóm and his brethren,

CHAP. XVII.

³ Dauid is forbidden to buylt an house vnto the Lord.
¹² Christ is promised vnder the figure of Salomon.
¹⁸ Dauid giueth thanks, ²³ And prayeth vnto
God.

his house, he said to Nathan ^y Prophet, Beholde, I dwel in an house of ^a ce-nant remaineth vnder ^b curtaines.

² Then Nathan said to Dauid, Do ^c all that is in thine heart. for God is with thee.

³ And the same ^d night euen the wordes of God came to Nathan, saying,

⁴ Go, and tel Dauid my seruāt, Thus saith the Lord, Thou shalt not buylde me an house to dwel in:

⁵ For I haue dwelt in no house, since the day ^y I brought out the children of Israël vnto this day, but I haue bene from ^e tent to tent, and from habitation to habitation.

⁶ Where soeuer I haue ^f walked with all Israël, spake I one worde to anie of the iudges of Israël (whome I commanded to sede my people) saying, Why haue ye not buylt me an house of cedre trees?

⁷ Now therefore thus shalt thou say vnto my seruāt Dauid, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I toke thee si ^o the shepecoate ^g & from following the shepe, that thou shuldest be a prince ouer my people Israël.
⁸ And I haue bene wth thee whethersoever thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and haue made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

⁹ (Also I wil appoint a place for my people Israël, & ^h wil plant it, that they may dwel in their place, and moue nomore:
nether shal the ⁱ wicked people ^j vex the anie more, as at the beginning,

¹⁰ And since the time that I commanded iudges ouer my people Israël) And I wil subdue all thine enemies: therefore I say vnto thee, that the Lord wil ^k buylde thee an house.

¹¹ And when thy dayes shalbe fulfilled to go with thy fathers, then wil I raise vp thy sede after thee, which shal be of thy sonnes, and wil stablish his kingdome.

¹² He shal buylde me an house, and I wil stablish his throne for ^k euer.

¹³ I wil be his father and he shalbe my sonne, and I wil not take my mercie away frō him, as I toke it from him that was before thee.

¹⁴ But I wil establish him in mine house, & in my kingdome for euer, and his throne shalbe stablished for euer,

¹⁵ According to all these wordes, and according to all this vision. So Nathan spake to King Dauid.

¹⁶ ¶ And Dauid the King ^m went in and sate before the Lord and said, Who am I, o Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought me ⁿ hether to.

¹⁷ Yet thou esteeming this a small thing, o God, hast also spoken concerning the house of thy seruāt for a great while, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of ^o hye degree, o Lord God.

¹⁸ What can Dauid ^p desire more of thee for the honour of thy seruāt: for thou knowest thy seruāt.

¹⁹ O Lord, for thy seruants sake, euen according to thine ^p heart hast thou done all this great thing to declare all magnificence.

²⁰ Lord, there ^q is none like thee, nether is there anie god besides thee, according to all that we haue heard with our eares.

²¹ Moreouer what one nation in the earth is like thy people Israël, whose God went to redeme the ^r to be his people, & to make thy selfe a Name, and to do great and terrible things by casting out nationes from before thy people, whome thou hast deliue-red out of Egypt.

²² For thou hast ordeined thy people Israël to be thine owne people for euer, and thou Lord art become their God.

²³ Therefore now Lord, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy seruāt & concerning his house, be confirmed for euer, and do as thou hast said,

²⁴ And let thy Name be stable & magnified for euer, that it may be said, The Lord of hostes, God of Israël, is the God of Israël, & let the house of Dauid thy seruant be stablished before thee.

²⁵ For thou, o my God, hast ^r reueled vnto the eare of thy seruāt, that thou wilt buylde him an house: therefore thy seruant hathe ^s bene bolde to pray before thee.

²⁶ Therefore now Lord (for thou art ^t God, and hast spoken this goodnes vnto thy seruāt)

²⁷ Now therefore, it hathe pleased thee to bless the house of thy seruāt, that it may be before thee for euer: for thou, o Lord, hast blessed it, & it shalbe blessed for euer.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Dauid causeth the people to be nombred. 14 And there dye seuentie thousand men of the pestilence.

1 And ^a Satan itode vp against Israél, and prouoked Dauid to number Israél.

^a He tempted Dauid in setting before his eyes his excellencie & glorie, his power & victories, read 2 Sam. 24, 1.

2 Therefore Dauid said to Ioáb, and to the rulers of the people, Go & number Israél from ^b Beer-sheba euen to Dan, and bring it to me, that I may know the number of them.

^b That is, fré South to North.

3 And Ioáb answered, The Lord increase his people an hundreth times so many as they be, ^o my lord the King: are they not all my lords seruants? wherefore doeth my lord require this thing? why shulde he be a cause of ^c trespasse to Israél.

4 Neuertheles the Kings worde preuailed against Ioáb. And Ioáb departed and wēt through all Israél, and returned to Ierusalém.

^c It was a thing indifferent & vsual to number the people, but because he did it of an ambitious minde, as though his strength stode in his people, God punished him. ^d Ioáb partly for grief and partly through negligence gathered not the whole summe: it is here declared.

5 And Ioáb gaue the number & summe of the people vnto Dauid: & all Israél were ^d eleuen hundreth thousand men ^ý drewe sworde: and Iudáh was ^e foure hundreth and seuentie thousand men that drewe sworde.

6 But the Leuites and Beniamín counted he not among them: for the Kings worde was abominable to Ioáb.

7 ¶ And God was displeased with this thig: therefore he smote Israél.

8 Then Dauid said vnto God, I haue sinned greatly, because I haue done this thing: but now, I beseeche thee, remove the iniquitie of thy seruant: for I haue done very foolishly.

^e In Samuél's mention of chieftie thousand more: ^ý was either by joyning to them some of the Beniaminites, & were mixed w Iudáh, or as ^ý Ebrewes write, here ^ý chief & princes are left out.

9 And the Lord spake vnto Gad Dauids ^{Seer}, saying,

10 Go and tel Dauid, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, I offie thee thre things: chose thee one of them, that I may do it vnto thee.

11 So Gad came to Dauid, and said vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord, Take to thee

12 Either thre yeres famine, or thre moneths to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, and the sworde of thine enemies ^{to take thee}, or els the sworde of ^ý Lord and pestilence in the land thre dayes, that ^ý Angel of the Lord may destroy throughout all the coastes of Israél: now therefore aduise thee, what worde I shal bring againe to him that sent me.

^o Or, smite thee.

23 And Dauid said vnto Gad, I am in a wonderful strait. let me now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies are exceed.ing great, & let me not fall into thy hand of mā.

14 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israël, and there fell of Israël seuenne thousand men.

15 ¶ And God sent the Angel into Ierusalem to destroye it. And as he was destroying, the Lord behelde, and repented of the euill and said to the Angel that destroyed, It is now ynough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stood by the threshing floore of 'Ornan the Iebusite.

16 And Dauid lift vp his eyes, and sawe the Angel of the Lord stād betwene the earth and the haeuē with his sworde draw n in his hand, and stetched out towarde Ierusalēm. Then Dauid and the Elders of Israēl, which were clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.

17 And David said vnto God, Is it not I that commanded to number the people?
It is euen I that haue sinned and haue committed euil, but these shepe what haue they done? O Lord my God, I beseeche thee, let thine hand be on me and on my fathers house, and not on ^h thy people for their destruction.

18 ¶ The the Angel of the Lord cōmanded
Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid shulde go vp, and set vp an altar vnto the Lord in the thieffing floore of Ornán the Iebulite.

19 So Dauid went vp according to y^e saying of Gad, which he had spokē in the Name of the Lord.

20 And Ornán turned about, and sawe the Angel, and his foure sonnes that were with him, ¹ and them selues, and Ornán chief-shed wheat.

21 And as Dauid came to Ornán, Ornán looked and sawe Dauid and went out of the threshing floore, and bowed him selfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.

23 And David said to Othniel, Give me the place of thy threshing floor, that I may buye an ^x altar therein vnto the Lord: giue it me for sufficient money, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 Then Ornan said vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, and let my lord the King do that which smeth him good. lo, I giue thee bullockes for burnt offerings, & thrashing instruments for wood, & wheat for meat offring, I giue it all.

24 And King Dauid said to O nán, Not so: but I will buye it for sufficient money.
for I wil not take that which is thine for y
Lerd, nor offer burnt offi'es without cost.

25 So Dauid gaueto Orinán for that place
2 fix hūdreth shekels of golde by weight.

26 And Dauid buylt there an altar vnto the Lord, and offered burnt offerings, and peace offerings, and called vpon the Lord, and he answered him by fyre from heauē vpon the altat of burnt offering.

27 And when the Lord had spoken to the Angel, he put vp his sworde againe into his sheathe.

28 At that time when Dauid sawe that the Lord ha^d heard him in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 (But the Tabernacle of the Lord which Moses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering were at that season in the high place at Gibeon.

30 And Dauid colde not go before it to aske counsel at God: for he was afraid of the sworde of the Angel of the Lord) of the Lord, and six thousand were ouerscers and iudges.

⁵ And foure thousand were porters, & foure thousand praised y Lord with instrumets which he made to praise the Lord.

⁶ *So Dauid deuided offices vnto them, to wit, to the sonnes of Leui, to * Gershón, Koháth, and Merari.

⁷ Of the Gershonites were Laadán and Shimeí.

⁸ The sonnes of Laadán, the chief was Iehiél, and Zethám and Ioél, thre.

⁹ The sonnes of Shimeí, Shelomíth, and Haziél and Harám, thre: these were the chief fathers of Laadán.

¹⁰ Also the sonnes of Shimeí were Iáhath, Ziná, Ieúsh, and Beriáh: these foure were the sonnes of Shimeí.

¹² ¶ The sonnes of Koháth were Amrá, Izhár, Hebrón and Vzziel, foure.

¹³ *The sonnes of Amrá, Aarón and Moses: and Aarón was separated to a sanctifie the moste holy place, he & his sonnes for euer to burne incense before the Lord, to minister to him, and to blesse in his Name for euer.

¹⁴ ¶ Moses also the man of God, & his children were named with the tribe of Leui.

¹⁵ The sonnes of Moses were Gershóm, and Eliézer,

¹⁶ Of the sonnes of * Gershóm was Shebuél the chief.

¹⁷ And the sonne of Eliézer was Rehabiáh the chief: for Eliézer had none other sonnes: but the sonnes of Rehabiáh were very many.

¹⁸ The sonne of Izhár was Shelomíth the chief.

¹⁹ The sonnes of Hebrón were Ieriáh the first, Amariáh the seconde, Iahaziél the third, and Iekamíam the fourth.

²⁰ The sonnes of Vzziel were Micháh the first, and Isshiáh the seconde.

²¹ ¶ The sonnes of Merari were Mahlí and Mushí. The sonnes of Mahlí, Eleazár and Kish.

²² And Eleazár dyed, and had no sonnes, but daughters, and then brethren the sonnes of Kish toke them.

²³ The sonnes of Mushí were Mahlí, and Edér, and Ierimóth, thre.

25 For Dauid said, The Lord God of Israel hath given rest vnto his people, that they may dwell in Ierusalem for euer.

26 And also the Leuites shal nomore beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the seruice thereof.

27 Therefore according to the last wordes of Dauid, the Leuites were nombred from twentie yere and aboue,

28 And their office was vnder the hand of the sonnes of Aarón, for the seruice of the house of the Lord in the courtes, and chambers, and in the ^fpurifying of all holy things, and in the worke of the seruice of the house of God,

29 Bothe for the shewbread, and for the fine flour, for the meat offering, and for the vnleauened cakes, and for the fryed things, and for that which was roasted, and for all measures and cise,

30 And for to stand euery morning, to giue thanks and to praise the Lord, & likewise at euen,

31 And to offer all burnt offerings vnto the Lord, in the Sabbaths, in the months, and at the appointed times, according to the number & according to their custome continually before the Lord,

32 And that they shulde kepe the charge of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the charge of the holie place, and the charge of the sonnes of Aarón their brethren in the seruice of the house of the Lord.

19 These were their ordres according to their offices, when they entred into the house of the Lord according to their custome vnder ^athe hand of Aarón their father, as the Lord God of Israel had commanded him.

20 And of the sonnes of Leui that remained of the sonnes of Amram, was Shubael, of the sonnes of Shubael, Iedaiah,

21 Of Rehabiah, euen of the sonnes of Rehabiah, the first Isshuah, 22 Of Izharí, Shelomoth, of the sonnes of Shelomoth, Iahath,

23 And his sonnes Ieriah the first, Amariah the seconde, Iahaziel the thirde, and Iekameam the fourth,

24 The sonne of Vzziél was Michah, the sonne of Michah was Shamir, 25 The brother of Michah was Isshuah, the sonne of Isshuah, Zechariah,

26 The sonnes of Merari were Mahli and Mushi, the sonne of Iazariah was Benó, 27 The sonnes of Merari of Iahaziah were Benó, and Shoham, and Zaccúr and Ibri.

28 Of Mahli came Eleazár, which had no sonnes.

29 Of Kish. the sonne of Kish was Ierahmeel,

30 And the sonnes of ^aMushi were Mahli, and Edér, and Ierimoth: these were sonnes of the Leuites after the household of their fathers.

CHAP. XXIX.

² The offering of Dauid and of the princes for the buylding of the Temple. 10 Dauid giueth thanks to the Lord. 20 He exhorteth the people to do the same. 22 Salomōn is created King. 25 Dauid dyeth, and Salomōn his sonne reigneth in his steade.

1 Moreouer Dauid the King said vnto all the Cōgregaciō, God hathe chosen Salomōn mine onelic sonne yong and tendre, & the worke ^{is} great: for this house ^{is} not for man, but for the ^a Lord God.

2 Now I haue prepared with all my power for the house of my God, golde for vessels of golde, and siluer for ^{them} of siluer, and brasse for things of brasse, yron for things of yron, and wood for things of wood & onix stones, and stones to be set, and carbuncle stones and of diuers colour, and all precious stones, & marble stones in abundance.

^a And therefore it ought to be excellent in all pointes,

3 Moreover because I haue ^b delite in the house of my God, I haue of mine owne golde and siluer, which I haue gaue to the house of my God, beside all that I haue prepared for the house of the Sanctuarie,

^b His great zeale toward the firmerace of the Temple made him to spare no expences, but to bestowe his owne peculiar treasure.

THE SECONDE BOKE of the Chronicles.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis seconde boke containeth briefly in effect that, which is comprehended in the two boke of the Kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomōn to the destruction of Ierusalém, and the carrying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this storie are certeine things declared and set forth more copiously then in the booke of the Kings, and therefore serue greatly to the vnderstanding of the Prophetes. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First that the godlie Kings, when they sawe the plagues of God prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues removed. The seconde how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that suche as feare him and professe his religion, shoulde soye in amitie with the wicked. And thirde how the good rulers euer loued the Prophetes of God, and were very zealous to set forth his religion throughout all their dominions, and contrarie wise the wicked hated his ministers, deposed them, and for the true religion and worde of God, set vp idolatrie, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chief actes from the beginning of the worlde to the buylding agayne of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yere of Darus, and cometh in the whole, three thousand, foure hundred, foure score and eight yeres, and six moneths.

CHAP. I.

4 The offering of Salomón at Gibeón. 8 He prayeth vnto God to giue him wisdom. 13 Which he giueth him and more. 14 The number of his charrets and horses. 15 And of his riches.

1 THÉ Salomón the sone of Dauid was confirmed in his kingdome: & ^a Lord his God was with him, & magnified him highlie.

And Salomón ^a spake vnto all Israél, to the captaines of thousands, and of hundredes and to the iudges, and to all the gouernours in all Israél, ^a even the chief fathers.

3 So Salomón and all the Congregation with him went to the hye place that was at ^b Gibeón: for there was the Tabernacle ^c of the Cōgregation of God which Moses the seruant of the Lord had made in the wilderness.

4 But the Arke of God had Dauid brought vp from Kiriath-earím, when Dauid had made preparation for it: for he had pitched a tent for it in Ierusalem.

5 Moreouer the ^d brazen altar ^a that Bezaleel the sone of Uri, the sone of Hur had made, did he set before the Tabernacle of the Lord: and Salomón and the Cōgregation sought it.

6 And Salomón offred there before ^e Lord vpon the brazen altar that was in the Tabernacle of the Congregation: ^a euen a thousand burnt offerings offred he vpon it.

7 ¶ The same night did God appeare vnto Salomón, and said vnto him, Aske what I shal giue thee.

8 And Salomón said vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercie vnto Dauid my father and hast made me to reigne in his steade.

9 Now therefore, O Lord God, let thy promises vnto Dauid my father be true: for thou hast made me King ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.

10 Giue me now wisdom and knowledge, ^f that I may go out & go in before this people: for who can iudge this thy great people?

11 And God said to Salomón, Because this was in thine heart, & thou hast not asked riches, treasures nor honour, nor the liues of thine enemies, nether yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisdom & knowledge that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whome I haue made thee King, 12 Wisdom & knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I wil giue thee riches and treasures and honour, so that there hath not bene the like among the Kings which were before thee, nether after thee shal there be ^e like.

13 Then Salomón came from the hye place, that was at Gibeón, to Ierusalem from before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and reigned ouer Israél.

14 ^a And Salomón gathered the charrets & ^a King. 10, 26 horfmen: and he had a thousand and foure hundred charrets, & twelue thousand horfmen, whome he placed in the ^b charret cities, and with the King at Ierusalem.

15 And the King gaue siluer and golde at Ierusalem as ^c stones, & gaue cedre trees as the wilde fig trees, that are abundantly in the plaine.

16 Also Salomón had horses brought out of Egypt and ^e fine linen: ^k the Kings marchants received the fine linen for a price.

17 They came vp also and brought out of Egypt ^e some charret, ^e worthe six hundred shekels of siluer, that is an horse for an hundred and fiftie: & thus they brought horses to all the Kings of the Hittites, and to the Kings of Arám by their meanes.

2 The number of Salomons workemen to buyld the Temple 3 Salomón sendeth to Hurám the King of Tyrus for wood and workemen.

1 THÉ Salomón determined to buyld an house for the Name of the Lord, & an ^a house for his kingdome.

2 And Salomón tolde out seuentie thousand that bare burdens, and foure score thousand men to hewe ^a stones in the mountaine, and three thousand and ^a six hundred to ouersee them.

3 And Salomón sent to Hurám the King of Tyrus, sayig, As thou hast done to Dauid my father, & ^a didest send him cedre trees to buyld him an house to dwel in, ^a so do to me.

4 Beholde, I buyld an house vnto the Name of ^e Lord my God, to sanctifie it.

11 Then Hiram King of Tyrus answered in writing which he sent to Salomon, Because the Lord hath loued his people, he hath made thee King ouer them.

e The very heathen confessed that it was a singular gift of God, when he gaue to any nation a King that was wise & of vnderstanding, albeit it appeareth that this Hiram had true knowledge of God & it is allowed that he was of the tribe of Naphthali. King 7:14 which may be vnderstand that by reason of the confusion of tribes, he then began to be their married in diuers tribes, so that by her faith he might be of Dan, and by her mother of Naphthali.

12 Hiram said moreover, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel which made the heauen and the earth, and that hath giuen vnto Dauid the King a wise sonne, that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to buyld an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.

13 Now therefore I haue sent a wise man, & of vnderstanding of my father Hiram,

14 The sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyrus, & he can skill to worke in golde, in siluer, in brasle, in yron, in stone, and in timbre, in purple, in blew silk, and in fine linen and in crimson, and can graue in all grauen works, and broder in all broyded worke that shall giue him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord Dauid thy father.

15 Now therefore the wheat and the barley, the oyle & the wine, which my lord hath spoken of, let him send vnto his seruants.

16 And we wil cut wood in Lebanon as muche as thou shalt nede, and wil bring it to thee in iafes by the sea to Iapho, so thou maiest cary them to Ierusalem.

Or, / 10. 10.

17 And Salomon nobred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the nombring that his father Dauid had nombred them: and they were founde an hundred and thre and fiftie thousand, and six hundred.

18 And he set scuentie thousand of them to the burden, and fourescore thousand to hewe stones in the mountaine, & thre thousand and six hundred ouerseers to cause the people to worke.

CHAP. III.

The Temple of the Lord, and the porche are buylded, with other things thereto belonging.

1 SO Salomon began to buyld the house of the Lord in Ierusalem, in mount Moriath which had bene declared vnto Dauid his father, in the place that Dauid prepared in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite.

a Which is Mourine where Abraham thought to haue sacrificed his sonne, Gen 22:2.

2 And he began to buyld in the seconde moneth of the seconde day, in the fourth yere of his reigne.

2 Sam. 14:16.

3 And these are the measures, whereon Salomon grounded to buyld the house of God: the length of cubites after the first measure was threescore cubites, & the breadth twenty cubites:

b According to the whole length of the Temple, comprehending the most holy place & the rest. c It contained as much as did the breadth of the Temple, 1 King 6:1

4 And the porche, y was before the length in the fronte of the breadth was twentie cubites, and the height was an hundred and twentie, & he ouerlaid it within with pure golde.

d From the fundacion to the top for in the booke of Kings mencion is made, from the fundacio to the first Raze.

5 And the greater house he syled with firre tree which he ouerlaid with good golde, & graued thereon palmetrees & chaines.

e Some thinke it is y place which is called Peru.

6 And he ouerlaid y house with precious stone for beautie: and the golde was golde of Paruaim.

7 The house, I say, the beames, postes, and walles thereof and the doores thereof ouerlaid he with golde, and graued Cherubims vpon the walles.

8 He made also y house of the moste holy place: the length thereof was in the fronte of the breadth of the house, twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof twentie cubites: and he ouerlaid it with the best golde, of six hundred talents.

9 And the weight of the nailes was fiftie shekels of golde, and he ouerlaid the chambers with golde.

10 And in the house of the moste holy place he made two Cherubims wight like children, and ouerlaid them with golde.

11 And the wings of the Cherubims were twenty cubites long: the one wing was five cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing five cubites, reaching to y wing of the other Cherub.

12 Likewise the wing of the other Cherúb was five cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing five cubites joining to the wing of the other Cherúb.

13 The wings of these Cherubims were spread abroad twentie cubites: they stood on their feet and their faces were toward the house.

^f Which separated the Temple from the most holy place.

14 ¶ He made also the vaile of blew, filke and purple, and crimosin, and fine linen, & wrought Cherubims thereon.

15 ¶ And he made before the house two pillars of five and thirtie cubites high: and the chapter that was upon the top of each of them, was five cubites.

^g Euerie one was eight cubites long but the halfe cubite could not be seen for it was hid in the roundness of the chapter & therefore he gueseth to euerie one but 17, and an halfe.

16 He made also chains for the oracle, and put them on the heades of the pillars, and made an hundred pomegranates, and put them among the chains.

^h For euerie pillar an hundred, read. 1. King 7.10.

17 And he set up the pillars before the Temple, one on the right hand & the other on the left, and called that on the right hand Iachin, and that on the left hand Bóaz.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The altar of brasie 2 The molten Sea 3 The caldrons. 7 The candlestickes, &c.

1 And he made an altar of brasie twentie cubites long, and twentie cubites broad, and ten cubites high.

² A great vessel of brasie, so called because of the great quantitie of water, & it contained, 1. King 7.23.

2 And he made a molten Sea of ten cubites from brim to brim, rounde in compass, and five cubites high: and a line of thirtie cubites did compass it about.

³ Meaning, vnder the brim of the vessel, as 1. King 7.24.

3 And vnder it was the facion of oxen which did compass it round about, ten in a cubite compassing the Sea about: two rowes of oxen were cast when it was molten.

4 It stood upon twelue oxen: three looked toward the North, and three looked toward the West, & three looked toward the South, and three looked toward the East, and the Sea stood about upon them, and all their hinder partes were inward.

⁴ Or, floure dely.

5 And the thicknes thereof was an hand breadth, and the brimner of it was like the worke of the brim of a cup, with floures of lilies: it contained a thousand baths.

6 ¶ He made also ten caldrons, and put five on the right hand, and five on the left, to wash in them & to cleanse in them that which appertained to the burnt offerings: but the Sea was for the Priestes to wash in.

7 ¶ And he made ten candlestickes of golde (according to their forme) and put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left.

8 ¶ And he made ten tables, & put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, & five on the left: and he made an hundred basens of golde.

9 And he made the court of the Priestes, & the great court and dores for the court, & overlaid the dores thereof with brasie.

10 And he set the Sea on the right side Eastward toward the South.

11 And Hurám made pottes and besomes and basens, and Hurám finished the worke that he shulde make for King Salomón for the house of God,

12 To wit, two pillars, & the bowles & chapters on the toppe of the two pillars, and two grates to couer the two bowles of the chapters which were upon the toppe of the pillars:

13 And foure hundred pomegranates for the two grates, two rowes of pomegranates for euerie grate to couer the two bowles of the chapters, that were upon the pillars.

14 He made also basens, and made caldrons upon the basens.

15 And a Sea, and twelue bulles vnder it:

16 Pottes also and besomes, and fleshokes, and all these vessels made Hurám his father, to King Salomón for the house of the Lord of shining brasie.

17 In the plaine of Iordén did the King cast them in claye betwene Succóth and Zeredáthah.

18 And Salomón made all these vessels in great abundance: for the weight of brasie could not be reckened.

19 And Salomón made all the vessels that were for the house of God: the golden altar also & the tables, whereon the shewbread stood.

20 Moreouer the candlestickes, with their lampes to burne them after the maner before the oracle, of pure golde.

21 And the floures and the lampes, and the snuffers of golde, which was fine golde.

22 And the hookes, and the basens, and the spones, and the ashpens of pure golde: the entrie also of the house & dores thereof within, euen of the most holy place: and the dores of the house, to wit, of the Temple were of golde.

^f Called also the porche of Salomón. 2. King 3.11. It is also taken for the Temple where Christ preached, Mat 21. 23.

^g Or, caldrons.

^h Whome Salomón reuerenced for gifts that God had giue him, as a father he had the same name also that Hurám the King of Tyre had, his mother was a Jewish & his father a Syrián. Some read, for his father, the author of this worke. In Ebrewe, the bread of the faces, because they were set before the Arke, where the Lord shewed his presence.

1 So was all the worke finished that Salomón made for the house of the Lord, and Salomón brought in the things that David his father had dedicated, with the siluer and the golde, and all the vessels, & put them among the treasures of the house of God.

2 Then Salomón assembled the Elders of Israël, and all the heades of the tribes, the chief fathers of the children of Israël vnto Ierusalém to bring up the Arke of the couecouenant of the Lord from the citie of David, which is Ziōn.

3 And all the mē of Israēl assembled vnto the King at the feast: it was in the sequēt^c monerh.

4 And all the Elders of Israēl came, & the Leuites toke vp the Arke.

5 And they caryed vp the Arke and the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priests & Leuites bring vp.

6 And King Salomōn and all the Congregation of Israēl that were assembled vnto him, were before the Arke, offering shepe & bullockes, which colde not be tolde nor nombred for multitude.

7 So the Priests brought the Arke of the couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of the house, into the moſte Holy place, even vnder the wings of the Cherubims.

8 For the Cherubims stretched out their wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims couered the Arke and the barres thereof aboue.

9 And they drew out the barres, that the ends of the barres might be sene out of the Arke before the Oracle, but they were not sene without: and there they are vnto this day.

10 Nothing was in the Arke, saue the two Tables, which Moſes gaue at Horeb, where the Lord made a couenant with the children of Israēl, when they came out of Egypt.

11 And when the Priests were come out of the Situarie (for all the Priests that were present, were sanctified and did not waite by couſe.

12 And the Leuites the fingers of all sortes, as of Aſaph, of Hemān, of Ieduthūn & of their ſonnes and of their brethren, being cladde in fine linnen, ſtoode with cymbales, & with vholes and harpes at the Eaſt end of the altar, and with them an hundredth & twentie Priests blowing with trumpets:

13 And they were as one, blowing trumpets, and ſinging, and made one ſounde to be heard in prauiſing and thanking the Lord, and when they liſt vp their voyce with trumpets and with cymbales, and with instruments of muſike, and when they praised the Lord, ſinging, & For he is good, because his mercie laſteth for euer) then the house, even the house of the Lord was filled with a cloude, 14 So that the Priests colde not ſtand to miniſtre, because of the cloude: for the glorie of the Lord had filled the house of God.

3 Salomōn bleſſeth the people 4 He praiſeth the Lord.
14 He praiſeth vnto God for thoſe that ſhal pray in the Temple.

THE Salomōn ſaid, The Lord hathe ſaid that he wolde dwel in the darke cloude:

2 And I haue buylt thee an houſe to dwel in, an habitation for thee to dwel in for euer.

3 And the King turned his face, & bleſſed all the Congregation of Israēl (for all the Congregation of Israēl ſtoode there)

4 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Israēl, who ſpake with his mouthe vnto Dauid my father, & hathe with his hand fulfilled it, ſaying,

5 Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I choſe no citie of all the tribes of Israēl to buylde an houſe, that my Name might be there, neither choſe I anie man to be a ruler ouer my people Israēl:

6 But I haue choſen Ieruſalēm, that my Name might be there, and haue choſen Dauid to be ouer my people Israēl.

7 And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to buylde an houſe vnto the Name of the Lord God of Israēl,

8 But the Lord ſaid to Dauid my father, Where as it was in thine heart to buylde an houſe vnto my Name, thou diſteſt wel, that thou waſt ſo minded.

9 Notwithſtanding thou ſhalt not buylde the houſe, but thy ſonne which ſhal come out of thy loynes, he ſhal buylde an houſe vnto my Name.

10 And the Lord hathe performed his worde that he ſpake: and I am riſen vp in the ſeume of Dauid my father, and am ſet on the throne of Israēl as the Lord promiſed, and haue buylt an houſe to the Name of the Lord God of Israēl.

11 And I haue ſet the Arke there, wherein is the couenant of the Lord, that he made with the children of Israēl.

12 ¶ And y^e King ſtoode before the altar of the Lord, in the preſence of all the Congregation of Israēl, and ſtretched out his hands,

13 (For Salomōn had made a braſen ſkaf-ſolde & ſet it in the middes of the courte of ſiue cubites long, & ſiue cubites broad, and thre cubites of height, and vpon it he ſtoode, and kneled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregation of Israēl, & ſtretched out his hands toward heauen)

14 And ſaid, O Lord God of Israēl, there is no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which kepeſt couenant, and mercie vnto thy ſeruants, that walke before thee with all their heart.

15 Thou that haſt kept with thy ſeruant Dauid my father, that thou haſt promiſed him: for thou ſpakeſt with thy mouthe, & haſt fulfilled it with thine hand, as appeareth this day.

- ¹⁶ Therefore now Lord God of Israël, kepe with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him, saying, Thou shalt not wāt a man in my sight, that shall sit vpon the throne of Israël: so that thy sonnes take hede to their waies, to walke in my Lawe, as ^h thou hast walked before me.
- ¹⁷ And now, ^o Lord God of Israël, let thy worde be verified, which thou spakest vnto thy seruant Dauid.
- ¹⁸ (Is it true in dede that God wil dwel with man on earth: beholde, the ^{*} heauens, and the heauens of heauens are not able to containe thee: how muche more ^{ynable} is this house, which I haue buylt.)
- ¹⁹ But haue thou respect to the prayer of thy seruant, & to his supplicacion, ^o Lord my God, to heare the crye & prayer which thy seruant prayeth before thee,
- ²⁰ That thine ^e eyes may be open toward this house day and night, ^{euē} toward the place, whereof thou hast said, That thou woldest put thy Name there, that thou maiest hearken vnto the prayer, which thy seruant prayeth in this place.
- ²¹ Heare thou therefore the supplicacion of thy seruant, and of thy people Israël, which they praye in this place: and heare thou in the place of thine habitation, ^{euē} in heauen, and when thou hearest, be merciful.
- ²² ¶ ^{*} When a man shall sinne against his neighbour, and he lay vpon him an othe to cause him to sweare, and the ^o sweaier shall come before thine altar in this house,
- ²³ Then heare thou in heauen, and do, and iudge thy seruants, in recompensing the wicked to bring his way [&] vpon his head, and in iustifying the righteous, to giue him according to his rightousnes.
- ²⁴ ¶ And when thy people Israël shall be ouerthrowen before the enemye, because they haue sinned against thee, and turne againe, and confesse thy Name, and pray, and make supplicacion before thee in this house,
- ²⁵ Then heare thou in heauen, and be merciful vnto the sinne of thy people Israël, and bring the againe vnto the land which thou gauest to them and to their fathers.
- ²⁶ When heauen shall be shut vp, and there shall be no raine, because they haue sinned against thee, and shall pray in this place, & confesse thy Name, and turne from their sinne, when thou doest afflict them,
- ²⁷ Then heare thou in heauen, and pardone the sinne of thy seruants, and of thy people Israël (whē thou hast taught them the good way wherein they may walke) & giue raine vpon thy land, which thou hast giue vnto thy people for an inheritance.
- ²⁸ ¶ When there shall be famine in the lād, when there shall be pestilence, blasting, or mildewe, when there shall be grefshopper, or caterpillar, when their enemye shall besiege them in the cities of their land, or any plague or any sicknes,
- ²⁹ Then what prayers and supplicacion soeuer shall be made of any man, or of all thy people Israël, when euerie one shall knowe his owne plague, and his owne disease, and shall stretch forth his hands toward this house,
- ³⁰ Heare thou then in heauen, thy dwelling place, and be merciful, and giue euē mē according vnto all his wayes, as thou doest knowe his ^h heart (for ^o onely knowest the hearts of the children of men)
- ³¹ That they may feare thee, and walke in thy wayes as long as they liue in the land which thou gauest vnto our fathers.
- ³² ¶ Moreouer as touching the stranger which is not of thy people Israël, who shall come out of a faire countrey for thy great Names sake, & thy mightie hand, and thy stretched out arme: when they shall come and pray in this house,
- ³³ Heare thou in heauē thy dwelling place, and do according to all that the stranger calleth for vnto thee, that all the people of the earth may knowe thy Name, and feare thee like thy people Israël, and that they may knowe, that thy Name is called vpon in this house which I haue buylt.
- ³⁴ ¶ When thy people shall go out to battell against their enemies, by the way that thou shalt send them, and they praye to thee, in the way toward this citie, which thou hast chosen, euē toward the house which I haue buylt to thy Name,
- ³⁵ Then heare thou in heauen their prayer and their supplicacion, and iudge their cause.
- ³⁶ If they sinne against thee (^{*} for there is no man that sinneth not) and thou be angry with them and deliuer them vnto the enemies, and they take them & cary them away captiue vnto a land farre or nere,
- ³⁷ If they turne againe to their heart in the land whether they be caryed in captiues, and turne & pray vnto thee in the lād of their captiuitie, sayig, We haue sinned, we haue transgressed and haue done wickedly,
- ³⁸ If they turne againe to thee with all their heart, and with all their soule in the land of their captiuitie, whether they haue caryed them captiues, & pray toward their lād, which thou gauest vnto their fathers, and toward the citie which thou hast chosen, and toward the house which I haue buylt for thy Name,

The fyre consumeth the sacrifice 2 The glorie of the Lord filleth the Temple 12 He heareth his prayer, 17 And promisseth to exalt him and his treece.

1 AND ^aWHE Salomon had made an end of prayng, ^a fyre came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offering & the sacrifices. and the glorie of the Lord filled the house,

2 So that the Priests colde not enter into the house of the Lord, because the glorie of the Lord had filled the Lords house.

3 And when all the children of Israel saw the fyre, and the glorie of the Lord come downe vpon the house, they bowed them selues with their faces to the earth vpon the pavement, and worshiped and praised the Lord, saying, For he is good, because his mercie lieth for euer.

King 8. 65. 4 *Then the King and all the people offered sacrifices before the Lord.

5 And King Salomon offered a sacrifice of two and twentie thousand bullockes, and an hundred and twentie thousand sheepe. for the King and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the Priests waited on their offices, & the Leuites with the instruments of musike of the Lord, which King Dauid had made to praise ^y Lord, Because his mercie lasteth for euer: when Dauid praised God ^y by them, the Priests also blew trumpets ouer against them: and all they of Israel stood by.

7 Moreover Salomon halowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there he had prepared burnt offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the brasen altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receiue ^y burnt offering, and the meat offering, and the fat.

8 And Salomon made ^b a feast at that time of seven dayes, & all Israel with him, a very great Congregation, from the entering in of Hamath, vnto the riuier of Egypt.

9 And in the eight day they ^c made a solenne assemblie, for they had made the dedication of the altar seven dayes, and the feast seven dayes.

10 And the ^d thre and twentieth day of the seventh moneth, he sent the people away into their tents, ioyous & with glad heart, because of the goodness that the Lord had done for Dauid and for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

11 *So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all that came into Salomons heart to make in the house of the Lord, and he prospered in his house.

12 ¶ And the Lord ^a appeared to Salomon Nem. 12. 6. by night and said to him, I haue heard thy prayer, and haue chosen this place for my selfe to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heauen that there be no raine, or if I commande the grasshopper to deuore the land, or if I send pestilence among my people, 14 If my people, among whome my Name is called vpon, do humble them selues, & praye, and seke my presence, and turne fro their wicked wayes, then wil I heare in heauen, and be merciful to their sinne, and wil ^e heale their land.

15 Then mine eyes shalbe open and mine eares attend vnto the prayer made in this place.

16 For I haue now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for euer: and mine eyes and mine heart shalbe there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as Dauid thy father walked, to do according vnto all that I haue commanded thee, and shalt obserue my statuts & my iudgements, 18 Then wil I stablish the throne of thy kingdom, according as I made the covenant with Dauid thy father, saying, *Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel.

19 But if ye turne away, and forsake my statuts and my commandements which I haue set before you, and shal go and serue other gods, and worship them,

20 Then wil I plucke them vp out of my land, which I haue giuen them, and this house which I haue ^f sanctified for my Name, wil I cast out of my sight, and wil make it to be a prouerbe and a commune talke among all people.

21 And this house which is moste hie, shalbe an astonishment to euerie one ^y passeth by it, so that he shal say, Why hath the Lord done thus to this land, and to this house?

22 And they shal answer, Because they forsoke the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and haue taken holdie on other gods, and haue worshiped them, and serued them, therefore hathe he brought all this euil vpon them.

rám b gaue to Salomón, and caused the children of Israël to dwel there.

And Salomón went to Hamáth Zobáh, and ouercame it.

And he buylt Tadmór in the wildernes, & repaired all c the cities of store which he buylt in Hamáth.

And he buylt d Beth-horón the vpper, & Beth-horón y nether, cities defended with walles, gates and barres:

Also Baaláth, and all the cities of store that Salomón had, and all the charet cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and euerie pleasant place that Salomón had a minde to buylde in Ierusalém, & in e Le-banón, and throughout all the land of his dominion,

And all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, and Perizites, and the Hiuuities, and the Iebusites, which were not of Israël,

But of their children which were left after them in the land, whome the children of Israél had not consumed, euen the did Sa-lomón make tributaries vntil this day.

But of the childre of Israël did Salomón make no seruants for his worke: for they were mé of warre, and his chief prnces, & the captaines of his charrets & of his horsemen.

So these were the chief of the officers which Salomón had, euen f two hundreth and fiftie that bare rule ouer the people.

¶ The Salomón brought vp the daughter of Pharázoh out of the citie of Dauid, into the house that he had buylt for her: for he said, My wife shal not dwel in the house of Dauid King of Israël: for it is holy, because that the Arke of the Lord came vnto it.

¶ Then Salomón offred burnt offerings vnto the Lord, on the * altar of the Lord, which he had buylt before the porche,

To * offer according to the commandement of Mosés euerie day, in the Sabbaths, and in the newe moones, and in the solemne feastes, g thre times in the yere, that is, in the feast of y Vnleauened bread, and in the feast of the Weekes, and in the feast of the Tabernacles.

And he set the courses of the Priests to their offices, according to y ordie of Da-uid his father, & the Leuites in their watches, for to praise and minister before the Priests euerie day, & the porters by * their courses, at euerie gate: for so was the commandement of Dauid the man of God.

And they declined not from the commandement of the King, concerning the Priests & the Leuites, touching all things, and touching the treasures.

¶ Now Salomón had made prouisió for all the h worke, from the day of the fun-dacion of the house of the Lord, vntil it was finished: so the house of the Lord was perfite.

Then went Salomón to Ezion-géber, & to Elóth by y i seaside in y land of Edóm.

And Hurám sent him by the hands of his seruants, shippes, and seruants that had knowledge of the sea: and they went with y seruats of Salomón to Ophir, & broght thence k four hundreth and fiftie talents of golde, and broght them to King Sa-lomón.

*1. 9 The Quene of Shebá cometh to se Salomón & bringeth

And* when the Quene of Shebá heard of the fame of Salomón, she came to a proue Salomón with harde questions at Ierusalém, with a verie great traine, and camels that bare swete odours and muche golde, and precious stones: and when she came to Salomón, she cōmuned with him of all that was in her heart.

And Salomón declared her all her questions, and there was b nothing hid from Salomón, which he declared not vnto her.

Then the Quene of Shebá sawe the wis-dome of Salomón, and the house that he had buylt,

And the meat of his table, and the sitting of his seruants, and the ordre of his way-ters, and their apparel, and his butlers, and their apparel, and his burnt offerings, which he offred in the house of the Lord,
and she was greatly astonished.

And she said to the King, It was a true worde which I heard in mine owne land of thy sayings, and of thy wisdom:

Howbeit I beleued not their reporte, vntil I came, and mine eyes had sene it: and beholde, the one halfe of thy great wisdome was not tolde me: for thou excedest the fame that I heard.

se thy seruants, which stande before thee all way, and heare thy wisdom.

Blessed be y Lord thy God, which loued thee, to set thee on his c throne as King, in the stead of the Lord thy God: because thy God loueth Israël, to establish it for euer, therefore hathe he made thee King ouer them, to execute iudgemēt & iustice.

Then she gaue the King six score talents of golde, and of swete odours exceding muche and precious stones: nether was there suche swete odours since, as the Que-ne of Shebá gaue vnto King Salomón.

11 And the King made of the Algumim wood e staires in the house of the Lord, & in the Kings house, and harpes and viols for singers: and there was no suche fene before in the land of Iudáh.

12 And King Salomón gaue to the Quene of Shebá euerie pleasant thing that she asked, f besides for that which she had brought vnto the King: so she returned and went to her owne countrey, bothe she, and her seruants.

13 ¶ Also the weight of golde that came to Salomón in one yere, was six húdredth thre score and six talents of golde, 14 Besides that which chapmen and marchants brought: and all the Kings of Arabia, & the princes of the countrey brought golde and siluer to Salomón.

15 And King Salomón made two hundredth targats of beaten golde, & s six hundredth shekels of beaten golde went to one targat, 16 And thre hundredth shields of beaten golde: thre húdredth h shekels of golde went to one shield, and the King put them in the house of the wood of Lebanón.

17 And the King made a great throne of yuorie and ouerlaid it with pure golde.

18 And the throne had six steppes, with a footebole of golde i fastened to the throne, and staves on ether side on the place of the seate, and two lions standing by the k staves.

19 And twelue lions stode there on the six steppes on ether side: there was not the like made in anie kingdome.

20 And all King Salomóns drinking vessels were of golde, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanón were of pure golde: for siluer was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomón.

21 For the Kings shippes went to Tarshish with the seruants of Hurám, euerie thre yeré once came the shippes of i Tarshish, and brought golde, and siluer, yuorie, and apes, and pecockes.

22 So King Salomón excelled all y Kings of the earth in riches and wisdom.

23 And all the Kings of the earth foght the presence of Salomón, to heare his wisdom that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought euerie man his present, vessels of siluer, and vessels of golde, and raiment, armour, & swete odours, horses, and mules, from yere to yere.

25 And Salomón had m foure thousand stables of horses, and charrets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whome he bestowed in the charret cities, and with the King at Ierusalém.

26 And he reigned ouer all the Kings from the Riuer euen vnto the land of the Philistims, and to the border of Egypt.

27 And the King gaue siluer in Ierusalém, n as stones, & gaue cedre trees as the wilde fig trees, that are abundant in the plaine.

28 And they brought vnto Salomón horses out of Egypt, and out of all lands.

29 Concerning the rest of the actes of Salomón first & last, are they not written in the booke of Nathán the Prophet, and in the prophetic of Ahiah the Shilonite, and in the visions of o Icedó the Seer o against I. roboám the sonne of Nebát

30 And Salomón reigned in Ierusalém ouer all Israél fourty yeres.

31 And Salomón s slept with his fathers, & they buried him in the cite of Dauid his father: and Rehoboám his sonne reigned in his steade.

now therefore make y the grieuous seruitude of thy father, and his sore yoke, that he put vpon vs, lighter, and we wil serue thee.

5 And he said to thē, Depart yet thre dayes, thē come againe vnto me. And the people departed.

6 And King Rehoboám toke counsel with the olde men that had stand before Salomón his father, while he yet liued, saying, What counsel giue ye that I may answer this people?

7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be kinde to this people, and please them, and speake louing wordes to them, they wil be thy seruants for euer.

8 But he left the counsel of the ancient men that they had giuen him, and toke counsel of the yong mē that were brought vp with him, and c waited on him.

9 And he said vnto them, What counsel giue ye, that we may answer this people, w haue spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?

11 Now where as my father did burdē you w^a grieuous yoke, I wil yet increase your yoke: my father hathe chastised you with rodde, but I wil correct you with scourges.

12 ¶ Then Ieroboām and all the people came to Rehoboām the third day, as the King had appointed, saying, Come againe to me the third day.

14 And spake to them after the counsell of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I wil increase it: my father chastised you with rodde, but I wil correct you with scourges.

15 So the King hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the ordinance of God that the Lord might performe his saying, which he had spoken by Ahijah the Shilonite to Ieroboām the sonne of Nebat.

16 So when all Israél sawe that the King wolde not heare them, the people answered the King, saying, *What portion haue we in Dauid: for we haue none inheritance in the sonne of Eshai. ¶ O Israél, euerie man to your tents: now se to thine owne house, Dauid. So all Israél departed to their tents.

17 Howbeit Rehoboām reigned ouer the children of Israél, that dwelt in the cities of Iudáh.

18 Then King Rehoboām sent Hadorám that was ^ouer the tribute, & the children of Israél stoned him with stones, that he dyed: then King Rehoboām made speede to get him vp to his charret, to flee to Ierusalém.

19 And Israél rebelled against the house of Dauid vnto this day.

CHAP. XI.

4 Rehoboām is forbidden to fight against Ieroboām. s Citas which he buyt: as He hath eightene wiues, & threescore concubines, and by them eight and twentie sonnes and threescore daughters

1 And whē Rehoboām was come to Ierusalém, he gathered of the house of Iudáh and Benjamin nine score thousand chosen men of warre to fight against Israél, & to bring the kingdome againe to Rehoboām.

2 But the worde of the Lord came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

3 Speake vnto Rehoboām, the sonne of Salomón King of Iudáh, and to all Israél that are in Iudáh, and Benjamin, saying,

4 Thus sayth the Lord, Ye shal not go yp, nor fight against your brethren: returne euerie man to his house for this thing is done of me. They obeted therefore the worde of the Lord, and returned from going against Ieroboām.

5 And Rehoboām dwelt in Ierusalém, and buyt strong cities in Iudáh.

6 He buyt also Beth-léhem, and Etám, and Tekoa,

7 And Beth-zúr, and Shocó, & Adullám,

8 And Gath, and Mareshá, and Ziph,

9 And Adorám, and Lachísh, and Azekáh,

10 And Zoráh, & Aialón & Hebrón, which were in Iudáh & Beniamín, strong cities.

11 And he repaired the strong holdes and put captaynes in them, and store of vitayle, and oyle and wine.

12 And in all cities he put shields & speares, & made them exceding strong: so Iudáh and Beniamín were his.

13 ¶ And the Priests and the Levites that were in all Israél, referred vnto him out of all their coastes.

14 For the Levites left their suburbes and their possession, and came to Iudáh and to Ierusalém: for Ieroboām and his sonnes had cast them out from ministring in the Priests office vnto the Lord.

15 * And he ordeined him Priests for the hie places, and for the deuils and for the calves, which he had made.

16 And after y^e Levites there came to Ierusalém of all y^e tribes of Israél, suche as set their hearts to seke y^e Lord God of Israél, to offer vnto y^e Lord God of their fathers.

17 So they strengthened the kingdome of Iudáh, and made Rehoboām the sonne of Salomón mightie, thre yers long: for thre yere they walked in the way of Dauid & Salomón.

18 ¶ And Rehoboām toke him Mahaláh the daughter of Ierimórh the sonne of Dauid to wife, & Abihail the daughter of Eshai the sonne of Ishai, 19 Which bare him sonnes Ieúsh, and Shemariáh, and Záham.

20 And after her he toke Maakáh y^e daughter of Abisálom which bare him Abihai, and Arthai, and Zizá, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboām loued Maakáh y^e daughter of Abisálom aboue all his wiues & his concubines: for he toke eightene wiues, & thre score concubines, and begate eight and twetic sonnes, & thre score daughters.

22 And Rehoboám made s Abijah the sone of Maakáh the chief ruler among his brethren: for he thought to make him King.

23 And he taught him: and dispersed all his sonnes throughout all the countreis of Iudáh and Beniamín vnto euerie strong citie: and he gaue them abundance of vitayle, and desired many wiues.

1. K. 12, 31. d Meaning, Ide les, read Isa. 34, 15

e Which were zealous of true religion, & feared God.

f So long as they feared God, and set forth his worship, they prospered.

g Called also Abiam, who reigned thre yere, 1 Ki 15, 2.

h He gaue him selfe to haue many wiues.

Or, scorpius

o Gods will im poseth suche a necessitie to y second causis, that nothing cā be done but according to the same, and yet mans will worketh as of itselfe, so that he can not be excoited to doing euil, by alledging that it is Gods ordinance.

Or, scorpius.

22 Or, scorpius and him selfe.

2. K. 12, 20.

a That is, the half. & 100 of Benjamin. & the other half was gaue aser Ieroboam. b Meaning the ten tribes & rebelled.

10 But we belong vnto the Lord our God, & haue not forsaken him, & the Priests the sonnes of Aarón minister vnto the Lord, and the Leuites in their office.

11 And they bu ne vnto the Lord euerie morning and euerie euening burnt offrings and swete incense, and the bread is set in order vpon the pure table, & the candlestick of golde with the lápes thereof, to burne euerie euening: for we kepe the watche of the Lord our God: but ye haue forsaken him, k As it was appointed in the Lawe, Exod 29.39

l Because their cause was good & approued by the Lord, they desired not of the successe and victorie.

12 And beholde, this God is with vs, as a captaine, & his Priests with the sounding trumpets, to crye an alarme against you. O ye children of Israél, fight not against the Lord God of your fathers: for ye shal not prosper.

m Contemning good counsel which came of the spirit of God, he thought to haue ouercome by deceit.

13 ¶ But Ieroboam caused an ambushment to compass, & come behinde them, when they were before Iudáh, and the ambushment behinde them,

14 Then Iudáh looked, and beholde, the battel was before and behinde them, and they cryed vnto the Lord, and the Priests blew with the trumpets, 15 And the men of Iudáh gaue a shoute: & euen as the men of Iudáh shouted, God smote Ieroboám and also Israél before Abiráh and Iudáh.

n Or, came him to ouerthrowe.

16 And the children of Israél fled before Iudáh, and God deliuered them into their hand.

17 And Abiráh and his people slewe a great slaughter of them, so that there fel downe wounded of Israél fise hundredth thousand chosen men.

18 So the children of Israél were brought vnder at that time: and the childre of Iudáh preuailed, because they staid vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

o He sheweth what the ray of all kingdomes & assurance of victories depende vpon our trust & confidence in the Lord. Ebr daughter.

19 And Abiráh pursued after Ieroboám, & toke cities from him even Bethél, and the villages thereof, and Ieshanáh with her villages, and Ephrón with her villages.

20 And Ieroboam recouered no strength againe in the dayes of Abiráh, but y Lord plagued him, and he dyed.

21 So Abiráh waxed mightie, and married fourtene wiues, and begate two and twentie sonnes, and sixtene daughters.

22 The rest of the actes of Abiráh and his maners and his sayings are written in the booke of the Prophet Iddó.

CHAP. XIII.

3 Asa destroyeth idolatrie & commandeth his people to serue the true God 11 He praueth vnto God when he shulde go to fight 12 He obtaineth the victorie.

4 King. 15. 2. 1

SO* Abiráh slept with his fathers, & they buried him in the cite of Dauid, & Asa his sonne reigned in his steade: in whose dayes the land was quiet ten yere.

2 And Asa did that was good and right in the the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For he toke away the altars of the strange gods & the hie places, & brake downe the images, and cut downe the groues, a Which were planted contrary to the Lawe, Deut. 16.20

4 And commanded Iudáh to seke the Lord God of their fathers, & to do according to the Lawe and the commandement.

5 And he toke away out of all the cities of Iudáh the hie places, & the images: therefore the kingdome was quiet before him.

b He sheweth what the rest & quietnes of king Iomes Azadeth in abolishing idolatrie, and aduancing true religion.

6 He buylt also strong cities in Iudáh, because the land was in rest, and he had no waire in those yerres: for the Lord had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore he said to Iudáh, Let vs buyld these cities and make walles about, and towries, gates, and barres, whiles the lād is before vs: because we haue fought y Lord our God, we haue fought him, and he hath giuen vs rest on euerie side: so they buylt and prospered.

c Whiles we haue the full gouernement thereof.

8 And Asa had an armie of Iudáh that bare shields and speares, thre hundredth thousand, and of Beniamín that bare shields & drewe bowes, two hundredth & foue score thousand: all these were valiant men.

9 ¶ And there came out against then Zérah of Ethiopia with an hoste of ten hundredth thousand, and thre hundredth charers, and came vnto Maresháh.

d The King of Ethiopia or Egypt

e Which was a cite in Iudah. Iosh 15. 44 where Michasah y Prophet was borne.

10 Then Asa went out before him, and the battel in aray in the valley of Zephárah beside Maresháh.

11 King 14. 6.

11 And Asa cryed vnto the Lord his God, & said, Lord, it is nothig with thee to helpe with many, or with no power: helpe vs, o Lord our God. for we rest on thee, and in thy Name are we come against this multitude: o Lord, thou art our God, f let not man preuaile against thee.

12 Or, azel, strength, without power.

12 ¶ So y Lord smote the Ethiopians before Asa and before Iudáh, and the Ethiopians fled.

f Thus y childre of God ne their trust in their owne power or policie, next or fearerth strength & subtiltie of their enemies, but consider y cause and se whether their entreprised to Gods glorie, & thereupon assure the felues of y victorie by him, who is onely almighty, & can turne all flesh into dust & the breath of his mouth. The Lord had strikē the with feare.

13 And Asa and the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerár. And the Ethiopians hoste was ouerthrowen, so that there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Lord and before his hoste: & they caryed away a mighty great spoile.

14 And they smote all the cities round about Gerár: for the feare of the Lord came vpon them, and they spoiled all the cities, for there was exceeding much spoile in them.

15 Yea, and they smote the tents of cattel, & caryed away plentie of shepe and camels, and returned to Ierusalém.

a Who was called Odéd, as his father was, verſe 8.

b For the ſpace of twelue years vnder Rehoboam, and three yeres vnder Abiaſar, religion was neglected and idolatrie planted.

c He ſheweth, that notwithstanding the wickednes of tyrants & their rage, yet God hath his, whom he heareth in their tribulation, as he deliuered his from Zerah King of the Ethiopians, & out of all other dangers, when they called vpon the Lord.

d Your confidence & truſt in God ſhal not be fruſtrate.

e Called Shizai, concerning parte of May and parte of Iune.

f Which they had raken of the Ethiopians.

g Theſe were the wordes of their couenant, which comanded all idolaters to be put to death according to the Lawe of God, Deut 17.

h So long as they ſerued him aright, ſo long did he preferre & proſper them.

i Or grandmother & here he ſheweth he lacked zeale for the ought to haue dyed both by the couenant, and by the Lawe of God: but he gaue place to foolish pittie, & wolde alſo ſeeme after a ſort to ſatiſſie the Lawe.

1 Then the Spirit of God came vpon ^a Azariah the ſonne of Odéd.

2 And he went out to meete Aſa, and ſaid vnto him, O Aſa, and all Iudáh, and Beniamin, heare ye me. The Lord is with you, while ye be with him: and if ye ſeke him, he wil be founde of you, but if ye forſake him, he wil forſake you.

3 Now for a long ſeaſon Iſraél haue bene without the true God, & without Priſt to teache and without Lawe.

4 But whoſoeuer returned in his affliction to the Lord God of Iſraél, and ſoght him, he was founde of them.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him, that did go out and go in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nacion was deſtroyed of nacion, and citie of citie: for God troubled them with all aduerſitie.

7 Be ye ſtrong therefore, and let not your hands be weake: for your worke ſhal haue a rewarde.

8 ¶ And when Aſa heard theſe wordes, and the prophecie of Odéd the Prophet, he was encouraged, and toke away the abominacions out of all the land of Iudáh, & Beniamin, and out of the cities which he had taken of mount Ephraim, and he renewed the altar of the Lord, that was before the porche of the Lord.

9 And he gathered all Iudáh & Beniamin, & the ſtrangers with the out of Ephraim, and Manaſſeh & out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Iſraél, when they ſawe that the Lord his God was with him.

10 So they aſſembled to Ieruſalem in the third moneth, in the ſiftente yere of the reigne of Aſa.

11 And they offered vnto the Lord the ſame time of the ſpoyle, which they had brought, euen ſeuē hundred bullockes, and ſeuē thouſand ſhepe.

12 And they made a couenant to ſeke the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart, and with all their ſoule.

13 And whoſoeuer wil not ſeke the Lord God of Iſraél, ſhal be ſleane, whether he were ſmall or great, man or woman.

14 And they ſware vnto the Lord with a loude voyce, and with ſhouting and with trumpets, and with cornets.

15 And all Iudáh reioyced at the othe: for they had ſworne vnto the Lord with all their heart, and ſoght him with a whole deſire, and he was founde of them. And the Lord gaue them reſt rounde about.

16 ¶ And King Aſa deſpoſed Maacháh his mother from her regencie, becauſe ſhe had made an idole in a groue: and Aſa brake downe her idole, & ſtamped it, and burnt it at the broke Kidron.

17 But the hie places were not taken away out of Iſraél: yet the heart of Aſa was purified all his dayes.

18 Alſo he brought into the houſe of God the things that his father had dedicate, & that he had dedicate, ſiluer, and golde, & veſſels.

19 And there was no warre vnto the ſiue & thirtieth yere of the reigne of Aſa.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Aſa for feare of Baaſhá King of Iſraél, maketh a couenant with Benhadád King of Arám. 2 He is reproved by the Prophet, 10 Whome he putteth in priſon. 12 He putteth his truſt in the Philiſtines 13 He deaſh.

1 IN the fix & thirtieth yere of the reigne of Aſa came Baaſhá King of Iſraél vp againſt Iudáh, and buylt Ramáh to let none paſſe out or go in to Aſa King of Iudáh.

2 Then Aſa brought out ſiluer and golde out of the treaſures of the houſe of the Lord, and of the Kings houſe, and ſent to Benhadád King of Arám that dwelt at Damascus, ſaying,

3 There is a couenant betwene me & thee, and betwene my father and thy father: behold, I haue ſent thee ſiluer and golde: come, breake thy leaguer with Baaſhá King of Iſraél that he may departe from me.

4 And Benhadád hearkened vnto King Aſa, and ſent the captaines of the armies which he had, againſt the cities of Iſraél. And they ſmote Iſon, and Dan, and Abelmaim, and the ſtore cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baaſhá heard it, he leſt buylding of Ramáh, and let his worke ceaſe.

6 Then Aſa the King toke all Iudáh, and caryed away the ſtones of Ramáh and the tymbre thereof, wherewith Baaſhá did buyld, and he buylt therewith Geba and Mizpáh.

7 ¶ And at that ſame time Hanáni the Seer came to Aſa King of Iudáh, and ſaid vnto him, Becauſe thou haſt reſted vpon the King of Arám, and not reſted in the Lord thy God, therefore is the hoſte of the King of Arám eſcaped out of thine hand.

8 ¶ The Ethiopians and the Lubims, were they not a great hoſte with charrets and horſemen, exceeding many: yet becauſe thou didſt reſt vpon the Lord, he deliuered them into thine hand.

9 ¶ For the eyes of the Lord beholde all the earth to ſhewe him ſelfe ſtrong with them that are of perſite heart toward him. thou haſt the done fooliſhly in this: therefore from henceforth thou ſhalt haue warres.

11 And beholde, the actes of Asá first and last, lo, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Iudáh and Israël.

12 ¶ And Asá in the nine and thirtieth yere of his reigne was diseased in his fete, and his disease was extreme: yet he sought not the Lord in his disease, but to the Physicians.

13 So Asá slept with his fathers, and dyed in the one and fourtieth yere of his reigne.

14 And they buried him in one of his sepulchres, which he had made for him selfe in the citie of Dauid, & laied him in the bed, which they had filled with swete odours and diuerse kindes of spices, made by the arte of the apoticarie: and they burnt him with an exceeding great fyre.

CHAP. XVII.

Iehoshaphát trusting in the Lord, prospereth in riches and honour. 6 He abolishest idolatrie. 7 And causeth the people to be taught. 11 He receiueth tribute of strangers. 13 His munitions and men of warre.

1 And Iehoshaphát his sonne reigned in his stead, and preuailed against Israël.

2 And he put garisons in all the strong cities of Iudáh, and set bands in the land of Iudáh and in the cities of Ephráim, which Asá his father had taken.

3 And the Lord was with Iehoshaphát, because he walked in the first wayes of his father Dauid, and sought not Baalim, 4 But sought the Lord God of his father, and walked in his commandements, and not after the trade of Israël.

5 Therefore the Lord stablished the kingdom in his hand, and all Iudáh brought presents to Iehoshaphát, so that he had of riches and honour in abundance.

6 And he lift vp his heart vnto the wayes of the Lord, and he toke awaie moreouer the hie places & the groues out of Iudáh.

7 ¶ And in the third yere of his reigne he sent his princes, Ben-hail, and Obadiáh, & Zechariáh, and Nethaneél, and Michaiáh, that they shulde teache in the cities of Iudáh,

8 And with them Leuites, Shemaiáh, and Nethaniáh, and Zebadiáh, and Afahél, & Shemiramóth, and Iehonathán, and Adoniráh, and Tobináh, and Tob adoniráh, Leuites, and with them Elisamáh and Iehorám Priests.

9 And they taught in Iudáh, and had the booke of the Lawe of the Lord with them, & went about throughout all the cities of Iudáh, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Lord fell vpon all the kingdomes of the lands, were rounde about Iudáh, and they sought not against Iehoshaphát.

11 Also some of the Philistims brought Iehoshaphát gifts and tribute siluer, and the Arabians brought him flockes, seuē thousand, and seuē hundred rams, and seuē thousand, and seuē hundred he goates.

12 So Iehoshaphát prospered and grewe vp on hie: and he buylt in Iudáh palaces and cities of store.

13 And he had great workes in the cities of Iudáh, and men of warre, & valiant men in Ierusalém.

14 And these are the numbers of them after the house of their fathers, In Iudáh were captaines of thousands, Adnáh the captaine, and with him of valiant men three hundred thousand.

15 And at his hand Iehohanán a captaine, and with him two hundred & foure score thousand.

16 And at his hand Amasiáh the sonne of Zichrí, which willingly offered him selfe vnto the Lord, and with him two hundred thousand valiant men.

17 And of Beniamín, Eliadá a valiant mā, and with him armed men with bowe and shield two hundred thousand.

18 And at his hand Iehozabád, & with him an hundred and foure score thousand armed to the warre.

19 These waited on the King, besides those which the King put in the strong cities throughout all Iudáh.

CHAP. XVIII.

Iehoshaphát maketh affinitie with Aháb. 10 Foure hundred Prophetes counsel Aháb to go to warre. 16 Michaiáh is against them. 23 Zidkiáh smiteth him. 25 The King putteth him in prison. 29 The effect of his prophesie.

1 And Iehoshaphát had riches & honour in abundance, but he was ioyned in affinitie with Aháb.

2 And after certeine yeres he went downe to Aháb to Samaria: & Aháb slewe shepe and oxen for him in great nombcr, & for the people that he had with him, and entised him to go vp vnto Ramóth Gileád.

3 And Aháb King of Israël said vnto Iehoshaphát King of Iudáh, Wilt thou go with me to Ramóth Gileád? And he answered him, I am as thou art, & my people as thy people, & we wil ioyne with thee in the warre.

4 And Iehoshaphát said vnto the King of Israël, Aske counsell, I pray thee, at the worde of the Lord this day.

5 Therefore the King of Israël gathered of Prophetes foure hundred men, and said vnto them, Shal we go to Ramóth Gileád to battell, or shal I cease? And they said, Go vp: for God shal deliuer it into the Kings hand.

6 But Iehoshaphát said, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord, y we might inquire of him?

7 And the King of Israël said vnto Iehoshaphát,

8 And the King of Israël called an eunuche, and said, Call quickly Michaiáh the sonne of Imlá.

9 ¶ And the King of Israël, and Iehoshaphát King of Iudáh sate ether of them on his throne clothed in their h apparel: they sate euery in the threshing floore at the entering in of the gate of Samaria: & all the Prophetes prophesied before them.

10 And Zidkiáh the sonne of Chenaanáh made him i hoines of yron, & said, Thus saith y Lord, With these shalt thou push y Arimites vntil thou hast consumed them.

11 And all the Prophetes prophesied so, saying, Go vp to Ramóth Gileád, & prosper: for the Lord shal deliuer it into the hand of the King.

12 ¶ And the messenger that wēt to call Michaiáh, spake to him, saying, Beholde, the wordes of the Prophetes declare good to y King with one k accorde: let thy worde therfore, I pray thee, be lyke one of theirs, and speake thou good.

13 And Michaiáh said, As the Lord liueth, whatsoever my God saith, y wil I speake.

14 ¶ So he came to the King, and the King said vnto him, Michaiáh, shal we go to Ramóth Gileád to battel, or shal I leaue of? And he said, l Go ye vp, and prosper, and they shal be deliuered into your hand.

15 And the King said to him, How oft shal I charge thee, that thou tel me nothing but the truth in the Name of the Lord?

16 Then he said, I sawe all Israël scatered in the mountaines, as shepe that haue no shepheard: and the Lord said, m These haue no master: let the returne euery man to his house in peace.

17 And the King of Israël said to Iehoshaphát, Did I not tel thee, that he wolde not prophesie good vnto me, but euil?

18 Againe he said, Therefore heare ye the wordes of the Lord: I sawe the Lord sit vpon his throne, and all the n hoste of heauen standing at his right hand, and at his left.

19 And the Lord said, Who shal o persuade Aháb King of Israël, that he may go vp and fall at Ramóth Gileád? And one spake and said thus, and another said that.

20 The there came forth a spirit and stode before the Lord, and said, I wil persuaide him. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherein?

21 And he said, I wil go out, and be a false spirit in the mouth of all his Prophetes. And o he said, Thou shalt persuaide, and shalt also preuaile: go forth and do so.

22 Now therefore beholde, the Lord hath put a p false spirit in the mouth of these thy Prophetes, & the Lord hath determined euil against thee.

23 Then Zidkiáh the sonne of Chenaanáh came nere, and smote Michaiáh vpon the cheeke, and said, By what way wēt the spirit of y Lord fro me, to speake with thee?

24 And Michaiáh said, Beholde, thou shalt se that day whē thou shalt go from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the King of Israël said, Take ye Michaiáh, and carie him to Amón the gouernour of the citie, & to Ioáb the Kings sonne, 26 And say, Thus saith the King, Put this man in the prison house, & fede him with bread of r affliction and with water of affliction vntil I returne in peace.

27 And Michaiáh said, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me. And he said, Heare, all ye people.

28 So the King of Israël and Iehoshaphát the King of Iudáh wēt vp to Ramóth Gileád.

29 And the King of Israël said vnto Iehoshaphát, I wil f change my selfe, and entre into the battel: but put thou on thine apparel. So the King of Israël chaged him selfe, and they went into the battel.

30 And the King of Arám had commanded the captaines of the charrets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against y King of Israël onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charrets sawe Iehoshaphát, they said, It is the King of Israël: and they compassed about him to fight. But Iehoshaphát t cryed, & y Lord helped him & moued them to departe from him.

32 For when the captaines of the charrets sawe that he was not the King of Israël, they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certaine man drewe a bowe n myghtely, & smote the King of Israël betwene the royntes of his brigadine: therefore he said to his charretman, Turne thine hand, and carie me out of the hoste: for I am hurt.

34 And the battel increased that day: and the King of Israël u stode stil in his charret against the Aramites vntil euen, and dyed at the time of y funne going downe.

out to merhem, and said to King Iehoshaphat, a Wo, lest thou helpe the wicked, and loue them that hate the Lord: therefore for this thing y^e wrath of the Lord is vpon thee.

Neuertheles good things are founde in thee, because thou hast takē away the gro- ues out of the land, and hast prepared thine heart to seke God.

¶ So Iehoshaphat dwelt at Ierusalēm, & returned and went b through the people from Beer-sheba to mount Ephraim, and brought them againe vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

And he set iudges in the land throughout all the strong cities of Iudāh, citie by citie,

And said to the iudges, Take hede what ye do: for ye execute not the iudgements of man, but of the Lord, & he wil be c with you in the cause and iudgement.

Wherefore now let the feare of y^e Lord be vpon you: take hede, & do it: for there is no d iniquitie with the Lord our God, nether * respect of persones, nor receiuing of rewarde.

Moreover in Ierusalēm did Iehoshaphat set of the Leuites, and of the Priests and of the chief of the families of Israēl, for the iudgement and cause of the Lord: and they e returned to Ierusalēm.

And he charged them, saying, Thus shal ye do in the feare of the Lord faithfully and with a perfite heart.

And in euerie cause that shal come to you of your brethren that dwel in their cities, betwene f blood and blood, betwene lawe and precept, statutes and iudgements, ye shal iudge them, and admonish them that they trespasse not against the Lord, that g wrath come not vpon you and vpo your brethre. Thus shal ye do & trespasse not.

And beholde, Amariāh the Priest shal be h chiefouer you in all matters of the Lord, & Zebadiāh the sonne of Ishmaēl, a ruler of the house of Iudāh, shal be for all the i Kings affaires, & the Leuites shal be officers i before you. Be of courage, and do it, and the Lord shal be with the k good.

CHAP. XX.

Iehoshaphat and the people pray vnto the Lord. 12 The maruelous victorie that the Lord gaue him against his enemies. 30 His reigne and aites.

AFTER this also came the children of Moāb and the children of Ammōn, and with them of the a Ammonites against Iehoshaphat to battel.

Thē there came that tolde Iehoshaphat, saying, There cometh a great multitude against thee from beyonde the b Sea, out of Arām: and beholde, they be in Hazzon Tamar, which is En-gedi.

And Iehoshaphat feared, and set him selfe

c to see the Lord, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Iudāh.

And Iudāh gathered them selues together to aske counsil of the Lord: they came euē out of all the cities of Iudāh to inquire of the Lord.

And Iehoshaphat stode in the Congregation of Iudāh and Ierusalēm in the house of the Lord before the new court,

And said, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauen? and reignest not thou on all the kingdomes of the heathē and in thine hand is power and might, & none is able to withstand thee.

Didest not thou our God cast out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israēl, and d gauest it to the sede of Abraham thy friend for euer?

And they dwelt therein, and have buylt thee a Sanctuarie therein for thy Name, saying,

* If euil come vpon vs, as the e sworde of iudgement, or pestilence, or famine, we wil stand before this house and in thy presence (for thy Name f is in this house) & wil crye vnto thee in our tribulacion, and thou wilt heare and helpe.

And now beholde, the children of * Ammōn and Moāb, and mount Seir, by whome thou woldest not let Israēl go, when they came out of the land of Egypt: but they turned aside from them, and destroyed them not:

Beholde, I say, thei rewarde vs, in cōming to cast vs out of thine inheritance, which thou hast caused vs to inherit.

O our God, wilt thou not iudge them? for there is no strength in vs to stand before this great multitude that cōmeth against vs, nether do we know what to do: but our eyes g are towarde thee.

And all Iudāh stode h before the Lord with their yong ones, their wiues, and their children.

And Iahaziēl the sonne of Zechariāh the sonne of Benariāh, the sonne of Ieriēl, the sōne of Mattaniāh, a Leuite of the sonnes of Asāph was there, vpon whome came i the Spirit of the Lord, in the middes of the Congregation.

And he said, Harken ye, all Iudāh, & ye inhabitants of Ierusalēm, and thou, King Iehoshaphat: thus saith the Lord vnto you, Feare you not, nether be afraid for this great multitude: for the k battel is not yours, but Gods.

Tomorrowe go ye downe against them: beholde, they come vp by the cleft of Ziz, and ye shal finde them at the end of the broke before the wildernes of Ieruel.

Ye shal not neede to fight in this battel.

and Ierusalém, feare ye not, nether be afraied: tomorrow go out against them, and the Lord wilbe with you.

¹ Deciding his faith and obedience to the worde of the Lord, and giving thanks for the deliuerance promised.

¹⁹ And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites and of the children of the Corhites stode vp to praise the Lord God of Israël with a loude voice on hie.

²⁰ And when they arose early in the morning, they went forth to the wildernesses of Tekóá: & as they departed, Iehoshaphát stode and said, Heare ye me, ó Iudáh, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalém: put your trust in the Lord your God, and ye shalbe assured: beleue his Prophetes, and ye shal prosper.

²⁰ Give credit to their wordes and doctrine.

²² And when they began to shoute, and to praise, the Lord laied ambushmets against the childre of Ammón, Moáb, and moût Seir, which were come against Iudáh, and they slewe one another.

²² Meaning, the Idumeans, & dwell in moût Seir.

²³ Thus the Lord according to Iehoshaphát's prayer declared his power when he deliuered this by crushing their enemies to kilow another.

²⁴ And when Iudáh came toward Mizpáh in the wilderness, they looked vnto the multitude: and beholde, the carkeises were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

²⁵ To giue thanks to the Lord for the victorie and therefore the valley was called Beracháh, that is, blessing or thankes giving, which was also called the valley of Iehoshaphát, Isai. 42 & 43, because the Lord enlarged his enemies against Iehoshaphát.

²⁶ And in the fourte day they assembled them selues in the valley of Beracháh: for there they blessed the Lord: therefore they called the name of that place, The vallei of Beracháh vnto this day.

²⁷ The euerie man of Iudáh & Ierusalém returned with Iehoshaphát their head, to go againe to Ierusalém with ioye: for the Lord had made the to reioyce ouer their enemies.

²⁸ And they came to Ierusalém with vioules, and with harpes, and with trumpets, enen vnto the house of the Lord.

²⁹ And the feare of God was vpon all the kingdomes of the earth, when they had heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of Israël.

³⁰ So the kingdome of Iehoshaphát was quiet, & his God gaue him rest on euery side.

³¹ ¶ And Iehoshaphát reigned ouer Iudáh, and was fife & thirtie yere olde, whē he began to reigne: and reigned fife and twētie yere in Ierusalém, and his mothers name was Azubáh the daughter of Shilhi.

³¹ 1. King. 22. 42

³² And he walked in the waye of Afá his father, and departed not therefrom, doing that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

³² Meaning, in his vertues & those wayes, wherein he followed God.

³³ Howbeit the hie places were not taken away: for the people had not yet prepared their hearts vnto the God of their fathers.

³³ If the great care and diligence of this good King was not able utterly to abolish all superstition & idolatrie out of this people, but that they wolde still reuerence their filth and idolatrie, how muche lesse are they able to reforme cuil, & ether haue little zeale, or not suche as he had though herein he was not to be excused?

³⁵ ¶ Yet after this did Iehoshaphát King of Iudáh ioyne him selfe with Ahaziáh King of Israël, who was giuen to do euil.

³⁶ And he ioynd with him, to make shippes to go to Tarsish: and they made the shippes in Ezión Gabér.

³⁶ 1. King. 16. 1

³⁷ 1. King. 22. 49. Thus God wolde not haue his to ioyne in societie with idolaters & wicked men.

¹ Iehoshaphát the slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the cite of Dauid: and Iehorám his sonne reigned in his stead.

² And he had brethren the sonnes of Iehoshaphát, Azariáh, and Iehiél, & Zechariáh, and Azariáh, and Michaél, & Shephatiáh. All these were the sonnes of Iehoshaphát King of Israël.

⁵ Iehorám was two and thirtie yere olde, when he began to reigne, and he reigned eight yere in Ierusalem.

⁵ Meaning, of Iudáh & Beniamin. So that we see how it can not be yeshulde to be with wicked & leuue God.

f Meaning, idollatrye, because that the idollatrye breaketh promys with God, as doeth the adulteresse to her husband
y Some thinke that this was Elisah, so called, because he had the spirit in abundance, as had Elisah.

12 And there came a writing to him from Eliáh the Prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Iehoshaphát thy father, nor in the wayes of Asá King of Iudáh,

13 But hast walked in the way of the Kings of Israél, and hast made Iudáh and the inhabitants of Ierusalém to go a whoring, as the house of Aháb went a whoring, and hast also sleane thy brethrē of thy fathers house, which were better then thou,

14 Beholde, with a great plague wil^g Lord smite thy people, and thy children, & thy wiues, and all thy substance,

15 And thou shalt be in great diseases in the disease of thy bowels, vntil^h thy bowels fall out for the disease, day by day.

h We se this example daily praesented vpo them that fall away fró God, and become adolaters and murdherers of their brethrē.
i There were rather Arabians in Africa Southward, toward Egypt.
k Called also Ahaziáh, as Chap. 22, 1, or Azariáh, ver. 6

16 ¶ So the Lord stirred vp against Iehorám the spirit of the Philistims, and the Arabians that were beside the Ethiopiās.

17 And they came vp into Iudáh, and brake into it, and caried away all the substance that was founde in the Kings house, & his sonnes also, and his wiues, so that there was not a sonne left him, saue^k Iehoaház, the yongest of his sonnes.

18 And after all this, the Lord smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.

19 And in processe of time, euen after the ed of two yeres, his guttes fell out with his disease: so he dyed of fore diseases: & his people made no burning for him like the burning of his fathers.

i That is, as some write, he was not regarded, but deposited for his wickednes & idollatrye: so that his sonne reigned 22 yeres, (his father yet liuing) without honour & after his fathers death he was confirmed to reigne still, as Chap. 22, 2.

20 When he began to reigne, he was two and thirtie yere olde, and reigned in Ierusalém eight yere, ^l and liued without being desired: yet they buried him in the citie of Dauid, but not among the sepulchres of the Kings.

1 Ahaziáh reigneth after Iehorám. 2 Iehú King of Israel killeth Ahaziáh so Ahaziáh putteth to death all the Kings image 11 Iosaph escapeth.

2 And^a the inhabitants of Ierusalém made Ahaziáh his yōgest sonne Kig in his stead: for the armie y came^a with the Arabians to the campe, had sleane all the eldest: therefore Ahaziáh the sonne of Iehorám King of Iudáh reigned.

3 Two and^b fourty yere olde was Ahaziáh whē he began to reigne, & he reigned^c one yere in Ierusalém. and his mothers name was Athaliáh the daughter^d of Omri.

d She was Ahabs daughter, who was the sonne of Omri.

4 He walked also in the wayes of the house of Aháb: for his mother counseled him to do wickedly.

5 Wherefore he did euil in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his^e counsellers after the death of his father, to his destruction.

e He bewech, that it must needs followe that the rulers are such as their counsellers be, & that there can not be a good King, that suffreth wicked counsellers.

6 And he walked after their counsel, and went with Iehorám the sonne of Aháb King of Israél to fight against Hazaél King of Arám at Ramóth Gileád: and the Aramites smote Iorám.

7 ¶ And he returned to be healed in Izreél, because of the woundes wherewith they had wounded him at Ramáh, when he fough with Hazaél King of Arám. Now Azariáh the sonne of Iehorám King of Iudáh went downe to se Iehorám the sonne of Aháb at Izreél, because he was diseased.

8 And the destruction of Ahaziáh^f came of God in that he wēt to Iorám: for when he was come, he went forthe with Iehorám against Iehú the sonne of Nimshí, ^g whome the Lord had anointed to destroye the house of Aháb.

f Hereby we se how nothing can come to any, but by Gods prouidence & as he hath appointed, & therefore he causeth all means to serue to his will.
g King. 9, 7.
Or, take vengeance.

9 Therefore when Iehú^h executed iudgement vpon the house of Aháb, and foude the princes of Iudáh and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziáh that waited on Ahaziáh, he slewe them also.

10 And he sought Ahaziáh, and they caught him where he was hid in Samaria, & brought him to Iehú, and slewe him, and buried him, because, said they, he is the sonne of Iehoshaphát, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziáh was not able to reteine the kingdome.

h This was y. iust plague of God, because he toynd him selfe w Gods enemies: yet God to declare the worthnes of Iehoshaphát his grandfather, moued them to giue him y honour of buryal ^f Meaning, the most holy place where the Ark stood.

And he was with them hid in the house of God six yerres, whiles Athaliáh reigned ouer the land.

CHAP. XXIII.

¹ Ioásh the sonne of Ahaziáh is made King. ³ Athaliáh is put to death ¹⁷ The Temple of Báal is destroyed. ¹⁹ Iehoiadá appointeth ministers in the Temple.

And ^a in the seuenthe yere Iehoiadá waxed bolde, and toke the captaynes of hundreths, ^{to wit,} Azariáh the sounne of Ierohám, and Ishmaél the sonne of Iehohanán, and Azariáh the sonne of Obéd, and Maaliáh the sonne of Adaiáh, and Elisaphát the sonne of Zichrí in couenant with him.

And they went about in Iudáh, & gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Iudáh, and the chieff fathers ^b of Israël: and they came to Ierusalém.

And all the Congregation made a couenant with the King in the house of God: & he said vnto them, Beholde, the Kings sonne muste reigne, ^{as} ^{the} Lord hath said of the sonnes of Dauid.

This is it that ye shal do, The third parte of you that come on the Sabbath of the Priests, and the Leuites, shal be porters of the doies.

And ^{another} third parte towarde the Kings house, and ^{another} third parte at the ^{gate} of the ^c fundacion, and all the people shal be in ^{the} courtes of the house of the Lord.

But let none come into the house of the Lord, saue the Priests, and the Leuites that minister: they shal go in, for they are holy: but all the people shal keepe the watch of the Lord.

And the Leuites shal compasse the King round about, and euery mā with his weapon in his hand, and he that entrech ^d into the house, shal be sleane, and be you with the King, when he commeth in, and when he goeth out.

So the Leuites and all Iudáh did according to all things that Iehoiadá the Priest had commanded, and toke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that ^e went out on the Sabbath: for Iehoiadá the Priest did not discharge the courses.

And Iehoiadá the Priest deliuered to the captaynes of hundreths speares, and shields, and bucklers which had bene King Dauids, and were in the house of God.

And he caused all the people to stād (euery man with his weapon in his hand) from the right side of the house, to the left side of the house by the altar and by the ^f house rounde about the King.

Then they broght out the Kings sonne, and put vpon him the crowne and gaue him the ^s testimonie, and made him King. And Iehoiadá and his sonnes anointed him, and said, God saue the King.

But when Athaliáh heard the noise of the people running and praising the King, she came to the people into the house of the Lord.

And whē she looked, beholde, the King stood by his pillar at the entring in, & the princes & the trumpets by the King, & all the people of the land reioyced, and blew the trumpets, and the singers were with instruments of musike, and they that colde sing praise: then Athaliáh rent her clothes, and said, ^b Treason, treason.

Then Iehoiadá the Priest broght out the captaynes of hundreths that were gouerners of the hoste, and said vnto them, Haue her forth of the ranges, & he that followeth her, let him dye by ^{the} sword: for the Priest had said, Sleae her not in the house of the Lord.

So they layed hands on her: and when she was come to the entring of the horsegate by the Kings house, thei slewe her there.

And Iehoiadá made a ^k couenant betwene him, and all the people, and the King, that they wolde be the Lords people.

And all the people went to the house of Báal, and ^l destroyed it, and brake his altars and his images, and slewe ^m Matán the Priest of Báal before the altars.

And Iehoiadá appointed officers for the house of the Lord, vnder the ⁿ hands of the Priests and Leuites, whome Dauid had distributed for the house of the Lord, to offer burnt offerings vnto the Lord, ^{as} it is written in the Lawe of Moyses, with reioycing and singing by the appointment of Dauid.

And he set porters by the gates of the house of the Lord, that none that was vncleane in any thing, shulde entre in.

And he toke the captaynes of hundreths, and the noble men, and the gouerners of the people, and all the people of the land, and he caused the King to come downe out of the house of the Lord, and they went through ^o the hie gate of the Kings house, and set the King vpon the throne of the kingdome.

Then all the people of the land reioyced, & the cite was quiet, ^o after that thei had sleane Athaliáh with the sworde.

6 Therefore the King called Iehoiadá, the^c chief, and said vnto him, Why hast thou not required of the Leuites to bring in out of Iudáh and Ierusalém^{*} the taxe of Moisés the seruant of the Lord, and of the Congregation of Israél, for the Tabernacle of the testimonies?

^d The Scripture doeth reuerberate her thus, because she was a cruel murderer, and a blasphemous idolatresse.

9 And they made proclamacion through Iudáh and Ierusalém, to bring vnto the Lord^{*} the taxe of Moisés the seruant of God, laid vpon Israél in the wilderness.

10 And all the princes and all the people reioyced, and broght in, and cast into the chest, vntill they had finished.

11 And when it was time, * thei broght the chest vnto the Kings officer by the hand of the Leuites: and when they sawe that there was muche siluer, then^f the Kings Scribe (& one appointed by^g the Priest) came and emptied the chest, and toke it, and carried it to his place againe: thus they did day by day, and gathered siluer in abundance.

ⁱ For a medicine was vpon the worke, meaning, it was repaired.
 13 So the workemen wrought, and the workeⁱ amended through their hands: and they restored the house of God to his state, & strengthened it.

14 And when they had finished it, they broght the rest of the siluer before the 15 ¶ But Iehoiadá waxed olde, and was full of daies and dyed. An hundredth and thirtie yere olde was he when he dyed.

16 And thei buried him in the cite of Dauid with the^b Kings, because he had done good in I Israél, and toward God and his house.

17 ¶ And after the death of Iehoiadá, came the^c princes of Iudáh, and did reuerence to the King, & the King hearkened vnto them.

18 And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and serued groues and idoles: and wrath came vpon Iudáh and Ierusalém, because of this their trespass.

19 And God sent Prophetes among them, to bring them againe vnto the Lord: and thei^k made protestation among them, but they wolde not heare.

20 And the Spirit of God came vpon Zachariáh the sonne of Iehoiadá the Priest, which stode^l about the people, and said vnto them, Thus saith God, Why transgresse ye the commandments of^m the Lord. surely it shal not prosper: because ye haue forsaken the Lord, he also hathe forsaken you.

21 Then they conspired against him and stoned him with stones at theⁿ commandement of the King, in the court of the house of the Lord.

- 5 ¶ And Amaziáh assembled Iudáh, and made them captaines ouer thousands, & captaines ouer hundreths according to the houses of their fathers, throughout all Iudáh and Beniamin: & he nombred them from ^e twentie yere olde and aboue, and founde among them thre hundreth thousand chosen men, to go forth to the warre, and to handle speare and shield.

- 6 He hyred also an hundreth thousand valiant men ^d out of Israel for an hundreth talents of siluer.

- 7 But a man of God came to him, saying, O King, let not the armie of Israel go with thee: for the Lord is not ^e with Israel, neither with all the house of Ephraim.

- 8 If ^f not, go thou on, do it, make thy selfe first to the battel, ^g but God shall make thee fall before ^h thine enemy: for God hathe power to helpe, and to cast downe.

- 9 And Amaziáh said to the man of God, What shall we do then for the hundreth talents, which I haue giuen to the hoste of Israel? Then ^h the man of God answered, The Lord is able to ⁱ giue thee more then this.

- 10 So Amaziáh separated the, ⁱ to wit, the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly against Iudáh, and they returned to their places with great angre.

- 11 Then Amaziáh was encouraged, and led forth his people, & went to the salt valley, and smote of the children of ^h Seir, ten thousand.

- 12 And other ten thousand did the children of Iudáh take alieue, and caryed them to the toppe of a ⁱ rocke, and cast the downe from the toppe of the rocke, and they all burst to peeces.

- 13 But the men of the ^k armie, which Amaziáh sent away, that they shulde not go with his people to battel, fell vpon the cities of Iudáh from Samaria vnto Bethhorón, and smote thre thousand of them, and toke muche spoyle.

- 14 Now after that Amaziáh was come fro the slaughter of the Edomites, he brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set them vp to be his gods, and ^l worshiped them, and burned incense vnto them.

- 15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziáh, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which said vnto him, Why hast ^m thou fought the gods of the people, which were not able to ⁿ deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

- 16 And as he talked with him, ^o he said vnto him, Haue thou made thee ^p Kings counsellors? cease thou: why shulde they ^q smite thee? And the Prophet ceased, but said, I knowe that God hathe determined to destroye thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsel.

- 17 ¶ Then Amaziáh King of Iudáh toke counsel, and sent to Ioásh the sonne of Iehozabab, the sonne of Iehú King of Israel, saying, Come, ^r let vs see one another in the face.

- 18 But Ioásh King of Israel sent to Amaziáh King of Iudáh, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the cedre that is in Lebanon, saying, * Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: & the wilde beaste that was in Lebanon went & trode downe the thistle.

- 19 Thou thinkest: lo, thou hast smitten Edóm, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to bragge: abide now at home: why dost thou prouoke to ^s thine hurt, that thou shuldest fall, and Iudáh with thee?

- 20 But Amaziáh wolde not heare: for ^t it was of God, that he might deliuer them into ^u his hand, because they had fought the gods of Edóm.

- 21 So Ioásh the King of Israel went vp: & he, and Amaziáh King of Iudáh sawe one another in the face at Bethshémesh, which is in Iudáh.

11 Vzziah had also an hoste of fighting men that wet out to warre by bades, according to the counte of their number vnder the hand of Ieriel the scribe, and Maaseriah the ruler, & vnder the hand of Hananiah, one of the Kings captaines.

12 The whole number of the chief of the families of the valiant men were two thousand and six hundred.

13 And vnder their hand was the armie for warre, thre hundred and seuen thousand, and five hundred that fought valiantly to helpe the King against the enemye.

14 And Vzziah prepared them throughout all the hoste, shields, and speares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, and stones to sling.

6 For ^c Pekah the sonne of Remaliáh, slewe in Iudáh six score thousand in one day, all ⁿ valiant men, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers.

7 And Zichri ^a mightie man of Ephráim slewe Maaseriáh the Kings sonne, and Azrikam the gouernour of the house, and Elkanáh the seconde after the King.

8 And the children of Iſraél toke prisoners of their brethren, ^d two hundred thousand of women, sonnes and daughters, and caryed away muche spoile of them, and broght the spoile to Samaria.

9 But there was a Prophet of the Lords, (whose name was Odéd) and he went out before the hoste that came to Samaria, & said vnto them, Beholde, ^e because the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudáh, he hath deliuered them into your hand, and ye haue slaine them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauen.

10 And now ye purpose to kepe vnder the children of Iudáh and Ierusalem, as seruants and handmaides vnto you: but are not you ^f such, that ^g sinnes are with you before the Lord your God?

11 Now therefore heare me, and deliuer the captaines againe, which ye haue také prisoners of your brethren: for ^y fearce wrath of the Lord ^h toward you.

12 Wherefore certeine of the chief of the children of Ephráim, Azariáh the sonne of Iehohanan, Berechiáh the sonne of Meshilcmóth, and Iehizkiáh the sonne of Shallúm, and Amasí the sonne of Hadlái, stode vp against them that came from the warre, 13 And said vnto the, Bring not in the captiues hether: for ⁱ this shalbe ^h a sinne vpon vs against the Lord: ye entred to adde more to our sinnes and to our trespasse, thogh our trespasse be great, & the fearce wrath of God ^j is against Iſraél.

the Pässeouer

4 And the thing pleased the King, and all the Congregation.

5 And they decreed to make proclamation throughout all Israël from Beer Sheba euen to Dan, that they shulde come to kepe the Pässeouer vnto the Lord God of Israël at Ierusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, as it was written.

6 ¶ So the postes went with letters by the commission of the King, and his princes, throughout all Israël and Iudáh, and with the commandment of the King, saying, Ye childre of Israël, turne againe vnto the Lord God of Abraham, Izhák, and Israël, and he wil returne to the remnant that are escaped of you, out of the hands of the Kings of Asshúr.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: and therefore he made them desolate, as ye se.

8 Be not ye now stiffnecked like your fathers, but giue the hād to the Lord & come into his Sanctuary, which he hath sanctified for euer, and serue the Lord your God, and the scarcenes of his wrath shal turne away from you.

9 For if ye returne vnto y Lord, your brethren and your children shal finde mercie before them that led them captiues, and they shal returne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and wil not turne away his face from you, if ye conuert vnto him.

10 ¶ So the postes went from citie to citie through the land of Ephraim and Manasséh, euen vnto Zebulun: but they laughed them to scorn, and mocked them.

11 Ne er theles diuers of Asshúr, and Manasséh, and of Zebulun summoned them selues and came to Ierusalem.

12 And the hand of God was in Iudáh, so that he gaue them one heart to do the commandment of the King, and of the rulers, according to the worde of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Ierusalem muche people, to kepe the feast of y vnleauened bread in the seconde moneth, a very great assemblie.

14 ¶ And they arose, & toke away the altars that were in Ierusalem: and all those for incense toke they away, and cast them into the broke Kidron.

15 Afterward they slawe the Pässeouer the fourtente day of the seconde moneth: and the Priests and Leuites were ashamed, and sanctified them selues, and broght the burnt offrings into the house of the Lord.

16 And they stode in their place after their maner, according to the Law of Moses the man of God: and the Priests sprinkled the blood, receiued of the hands of the Leuites.

Because there were manie in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Leuites had the charge of the killing of y Pässeouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, euen a multitude of Ephraim, & Manasséh, Issachár & Zebulun had not clenfed them selues, yet did eat the Pässeouer, but not as it was written: wherefore Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The good Lord be merciful toward him, 19 That prepareth his whole heart to seek y Lord God, the God of his fathers, though he be not clenfed, according to the purification of the Sanctuary.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiah, & healed the people.

21 And the children of Israël that were present at Ierusalem, kept the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes w great ioye, and the Leuites, and the Priests praised the Lord, day by day, singing with lowde instruments vnto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah spake comfortably vnto all y Leuites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lord: & they did eat in that feast seuen dayes, & offred peace offrings, & praised the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assemblie toke counsel to kepe it other seuen dayes. So they kept it seuen dayes with ioye.

24 For Hezekiah King of Iudáh had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullockes, and seuen thousand shepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullockes, and ten thousand shepe: and many Priests were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Iudáh reioyced with the Priests and the Leuites, & all the Congregation that came out of Israël, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israël, & that dwelt in Iudáh.

26 So there was great ioye in Ierusalem: for since the time of Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israël there was not the like thing in Ierusalem.

27 Then the Priests and the Leuites arose, and blessed the people, and their voyce was heard, and their prayer came vp vnto heaven, to his holy habitation.

14 And Koré the sone of Imnáh the Leuite porter toward the East, was ouer the things ^yhich were willingly offered vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, & the holy things that were consecrate.

15 And at his hand were Edén, & Miniamín, & Ischúá, & Shemaiah, Amariáh, and Shechaniáh, in the cities of the Priests, to distribute with fidelitie to their brethren by courses, bothe to the great and small,

2 When Hezekiáh sawe that Sannherib was come, & that his purpose was to fight against Ierusalém,

3 Then he took counsel with his princes and his nobles, to stoppe the water of the fountaines without the citie: and they did helpe him.

4 So many of the people assembled them selues, and stopt all the fountaines, and the ruer that ran through the middes of the countrey, saying, Why shulde the Kings of Asshur come, and finde muche water?

^k Who had also a portion & allowance in the distribution.

^l Meaning, that either by the faithful distributions of the officers, euery one had their parte in the things that were offered, or els that their wiues & children were relieved, because the Leuites were faithful in their office, and so depended on them.

5 "And he toke courage, and buylt all the broken wall, and made vp the towres, & another wall without, & repared a Millō in the b citie of Daurd, and made many c dartes and shields.

6 And he set capitaines of warre ouer the people and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the citie, and

7 "spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Be strong and couragious: feare not, ne-ther be afraied for the King of Affhūr, ne-ther for all the multitude that is with him: for there be mo with vs, then is with him.

8 With him is an d arme of flesh, but with vs is the e Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the wordes of Hezekiâh King of Iudâh.

9 *After this, did Sanneherib King of Affhūr send his seruants to Ierusalēm (while he was against Lachish, and all his domi- mon with him) vnto Hezekiâh King of Iu- dah and vnto all Iudâh that were at Ieru- salēm, saying,

10 Thus saith Sanneherib the King of Affhūr, Wherein do ye trust, that ye wil remaine in Ierusalēm, during the siege?

11 Doeth not Hezekiâh entice you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine & by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shal deliuer vs out of the hand of the King of Affhūr?

12 Hath he not y^e same Hezekiâh take awaie his hie places and his s altars and comman- ded Iudâh and Ierusalēm, saying, Ye shal worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?

13 Knowe ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other coun- tieies? Were the gods of the nations of other lands able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?

14 Who is he of all the b gods of those na- tions (that my fathers haue destroyed) that colde deliuer his people out of mine hand? that your God shulde be able to de- liuer you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiâh deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sorte, ne-ther beleue ye him: for none of all y^e gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of mine hand and out of y^e hand of my fathers: how muche lesse shal your gods deliuer you out of mi- ne hand?

16 And his seruants spake yet more against the Lord God, & against his k seruant Hezekiâh.

17 He wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israēl and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countreis colde not deliuer their people out of mine hand, so shal not the God of Hezekiâh deliuer his people out of mi- ne hand.

18 Then they l cried with a loude voyce in the Iewes speache vnto the people of Ieru- salēm that were on the wall, to feare the and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Ieru- salēm, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the m workes of mans hands, 20 But Hezekiâh the King, and the Prophet Isaiâh the sonne of Amōz n prayed against this and cryed to heauen.

21 And the Lord sent an Angel which destroyed all the valiant men, and the prices and o capitaines of the hoste of the King of Affhūr: so he returned with shame to his owne land. And when he was come in- to the house of his god, they that came for the of his owne bowels, slewe him there with the sworde.

22 So the Lord saved Hezekiâh and the in- habitants of Ierusalēm from the hand of Sanneherib King of Affhūr, and from the hand of all other, and maintained the on euerie side.

23 And many brought offerings vnto y^e Lord to Ierusalēm, and presents to Hezekiâh King of Iudâh, so that he was magnified in the fight of all nations from thence forth.

24 *In those dayes Hezekiâh was sicke vn- to the death, and prayed vnto the Lord, who spake vnto him, and gaue him r a signe.

25 But Hezekiâh did not rendre accordig to the rewarde bestowed vpon him: for his heart f was lift vp, and wrath came vpon him, and vpon Iudâh and Ierusalēm.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiâh humbled him selfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) he and the inhabitants of Ierusalēm, and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the daies of Hezekiâh.

27 Hezekiâh also had exceedig muche riches & honour, & he gate him treasures of siluer, & of golde, and of precious stones, & of swete odours, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels:

28 And of store houses for the increase of wheat, and wine and oyle, and stalles for all beastes, and r rowes for the stables.

29 And he made him cities, and had posses- sion of shepe and oxen in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceeding muche.

30 This same Hezekiâh also stopped the vpper water springs of t Gihōn, and led the streight vnderneath toward y^e citie of Dauid Westward. so Hezekiâh prospered in all his workes.

u Here we see the cause, why the faithful are tempted, & as to trye whether they haue faith or no, and that they may feele the preiſence of God, who ſuffreth them not to be ouercome by tentations, but in their weaknes miniſtreth ſtrength.

31 But becauſe of the ambaffadours of the princes of Babel, which ſent vnto him to enquire of the wondre that was done in the land, God left him to ^u trye him, & to knowe all that was in his heart.

32 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Hezekiah, and his goodnes, beholde, they are written in the viſion of Iſaiáh the Prophet, the ſonne of Amóz, in the booke of the Kings of Iudáh and Iſraél.

33 So Hezekiah ſlept with his fathers, and they buryed him in the higheſt ſepulchre of the ſonnes of Dauid: and all Iudáh and the inhabitants of Ieruſalém did him honour at his death. and Manasséh his ſonne reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Manasséh an idolater. 9 He cauſeth Iudáh to erre. 11 He is led away priſoner into Babylon. 12 He prayeth to the Lord, and is deliuered. 14 He aboliseth idolatrie, 16 And ſetteth vp true religion. 20 He dyeth and Amón his ſonne ſuccedeth, 24 Whome his owne ſeruants ſlay.

2. King. 21. 1. 1 Manasséh was twelue yere olde, * whē he began to reigne, and he reigned ſiue and ſiftie yere in Ieruſalém:

2 And he did euil in the ſight of the Lord, like the abominacions of the heathen, * whome the Lord had caſt out before the children of Iſraél.

3 For he went backe and buylt the hie places, * which Hezekiah his father had broken downe: * and he ſet vp altars for Baalim, and made groues, and worſhiped all the hoſte of the heauen, and ſerued them.

4 Alſo he buylt altars in the houſe of the Lord, whereof the Lord had ſaid, * In Ieruſalém ſhal my Name be for euer.

5 And he buylt altars for all the hoſte of the heauē in the two courtes of the houſe of the Lord.

6 ^a And he cauſed his ſonnes to paſſe through ſyre in the valley of Ben-hinnóm: he gaue him ſelfe to witchcraft and to charming, and to ſorcerie, and he vſed them that had familiar ſpirits, and ſotheſayers: he did verie much euil in ſight of the Lord to angre him.

7 He put alſo the karued image, which he had made, in the houſe of God: whereof God had ſaid to Dauid and to Salomón his ſonne, * In this houſe & in Ieruſalém, which I haue choſen before all the tribes of Iſraél, wil I put my Name for euer,

8 ^b Nether wil I make the ſoore of Iſraél to remoue any more out of the land which I haue appointed for your fathers, ſo that they take hede, & do all that I haue commanded them, according to the Law and ſtatutes and iudgements by the ^b hand of Moſes.

^b By the charge giue to Moſes.

9 So Manasséh made Iudáh and the inhabitants of Ieruſalém to erre, & to do worſe then the heathen, whome the Lord had deſtroyed before the children of Iſraél.

10 ¶ And the Lord ſpake ^c to Manasséh & to his people, but they wolde not regarde.

11 Wherefore the Lord broght vpon them the captaines of the hoſte of the King of Aſſhúr, which toke Manasséh & put him in fetters, and bounde him in chaines, and carryed him to Babel.

12 And when he was in tribulaciō, he prayed to the Lord his God, and humbled him ſelfe greatly before ^d God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him. and God was ^d entreated of him, and heard his prayer, and broght him againe to Ieruſalém into his kingdome: the Manasséh knewe that the Lord was God.

14 Now after this he buylt a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the Weſtſide of ^e Gihōn in the valley, euē at the entrie of the fiſh gate, & compaſſed about Ophél, and raiſed it very hie, and put captaines of warre in all the ſtrong cities of Iudáh.

15 And he toke away the ſtrange gods and the image out of the houſe of the Lord, and all the altars that he had buylt in the mount of the houſe of the Lord, and in Ieruſalém, and caſt them out of the citie.

16 Alſo he prepared the ^e altar of ^f Lord, and ſacrificed thereon peace offerings, and of thanks, and commanded Iudáh to ſerue the Lord God of Iſraél.

17 Neuertheles the people did ſacrifice ſtill in the hie places, but vnto ^g Lord their God.

18 ¶ Concerning the reſt of the actes of Manasséh, and his ^h prayer vnto his God, and the wordes of the Seers, that ſpake to him in the Name of the Lord God of Iſraél, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Iſraél.

19 And his prayer and how God was intreated of him, and all his ſinne, and his trespasse, and the places wherein he buylt hie places, and ſet groues and images (before he was humbled) beholde, they are written in the booke of ⁱ the Seers.

20 So Manasséh ſlept with his fathers, and they buryed him in his owne ^k houſe: and Amón his ſonne reigned in his ſtead.

21 ¶ Amón was two and twentie yere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned two yere in Ieruſalém.

22 But he did euil in the ſight of the Lord, as did Manasséh his father. for Amón ſacrificed to all the images, which Manasséh his father had made, and ſerued them,

23 And he humbled not him ſelf before the Lord, as Manasséh his father had humbled him ſelfe: but this Amón trespasse more and more.

24 And his ſeruants * conſpired againſt him, and ſlewe him in his owne houſe.

1 Iosiah destroyeth the idoles, & And restoreth the Temple. 14 The booke of the Lawe is founde. 21 He sendeth to Huldah the propheteesse for counsell. 27 God heareth his prayer. 31 He maketh a covenant with God.

King. 22. 1

Iosiah was eight yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned in Ierusalem one and thirtie yere.

2 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the wayes of David his father, and bowed nether to the right hand nor to the left.

3 And in the eight yere of his reigne (when he was yet a childe) he began to seke after the God of David his father: and in the twelfth yere he began to purge Iudáh, and Ierusalem from the hie places, and the groues, and the kerued images, and molten images:

4 And they brake downe in his sight the altars of Baalím, and he caused to cut downe the images that were on hie vpon them: he brake also the groues, & the kerued images, and the molten images, and stampd them to poudre, and strowed it vpon the graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.

5 Also he burnt the bones of the Priests vpon their altars, and purged Iudáh and Ierusalem.

6 And in cities of Manasséh, & Ephraím, and Simeón, euen vnto Naphtalí, with their maules they brake all rounde about.

7 And when he had destroyed the altars and the groues, and had broken and stamped to poudre the images, and had cut downe all the idoles throughout all the land of Israël, he returned to Ierusalem.

8 Then in the eightente yere of his reigne when he had purged the land and the Temple, he sent Shaphán the sonne of Azaliáh, and Maaseáh the gouernour of the citie, and Ioah the sonne of Ioaház the recorder, to repara the house of the Lord his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiáh the hie Priest, they deliuered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Leuites that kept the dore, had gathered at the hand of Manasséh, and Ephraím, & of all the residue of Israël, and of all Iudáh and Beniamín, and of the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 And they put it in the hands of them that shulde do the worke & had the ouersight in the house of the Lord: and they gaue it to the workemen that wrought in the house of the Lord, to repara & amende the house.

11 Euen to the workemen & to the buylders gaue they it, to bye hewed stone and timber for couples & for beames of the houses, which the Kings of Iudáh had destroyed.

12 And the men did the worke & faithfully, and the ouerscers of them were Iaháh and Obadiáh the Leuites, of the children of Merari, and Zechariáh, and Meshulám, of the children of the Kohathites to set it forward: and of the Leuites all that colde skil of instruments of musike.

13 And they were ouer the bearers of burdes, and them that set forward all the workemen in euerie worke: and of the Leuites were scribes, & officers and porters.

14 And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiáh the Priest founde the booke of the Law of the Lord giuen by the hád of Moses.

15 Therefore Hilkiáh answered and said to Shaphán the chanceler, I haue founde the booke of the Lawe in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiáh gaue the booke to Shaphán.

16 And Shaphán caryed the booke to the King, and brought the King worde againe, saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that do they.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was founde in the house of the Lord, and haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerscers, and to the hands of the workemen.

18 Also Shaphán the chanceler declared to the King, saying, Hilkiáh the Priest hath the giuen me a booke, & Shaphán read it before the King.

19 And when the King had heard the wordes of the Lawe, he tare his clothes.

20 And the King commanded Hilkiáh, and Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán, & Abdón the sonne of Micáh, & Shaphán the chanceler, and Asaiáh the Kings seruant, saying,

21 Go and enquire of the Lord for me, and for the rest in Israël and Iudáh, concerning the wordes of this booke that is founde: for great is the wrath of the Lord y is fallen vpon vs, because our fathers haue not kept the worde of the Lord, to do after all that is written in this booke.

22 Then Hilkiáh and they that the King had appointed, went to Huldah the propheteesse the wife of Shallúm, the sonne of Tokháth, the sonne of Hafráh keeper of the wardrobe (and she dwelt in Ierusalem within the colledge) and they communed herewith her.

23 And she answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israël, Telye the man that sent you to me, 25 Because they haue forsake me, and burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me with all the workes of their hands, therefore shal my wrath fall vpon this place, & shal not be quenched.

26 But to the King of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of the Lord, so shal ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The wordes which thou hast heard, shal come to passe.

27 But because thine heart did not melt, and thou didest humble thy self before God, when thou heardest his wordes against this place and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy self before me and cast thy clothes, and wepest before me, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

28 Beholde, I wil gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shal not see all the euil, which I wil bring vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same. Thus they brought the King wordes againe.

29 ¶ Then the King sent and gathered all the Elders of Iudah and Ierusalem.

30 And the King went vp into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all the people from the greatest to the smallest, and he red in their eares all the wordes of the booke of the couenant that was founde in the house of the Lord.

31 And the King stode by his pillar, and made a couenant before the Lord, to walke after the Lord, and to kepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes, with all his heart, and with all his soule, & with all his might, according to the wordes of the couenant written in the same booke.

32 And he caused all that were founde in Ierusalem, and Beniamin to stand to it: & the inhabitants of Ierusalem did according to the couenant of God, even the God of their fathers.

33 So Iosiah toke away all the abominations out of all the countreys that pertained to the children of Israel, and compelled all that were found in Israel, to serue the Lord their God: so all his daies they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

Iosiah kepeth the Passeouer. 2 He setteth forth the Gods service. 20 He fighteth against the King of Egypt, & dyeth. 24 The people bewaile him.

Moreouer Iosiah kept a Passeouer vnto the Lord in Ierusalem, & they slawe the Passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, and encouraged them to the service of the house of the Lord,

3 And he said vnto the Leuites, that taught all Israel and were sanctified vnto the Lord, Put the holy Arke in the house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel did buyld: it shal be no more a burden vpon your shulders: serue now the Lord your God and his people Israel,

4 And prepare your selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as Dauid the King of Israel hath written, & according to the writing of Salomon his sonne,

5 And stand in the Sanctuary according to the diuision of the families of your brethren the children of the people, and after the diuision of the familie of the Leuites:

6 So kill the Passeouer, and sanctifie your selues, and prepare your brethren that they may do according to the wordes of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

7 Iosiah also gaue to the people shepe, lambes and kiddes, all for the Passeouer, even to all that were present, to the number of thirty thousand, & three thousand bullockes: these were of the Kings substance.

8 And his princes offered willingly vnto the people, to the Priests & to the Leuites: Hilkiyah, and Zechariah, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto the Priests for the Passeouer, even two thousand and six hundred shepe, & three hundred bullockes.

9 Conaniah also and Shemaiah and Nathanael his brethren, and Hashabiah and Iehiel, & Iozabab, chief of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passeouer, fyue thousand shepe, & fyue hundred bullockes.

10 Thus the service was prepared, and the Priests stode in their places, also the Leuites in their ordres according to the Kings commandement:

11 And they slawe the Passeouer, & the Priests sprinkled the blood with their hands, & the Leuites slayed them.

12 And they toke away from the burnt offering to give it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people, to offer vnto the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moses, & so of the bullockes.

13 And they roasted the Passeouer with fyre, according to the custome, but the sanctified things they sod in pottes, panns, and caulderns, & distributed them quickly to all the people.

14 Afterwarde also they prepared for the selues & for the Priests: for the Priests the fannes of Aaron were occupied in offering of burnt offerings, & the fat vntil night there, for the Leuites prepared for the selues, &

19 This Passeouer was kept in ⁱ the eightente yere of the reigne of Iosiah.

20 ¶ After all this, when Iosiah had prepared the Tēple, Nechó King of Egypt came vp to fight against ^k Carchemish by ^h Peráth, and Iosiah went out against him.

21 But he sent messengers to him, saying, What haue I to do with thee, thou King of Iudáh? I come not against thee this day, but against the house ^h of mineemie, and God commanded me to make haste: leaue of to come against God, which is with me, lest he destroye thee.

22 But Iosiah wolde not turne his face frō him, but ⁱ chāged his apparel to fight with him, and hearkened not vnto the wordes of Nechó, which were of the mouth of God, but came to fight in the valley of Megiddó.

23 And the shoters shot at King Iosiah: the King said to his seruants, Cary me away, for I am very sicke.

24 So his seruants toke him out of that charret, & put him in the seconde charret which he had, and when they had broght him to Ierusalém, he dyed, and was buried in the sepulchres of his fathers: and all Iudáh and Ierusalém ^m mourned for Iosiah.

25 And Ieremiáh lamented Iosiah, and all singing men and singing women mourned for Iosiah in their lamentacions to this day, and made the same for an ordinance vnto Israël: and beholde, they be written in the ⁿ lamentacions.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iosiah and his goodnes, doing as it was writē in the Law of the Lord, m The people so much lamented y losse of this good King, that after whē there was any great lamentation, this was spokē of as a prouerbe, read Zach. 12.11 n Which some thinke Ieremie made, wherein he lamenteth the state of the Church after this Kings death.

27 And his dedes, first and last, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israël and Iudáh.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 After Iosiah, reigned Iehoaház, 4 After Iehoaház, Iehoiakim. 8 After him Iehoiachin. 11 After him, Zedekiah. 14. 17 In whose time all the people were caryed away to Babel, for contemning the admonitions of the Prophetes. 22 And were restored agayne the seuententh yere after by King Cyrus

Then ^{*} the people of the land toke Iehoaház the sonne of Iosiah, and made him Kíng in his fathers stead in Ierusalém.

2 Iehoaház was thre and twentie yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned thre ^a moneths in Ierusalém.

3 And the King of Egypt toke him away at Ierusalém, and condemned the land in an ^b hundredth talents of siluer, & a talent of golde.

4 ¶ And the King of Egypt made Eliakim his brother King ouer Iudáh and Ierusalém, and turned his name to Iehoiakim: and Nechó toke Iehoaház his brother, and caryed him to Egypt.

5 Iehoiakim was fyue and twentie yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yere in Ierusalém, and did ^c euil in the sight of the Lord his God.

6 Against him came vp Nebuchadnezzár King of Babel, & bounde him with chaines to carye him to Babel.

7 Nebuchadnezzár also ^{*} caryed of ^h vessels of the house of the Lord to Babel, and put them in his Temple at Babel.

8 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoiakim, and his abominaciōs which he did, & ^d that which was founde vpon him, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israël and Iudáh, & Iehoiachin his sonne reigned in his steade.

9 ¶ Iehoiachin was ^e eight yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned thre moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalém, and did euil in the sight of the Lord.

10 And when ^h the yere was out, King Nebuchadnezzár sent and broght him to Babel with the precious vessels of the house of the Lord, and he made Zedekiah his ⁱ brother King ouer Iudáh and Ierusalém.

11 Zedekiah was one and twētie yere olde, whē he began to reigne, and reigned eleuē yere in Ierusalém.

12 ^{*} And he did euil in the sight of ^h Lord his God, and humbled not him self before Ieremiáh the Prophet at the commandement of the Lord, 13 But he rebelled moreover against Nebuchadnezzár, which had caused ⁱ him to sweare by God: and he hardened his necke & made his heart obstinate that he might not returne to the Lord God of Israël.

14 All the chief of the Priests also and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according

c Because he, and the people turned not to God by his first plague, he broght a newe vpon him, and at length rooted them out.

d He meant such superstitious markes which were founde vpon his bodie, when he was dead: w^h thing declared how depely idolatrie was rooted in his heart, seeing he bare the markes in his flesh.

By this phrase the scripture meaneth often times and diligently, as Iere 11, 7 25, 3, & 4, 26, & 32, 11.

¶ Til God
colde no longer suffer their finnes, but muste needs punish them. Whether thei seld, thinking to haue bene saued for the holines thereof. Which is not because God approueth him which yet is the minister of his iustice, but because God wolde by his iustie iudgement punish this people. For this King was led with ambition and vaine glorie, whereunto were toyed furie and crueltie therefore his worke was condēnable, notwithstanding it was iustie and holy on Gods parte, who vied this wicked instrument to declare his iustice.

This prayer is not in the Hebrew, but is translated out of the Greek.

b He speaketh
this in comparison of him selfe & those holy fathers which haue shew commēdation in the Scriptures, so that in respect of him selfe he calleth their finnes nothing, but attributeth vnto them righteously.

15 Therefore the Lord God of their fathers sent to the by his messengers, rising early and sending: for he had compassion on his people, and on his habitation.
16 But they mocked the messengers of God and despised his wordes, and misused his Prophetes, vntil the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, and til there was no remedie.

17 For he brought vpon them the King of the Caldeans, who slewe their yong men with the sworde in the house of their Sattuariae, and spared nether yong man, nor virgine, ancient, nor aged. God gaue all into his hand,

18 And all the vessels of the house of God great & small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the King, and of his princes: all these caryed he to Babel.

19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalém, and burnt all the palaces thereof with fyre, & all the precious vessels thereof: to destroye all.

20 And thei that were left by the sworde, caryed he away to Babel, and they were seruants to him and to his sonnes, vntil the kingdome of the Persians had rule, 21 To fulfil the worde of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremiáh, vntil the lād had her fill of her Sabbaths: for all the dayes that she lay desolate, she kept Sabbath, to fulfil seuentie yeres.

22 ¶ But in the first yere of Cyrus King of Persia (when the worde of the Lord, spoken by the mouth of Ieremiáh, was finished) the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Cyrus King of Persia, and he made a proclamation through all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

23 Thus sayth Cyrus King of Persia, All the kingdomes of the earth hath the Lord God of heauen giuen me, and he hath commanded me to buyld him an house in Ierusalém, that is in Iudáh. Who is among you of all his people, with whome the Lord his God let him go vp.

THE PRAYER OF MANASSÉH King of the Iewes.

Lord almighty, God of our fathers, Abram, Isaac and Iacob, and of their righteous seed, which hast made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which hast bound the sea by the worde of thy commandement, which hast shut vp the depe and sealed it by thy terrible and glorious Name, whome all do feare & tremble before thy power: for the maiestie of thy glorie can not be borne, & thine angrie threatening toward sinners is importable, but thy merciful promes is vnmeasurable & vnsearcheable. For thou art the moste high Lord, of great compassiō, long suffering & moste merciful, & repētest for mā's miseries. Thou, O Lord, accordig to thy great goodnes hast promised a repentance & forgiuenes to them that sinne against thee, & for thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance vnto sinners that thei may be saued. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the iuste, hast not appointed repentance to the iuste, as to Abram, and Isaac and Iacob, which haue not sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto me that am a sinner: for I haue sinned about the nōber of the sand of the sea. My transgressions,

O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthy to beholde & se the height of the heauens for the multitude of mine vnrighteousnes. I am bowed downe with many yro bades, that I can not lift vp mine head, nether haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath and done euil before thee. I did not thy wil, nether kept I thy commandements. I haue set vp abominations & haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bowe the kne of mine heart, beseechig thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, & I acknowledge my trasgressiōs: but I humbly beseeche thee, forgiue me: O Lord, forgiue me, & destroye me not with my transgressions. Be not angry with me for euer by reseruing euil for me, nether condemne me into the lower partes of the earth. For thou art the God, even the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shewe all thy goodnes: for thou wilt saue me that am vnworthy, according to thy great mercie: therefore I wil praise thee for euer all the dayes of my life. for all the power of the heauens praise thee, & thine is the glorie for euer & euer, Amen.

CHAP. III.

1 Thei buyld the altar of God & Thei offer to the Lord.
2 Thei prepare for the Temple, 11 And sing vnto the Lord.

1 And when the ^a seuenth moneth was come, and the children of Israël were in their cities, the people assembled them selues as one man vnto Ierusalém.

2 Then stode vp Ieshúa the sonne of Iozadák, and his brethren the Priests, and Zerubbabél the ^b sonne of Shealtiel, and his brethren, & buylded the altar of the God of Israël, to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is written in the Law of Moses the man of God,

3 And they set the altar vpon his bases (for feare was among them, because of the people of those countreies) therefore they offered burnt offerings there vnto the Lord, even burnt offerings in the morning and at euen.

4 They kept also the feast of the Tabernacles, as it is written, and the burnt offering ^a daily, by number according to the custome day by day,

5 And afterward ^a the continual burnt offering, bothe in the new moneths and in all the feast dayes that were consecrate vnto the Lord, and in all the oblations willingly offered vnto the Lord.

6 From the first day of the seuenth moneth began they to offer burnt offerings vnto the Lord: but the fundacion of the Temple of the Lord was not laied.

7 They gaue money also vnto the masons, and to the workemen, and meat and drinke, and oyle vnto them of Zidon and of Tyrus, to bring the cedre wood from Lebanon to the sea vnto Iaphó, according to the grant that they had of Cyrus King of Persia.

8 ¶ And in the seconde yere of their coming vnto the house of God in Ierusalém in the ^e second moneth began Zerubbabél the sonne of Shealtiel, and Ieshúa the sonne of Iozadák, and the remnant of their brethren the Priests and the Leuites, & all they that were come out of the captiuitie vnto Ierusalém, and appointed the Leuites from twenty yere olde & aboue, to set forward the worke of the house of the Lord.

9 And Ieshúa ^f stode with his sonnes, and his brethren, & Kadmiel with his sonnes, & the sonnes of Iudáh together to set forward the workemen in the house of God, and the sonnes of Henadák with their sonnes, and their brethren the Leuites.

10 And when the buylders laied the fundacion of the Temple of the Lord, they appointed the Priests in their apparel with trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbales, to praise the Lord, ^a after the ordinance of Dauid King of Israël.

11 Thus they sang when they gaue praise, and when they gaue thanks vnto the Lord, For he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer toward Israël. And all y people shouted with a great shoute, whe they praised the Lord, because the fundacion of the house of the Lord was layed.

12 Many also of the Priests and the Leuites and the chief of the fathers, ancient men, which had sene the first house, (when the fundacion of this house was layed before their eyes) ^g wept with a loude voyce: and many shouted a loude for ioye, 13 So that the people coulde not discerne the founde of the shoute for ioye, from the noyce of the weping of the people: for the people shouted with a loude crye, and the noyce was heard farre of.

1 But the aduersaries of Iudáh and Bésamín heard, that the children of the captiuitie buylded the Temple vnto the Lord God of Israël.

2 And they came to Zerubbabél, & to y chief fathers, and said vnto them, We wil buyld with you: for we seke the Lord your God as ye do: & we haue sacrificed vnto him since the time of Esár Haddón King of Asshur which broght vs vp hither.

3 Then Zerubbabél, and Ieshúa, and the rest of the chief fathers of Israël, said vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to buyld the house vnto our God: ^b for we our selues together wil buyld it vnto the Lord God of Israël, as King Cyrus the King of Persia hath commanded vs.

^e Which moneth concerned parte of April and parte of May, for in the meane season they had provided for things necessarie for the worke.

8 Rehúm the chancelour, and Shimshái the scribe wrote a lettre against Ierusalém to Artahshashtre y King, in this sorte.

9 Then wrote Rehúm the chancelour, and Shimshái the scribe, & their companions Dinaré, and Apharsathcaré, Tarpeiaé, Apharsaé, Archeuaé, Bablaé, Shushanchaé, Dehaú, Elmaré, 12 Be it knowne vnto the King that the Iewes, which came vp from thee to vs, are come vnto Ierusalém (a citie rebellious & wicked) & buylde, & laye the fundacions of the walles, and haue ioyned the fundacions.

13 Be it knowne now vnto the King, that if this citie be buylt, & the fundació of the walles layed, thei wil not giue tolle, tribute, nor custome: so shalt thou hinder the Kings tribute.

14 Now therefore because we haue bene broght vp in the Kings palace, it was not mete for vs to se the Kings dishonour: for this cause haue we sent and certified the King,

15 That one may searche in the boke of the Chronicles of thy fathers, and thou shalt finde in the boke of the Chronicles, and perceiue that this citie is rebellious and noysome vnto Kings and prouinces, and that thei haue moued sedicion of olde time, for the which cause this citie was destroyed.

16 We certifie the King therefore, that if this citie be buylded, and the fundacion of the walles layed, by this meanes the portion beyonde the Riuer shal not be thine.

17 ¶ The King sent an answer vnto Rehúm

the chancelour, and Shimshái the scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and vnto the other beyonde the Riuer, Shelám & Cheéth.

18 ¶ The letter which y sent vnto vs, hath bene openly red before me, 19 And I haue commanded and they haue searched, and founde, that this citie of olde time hath made insurrection against Kings, and hath rebelled, and rebellion hath bene committed there.

20 There haue bene mightie Kings also ouer Ierusalém, which haue ruled ouer all beyonde the Riuer, and tolle, tribute, and custome was giuen vnto them.

21 Make ye now a decree, that those men may cease, and that the citie be not buylt, til I haue giuen another commandement.

22 Take hede now that ye faile not to do this: why shulde damage growe to hurt the King?

23 When the copie of King Arrahsháshtes lettre was red before Rehúm & Shimshái the scribe, & their companions, they went vp in all the haste to Ierusalém vnto the Iewes, and caused them to cease by force and power.

24 Then ceased the woike of the house of God, which was in Ierusalém, and did stay vnto the secóde yere of Darius King of Persia.

CHAP. V.

1 Haggái & Zechariah do prophesie. 3 The woike of the Temple goeth forward contrary to the munde of Tattánas. 6 His lettres to Darius.

1 THE Haggái a Prophet & Zechariah the sonne of Iddó a Prophet prophesied vnto the Iewes that were in Iudáh, & Ierusalém, in the Name of the God of Israél, euen vnto them.

2 Then Zerubbabél the sonne of Shealtiel, & Ieshúa the sonne of Iozadak arose, and began to buylde the house of God at Ierusalém, and with them were the Prophetes of God, which helped them.

3 ¶ At the same time came to them Tattánai, which was captaine beyonde the Riuer, & Shether-boznái and their companions, & said thus vnto them, Who hath giuen you commandemēt to buylde this house, and to lay the fundacions of these walles?

4 ¶ Then said we vnto them after this manner, What are the names of the men that buylde this buylding?

5 But the eye of their God was vpon the Elders of the Iewes, that they colde not cause them to cease, til the matter came to Darius: and then they answered by letters thei eunto.

c His fauour & the spirit of strength

7 They sent a lettre vnto him, wherein it was written thus, VNTO DARIUS the King, all peace.

8 Be it known vnto the King, that we wēt into the prouince of Iudea, to the house of the great God, which is buylded with great stones, and beames are layed in the walles, and this worke is wrought spedely, and prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and said vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you commandement to buyld this house, and to laye the fundacion of these walles?

10 We asked their names also, y^e we might certifie thee, & that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But thei answered vs thus, & said, We are the seruants of y^e God of heauen & earth, & buyld the house that was buylt of olde & many yeres ago, which a^d great King of Israel^e buylded, & founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath, he gaue them ouer into the hand of Nebuchadnezzár King of Babél the Caldean, and he destroyed this house, and caryed the people away captiue vnto Babél.

13 But in the first yere of Cyrus King of Babél, Kig Cyrus made a decree to buyld this house of God.

14 And the vessels of golde & siluer of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzár toke out of the Tēple, that was in Ierusalém, and broght them into the Temple of Babél, those did Cyrus the King take out of the Tēple of Babél, & they gaue them vnto one^f Sheshbazzár by his name, whome he had made captaine.

15 And he said vnto him, Take these vessels and go thy way, & put them in the Temple that is in Ierusalém, and let the house of God be buylt in his place.

16 Then came the same Sheshbazzár and layed the fundacion of the house of God, which is in Ierusalém, and since that time euen vntil now, hath it bene in buylding, yet is it not finished.

17 Now therefore if it please the King, let there be seache made in the house of the Kings treasures, which is there in Babél, whether a decree hath bene made by King Cyrus, to buyld this house of God in Ierusalém, and let the King send his minde concerning this.

CHAP. VI.

At the commandement of Darius King of Persia, after the Temple was buylded and dedicate, the children of Israel kept the feast of unleauened bread.

1 Then King Darius gave commandement, and they made seache in the librerie of the treasures, which were there layed vp in Babél.

2 And there was founde in a^a coffie (in the palace that was in the prouince of the Medes) a volume, & therein was it thus writē, as a memorial,

3 IN THE FIRST yere of King Cyrus, King Cyrus made a decree for the house of God in Ierusalém, Let the house be buylt, euē the place where they offred sacrifices, & let the walles thereof be ioyned together: let the height thereof be thie score cubites, & the breadth thereof thre score cubites.

4 Thre^e orders of^e great stones, and one order of tymbre, and let the expences be giuen of the Kings house.

5 And also let them render y^e vessels of the house of God (of golde & siluer, w^h Nebuchadnezzár toke out of the Tēple, which was in Ierusalém, and broght vnto Babél) and let^b him go vnto the Temple that is in Ierusalém to his place and put them in the house of God.

6 Therefore Tatnái captaine beyonde the Riuer, and Shethár Boznái, (& their companions Apharséaie, which are beyonde the Riuer) he ye farre^c from thence.

7 Suffre ye the worke of this house of God, that the captaine of the Iewes & the Elders of the Iewes may buyld this house of God in his place.

8 For I haue giuen a commandement what ye shal do to the Elders of these Iewes for the buylding of this house of God, that of the reuenues of the King, which is of the tribute beyonde the Riuer, there be incessantly expences giuen vnto these mē that they^d cease not.

9 And that which thei shal haue nede of, let it be^e giuen vnto them day by day, whether it be yong bullockes, or rams, or lambs for the burnt offerings of the God of heauen, wheat, salt, wine, & oyle, according to the appointmēt of the Priests that are in Ierusalém, that there be no faute,

10 That they may haue to offer swete odours vnto the God of heauen, and pray for the Kings life, and for his sonnes.

11 And I haue made a decree, y^e whosoeuer shal alter this sentence, the wood shal be pulled downe from his house, and shal be set vp, & he shal be hanged thereon, & his house shal be made a dung hil for this.

12 And the God that hath caused his Name^e to dwel there, destroye all Kings and peopie that put to their hand to alter, and to destroye this house of God, which is in Ierusalém. I Darius haue made a decree, let it be done with spede.

13 ¶ Then Tatnái the captaine beyonde the Riuer, & Shethár Boznái and their companions, according to that which Darius had sent, so thei did spedely.

14 So the Elders of the Iewes buylded, and they prospered by the prophecyng of Haggaí

CHAP. VII.

By the commādemēt of the King, Ezrá and his companions come to Ierusalem. 27 He giueth thākes to God.

NOW after these things, in the reigne of ^a Artahsháshte King of Persia, was Ezrá the sonne of Seraíah, the sonne of Azaríah, the sonne of Hilkíah,

2 The sonne of Shallúm, the sonne of Zaddók, the sonne of Ahitúb,

3 The sonne of Amariáh, the sonne of Azariáh, the sonne of Meraióth,

4 The sonne of Zeraíah, the sonne of Vzzí, the sonne of Bukkí,

5 The sonne of Abisshúa, the sonne of Phinehás, the sonne of Eleazár, the sonne of Aarón; the chief Priest.

6 This Ezrá came vp from Babel, and was a ^c scribe prompt in the Law of Moisés, which the Lord God of Israél had giuen, and the King gaue him all his request according to the hand of the Lord his God which was vpon him.

7 And there went vp ^{certen} e of the children of Israél, and of the Priests, and the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims vnto Ierusalém, in the seuent yere of King Artahsháshte.

8 And he came to Ierusalém in the ^d first moneth, which was in the seuent yere ^e of the King.

9 For vpon the first day of the first moneth began he to go vp from Babel, and on the first day of the first moneth came he to Ierusalém, according to the good hand of his God ^{that was} vpon him.

10 For Ezrá had prepared his heart to seeke the Law of the Lord, and to do it, & to teache the precepts & iudgements in Israél.

11 ¶ And this is the copie of the letter that King Artahsháshte gaue vnto Ezrá the Priest & scribe, ^{enē} a writer of the wordes of the cōmandements of the Lord, and of his statutes ouer Israél.

13 I haue giuen cōmandement, that euerie one, that is willing in my kingdome of the people of Israél, and of the Priests, and Leuites ^g to go to Ierusalém with thee, shal go.

14 Therefore art thou sent of the King and his seuen counselors, to ^h enquire in Iudah and Ierusalém, according to the Law of thy God, which is in ⁱ thine hand, e Ezr put words in their mouth.

18 So by the good hand of our God which was vpon vs, they brought vs a man of vnderstanding of the sonnes of Mahali the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israël, and Sherebaiáh with his sonnes and his brethren, euen eightene.

21 And there at the Riuer, by Ahauá, I proclaimed a fast, that we might humble π our selues before our God, and seke of him a right waye for vs, and for our children, & for all our substance.

22 For I was π ashamed to require of the King an armie and horsemen, to helpe vs against the enemy in the way, because we had had spoken to the King, saying, The hand of our God is vpon all them that seke him, in goodnes, but his power and his wrath is against all them that forsake him.

23 So we fasted, and besought our God for this, and he was intreated of vs.

24 Then I separated twelue of the chief of the Priests, Sheiebiáh, and Hasnabiáh, and ten of their brethren with them,

25 And weighed the siluer & the golde, & the vessels, even the offering of the house of our God, which the King and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israél that were present had offered.

Read 1 Kin 9:14.

26 And I weighed vnto their hand six hundred and fifty ^b talents of siluer, and in siluer vessel, an hundred talents, and in golde, an hundred talents:

Read Chap. 2:69.

27 And twentie basins of golde, of a thousand ^c drammes, and two vessels of shining brasie very good, and precious as golde.

29 Watche ye, & kepe them vntil ye weigh them before the chief Priests and the Leuites, and the chief fathers of Israél in Ierusalém in the chambers of the house of the Lord.

30 So the Priests and the Leuites receiued the weight of the siluer and of the golde, and of the vessels to bring them to Ierusalém, vnto the house of our God.

31 ¶ Then we departed from the Riuer of Ahauá on the twelfth day of the first moneth, to go vnto Ierusalém, and the hand of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hand of the enemy, and of such as layed ^k waite by the way.

This declared that their journey was full of danger, and yet God deliuered them according to their prayer.

32 And we came to Ierusalém, and abode there three dayes.

33 And on the fourte day was the siluer weighed, and the golde and the vessel in the house of our God by the hand of Meremóth the sonne of Uriáh the Priest, and with him was Eleazár the sonne of Phinchás, and with them was Iozabád the sonne of Ieshúa, and Noadiáh the sonne of Binnúí the ^l Leuites,

This was a token of a good conscience & of his integrity, that he wolde haue witnesses of his fidelity.

34 By number and by weight of euerie one, and all the weight was written at the same time.

35 Also the childre of the captiuitie, which were come out of captiuitie, offered burnt offerings vnto the God of Israél, twelue bullockes for all Israél, ninetie and six rams, seuentie and seuen lambes, and twelue he goats for sinne: all was a burnt offering of the Lord.

36 And they deliuered the Kings commifsion vnto the Kings officers, & to the captaines beyonde the Riuer: and they promoted the people, and the house of God.

NEHEMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

God doeth in all ages and at all times set vp worthy persones for the commoditie and profite of this Church, as now within the compasse of seuentie yeres he raised vp diuers excellent men for the preservation of his people, after their returne from Babylon, as Zerubbabél, Ezra, and Nehemiáh. Whereof the first was their capitaine, to bring them home, and provided that the Temple was buylded: the seconde reformed their maners and planted religion: & the thirde buylded vp the walles, deliuered the people from oppression, and provided that the Law of God was put in execution among them. He was a godlie man and in great autoritie with the King, so that the King fauoured him greatly, and gaue him moste ample letters for the accomplishment of all things which he coulde desire. This booke is also called of the latins the seconde of Ezra, because he was the writer thereof.

CHAP. I.

uinced, are in great affliction and in reproche, and the wall of Ierusalém is broken downe, & the gates thereof are burnt with fyre.

- 4 And when I heard these wordes, I sate downe and wept, and mourned certeine dayes, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen,

- 5 And said, *O Lord God of heauen, the ^{Dan. 9.4.} great and terrible God, that kepeth covenant and mercie for them that loue him, and observe his commandements,
- 6 I pray thee, let thine eares be attent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee daily, day & night for the children of Israël thy seruants, & confesse the sinnes of the children of Israel, which we haue sinned against thee, bothe I & my fathers house haue sinned:

¹¹ Err. corrupted 7 We haue¹¹ grievously sinned against thee, and haue not kept the commandments, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements, which thou commandedst thy seruant Moses.

⁹ But if ye turne vnto me, and kepe my commandments, and do them, though your scattering were to the uttermost parte of the heauē, yet wil I gather you from thence and wil bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen, to place my Name there.

¹⁰ Now these are thy seruants & thy people, whome thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mighty hand.

¹¹ O Lord, I beseeche thee, let thine eare now hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruants, who desire to^d feare thy Name, and, I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of^e this man: for I was the Kings butler.

^d That is, to worship thee.

^e To wit, the King Artahashastes.

CHAP. II.

¹ After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artaxerxes, he came to Ierusalem, and buydea the walles.

^a Which was the first month of the yere & sōmeth part of Marche & part of April
^b Who is also called Darius
^{Deut 7.1}

¹ NOW in the moneth^a Nisan in the twētieth yere of King Artahashastes, the wine^b stode before him, and I toke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the King. now I was not before time sad in his presence.

² And the King said vnto me, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sick? this is nothing, but sorowe of heart. Then was I fore afraied,

⁴ And the King said vnto me, For what thing dost thou require? Then I prayed to the God of heauen, ¹ I desired God in mine heart, to prosper mine enterprise.

⁵ And said vnto the King, If it please the King, and if thy seruant haue founde fauour in thy sight, I desire that thou woldest send me to Iudah vnto the citie of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may buylde it.

⁶ And the King said vnto me, (the quene also sitting by him) How long shal thy journey be? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the King, and he sent me, and I set him a time.

⁷ After I said vnto the King, If it please thy King, let them giue me letters to the captaines beyonde the¹¹ River, that they may conuaye me ouer, til I come into Iudah.

¹¹ Or, Ephraim.

And letters vnto Asaph the keeper of the Kings¹¹ parke, that he may giue me timber to buylde the gates of the palace (which appertained to the walles) & for the walles of the citie, and for the house that I shal entre into. And the King gaue me according to^d the good hand of my God vpon me.

¹¹ Or, paradyse.

^d As God moued me to aske, & as he gaue me good success the same.

⁹ ¶ Then came I to the captaines beyonde the Riuer, & gaue them the Kings letters. And the King had sent captaines of the armie and horsmen with me.

¹⁰ But^e Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah a seruant an Ammonite heard it, and it grieved thefore, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel.

^e These were great enemies to the Iewes & libbered all wayes bothe by force & subtiltie to ouercome them. & Tobiah because his wife was a Ieweish, had aduertisement euer of their affaires and so wrought them great trouble.

¹¹ So I came to Ierusalem, and was there thre dayes.

¹² And I rose in the night, I, and a few men: for I tolde no man, what God had put in mine heart to do at Ierusalem, and there was not a beast with me, saue the beast whereon I rode.

¹⁴ Then I went forth vnto the gate of the¹¹ fountaine, and to the Kings fish pool, & there was no iourne for the beast that was vnder me to passe.

¹¹ Or, conduit.

¹⁵ Then went I vp in the night by the broke, & viewed the wall, and turned backe, and comming backe, I entred by the gate of the valley and returned.

¹⁶ And the rulers knew not whether I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tel it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priests, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

¹⁷ Afterward I said vnto them, Ye see the miserie that we are in, how Ierusalem lieth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fyre: come and let vs buylde the wall of Ierusalem, that we be no more for reproche.

^g They were incouraged & gaue them selves to do well, & to traunce in this worthy enterprise.

¹⁸ Then I tolde them of the hand of my God, (which was good ouer me) and also of the Kings wordes that he had spoken vnto me. And they said, Let vs rise, & buylde. So they strengthened their hands to good.

^h These were thre chief gouerners vnder the King of Persia beyonde Euphrates: thus they wicked when they wilburden the children of God, euer lay treason vnto their charge, bothe because it maketh the more odious to the world, & also stirreth the hatred of priuies most against them.

¹⁹ But when Sanballat the Horonite, & Tobiah the seruant an Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs and despised vs, and said, What a thing is this that ye do? Wil ye rebell against the King?

²⁰ Then answered I them, and said to them, The God of heauen, he wil prosper vs, &

⁷ Next vnto them also fortified Melatiah the Gibeonite, & Iadón ^f Meronothite, men of Gibeón, and of Mizpáh, vnto the throne of the Duke, which was beyonde
the Ruer.

⁸ Next vnto him fortified Vzzíel the sonne of Harhohiah ^g of the golde smithes:
next vnto him also fortified Hananiah, the sonne ^h of Harakkahím, and they repared Ierusalém vnto the broad wall.

⁹ Also next vnto them fortified Rephaiáh, the sonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe parte of Ierusalém.

¹⁰ And next vnto him fortified Iedaiáh the sonne of Harumáph, euen ouer against his house: and next vnto him fortified Hattúsh, the sonne of Hasbaniáh.

¹¹ Malchiáh the sonne of Harím, and Hashúb the sonne of Paháth Moáb fortified the seconde ⁱ portion, & the towre of the fornaces.

¹² Next vnto him also fortified Shallúm, the sonne of Halloésh, the ruler of the halfe parte of Ierusalém, he, & his daughters.

¹³ The valley gate fortified Hanúm, & the inhabitants of Zanuáh: they buylt it, and set on the dores thereof, ^j lockes thereof, & the barres thereof, euen a thousand cu-bites on the wall vnto the dung porte.

¹⁴ But the dung porte fortified Malchiáh, the sonne of Recháb, the ruler of ^k fourte parte of Beth haccárem: he buylt it, & set on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, & the barres thereof.

¹⁵ But the gate of the fountaine fortified Shallúm, the sonne of Col-hozéh, the ruler of ^k fourte parte of Mizpáh: he buyl-ded it, and couered it, and set on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall vnto the fishpoole of ^l Sheláh by the Kings garden, and vnto
the steppes that go downe from the citie
of Dauid.

¹⁶ After him fortified Nehemiáh the sonne of Azbák, the ruler of the halfe parte of Beth-zúr, vntil the other side ouer against the sepulchres of Dauid, and to the fishpoole that was repaired, and vnto the house of the mightie.

¹⁷ After him fortified the Leuites, Rehúm the sonne of Baní, and next vnto him fortified Hasbaniáh the ruler of the halfe parte of Keilah in his quarter.

¹⁸ After him fortified their brethren: Ba-uái, the sonne of Henadád the ruler of the halfe parte of Keilah:

¹⁹ And next vnto him fortified Ezer, the sonne of Ieshúa the ruler of Mizpáh, the other portion ouer against the going vp to the ^d corner of the armour.

²⁰ After him was earnest Barúch the sonne of Zaccái, & fortified another portion from the corner vnto the dore of the house of Eliashib the hie Priest.

²¹ After him fortified Merimóth, the sonne of Uriáh, the sonne of Hakkóz, another portion from the dore of the house of Eliashib, euen as long as the house of Eliashib extended.

²² After him also fortified the Priests, the men of ^e the plaine.

²³ After them fortified Beniamín, & Hashúb ouer against their house: after him fortified Azariáh, the sonne of Maaseriáh, the sonne of Ananiáh, by his house.

²⁴ After him fortified Binnú, the sonne of Henadád another porti^o, from the house of Azariáh vnto the turning and vnto the corner.

²⁵ Palál, the sonne of Vzaí, from ouer a-

CHAP. IIII.

7 The buylding of Ierusalém is hindred, 15 But God breaketh their enterprise. 17 The Iewes buyld with one hand, and holde their weapons in the other.

1 BVt when Sanballát heard that we buylded the wall, then was he wroth and foregriued, and mocked the Iewes,
 And said before his a brethien and the armie of Samaria, thus he said, What do these feake Iewes wil they foitifie the selues wil thei sacrifice wil thei finish it in a day wil they make the stones whole againe out of y heapes of dust, seing they are burnt
 3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they buylde, yet if a foxe go vp, he shal euen breake downe their stony wall.

4 Heare, o our God (for we are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a pray d in the land of their captiuitie,

5 And couer not their e iniquitie, neither let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for thei haue prouoked vs before the buylders.

6 So we buylt the wall, and all the wall was ioyned vnto the e halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

7 ¶ But when Sanballát, and Tobiah, & the Arabians, and the Ammonites, & the As-dodims heard that the walles of Ierusalém were repared, (for the breaches begā to be stopped) then thei were verie wroth,

8 And conspired altogether to come and to fight against Ierusalém, & to hinde the.

9 Then we prayed vnto our God, and set watchmen by them, day & night, because of them.

10 And Iudáh said, The strength of y bearers is weakened, and thei en muche earth, so that we are not able to buylde the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had said, Thei shal not knowe, neither se, til we come into the middes of them and slaye them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they tolde vs f ten times, & Fro all places whence ye shal returne, they wil be vpon vs.

13 Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall vpon y toppes of the stones, & placed y people by their families, with their swordes, their speares & their bowes,

14 Then I beheld, and rose vp, & said vnto the princes, & to the rulers, & to the rest of the people, Be not afraid of them: h remember the great Loid, & feareful, & fight for your brethren, your sonnes, and your daughters, your wiues, and your houses.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowne vnto vs, then God brought their counsell to nought, & we turned all againe to the wall, euerie one vnto his worke.

16 And fro that day, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe parte of them helde the speares, and shields, & bowes, and habergins: and the rulers stode
 i behinde all the house of Iudáh.

17 They that buylded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, & they that laded, did the worke with one hand, & with the other helde the sworde.

18 For euerie one of the buylders had his sworde girde on his loynes, & so buylded:
 & he that blewe the trüpet, was beside me.

19 Then said I vnto the princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therefore ye heare the sould of the trumpet, k resorte ye thither vnto vs: our God shal fight for vs.

21 So we laboured in the worke, and halfe of them helde the speares, from the appearing of the morning, til the starres came forth.

22 And at the same time said I vnto the people, Let euerie one with his si ruant lodge within Ierusalém, that they may be a watche for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

23 So nether I, nor my brethren, nor my ser-uants, nor the mé of the warde, (which followed me) none of vs did put of our clothes, saue euerie one put them of i for waf-shing. CHAP. V.

f He doubted not but God was able to preserve him, & knewe that, if he had obeyed this counsel, he shuld have discouraged all the people: thus God giveth power to his, to resist false prophetes though they seme to have neuer so great probabilitye.

g Very grief caused him to pray against such, which under the pretence of being the ministers of God, were adversaries to his glorie, and went about to overthrow his Church, declaring also hereby that where there is one true minister of God, y^e devil hathe a great sorte of hirings h Which was the first moneth and conceived parte of August, and parte of Sept. i After that I had sent Sanballát his answer. k Thus the Church of God hathe evermore enemies within it selfe, which are more dangerous then the outward and professed enemies

11 Then I said, f Shulde suche a man as I, see? Who is he, being as I am, that wolde go into the Temple to live? I wil not go in.

12 And lo, I perceiued, that God had not sent him, but that he pronouced this prophete against me: for Tobiah and Sanballát had hyred him.

13 Therefore was he hyred, that I might be afrayed, and do thus, and sinne, and that they might have an euil reporte that they might reproche me.

14 My God, rem'mber thou Tobiah, and Sanballát according vnto these their workes, and Noadiah the p^rophetesse also, and the rest of the Prophetes that wolde haue put me in feare.

15 ¶ Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the five & twentieth day of Elúl, in two and fiftie dayes.

16 And whē all our enemies heard thereof, even all the heathen y^e were about vs, they were afrayed, & their courage failed the: for they knewe, y^e this worke was wrought by our God.

17 And in these dayes were there manie of the princes of Iudáh, whose k letters wēt vnto Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there were manie in Iudáh, that were sworne vnto him. for he was the sonne in law of Shechaniah, the sonne of Aráh: & his sonne Iehonathan had the daughter of Meshullám, the sonne of Berechiah.

19 Yea, they spake in his praise before me, & tolde him my wordes, & Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

CHAP. VII.

After the wall once buylded, & the watche appointed.

6 They that returned from the captiuitie are nobred.

NOW when the wall was buylded, & I had set vp the dores, and the porters, and the singers and the Leuites were appointed,

2 Then I commanded my brother Hanani and Hananiah the prince of the palace in Ierusalém (for he was doubtles a faithful man, and feared God aboue manie)

3 And I said vnto them, Let not the gates of Ierusalém be opened, vntil the heat of the sunne: and while a they stand by, let them shut the dores, and make them fast. and I appointed wardes of the inhabitants of Ierusalém, euery one in his warde, and euery one ouer against his house.

4 Now the citie was la'ge and great, but the people were fewe therein, and the houses were not buylded.

5 And my God put into mine heart, and I gathered the princes, and the rulers, & the people, to counte their genealogies: and I founde a booke of the genealogie of them, *which came vp at the first, and founde Ex. 1. 8. written therein, a Read Ezrá 7.2.

b Which had age and discrecion to vnderstand.

c This declareth the great zeale, that the people had to heare the wordes of God.

d To the intent that his voyce might be the better heard.

AND all the people assembled themselves together, in the street that was before the watergate, and they spake vnto Ezrá the scribe, that he wolde bring the booke of the Law of Moyses, which the Lord had commanded to Israél.

And Ezrá the Priest brought the Law before the Congregation bothe of men and women, and of all that coulde heare and vnderstand it, in the first day of the seventh moneth,

And he red therein in the street that was before the watergate (from the morning vntil the midday) before men and women, and of them that vnderstode it, and the eares of all the people hearkened vnto the booke of the Law.

And Ezrá the scribe stode vpon a pulpit of wood, which he had made for the preaching, & beside him stode Mattithiáh, and Shéma, and Ananiáh, and Vriúáh, & Hilkiah, and Maaseiáh on his right hand, and on his left hand Pedaiáh, & Mishael, and Malchiáh, and Hashúm, and Hashbaddána, Zechariáh, and Meshullám.

And Ezrá opened the booke before all the people: for he was aboue all the people: and when he opened it, all the people stode vp.

And Ezrá praised the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amén, with lifting vp their hands: & they bowed themselves, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

Also Ieshúa, and Baní, and Sherebiáh, Iamin, Akkáb, Shabbethái, Hoduiáh, Maaseiáh, Kelitá, Azariáh, Izababéd, Hunán, Peliáh, & the Leuites caused the people to vnderstand the Law, and the people stode in their place.

And they red in the booke of the Law of God distinctly, and gaue the sense, & caused them to vnderstand the reading.

Then Nehemiáh (which is Tirshátha) and Ezrá the Priest & scribe, and the Leuites that instructed the people, said vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lord your God: mourne not, neither wepe: for all the people wept, when they heard the wordes of the Law.

He said also vnto them, Go, and eat of the fat, & drinke the swete, and send parte vnto them, for whome none is prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be ye not sory therefore: for the ioye of the Lord is your strength.

And the Leuites made silence throughout all the people, saying, Holde your peace: for the day is holy, be not sad therefore.

Then all the people went to eat and to drinke, and to send away parte, & to make great ioye, because they had vnderstand the wordes that they had taught them.

And on the seconde day the chief fathers of all the people, the Priests and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezrá the scribe, that he also might instruct them in the wordes of the Law.

And they founde writen in the Law, (that the Lord had commanded by Moyses) that the childre of Israél shulde dwell in bootes in the feast of the seventh moneth,

And that they shulde cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their citres, and in Ierusalém, saying, Go forth vnto the mount, and bring oliuebranches, and pinebranches, and branches of myrtus, and palmebranches, and branches of thicke trees, to make bootes, as it is written.

So the people went forth and brought them, & made them bootes, euery one vpon the rofe of his house, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, & in the strete by the watergate, and in the strete of the gate of Ephráim.

And all the Congregation of them were come againe out of the captiuitie, made bootes, & sate vnder the bootes: for since the time of Ieshúa the sonne of Nun vnto this day, had not the children of Israél done so, & there was very great ioye.

And he red in the booke of the Law of God euery day, from the first day vnto the last day. And they kept the feast seven dayes, & on the eighth daye a soléne assemblie, according vnto the maner.

CHAP. IX.

The people repent, & forsake their strange wines: The Leuites exhorite them to praise God, & declaring his wonders. 26 And their ingratitude. 30 And Gods great mercies toward them.

IN the fourth & twentieth day of this seventh moneth the children of Israél were assembled with fasting, & with sackcloth, and earth vpon them.

(And they that were of the sede of Israél were separated from all the strangers) & they stode and confessed their sinnes and the iniquities of their fathers.

And they stode vp in their place and red in the booke of the Law of the Lord their God four times on the day, and they confessed and worshipped the Lord their God foure times.

Then stode vp vpon the staires of the Leuites Ieshúa, and Baní, Kadmiél, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiáh, Baní & Chenáni, & cryed with a loude voice vnto the Lord their God.

And the Leuites said, ené Ieshúa & Kadmiél, Baní, Hashabniáh, Sherebiáh, Hoduiáh, Shebaniah & Pethahiah, Stād vp, & praise the Lord your God for euer, & euer, & let them

- them praise thy glorious Name, ó God, w^h excelleth about all thãksgiuing & praise.
- 6 Thou art Lord alone: thou hast made heauen, and the heauen of all heauens, with all their hoste, the earth, and all thĩgs that are therein, the seas, & all that are in thẽ, and thou preseruest them all, and the hoste of the heauen worshipeth thee.
- 7 Thou art, ó Lord, the God, that hast chosen Abrã, & broghest him out of * Vr in Caldea * and madest his name Abrahã, Gen. 11, 31. Gen. 17, 5.
- 8 And foundest his heart faithful before thee, * and madest a couenant with him, to giue vnto his sede the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, & Perizzites, & Iebusites, and Gergashites, and hast performed thy wordes, because thou art iust. Gen. 15, 18.
- 9 * Thou hast also considered the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their crye by the red Sea, Exod. 3, 7.
- 10 And shewed tokens and wonders vpon Pharaóh, and on all his seruants, & on all the people of his land: for thou knewest that thei dealt proudly agãist thẽ: therefore thou madest thee a Name, as appeareth this day.
- 11 * For thou didest breake vp the Sea before them, and they went through the middes of the Sea on drye lãd: and those that pursued them, hast thou cast into the bottoms as a stone, in the mightie waters: Exod. 14, 22.
- 12 And * leddest thẽ in the daye with a pillar of a cloude, & in the night with a pillar of fyre to giue them light in the way that thei went. Exod. 13, 21.
- 13 * Thou camest downe also vpon mount Sinã, and spakest vnto them from heauen, & gauest them right iudgements, & true lawes, ordinãces & good commandemẽts, Exod. 20, 1.
- 14 And declaredst vnto thẽ thine holy Sabbath, and commandedst them precepts, & ordinances, and laws, by the hand of Moyses thy seruant:
- 15 * And gauest them bread from heauen for their hungre, * & broghest forth the water for them out of the rocke for their thirst: * & promisedst them that thei shulde goin, & take possession of the land: for the which thou haddest lift vp thine hand for to giue them. Exod. 16, 15. Exod. 17, 6.
- 16 But thei and our fathers behaued them selues proudly and hardened their necke, so that they hearkened not vnto thy commandements, Deut. 10.
- 17 But refused to obey, and wolde not remember thy maruelous workes that thou haddest done for them, but hardened their neckes and had in their heades to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou, ó God of mercies, gracious and ful of compassiõ, of long suffring and of great mercie, yet forsokest them not.
- 18 Morcouer when they made them a molten calfe (and said, This is thy god y^e broght thee vp out of the land of Egypt) & committed great blasphemies,
- 19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forsokest them not in the wildernes: * the pillar of the cloude departed not from them by day to lead them the way, nether the pillar of fyre by night, to shewe them light, & the way whereby they shulde go. Exod. 13, 22. Num. 14, 14. 1 Cor. 10, 21.
- 20 Thou gauest also thy good Spirit to instruct them, & withheldst not thy M A N from their mouth, and gauest them water for their thirst.
- 21 Thou didest also fede thẽ fourtie yeres in y^e wildernes: thei lacked nothĩg: * their clothes waxed not olde, and their fete swelled not. Deut. 1, 4.
- 22 And thou gauest them kingdomes and people, and ^d scatteredst them into corners: so they possessed * the land of Sihon and the land of the King of Heshbon, & the land of Og King of Bashan. c Though the way was tedious & long. d Meaning the heathen whom he droue out. Num. 21, 26.
- 23 And thou didest multiplie their childrẽ, like the starres of the heauen, & broghest them into the lãd, whereof thou haddest spoken vnto their fathers, that they shulde go, and possesse it.
- 24 So the children went in, and possessed the land, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, euen the Canaanites, and gauest them into their hãds, with their Kings and the people of the land, that they might do with them what they wolde.
- 25 And they toke their strõg cities and the fat land, and possessed houses, full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyardes, & oliues, and trees for fode in abundance, and they did eat, and were filled, and became fat, & liued in pleasure through thy great goodnes.
- 26 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled agãist thee, & cast thy Law behinde their backs & slew thy Prophetes (which ^e protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies. e Taking heauen and earth to witness that God wolde destroye thẽ, except they returned, as 2. Chro 24, 19.
- 27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed thẽ: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them sauours, who saued them out of the hand of their aduersaries.
- 28 But when they had ^f rest, they returned to do euil before thee: therefore ledest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that thei had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times, f He declareth how Gods mercies euer contended with the wickednes of the people, who euer in their prosperitie forgate God.
- 29 And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring the againe vnto thy Law: but they behaued them selues proudly, and hearken'd not vnto thy commandments, but sinned against thy iudgements (* which a man shulde do and liue in them) and pulled away the shuldre, and were stifnecked, and wolde not^h heare.

30 Yet thou^g didst forbear them many yeres, and protestedst among them by thy Spirit, ^{euē} by the hand of thy Prophetes, but they wolde not heare: therefore gauest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.

31 Yet for thy great mercies, thou hast not consumed them, nether forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and merciful God.

32 Now therefore our God, * thou great God, mightie and terrible, that kepest couenant and * mercie, let not all the affliction that hathe come vnto vs, seme a litle before thee, ^{that is,} to our Kings, to our princes, & to our Priests, and to our Prophetes and to our fathers, & to all thy people since the time of the Kings of Asshur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou^k hast delt truely, but we haue done wickedly.

34 And our Kings and our princes, our Priests and our fathers haue not done thy Law, nor regarded thy commandments nor thy protestatiōs, wherewith thou hast^l protested among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnes that thou shewedst vnto them, and in the large and fat land which thou settest before them, and haue not conuerted from their euil workes.

36 Beholde, we are seruants this day, & the lād that thou gauest vnto our fathes, to eate the^m frute thereof, and the goodnes thereof, beholde, we are seruants therein.

37 And it yeldeth muche frute vnto^y Kings whome thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies and ouer our cattel at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction.

38 Now because of all this we makeⁿ a sure couenāt, and write it, and our princes, our Leuites and our Priests seale vnto it.

And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpon the olde gate, and vpon the fishgate, and the towre of Hananeél, and the towre of Mesh, euen vnto the shepegate: and they stode in the gate of the warde.

So stode the two companies (of them that gaue thanks) in the house of God, & I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

Also at the same time were men appointed ¹ ouer the chambers of the store for the offringes (for the first frutes, and for the tithes) to gather in to the out of the fields of the citie, the porcions of the Law for the Priests and the Leuites: for Iudáh reioyced for the Priests & for the Leuites, that serued.

And bothe the singers and the Leuites kept the warde of their God, & the warde of the purification according to the commandement of Dauid, and Salomón his sonne.

* For in the dayes of Dauid and Asaph, of olde were chiefe singers, and songs of praise and thanksgiuing vnto God.

And in the dayes of Zerubbabél, and in the dayes of Nehemiáh did all Israël giue porcions vnto the singers and porters, euerie day his porcion, and they gaue the holy things vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites gaue the holy things vnto the sonnes of Aaron:

¹ The Law is red: ² They separate from them all strangers: ³ Nehemiáh reproveth them that breake the Sabbath. ³⁰ An ordinance to serue God.

And on that day did they read in the booke of Moses, in the audieñce of the people, & it was founde writen therein, that the Ammonite, and the Moabite ¹ shulde not enter into the Congregation of God,

Because they met not the children of Israel wth bread & with water, ² but hired Baalam against the, that he shulde curse the: & our God turned the curse into a blessing.

Now when they had heard the Law, they separated from Israël ¹ all those that were mixed.

¶ And before ¹ this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chamber of the house of our God, being ¹ kinsman to Tobiah:

And he had made him a great chamber & there had the aforetime laid the offerings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, & the porters) and the offerings of the Priests.

But in all this time was not I in Ierusalém: for in the two and thirtieth yere of Artahasthe King of Babel, came I vnto the King, and after certeine dayes I obtained of the King.

And when I was come to Ierusalém, I vnderstode ¹ that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God,

And it grieved me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

And I commanded them to cleinsé the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meat offering and the incense.

And I perceiued that the porcions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euerie one was fled to his lād, euen the Leuites & singers that executed the worke.

The reproveth I the rulers & said, Why is the house of God forsakē? And I assem- bled them, and set them in their place.

Then brought all Iudáh the tithes of corne & of wine, & of oyle vnto the treasures.

And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, & Zadok the scribe, & of the Leuites, Pedaiáh, & vnder their hand Hanani the sonne of Zaccúr the sonne of Mattaniáh: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

16 Their dwelt men of Tytus also therein, which brought fish and all wares, and sold on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudáh euen in Ierusalém.

17 Then reproofed I the rulers of Iudáh, & said vnto them, What euil thing is this that ye do, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this citie: yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israël, in breaking the Sabbath?

19 And when the gates of Ierusalém began to be darke before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged, that they shulde not be opened til after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants set I at the gates, that there shulde no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chapmen and marchants of all marchandise remained once or twise all night without Ierusalém.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I wil lay hands vpon you. Fro that time came they nomore on the Sabbath.

THE ARGUMENT.

Because of the diuersitie of names, wherely they vsed to name their Kinges, and the supplication of yere, wherein the Ebrewes, and the Grecians do varie, diuers authors write diuersly as touching this Ahshuerush, but it smeth Daniel 6. 1. and 9. 1. that he was Darius King of the Medes, and sonne of Asthyage, called also Ahshuerush, which was a name of honour, and signified great and chief, as the sheid Herein is deuised the great mercies of God towards his Church, who neuer faileth them in their greatest dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, he euer surreth vp some, by whome he sendeth comfort, and deliuerance. Herein also is described the ambicion, pride and cruelty of the wicked, when they come to honour, and their folly fall when they are at highest. and how God preferreth, and preferreth them which are zealous of his glorie, and haue a care and love towards their brethren.

IN the dayes of Ahasuerus (this is Ahasuerus that reigned, from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundredreth, and seuen and twentie prouinces)

In those dayes when the King Ahasuerus fate on his throne, which was in the palace of Shushán,

In the thirde yere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

That he might shewe the riches & glorie of his kingdome, and the honour of his great maiestie manie dayes, euen an hundredreth and foure score dayes.

And when these dayes were expired, the King made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushán, bothe vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the courte of the garden of the Kings palace, Vnder an hanging of white, grene, and blewe clothes, fastened with cordes of fine linen and purple, in siluer rings, and pillars of marble: the beddes were of golde, and of siluer vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble and alabaister, and blewe coulour.

And they gaue them drinke in vessels of golde, and changed vessel after vessel, and royal wine in abundance according to the power of the King.

And the drinking was by an ordre, none might compel: for so the King had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they shulde do according to euerie mans pleasure.

The Quene Vashti made a feast also for the womē in the royal house of King Ahasuerus.

Vpon the seuent day when the King was mery with wine, he commanded Memucán, Bizthá, Haborá, Bigthá, and Abagthá, Zethár, and Carcás, the seuen eunuches (that stode in the presence of King Ahasuerus)

To bring Quene Vashti before the King with her crowne royal, that he might shewe the people and the princes her beautie: for she was faire to loke vpon.

But the Quene Vashti refused to come at the Kings worde, which he had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the King was very angrie, and his wrath kindled in him.

Then the King said to the wise men, that knewe the times (for so was the Kings maner towardes all that knewe the lawe and the iudgement:

And the next vnto him was Caisheá, Shethár, Admátha, Tarshush, Méres, Marsená & Mernucán the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which sawe the Kings face, and fate the first in the kingdome)

What shal we do vnto the Quene Vashti according to the lawe, because she did not according to the worde of the King Ahasuerus by the commission of the eunuches?

Then Memucán answered before the King and the princes, The Quene Vashti hath not onely done euil against the King, but against all the princes, & against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahasuerus.

For the acte of the Quene shal come abroad vnto all women, so that they shal despise their husbands in their owne eies, and shal say, The King Ahasuerus commanded Vashti the Quene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

So shal the princesses of Persia & Media this day say vnto all the Kings Princes, whē they heare of the acte of the Quene, thus shal there be muche despitefulness and wrath.

If it please the King, let a royal decree procede from him, and let it be written among the statutes of Persia, and Media (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come nomore before King Ahasuerus, and let the King giue her royal estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

And when the decree of the King which shalbe made, shalbe published throughout all his kingdome (thogh it be great) all the women shal giue their husbands honour, bothe great and small.

And this saying pleased the King & the princes, & the King did according to the worde of Memucán.

For he sent letters into all the prouinces of the King, into euerie prouince according to the writig thereof, & to euerie people after their language, that euerie man shulde beare rule in his owne house, and that he shulde publish it in the language of that same people.

beautiful yong virgins,

3 And let ^ſ King appoint officers through all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let thé gather all the beautiful yong virgins vnto the palace of Shuſhán, into the houſe of the women, vnder the hand of Hegé the Kings eunuche, ^c keeper of the women, to giue them their things ^d for purification.

4 And the maid that ſhal pleaſe the King, let her reigne in the ſtead of Vaſhti. And this pleaſed the King, and he did ſo.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shuſhán, there was a certaine Iewe, whoſe name was Mordecái the ſonne of Iair, the ſonne of Shimeí, the ſonne of Kíſh a man of Iemún,

6 Which had bene caryed away from Ieruſalém ^e with the captiuitie that was caried away with Iekoniáh King of Iudáh (whome Nebuchadneczzár King of Babél had caryed away)

7 And he nourished Hadaffáh, that is Eſtér, his vnckles daughter: for ſhe had nether father nor mother, and the maid was faire, and beautiful to loke on: & after the death of her father, and her mother, Mordecái toke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the Kings commandement, & his decree was publiſhed, and manie mai-des were broght together to the palace of Shuſhán, vnder the hád of Hegé, Eſtér was brought alſo vnto the Kings houſe vnder ^ſ hand of Hegé the keeper of the women.

9 And the maid pleaſed him, and ſhe founde fauour in his ſight: therefore he cauſed her things for purification to be giuen her ſpedely, and her ^ſ ſtate, and ſcuen comely maid: ſ to be giuen her out of the Kings houſe, and he gaue change to her and to her maidens of the beſt in the houſe of the women.

10 But Eſtér ſhewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecái had charged her, that ſhe ſhulde not tell it.

11 And Mordecái walked ^e euerie day before the courte of the womens houſe, to knowe if Eſtér did wel, and what ſhulde be done with her.

12 And when the courſe of euerie maid came, to go into King Ahaſhueróſh, after that ſhe had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for ſo were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, ſix moneths with oyle of myrre, & ſix moneths with ſweete odours and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maids vnto the King) whatſoeuer ſhe required, was ^f giuen her, to go with her out of the womens houſe vnto the Kings houſe.

14 In the euening ſhe went, and on the mo-row ſhe returned into the ſeconde houſe of the women vnder the hand of Shaafhgáz the Kings eunuche, which kept the cócubines: ſhe came into the King nomo-re, except ſhe pleaſed the King, & that ſhe were called by name.

15 Now when the courſe of Eſtér ^ſ daughter of Abihail the vnckle of Mordecái (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, ^ſ ſhe ſhulde go in to the King, ſhe deſired nothing, but what ^g Hegé the Kings eunuche the keeper of the women ſaid: and Eſtér founde fauour in the ſight of all them that looked vpon her.

16 ¶ So Eſtér was takē vnto King Ahaſhueróſh into his houſe royal in the tenth mo-neth, which is the ^h month Tebéth, in the ſeuenth yere of his reigne.

17 And the King loued Eſtér aboue all the women, and ſhe founde grace and fauour in his ſight more then all the virgins: ſo that he ſet the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, & made her Quene in ſtead of Vaſhti.

18 Then the King made a great feaſt vnto all his princes and his ſeruants which was the feaſt of Eſtér and gaue reſt ⁱ vnto the prouinces, and gaue giſtes, according to the power of a King.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the ſeconde time, then Mordecái ſate in the Kings gate.

20 Eſtér had not yet ſhewed her kinred nor her people, as Mordecái had charged her:
for Eſtér did after the worde of Mordecái, as when ſhe was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In thoſe daies when Mordecái ſate in the Kings gate, two of the Kings eunu-ches, Bigtán and Téieſh, which kept the dore, were wroth, & ſought to lay ^j hand on the King Ahaſhueróſh.

22 And the thing was knowē to Mordecái, and he tolde it vnto Quene Eſtér, and Eſtér certified the King thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquiſición was made, it was founde ſo: therefore thei were bothe hanged on a tre: and it was written in the booke of the ^k Chronicles before the King.

ded cōcerning him: but Mordecái bowed not the knee, nether did reuerence.

Then the Kings ſeruants which were at the Kings gate ſaid vnto Mordecái, Why tranſgreſſeſt thou the Kings commande- ment?

And albeit they ſpake daiely vnto hí, yet he wolde not heare them: therfore they tolde Hamán, that they might ſhew Mordecáis matters wolde ſtād: for he had tolde them, that he was a Iewe.

And when Hamán ſawe that Mordecái bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Hamán was ful of wrath.

Now he thought it to litle to lay hands onely on Mordecái: & becauſe they had ſhewed him the people of Mordecái, Hamán ſoght to deſtroye all the Iewes, that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahaſhueróſh, euen y^e people of Mordecái.

In the fiſt moneth (that is the moneth Níſán) in the twelfth yere of King Ahaſhueróſh, they caſt Pur (that is a lot) before Hamán, from day to day, and frō moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth Adár.

Then Hamán ſaid vnto King Ahaſhueróſh, There is a people ſcattered, and diſperſed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they do not obſerue the Kings lawes: therefore it is not the Kings profite to ſuffe them.

If it pleaſe the King, let it be written that they may be deſtroyed, & I wil paye ten thouſand talents of ſiluer by the háds of them that haue the charge of this buſi- nes to bring it into the Kings treaſurie.

Then the King toke his ring from his hand and gaue it vnto Hamán the ſonne of Hammedátha the Agagite the Iewes aduerſarie.

And the King ſaid vnto Hamán, Let y^e ſiluer be thine, and the people to do with them as it pleaſeth thee.

Then were the Kings ſcribes called on the thirtieth day of the fiſt moneth, and there was written (according to all that Hamán commanded) vnto the Kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euerie prouince, and to the rulers of euerie people & to euerie prouince, accordig to the writing thereof, & to euerie people according to their language: in the name of King Ahaſhueróſh was it written, and ſealed with the Kings ring.

And the lettres were ſent by poſtes into all the Kings prouinces, to rote out, to kill and to deſtroye all the Iewes, bothe yong and olde, children and women, in one day vpon the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth, (which is the moneth Adár) and to ſpoile them as a pray.

The contents of the writing was, that there ſhulde be giuen a cōmandmēt in all prouinces, & publiſhed vnto all people, that thei ſhulde be ready againſt the ſame day.

And the poſtes compelled by the Kings cōmandement went forth, and the cōmandement was giue in the palace at Shuſhan: and the King and Hamán ſate drinking, but the citie of Shuſhan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. IIII.

Mordecái giueth the Queene knowledge of the cruel deuice of the King againſt the Iewes ſo ſhe willeth that they pray for her.

Now when Mordecái perceiued all that was done, Mordecái rent his ciouthes, and put on ſackcloth, & aſhes, and went out into the middes of the citie, & cryed with a great crye, and a bitter.

And he came eue before the Kings gate, but he might not entre within the Kings gate, being clothed with ſackcloth.

And in euerie prouince, & place, whether the Kings charge and his commiſſion came, there was great ſorowe among the Iewes, and faſting, & weping and mournig, and many laye in ſackcloth & in aſhes.

¶ Then Eſters maides and her eunuches came and tolde it her: therefore the Queene was very heauy, and ſhe ſent raiment to clothe Mordecái, and to take away his ſackcloth frō him, but he receiued it not.

Then called Eſtér Hatách one of y^e Kings eunuches, whome he had appointed to ſerue her, and gaue him a cōmandement vnto Mordecái, to knowe what it was, and why it was.

So Hatách wēt forth to Mordecái vnto the ſtreat of the citie, which was before the Kings gate.

And Mordecái tolde hí of all that which had come vnto him, and of the ſumme of the ſiluer that Hamán had promiſed to paye vnto the Kings treaſures, becauſe of the Iewes, for to deſtroye them.

Alſo he gaue him the copie of the writig & commiſſion that was giuen at Shuſhan, to deſtroye thet that he might ſhew it vnto Eſtér and declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that ſhe ſhulde go in to the King, & make peticion and ſupplication before him for her people.

¶ So when Hatách came, he tolde Eſtér the wordes of Mordecái.

Then Eſtér ſaid vnto Hatách, and commanded him, to ſay vnto Mordecái,

All the Kings ſeruants and the people of the Kings prouinces do knowe, that whoſoeuer, man or woman, that commeth to the King into the inner court, which is not called, there is a lawe of his,

that he ſhal dye ; except him to whom the King holdeth out the golden rod, that he may liue . Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the King theſe thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecái of Eſters wordes.

13 And Mordecái ſaid , that thei ſhulde answer Eſtér thus , Thinke not with thy ſelf that thou ſhalt eſcape in the Kings houſe , more then all the Iewes.

14 For if thou holdeſt thy peace at this time , comfort and deliuerance ſhal appeare to the Iewes out of another place , but thou and thy fathers houſe ſhal periſh : and who knoweth whether thou art come to this kingdome for ſuch a time ?

15 Then Eſtér commended to answer Mordecái ,

16 Go , & aſſemble all the Iewes that are found in Shuſhán , & faſt ye for me , & eat not , nor drinke in theſe dayes , day nor night . I alſo and my maides wil faſt likewiſe , and ſo wil I go in to the King , which is not according to the Law : and if I periſh , I periſh .

17 So Mordecái went his way , and did according to all that Eſtér had commanded him .

CHAP. V.

1 Eſtér entreth in to the King , and biddeth him and Hamán to a feaſt . 11 Hamán prepareth a galous for Mordecái .

1 ANd on the third day Eſtér put on her royal apparel , and ſtoode in the court of the Kings palace within , ouer againſt the Kings houſe : and the King ſate vpon his royal throne in the Kings palace ouer againſt the gate of the houſe .

2 And when the King ſawe Eſtér the Queene ſtanding in the court , ſhe found fauour in his ſight : & the King helde out the gold ſceptre : ſhe was in his hád : ſo Eſtér drewe nere , and touched the toppe of the ſceptre .

3 Then ſaid the King vnto her , What wilt thou , Queene Eſtér ? & what is thy requeſt ? it ſhal be euen giuen thee to the halfe of the kingdome .

4 Then ſaid Eſtér , If it pleaſe the King , let the King and Hamán come this day vnto the báket , ſo I haue prepared for him .

5 And the King ſaid , Cauſe Hamán to make haſt that he maie do as Eſtér hath ſaid . So the King and Hamán came to the báket that Eſtér had prepared .

6 And the King ſaid vnto Eſtér at the báket of wine , What is thy petition , that it may be giuen thee ? and what is thy requeſt ? it ſhal euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome .

7 Then answered Eſtér , and ſaid , My petition and my requeſt is ,

8 If I haue founde fauour in the ſight of the King , and if it pleaſe the King to giue me my petition , and to performe my requeſt , let the King and Hamán come to the báket that I ſhal prepare for them , & I wil do tomorowe according to the Kings ſaying .

9 Then went Hamán forth the ſame day ioyful & with a glad heart . But when Hamán ſawe Mordecái in the Kings gate , that he ſtoode not vp , nor moued for him , then was Hamán ful of indignacion at Mordecái .

10 Neuertheles Hamán refrained him ſelf : and when he came home , he ſent , and called for his friends , and Zéreſh his wife .

11 And Hamán tolde them of the glorie of his riches , and the multitude of his children , and all the things wherein the King had promoted him , and how that he had ſet him aboute the princes and ſeruants of the King .

12 Hamán ſaid moreouer , Yea , Eſtér the Queene did let no man come in with the King to the báket that ſhe had prepared , ſaue me : and tomorowe am I bidden vnto her alſo with the King .

13 But all this doeth nothing auaile me , as long as I ſe Mordecái the Iewe ſitting at the Kings gate .

14 Then ſaid Zéreſh his wife and all his friends vnto him , Let them make a tre of fiftie cubites hie , and tomorowe ſpeake thou vnto the King , that Mordecái may be hanged thereon : the ſhalt thou go ioyfully with the King vnto the báket . And the thing pleaſed Hamán , and he cauſed to make the tre .

CHAP. VI.

1 The King turneth ouer the chronicles , and findeth the fidelitie of Mordecái , 10 And comandeth Hamán , to cauſe Mordecái to be had in honour .

1 The ſame night the King ſlept not , & he commanded to bring the booke of the records & the chronicles : and thei were red before the King .

2 Then it was founde written that Mordecái had tolde of Bigrána , & Téreſh two of the Kings eunuches , keepers of the dore , who ſoght to lay hands on the King Ahaſueróſh .

3 Theſe the King ſaid , What honour & dignitie hath bene giuen to Mordecái for this ? And the Kings ſeruants that miniſtered vnto him , ſaid , There is nothing done for him .

4 And the King ſaid , Who is in the court ? (Now Hamán was come into the inner court of the Kings houſe , that he might ſpeake vnto the King to hang Mordecái on the tre that he had prepared for him .)

7 And the King Ahashuerósh said vnto y^e Quene Ester, & to Mordecái the Iewe, Beholde, I haue giuen Ester the house of Hamán, whome they haue hanged vpon the tree, because he layed hand vpon the Iewes.

8 Write ye also for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the Kings name, and seale it with the Kings ring, (for the writings written in the Kings name, and sealed with the Kings ring, may no man reuoke)

9 The were the Kings scribes called at the same time, euē in the third moneth, that is the moneth^f Siuán, on the thre & twētieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecái commanded vnto the Iewes and to the prouinces, & captaines, and rulers of the princes, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundreth & seuen and twentie prouinces, vnto euerie prouince, according to the^s writing thereof, and to euerie people after their speache, and to the Iewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

10 And he wrote in the King Ahashuerósh name, and sealed it with the Kings ring: & he sent lettres by postes on horsebacke & that rode on beastes of price, as dromedaries & coltes of mares.

11 Wherein the King granted the Iewes (in what cities soeuer they were) to gather them selues together, & to stand for^b their life, & to roote out, to slay & to destroye all the power of the people & of the prouince that vexed them, both the children and women, and to spoyle their goods:

12 Vpon one day in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerósh, euen in the thirtent day of the twelfth moneth, which is the monethⁱ Adár.

13 The copie of the writing was, how there shulde be a commandement giuen in all and euerie prouince, published among all the people, and that the Iewes shulde be readie against that day to^k auenge them selues on their enemies.

14 So the postes rode vpon beastes of price, & dromedaries, & wēt forthe with speede, to execute the Kings commandement, & the decreet was giuen at Shushán y^e palace.

15 And Mordecái went out from the King in royal apparel of blew, and white, and with a great crowne of golde, and with a garment of fine linen and purple, and the citie of Shushán reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light andⁱ ioye and gladnes, and honour.

17 Also in all and euerie prouince, and in all and euerie citie and place, where the Kings commādemēt & his decreē came, there was ioye and gladnes to the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commandement of the King the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Hamán are hanged. 17 The Iewes kept a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

1 SO in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adái, vpon the thirtent day of the same, when the Kings commādemēt and his decreē drewe nere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it^a turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them)

2 The Iewes gathered the selues together into their cities throughout all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerósh, to laye hand on suche as sought their hurt, and no man colde withstande them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, & the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the King^b exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecái fell vpon them.

4 For Mordecái was great in the Kings house, and the reporte of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecái waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote all their^c enemies with strokes of the sworde and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they wolde vnto those that hated them.

6 And at Shushán the palace slewe y^e Iewes and destroyed^d five hundreth men,

7 And Parshandátha, and Dalphón, and Aspátha,

8 And Porátha, and Adaliá, and Aridátha,

9 And Parmáshita, and Arisái, and Aridái, and Vaezátha,

10 The ten sonnes of Hamán, the sonne of Ammedátha, the aduersarie of the Iewes slewe they: but they layed not their háds^e on the spoyle.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slayne, vnto the palace of Shushán before the King.

12 And the King said vnto the Quene Ester, The Iewes haue slayne in Shushán the palace and destroyed five hundreth men, and the ten sonnes of Hamán: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy request moreouer, that it may be^f performed?

13 Then said Ester, If it please the King, let it be granted also to morrowe to the Iewes that are in Shushán, to do according^f vnto unto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tre Hamans ten sonnes.

14 And the King chaiged to do so, and the decree was giuen at Shushán, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 ¶ So the Iewes that were in Shushán, assembled them selues vpon the fourtente day of the moneth Adár, and slewe thre hundred men in Shushan, but on the spoile they layed not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Iewes that were in the Kings prouinces assembled the selues, and rode for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, & slewe of them that hated them, ^h seuentie and fyue thousand: but they layed not their hand on the spoile.

17 This they did on the thirtente day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourtete day thereof, and kept it a daye of fasting and ioye.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushán, assembled them selues on the thirtete day, & on the fourtente thereof, & then rested on the fiftente of the same, & kept it a day of fasting and ioye.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalld townes, kept the fourtente day of the moneth Adar with ioye and feasting, even a ioyful day, and euerie one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 ¶ And Mordecái wrote these wordes, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerósh, both nere and farre, 21 Inioining them that they shulde kepe the fourtente day of the moneth Adár, and the fiftente day of the same, euerie yere.

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them fro sorow to ioye, and from mourning into a ioyful day, to keep them the dayes of feasting, and ioye, and ^m to send presents euerie man to his neighbour, and giftes to the poore.

23 And the Iewes promised to do as they had begunne, and as Mordecái had written vnto them, 24 Because Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Iewes aduerarie, had imagined against the Iewes, to destroye them, & had cast Pur (that is a lot) to consume and destroye them.

25 And whé she came before the King, he comanded by letters, Let his wicked purpose (which he imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tre.

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and because of all the wordes of this letre, and of that which they had sene besides this, & of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes also ordeined, and promised for them and for their sede, and for all that ioined vnto them, that they wolde not faile to obserue those two dayes euerie yere, according to their writing, and according to their season,

28 And that these dayes shulde be remembered, and kept throughout euerie generation and euerie familie, and euerie prouince, and euerie cite: euen these dayes of Purim shulde not faile among the Iewes, and the memorial of them shulde not perish from their sede.

29 And the Quene Estér the daughter of Abihail & Mordecái the Iewe wrote with all autoritie (to confirme this letter of Purim the seconde time)

30 And he sent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundredth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahashuerósh, with wordes of peace and trueth, 31 To confirme these dayes of Purim according to their seasons, as Mordecái the Iewe and Estér the Quene had appointed them, and as they had promised for them selues and for their sede with fasting and prayer.

32 And the decree of Estér confirmed these wordes of Purim, & was written in the boke.

I O B.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but also in his minde, and conscience by the sharpe temptations of his wife, and chief friends: which by their vehement wordes, and subtil disputations brought him almoste to dispaire. for they set forth the God as a severe iudge, and mortal enemy vnto him, which had caste him of, therefore in vaine he shoulde seke vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolacion, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding he did constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this storie we haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handeleth it euil: agayne his aduersaries haue an euil matter, but they defend it crasiely. For Iob helde that God did not alway punish men according to their sinnes, but that he had secret iudgements, whereof man knewe not the cause, and therefore man colde not reason agaynst God therein, but he shoulde be conuicted. Moreover he was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments, & affliction he brasteth forth into manie inconueniences bothe of wordes and sentences, and sheweth him selfe as a desperate man in manie things, and as one that wolde resist God: and this is his good cause which he doeth not handel wel. Agayne the aduersaries mainteine with manie goodlie arguments, that God punisheth continually according to the trespasse, grounding vpon Gods providence, his iustice, and mans sinnes, yet their intencion is euil: for they labour to bring Iob into dispaire, and so they mainteine an euil cause. Ezechiel commendeth Iob as a iuste man, Ezech. 14, 14, and James setteth out his patience for an example, Iam. 5, 11.

CHAP. I.

- 1 The holines, riches, and care of Iob for his children.
20 Satan hath permission to tempt him. 13 He tempteth him by taking away his substance, and his children.
20 His fasts and patience.

^a That is, of the country of Idumea, as Lamen 4, 21, or bordering thereupon. for the land was called by the name of Vz the sonne of Dathan the sonne of Seir, Genes. 36, 32
^b Forasmuche as he was a Gentile and not a Iewe, & yet is pronounced vpright, and without hypocrisie, it declareth that among the heathen God hath his.
^c Hereby is declared, what is meant by an vpright, and iuste man
^d His children and riches are declared, to commend his vertue in his prosperitie, & his packe, & confidence wherewith God had take them from him.
^e His children.

Here was a mā in the lād of a Vz called Iob, and this mā was an vpright and iuste man, one that feared God, & eschewed euil.

And he had seuen sonnes, and thre daughters.

- 3 His substance also was seuen thousand shepe, and thre thousand camels, and fyue hundred yoke of oxen, and fyue hundred asses, and his familie was verie great, so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the East.
4 And his sonnes went and banketted in their houses, euerie one his day, and sent, & called their thre sisters to eat & to drinke with them.
5 And when the dayes of their banketting were gone about, Iob sent, and sanctified the, and rose vp early in the morning, and offered burnt offrings according to the number of the all. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob euerie day.

- 6 ¶ Now on a day when the children of God came and stode before the Lord,

^f That is, commended them to be sanctified meaning, that they shoulde consider the fautes, that they had committed, & recoile them selues for the same
^g That is, he offered for euerie one of his children an offering of reconciliation, which declared his religiō toward God & the care that he had toward his children
^h In Ebrewe it is and blessed God, which is some time taken for blaspheming and cursing, as here, and 1 King 21, 10 and 11, &c ⁱ While the feast lasted ^k Meaning, the Angels which are called the sonnes of God, because they are willing to execute his wil ^l Because our infirmities can not comprehend God in his iusticie, he is set forth the vnto vs as 1 King, that our capacitie may be able to vnderstand that, which is spokē of him.

Satan came also among them.

- 7 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.
8 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euil.
9 The Satan answered the Lord, and said, Doeth Iob feare God for nought?
10 Hast thou not made an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hath on euerie side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is encreased in the land.
11 But stretche out now thine hand and touche all that he hath, to see if he wil not blaspheme thee to thy face.
12 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, all that he hath is in thine hand. onely vpō him selfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord.
13 ¶ And on a day, when his sonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,
14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places,
15 And the Shebears came violently, & toke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruant with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tel thee.

^m This declareth that although Satan be aduersarie to God, yet he is compelled to obey him, and do him all homage, without whose permission, & appointment he can do nothing ⁿ This questiō is asked for our infirmities: for God knewe whence he came ^o Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is euer ranging for his pray.
^p He feareth thee not for thine owne sake, but for the commodity that he receiueth by thee
^q Meaning, the grace of God, which serued Iob as a rampart against all temptations.
^r This significeth that Satan is not able to touche vs, but it is God that must do it.
^s Satan noteth the vice, whereunto men are commonly subiect. that is, to hide their rebellion, and to be content with God in the time of prosperitie, which vice is disclosed in the time of their aduersitie. God giveth not Satan power over man to gratifie him, but to declare that he hath no power over man, but that which God giveth him. That is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to do. For els he can neuer go out of Gods patience.

^x That is, the Arabians.

Which this was also done by 3 craft of Satán to tempt Iob the more grievously, not as much as he might be, that not ouely men were his enemies, but that God made war against him. This last plague declared, that when one plague is past, which is much harder to be borne, God can send vs another farre more grievous, to trye his, & teache them obedience. A Which came not of impacience, but declared that the children of God are not insensible like blockes, but 3 in their patience they fele affliction, and grief of minde yet they kepe a meane here, and rebell not against God, as the wicked do.

Eccle. 5. 14.

That is, into the belly of 3 earth, which is the mother of all. Hereby he confesseth that God is iuste, and good, although his had be fore vpon him. But declared that God did althing according to iustice and equitie.

Ezek. 14. 14.

He proueth Iobs integrity by this, that he ceased not to feare God, when his plagues were grievously vpon him. That is, when he had noight against him, or when thou wilt not be able to bring thy purpose to passe. Hereby he sheweth that a mans owne sinne is dearer vnto him then another mans. Meaning his owne persone. Thus Satán can go no further, 3 pur-

And the Lord said vnto Satán, Hast thou not considered my se, vnto Iob, how none is like him in the earth? * an vpright and iuste man, one that feareth God, and eschueeth euil? for yet he continueth in his vprightnes, c although thou mouedst me against him, to destroye d him without cause.

And Satán answered the Lord, and said, e Skin for skin, & all that euer a mā hath, wil he giue for his life.

But stertche now out thine hand, and touche his f bones and his flesh, to se if he wil not blaspheme thee to thy face.

Then the Lord said vnto Satán, Lo, he is in thine hand, but saue g his life.

So Satán departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with fore boyles, from the sole of his fote vnto his crowne.

And he took a potsharde to scrape him, and he sate downe among the ashes.

The said his h wife vnto him, Doeſt thou i continue yet in thine vprightnes? m Blasphe-pHEME God, and dye.

But he said vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what n shal we receiue good at the hand of God, and not o receiue euil? In all this did not Iob sinne with his o lippes.

Now when Iobs thre p friends heard of all this euil that was come vpon him, they came euerie one from his owne place, to wit, Elipház the Temanite, and Bildád the Shuhite, and Zophár the Naamathite. for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

So when they lift vp their eyes a farre off, they knewe him not. therefore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euerie one of them rent his garment, & spunkled q dust vpon their heades toward the heauen.

So they sate by him vpon the grounde seven dayes, and seven nights, & none spake a worde vnto him: for they sawe, that the grief was very r great.

uous temptation of the faithful, when their faith is assailed, and when Satán goeth about to perswade them, that they trust in God in vayne. For death was appointed to the blasphemers, & so the ment that he shulde be loone ridde out of his peine. n That is, to be patient in aduersitie, as we reioice, when he sendeth prosperitie, & so to acknowledge him to be bothe mercifull and iuste. o He so bridled his affections, that his tongue through impatience did not murmur against God. p Which were men of authority, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, and came to comfort him, but when they saw how he was visited, they conceived an euil opinion of him, as though he had bene but an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his sinnes. q This was also a ceremonie, which they vsed in thosē countreys, as the renting of their clothes in signe of sorow &c. r And therefore thought that he wolde not haue hearkened to their counsel.

CHAP. III.

Iob complaineth and curseth the day of his birth. 11 He desireth to dye, as though death were the end of all mā miserie.

Afterward a Iob opened his mouth, and b cursed his day.

And Iob cryed out, and said,

Let the daye c perish, wherein I was borne, and the night when it was said, There is a man childe conceived.

Let y day be darkened, let not God d re-garde it from aboue, nether let the light shine vpon it,

But let darkenes, & the e shadowe of death staine it: let the cloude remaine vpon it, & let them make it feareful as a bitter day.

Let darkenes possesse that night, let it nor let it come into the count of the mo-neths.

dy to renew their mourning) curse it.

and let it not haue the light of the sunne to separate it from the night. e That is, more obscure darknes, which maketh them afraid of death, that are in it. f Which curse the day of their birth, let them lay that curse vpon this night.

This sorow was more vnto hem, where with also God plagued the Egyptians, Exo 9. 9 and threaten th to punish the rebellious people, Deut 28. 27 so that this temptation was more grievous, for if Iob had measured Gods fauour by the vehemencie of his disease, he might haue thought y God had cast him off.

As desitute of all other helpe and meanes, and wonderfully afflicted with the sorow of his disease.

Satán visit the same in-strumēt against Iob, as he did against Adam.

Meaning, What gaineſt thou to serue God, seeing he thus plagueth thee as though he were thine enemy. This is y most grieous temptation of the faithful, when their faith is assailed, and when Satán goeth about to perswade them, that they trust in God in vayne.

CHAP. VI.

1 Iob answereth, that his paine is more grievous then his faults: He wisheth death: & He complaineth of his friends.

1 B Vt Iob answered, and said,
2 Oh that my grief were wel weighed, and my miseries were laied together in the balance.

3 For it wolde be now heauyer then the sand of y^e sea: therefore my wordes are swallowed vp.

4 For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me, y^e venime whereof doeth drinke vp my spirit, & the terrours of God fight against me.

5 Doeth the wilde asse braye when he hath the grasse? or loweth the ox when he hath the foddre?

6 That which is vnfauiery, shal it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?

7 Suche things as my soule refused to touche, as were sorowes, are my meate.

8 Oh that I might haue my desire, & that God wolde graunt me the thing that I long for!

9 That is, that God wolde destroye me, that he wolde let his hand go, & cut me off.

10 Then shulde I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorowe, let him not spare me because I haue not denyed the worde of the Holie one.

11 What power haue I that I shulde endure? or what is mine end, if I shulde prolong my life?

12 Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of brasse?

13 Is it not so, that there is in me no helpe, and that strength is taken from me?

14 Hethat is in miserie, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but me haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty.

15 My brethren haue deceiued me as a thieue, & as the rising of the riuers they passe away.

16 Which are blackish with yce, & where rein the snowe is hid.

17 But in time: they are dryed vp with heate, & are consumed: and when it is hote they faile out of their places, friends which comfort us not in miserie, & which are not in common, because we neede waters, in which water is hard. And, saying in our language, that we have no neede, overflowing with water.

q Do you caull at my wordes, because I shalde be aboght to speake foolishly, which am now in miserie? r Consider whether I speake as one that is drunken to this impacience through very sorowe, as an hypocrite, as you condemne me.

18 Or thei departe from their way & course, yea, they vanish and perish.
19 Thei that go to Témá,¹ considered the, & thei that go to Shebá, waited for them.
20 But they were confounded: when thei hoped, thei came thether and were ashamed.
21 Surely now are ye like^m vnto it: ye haue sene my feareful plague, and are afrayed.
22 Was it because I said, Bring vnto me: or giue a rewards to me of yourⁿ substance?
23 And deliuer me from the enemies hand, or ransom me out of the hand of tyrants?
24 Teach me, & I wil^o holde my tongue: & cause me to vnderstand, wherein I haue erred.
25 How^pstedfast are the wordes of righ-teousnes: and what can any of you iustly reproue?
26 Do ye imagine to reproue^q wordes, that the talke of the afflicted shulde be as the winde?
27 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fa-therles, and digge a pit for your friend.
28 Now therefore be content to^r loke vp-on me: for I wil not lye before your face.
29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none miquitie: returne, I say, & ye shal^s se yet my righteousnes in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tēgue? doeth not my mouthe sele sorowes?

CHAP. VII.

1 Iob sheweth the shortenes and miserie of mans life.

1 Is there not an appointed time to man vpon earth: and are not his dayes as the dayes of an^a hyreling.
2 As a seruant longeth for the shadowe, & as an hyreling loketh for the end of his worke,
3 So haue I had as an inheritance the bmo-neths of vanitie, and peineful nights haue bene appointed vnto me.
4 If I laied me downe, I said, When shal
I arise: and measurig the euening I am euen ful with tossing to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.
5 My flesh is^c clothed with wormes & fil-thines of the dust: my skin is rent, & become horrible,
6 My dayes are swifter the^d a weauers shitle, and they are spent without hope.
7 Remember that my life is but a winde, & that mine eye shal not returne to se pleasure.
8 The eye that hath seene me, shal se me no-more: thine eyes^e are vpon me, and I shal be no longer.
9 As the cloude vanished, & goeth away, so he that goeth downe to the graue, shal
f come vp nomore.
10 He shal returne nomore to his house,

a Harke not an hyred seruant some rest and ease: then in this my continual tormēt
I am worse

ling.
b My sorowe

c This signifeth that his e If thou be-holde me in thine angre, I shal not be able to stand in f Shal nomore mortal life.

nether shal his place knowe him anymore.
11 Therefore I wil not spare my mouthe, but wil speake in the trouble of my spirit, & muse in the bitterness of my minde.
12 Am I a sea^h or a whalesh, that thou kepest me in ward?
13 When I say, My couche shal relieue me, & my bed shal bring comfort in my meditation,
14 Then fearest thou meⁱ with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.
15 Therefore my soule^k choseth rather to be strangled & to dye, then to be in my bones.
16 I abhorre it, I shal not liue alway: spare me then, for my daies are but vanitie.
17 What is man, that thou^m doest magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart
vpon him?
18 And doest visit him euerie morning, and tryest him euerie moment?
19 How long wil it be yet thou departe fro me: thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may swallowe my spetle.
20 I haueⁿ sinned, what shal I do vnto thee?
O thou preseruer of men, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my self?
21 And why doest thou not pardone my trespas: and take away mine iniquitie: for now shal I slepe in the dust, and if thou sekest me in the morning, I shal^o not be founde.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Bildad sheweth that Iob is a sinner, because God pu-nisheth the wicked, and preserveth the good.

1 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite,
and said,
2 How long wilt thou talke of these things, & how long shal the wordes of thy mouthe be as a mightie winde?
3 Doeth God peruert iudgement: or doeth
the almighty subuert iustice?
4 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, & he hath sent them into the place of their iniquitie,
5 Yet if thou^c wilt early seke vnto God, &
pray to the Almighty, 6 If thou be pure and vp right, then surely he wil awake vp vnto thee, & he wil make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous.
7 And though thy beginning^d be small,
yet thy later end shal greatly increase.
8 Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to fear-che of their fathers.

ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow)

10 Shal not thei teache thee & tel thee, and vtter the wordes of their heart?

11 Can a s rush growe without myre? or can the grasse growe without water?

12 Thogh it were in grene & not cut downe, yet shal it wither before anie other herbe.

13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shal perishe.

14 His confidence also shal be cut of, & his trust shalbe, as the house of a h spyder.

15 He shal leane vpon his house, but it shal not stand: he shal holde him fast by it, yet shal it not endure.

16 The *t*re is grene before the sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof.

17 The rotes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, & are folden about the house of stones.

18 If anie plucke it from his place, and it denie, saying, I haue not sene thee, 19 Beholde, it wil reioyce by this meanes, that it may growe in another molde.

20 Beholde, God wil not cast away an vpright man, nether wil he take the wicked by the hand, 21 Til he haue filled thy mouthe w^m laughter, and thy lippes with ioye.

22 They that hate thee, shalbe clothed with shame, & the dwelling of the wicked shal not remaiue.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iob declareth the mightie power of God, and that mans righteousness is nothing.

2 Then Iob answered, and said, I knowe verely that it is so: for how shulde man compared vnto God, be a iustified?

3 If he wolde dispute with him, he colde not answer him one thing of a b thousand.

4 He is wise in heart, & mightie in strength: who hathe bene scarce agais^t him & hathe prospered?

5 He remoueth the mountaines & they fele not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath.

6 He c remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof do shake.

7 He commandeth the sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres, as vnder a signet.

8 He him self alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.

9 He maketh the starres d Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climats of y South.

10 He doeth great things, and vnsearchable: yea, meruelous things without number.

11 Lo, when he goeth e by me, I se him not: & when he passeth by, I perceiue him not.

12 Beholde, when he taketh a pray, f who can make him to restore it? who shal say vnto him, What doest thou?

13 God s wil not withdrawe his angre & the moste mightie helpe h do stoupe vnder him.

14 How muche lesse shal I answer him? or how shulde I finde out i my wordes with him?

15 For thogh I were iuste, yet colde I k not answer, but I wolde make supplicacion to my Iudge.

16 If I l crye, and he answer me, yet wolde I not beleue, that he heard my voyce.

17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, & woundeth me m without cause.

18 He wil not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternes.

19 If we *s*peake of strength, beholde, he is n strong: if we *s*peake of iudgement, who shal bring me in to plaide?

20 If I wolde iustifie my self, mine owne mouth shal condemne me: o if I wolde be perfite, he shal iudge me wicked.

21 Thogh I were perfite, yet I knowe not my soule: therefore abhorre I my lyfe.

22 This is one point: therefore I said, He destroyeth the p perfite, and the wicked.

23 If the scourge shulde sodenly q slaie, shulde God r laugh at the punishment of the innocent?

24 The earth is giuen into the hand of the wicked: he s couereth the faces of the iudges thereof: if not, where t is he? or who is he?

25 My daies haue bene more swift then a poste: they haue fled, & haue sene no good thing.

26 They are passed as with the moste swift shippes, and as the egle that flieth to the praye.

27 If u I say, I wil forget my complaint, I wil cease from my wrath, & comfort me, 28 Then I am afayed of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.

29 If I be wicked, why v labour I thus in vaine?

30 If I y wash my self with snowe water, and purge mine hands moste cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in the pit, and mine owne z clothes shal make me filthy.

32 For he is not a man as I am, that I shulde nith according to his iustice, he wil destroye aswel them that are couited perfite, as them that are wicked q To wit, the wicked r This is spoken according to our apprehension, as thogh he wolde say, If God destroye but the wicked, as chap. 5.3. why shulde he suffer the innocents to be so long tormented by them? s That they can not se to do iustice t That can thewe the contrary? u I thinke not to fall into these affectiōs, but my sorowes bring me to the manifold infirmities, & my conscience condemneth me x Why doeth not God destroye me at once: thus he speaketh according to the miserie of the flesh y Thogh I tēme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God z Whatfoener I wolde vie to couer my filthines with, shal discloie me so muche more.

e I am not able to comprehend his workes, which are commune and daily before mine eyes, muche lesse in those things, which are hid and secret f He sheweth that whē God doeth execute his power, he doeth it wisely, for asmuch as none can controule him.
g God wil not be appeased for ought that man can laie for him self for his iustification
h That is, all reasons that men can laie to approue their cause i How shulde I be able to answer him by eloquence whereby he noteth his friends, that albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart, that which they spake k Meaning, in his owne opinion, signifyig that man wil sometime flatter him self to be righteo^s, which before God is abominacion l Whiles I am in my pangs, I can not but braile forth into many incomeniences, although I know full that God is iust.
m I am not able to sele my finnes so great, as I fele the weight of his plagues: & thus he speaketh to condemne his dulnes, and to iustifie God n After he haue the accused his owne weakenes, he continueth to iustifie God and his power.
o If I wolde stande in mine owne defence, yet God hath iuste cause to condemne me, if he examine mine heart, & conscience p If God punish according to his iustice, he wil destroye aswel them that are couited perfite, as them that are wicked q To wit, the wicked
r This is spoken according to our apprehension, as thogh he wolde say, If God destroye but the wicked, as chap. 5.3. why shulde he suffer the innocents to be so long tormented by them?
s That they can not se to do iustice
t That can thewe the contrary?
u I thinke not to fall into these affectiōs, but my sorowes bring me to the manifold infirmities, & my conscience condemneth me x Why doeth not God destroye me at once: thus he speaketh according to the miserie of the flesh y Thogh I tēme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God z Whatfoener I wolde vie to couer my filthines with, shal discloie me so muche more.

g As a rush can not growe without moistnes, so can not the hypocrite, because he hath the not faith, which is moistened with Gods Spirit.

h Which is to day, and to morowe swept away
i He cōpareth the iuste to a tre, which although it be remoued out of one place vnto another, yet flourisheth. so the affliction of the godlie turneth to their profire k That is, so y there remaine nothing there to prone whether y tre had growen there, or no.
l To be planted in another place, where it may growe at pleasure.

m If thou be godlie, he wil giue thee occasion to reioyce, & if not, thine affliction shal increase.

n Iob here answereth to y point of Eliphaz and Bildads oracion, touching the iustice of God & his innocencie, confessing God to be iust in iustice, and man to be nothing in respect.
o Of a thousand things, w^m God colde lay to his charge, mā can not answer him one.
p He declareth what is the iustitie of mā by y mightie and incomprehensible power that is in God, shewing what he colde do, if he wolde sit forthe his power.
q These are y names of certaine starres, whereby he meaneth that all starres both knowne & vknowne are at his appointment.

^a Which might make an access betwene God and me, speaking of impatience, & yet confessing God to be iust in punishing him
^b Signifying Gods iudgements: kepe him in awe answer him, if we come together to iudgement.

33 Neither is there any vmpire^a that might lair his hand vpon vs bothe.

34 Let him take his rod away frō me, & let not his feare astonish me:

35 Then wil I speake, & scare him not: ^b but because I am not so, I holde me stil.

CHAP. X.

^a Iob is weary of his life, and setteth out his fragilitie before God. ²⁰ He desireth him to stay his hand. ³² A description of death.

^a I am more like to a dead man, then to one y liueth
^b I wil make an ample declaration of my tormēts, accusing my self & not God
^c He wolde not that God shulde proceede against him by his secret iustice, but by the ordinarie means that he punisheth others
^d Is it agreeable to thy iustice to do me wrong?
^e Wilt thou be without compassion?
^f Wilt thou gratifie y wicked & condēne me?
^g Doest thou thus of ignorance?
^h Art thou inconstant and changeable, as the times, to date a friend, to morrow an enemy?
ⁱ By affliction thou keepest me as in a prison, & restrainest me from doing euil, neither can any set me at libertie ^k In these eight verses following he describeth the mercie of God in the wonderfull creation of

MY soule is cut of ^a though I liue: I wil leaue my ^b complaint vpon my self, & wil speake in the bitternes of my soule

I wil say vnto God, ^c Condēne me not: shewe me, wherefore thou contendest with me.

3 Thinkest thou it ^d good to oppresse me, & to cast of the ^e labour of thine hands, and to fauour the ^f counsel of the wicked?

4 Hast thou ^g carnal eyes? or doest thou see as man seeth?

5 Are thy dayes as mans ^h dayes? or thy yeeres, as the time of man?

6 That thou inquest of mine iniquitie, & searchest out my sinne.

7 Thou knowest that I can not do ⁱ wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.

8 Thine ^k hands haue made me, and facioned me wholly rounde about, & wilt thou destroye me?

9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as ^l the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

10 Hast thou not powred me out as mylke? and turned me to cruds like cheese?

11 Thou hast clothed me with skinne and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes.

12 Thou hast giuen me life, and ^m grace: & thy ⁿ visitacion hath preserued my spirit.

13 Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I knowe ^o y it is so with thee.

If I haue sinned, then thou wilt straightly loke vnto me, and wilt not holde me giles of mine iniquitie.

15 If I haue done wickedly, wo vnto me: if I haue done righteously, I wil not ^p lift vp mine head, being ful of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: retorne & shewe thy self ^q a maruelous vpon me.

^a That is, thy fatherlie care & prouidence, whereby thou preseruest me, and without the which I shulde perish straight way

^o Though I be not fully able to comprehend these things, yet I must needs confesse them
^p I wil alway walke in feare and humilitie, knowing that none is iuste before thee
^q Iob being sore affacted in this battle betwene the flesh and the spirit, breatheth out into these passions, wishing rather short dayes then long paine

17 Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: ^r changes and aimies of sorowes are against me.

18 Wherefore the hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had sene me!

19 And that I were as I had not bene, but brought from the wombe to the grave.

20 Are not my dayes fewe? let him ^s cease, and leaue of frō me, that I may take a litle comfort,

^a Iob is vniustly reprehended of Zophár. ⁷ God is incomprehensible. ¹⁴ He is merciful to the repentant. ¹⁸ Their assurance that liue godlie

Then answered Zophár the Naamathite, and said,

2 Shulde not the multitude of wordes be answered? or shulde a great ^a talker be iustified?

3 Shulde men holde their peace at thy lyes? and when thou mockest ^b others, shal none make thee ashamed?

4 For thou hast said, ^b My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But oh, that God wolde speake and open his lippes against thee!

6 That he might shewe thee the ^c secrets of wisdom, how ^y hast deserued double, according to right: knowe therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.

7 Canst thou by searching finde out God? canst thou finde out the Almighty to his perfection?

8 The heauens are his, what canst thou do? ^d it is deeper then the hel, how canst thou knowe it?

9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broder then the sea.

10 If he cut of and ^e shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, & him that vnderstandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man wolde be wise, though man newe borne is like a wilde asse ^f colte.

13 If thou ^g prepare thine heart, & stretch out thine hands toward him:

14 If iniquitie be in thine ^h hand, put it faire away, & let no wickednes dwell in thy tabernacle.

^a Shulde he persuade by his great talkes, that he is iust?
^b He chargeth Iob with this, that he shulde say, that the thing, which he spake, was true, and that he was without sinne in y sight of God
^c Which is, not to stand in iustificing of thy self: the significeth that man wil neuer be overcome, while he reasoneth with another, and therefore God must breake of the controuersie, and stop mans mouth
^d That is, this perfection of God, & if man be not able to comprehend the height of the heauens, the depth of hel, the length of the earth, the breadth of the sea, which are but creatures: how can he attaine to the perfection of the Creator?
^e If God shulde turne the state of things, and establish a newe ordre in nature, who coulde controule him?

16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt dig pities, and shalt lye downe safely.

Leuit 16.5. 19 *For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraide: yea, manie shall make sure vnto thee.

k He sheweth that contrarie things shal come vnto them that do not repent. 20 But the eyes k of the wicked shal faile, and their refuge shal perish, and their hope shal be sorowe of minde.

CHAP. XII.

1 Iob accuseth his friends of ignorance 7 He declareth the might, and power of God. 17 And how he changeth the course of things.

a Because you fele not that, & you speake, b you thinke c you whole stander in words, and so flatter your selues as though none knewe anie thing, or colde knowe but you. Prou. 14.2.

b He reponeth these his friends of two fautes: the one c they thought they had better knowledg then in dede they had, & d other that in stead of true consolatio they did deride, and despise their friend in his aduersitie. c The which neighbour being a mocker, and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauour but he, because he hath all things that he desireth.

d As the riche esteeme not a light, or tormente that goeth our, so is he despised that falleth from prosperitie to aduersitie. e He is whome God hath brought in with his hand. e He declareth to them that did dispute against him, that their wisdom is comūe to all, & such as f very brute beasts do darre teache Or. 1.11.

f He exhorteth them to be wise in iudgmg. and aswel to know the right wise why God hath given them eares, as he hath done a mouth g though men by age, and continuance of time attaine to wisdom, yet it is not comparable to Gods wisdom, nor able to comprehend his iudgements, wherein he answereth to that, which was alleaged, Chap. 8.

Then Iob answered, and said, In dede because that ye are the people onely, a wisdom must dye with you.

But I haue vnderstanding as wel as you, & am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

*I am b as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he c heareth him: the iuste and the vpright is laughed to scoine.

d He that is ready to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the riche.

6 The tabernacles of robbers do prosper, and they are in sauetie, that prouoke God, e whome God hath enriched with his hand.

7 Aske now the beastes, e and they shall teache thee, and the foules of the heauen, and they shall tel thee:

8 Or speake to the earth, and it shall shewe thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee.

9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hath made these?

10 In whose hand is the soule of euerie liuing thing, and the breath of all mankinde.

11 Doeth not the eares f discerne the wordes, and the mouth taste meat for it self?

12 Among the g ancient is wisdom, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.

13 With him h wisdom and strength: he hath counsel and vnderstanding.

14 Beholde, he wil breake downe, and it can not be buyt: he shutteth a man vp, and he can not be losed.

15 Beholde, he withholdeth the waters, and thei drye vp: but when he sendeth the out, they destroye the earth.

16 With him i strength and wisdom: he that is deceiued, and that h deceiueth, are his.

17 He causeth the counselors to go as spoiled, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 He loseth k the collar of Kings, and girdeth their loines with a girdle.

19 He leadeth away the princes as a pray, & ouerthroweth the mightie.

20 He taketh away the speache from the l faithful counselors, & taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

21 He powreth contempt vpon princes and maketh the strength of the mightie weak.

22 He discovereth the depe places from their darkenes, & bringeth forth the shadowe of death to light.

23 He m increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, & bringeth them in againe.

24 He taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wader in the wildeines out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light: & he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man:

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The penitents shal be saued, and the hypocrite condemned 20 He prayeth vnto God that he wolde not handle him rigorously.

1 *L*O, mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard, and vnderstand it.

2 I knowe also as much as you knowe: I am not inferior vnto you.

3 But I wil speake to the Almighty, and I desire a to dispute with God.

4 For in dede ye forge lyes, and all you are b phisicians of no value.

5 Oh, that you wolde holde your tongue, that it might be imputed to you for wisdom!

6 Now heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lippes.

7 Wil ye speake c wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

8 Wil ye accept his persone? or wil ye contend for God?

9 Is it wel d he shulde seke of you? wil you make a lye for him, as one lyeth for a man?

10 He wil surely reprove you, if ye do secretly accept anie persone.

11 Shal not his excellencie make you afraid? and his feare fall vpon you?

12 Your e memories may be compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of claye.

13 Holde your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what wil.

14 Wherefore do I f take my flesh in my tethe, and put my soule in mine hand?

15 Lo, though he slay me, yet wil I trust in him, and I wil reprove my wayes in his sight.

h He sheweth that there is nothing done in this worlde without Gods wil, and ordinance: for els he shulde not be almightie. i He taketh wisdom fro them k He abateth the honour of princes, and bringeth them into the subiectio of others. l He causeth that their wordes haue no credit, which is when he wil punish some m In this discourse of Gods wonderfull workes Iob sheweth that whatsoever is done in this worlde, bothe in n order and change of things is by Gods wil and appointment: wherein he declareth that he thinketh wel of God, and is able to set forth his power in wordes as they that reasond against, were Chap. XIII.

a For although he knewe that God had a iustice, & was manifest in his ordinarie working, and another in his secret counsel, yet he wolde vtter his affection to God, because he was not able to vnderstand the cause why he did thus punish him b You do not wel applye your medicine to the disease. c He condemneth their scale d he had not knowledge, neither regarded they to comfort him, but alwaie grated on Gods iustice, as though it was not euidently seene in Iob, except they had vnderstande the probation thereof e Your fame shal come to nothing f Is not this a manifest signe of mine affliction, and that I do not complaine without cause, seeing I am thus tormented as though I shulde care none owne flesh, & put my life in day?

h Why doest thou stand in thine owne conceite? i His purpose is to proue, y Iob as an vnjust man & an hypocrite is punished for his sinnes, like as he did before, Chap 4, 18 k Which hath a desire to sinne as he is thurste to drinke. l Who by their wisdom so gouerned, y no stranger inuaded them, & so the land seemed to be giue to them alone. m The cruel man is euer in danger of death, and is neuer quiet in conscience. n Out of that miserie where into he once falleth. o God doeth not onely impouerish the wicked oft times: but euen in their prosperitie he punisheth the wicked. p He sheweth what weapons God vseth against y wicked which lift vp the selues against him, to wit, terror of conscience, & outward afflictions. q That is, he was so puffed up with great prosperitie, & abundance of all things, that he forgate God: noting, y Iob in his felicitie had not the true feare of God. r Though he buyde, & repaire ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shal bring all to naught, and turne his great prosperitie into extreme miserie. s Meaning, y his sumptuous buydings shulde neuer come to perfection. t He standeth so in his owne conceite, that he wil giue no place to good counsell, therefore his owne pride shal bring him to destruction. u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe. x Which were buyt or maintained by pawning, and bribes.

Why doest thine heart take thee away, and what do thine eyes meane, That thou answerest to God at thy pleasure, and bringest such wordes out of thy mouth? What is man, that he shulde be cleane? and he that is borne of woman, that he shulde be iust? Beholde, he founde no stedfastnes in his Saintes: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight. How muche more man abominable, & filthie, which drinketh iniquitie like water? I wil tel thee: heare me, and I wil declare that which I haue sene: Which wise men haue tolde, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret: To whome alone the land was giuen & no stranger passed through them. The wicked man is continually as one that trauelleth of childe, and the number of yeres is hid from the tyrant. A soule of feare is in his eares, & in his prosperitie y destroyer shal come vpon him. He beleueth not to returne out of darkness: for he seeth the sworde before him. He wadeth to and fro for bread where he may: he knoweth that the day of darkness is prepared at hand. Affliction and anguish shal make him afraid: they shal preuaile against him as a King ready to the battell. For he hath stretched out his hand against God, and made him self strong against the Almightye. Therefore God shal runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, & against the moste thicke part of his shield. Because he hath covered his face with his fatnes, & hath collopes in his flacke. Though he dwel in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, He shal not be riche, nether shal his substance continue, nether shal he prolong the perfection thereof in the earth. He shal neuer departe out of darkness: y flame shal diue vpon his branches, & he shal go away with the breath of his mouth. He beleueth not that he crieth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shal be his change. His branche shal not be grene, but shal be cut of before his day. God shal destroy him as the vine her sower of grape, and shal cast him of, as the oliue doeth her flowre. For the congregacion of the hypocrite shal be desolate, & fyre shal deuoure the houses of bribes.

For they conceiue mischief and bring forth the vanitie, & their bellie hath prepared deceite. CHAP. xvi. Iob moued by the importunacie of his friends, & Counteth in what extremite he was, & And taketh God witness of his innocence. Vt Iob answered, and said, I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all. Shal there be none end of wordes of winder? or what maketh thee bolde so to answer? I colde also speake as ye do: (but wolde God your soule were in my soules stead) I colde kepe you companie in speaking, and colde shake mine head at you, But I wolde strengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips shulde aswage your sorowe. Though I speake, my sorowe can not be aswaged: though I cease, what release haue I? But now she maketh me weary: O God, thou hast made all my congregacion desolate, And hast made me full of wrinkles which is a witness thereof, and my leannes riseth vp in me, testifying the same in my face. His wrath hath torne me, and he hateth me, & gnaweth vpon me with his teeth: mine enemy hath sharpened his eies against me. They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, & smitten me on the cheke in reproche: they gather the selues together against me. God hath deliuered me to the vniust, and hath made me to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked. I was in welth, but he hath brought me to nought: he hath taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set in me as a marke for him self. His archers compassed me round about: he cutteth my reines, & doeth not spare, and powreth my gall vpon the ground. He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a gyant. I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skin, and haue abased mine horne vnto the dust. My face is withered with weeping, & the shadow of death is vpon mine eies, Though there be no wickednes in mine hands, and my prayer be pure. O earth, couer not thou my blood, and let my cying finde no place. For lo, now my witness is in the heauen, and my record is on hie.

And therefore all their vaine deuises shal turne to their owne destruction. a Which serueth for vaine ostentation and for no successe. b For Eliphaz did repleie against Iobs answer. c I wolde you felt y which I do. d That is, mocke at your miserie, as you do at mine. e If this were in my power, yet wolde I comfort you, and not do as ye do to me. f If they wolde say, Why doest thou not then comfort thy selfe? he answereth, y the iudgements of God are more heauy, then he is able to aswage either by wordes or silence. g Meaning, y God. h That is, destroyed most of my familie. i In token of sorowe and grief. k That is, God by his wrath: and in this diuersitie of wordes & his stile he expresseth how grievous y had of God was vpon him. l That is, hath handled me moste contemptuously: for so smiting on the cheke signified, y King. 23, 24 Mar 14. m They haue led me whither they wolde. n His manifold afflictions. o I am wounded to y heart. p Meaning, his glorie was brought lowe. q Signifying, y he is not able to comprehend the cause of this his grievous punishment. r That is, vnfaunted, and without hypocrisie. s Let my sinne be knowne, if I be such a sinner as thou sayest. t Though man conne aduersaries accuse me, and let me finde no saour demne me, yet God is witness of my cause L.iii.

in life everlasting.

20 My friends ^u speake eloquently against me: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might ^x pleade with God, as man with his neighbour!

22 For the yeres accounted come, and I shal go the way, whence I shal not retuine.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Iob sayth that he consumeth away, and yet doeth paciously abide it. 10 He exhorteth his friends to repentance, 13 Shewing that he loketh but for death.

MY breath is corrupt: my daies are cut off, and the graue is ready for me.

2 There are none but ^a mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in ^b their bitternes.

3 Laye downe now and put me in suretie for thee: who is he, that ^d wil touche mine hand?

4 For thou hast hid their heart from ^e vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not see them vpon me.

5 For the eyes of his children shal faile, that speaketh flaterie to his friends.

6 He hathe also made me a ^s byworde of the people, and I am as a tabret ^h before them.

7 Mine eye therefore is dim for grief, and all my strength is like a shadowe.

8 The righteous shal be astonied at ⁱ this, and the innocent shalbe moued against the hypocrite.

9 But the righteous wil holde his ^k waye, and he whose hands are pure, shal increase his strength.

10 All ⁱ you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shal not finde one wise among you.

11 My daies are past; mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart

12 Haue changed the ^m night for the day, and the light that approached, for dar-kenes.

13 Though I hope, yet the graue shalbe mine house, and I shal make my bed in the darke.

14 I shal say to corruption, Thou art my ^o father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.

15 Where is then now mine hope ^p or who shal consider the thing, that I hoped for?

16 They shal go downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shal lye together in the dust.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad rehearseth the crimes of the vnfaiethful and wicked.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, &
said,

2 When wil ye make an end of your wor-des? ^b cause vs to vnderstand, & the we wil speake.

3 Wherefore are we counted as beastes, & are vile in your sight?

4 Thou art as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shal the ^d earth be forsaken for thy fawe? or y rocke remoued out of his place?

5 Yea, the light of the wicked shalbe quenched & y sparke of his fyre shal not shine.

6 The light shalbe darke in his dwelling, and his candel shalbe put out with him.

7 The steppes of his strength shalbe restrained, and his owne counsil shal cast him downe.

8 For he is taken in the net by his fete, & he ^f walketh vpon the snares.

9 The grænne shal take him by the heele, & the thefe shal come vpon him.

10 A snare is laid for him in the ground, & a trappe for him in the way.

11 Fearfulnes shal make him afraid on eue-ry side, and shal driue him to his fete.

12 His strength shalbe ^s famine: & destruction shalbe readie at his side.

13 It shal deuoure the partes of his skinne,
& the ^h first borne of death shal deuoure his strength.

14 His hope shalbe roted out of his dwelling, & shal cause him to go to the ⁱ King of feare.

15 Feare shal dwel in his house (because it is not ^k his) ^l and brimstone shalbe sca-tred vpon his habitation.

16 His rotes shalbe dried vp beneath, and about shal his branche be cut downe.

17 His remembrance shal perish from the earth, and he shal haue no name in the strete.

18 They shal driue him out of the ^m light vnto darkenes, and chase him out of the worlde.

19 He shal nether haue sonne nor nephewe among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

20 The posteritie shalbe astonied at his ⁿ day, & feare shal come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely such are the habitacions of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Iob reponeth his friends, 15 And reuolunt his miseries & grievous paines 25 He assurath him selfe of the generall resurrection.

BUt Iob answered, and said,
2 How long wil ye vex me soule, and torment me with wordes?

3 Ye haue now ^a ten times reproched me, & are not ashamed: ye are impudēt toward me.

f Which is pluckt vp, and hath no more hope to grow
g His manifold afflictions
h Mine household seruants: by all these losses Iob sheweth that touching the flesh he had great occasion to be moued.
i Which were hers & mine.
k Besides these great losses & moſte cruel vniuersities, he was touched in his owne person as followeth.
l All my flesh was consumed in being I haue these iust causes to complaine, condemne me not as an hypocrite, especially ye shoulde comfort me n Is it not ynough y God doeth punish me except you by reproches increaſe my sorrowe

p He pteſteth that notwithstanding his fore passions, his religion is perſeuerant, & that he is not a blaſphemer, as thei iudged him
q I do not ſo iuſtifie my ſelfe before the worlde, but I knowe that I ſhal come before the great iudge, who ſhal be my deliuerer & ſauour
r Herein Iob declarerth plainly that he had a full hope, that both the ſoule and body ſhoulde enioye the preſence of God in the laſt reſurrection
s Though his friends thought y he was but a ſcabbie againſt me, & rebuke me for my reproche,

6 Knowenow, y God hath e ouerthrowen me, & hath compaſſed me with his net.
7 Beholde, I crye out of violence, but I haue none answer: I crye but there is no iudgement.
8 He hath hedged vp my waye that I can not paſſe, and he hath ſet darkenes in my paths.
9 He hath ſpoiled me of mine honour, & taken the crowne away from mine head.
10 He hath deſtroyed me on euery ſide & I am gone: & he hath remoued mine hope like a tre.
11 And he hath kild his wrath againſt me, and counterth me as one of his enemies.
12 His ſeruaunts came together, and made their way vpon me, & camped about my tabernacle.
13 He hath remoued my brethren frae fro me, and alſo mine acquaintance were ſtrangers vnto me.
14 My neighbours haue forſaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.
15 They that dwel in mine houſe, and my maidens toke me for a ſtranger: for I was a ſtranger in their ſight.
16 I called my ſeruaunt, but he wolde not answer, though I prayed him with my mouth.
17 My breath was ſtrange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens ſake of mine owne body.
18 The wicked alſo deſpiſed me, & when I roſe, they ſpake againſt me.
19 All my ſecret friends abhorred me, & thei whome I loued, are turned againſt me.
20 My bone cleaueth to my ſkin & to my fleſh, and I haue eſcaped with the ſkinne of my teth.
21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue pitie vpon me, (O ye my friends) for the had of God hath touched me.
22 Why do ye perſecute me, as God? and are not ſatiſfied with my fleſh?
23 Oh that my wordes were now writen: oh that they were writen euen in a booke!
24 And grauen with an yron penne in lead, or in ſtone for euer.
25 For I am ſure, that my Redemer liueth, and he ſhal ſtand the laſt on the earth.
26 And though after my ſkin wormes deſtroy this body, yet ſhal I ſe God in my fleſh.
27 Whome I my ſelf ſhal ſe, and mine eyes ſhal beholde, and non other for me, though my reines are consumed within me.
28 But ye ſaid, Why is he perſecuted? And there was a depe matter in me.

haue a ſhorte end, & though for a time they flouriſh.

THe answered Zophar the Naamathite and ſaid,
2 Doubteles my thoughts cauſe me to answer, and therefore I make haſte.
3 I haue heard the correction of my reproche: therefore y ſpirit of mine vnderſtanding cauſeth me to answer.
4 Knoweſt thou not this of oldes & ſince God placed man vpon the earth?
5 That the reioyning of the wicked is ſhorte, & that the ioye of hypocrites is but a moment?
6 Though his excellencie mounte vp to the heauen, and his head reache vnto the cloudes, 7 Yet ſhal he periſh for euer, like his dung, and they which haue ſene him, ſhal ſay, Where is he?
8 He ſhal ſlee away as a dreame, & thei ſhal not finde him, and ſhal paſſe away as a viſion of the night.
9 So that the eye which had ſene him, ſhal do ſo no more, and his place ſhal ſeem no more.
10 His children ſhal flatter the poore, and his hands ſhal reſtore his ſubſtance.
11 His bones are full of the ſinne of his youth, & it ſhal lye downe with him in the duſt.
12 While wickednes was ſwete in his mouth, & he hid it vnder his tongue, 13 And fauoured it, and wolde not forſake it, but kept it cloſe in his mouth, 14 Then his meat in his bowels was turned: the gall of alpes was in the middes of hi.
15 He hath deuoured ſubſtance, and he ſhal vomit it: for God ſhal drawe it out of his belly.
16 He ſhal ſucke the gall of alpes, and the vipers tongue ſhal ſlaye him.
17 He ſhal not ſe the riuers, nor the floods & ſtreames of hony and butter.
18 He ſhal reſtore y labour, & ſhal deuoure nomore: euen according to the ſubſtance ſhal be his exchange, and he ſhal enioye it no more.
19 For he hath vndone manie: he hath forſaken the poore, & hath ſpoiled houſes which he buylded not.
20 Surely he ſhal fele no quietnes in his body, neither ſhal he reſerue of that which he deſired.
21 There ſhal none of his meat be left: therefore none ſhal hope for his goods.
22 While he ſhal be filled with his abundance, he ſhal be in paine, & the hand of all the wicked ſhal aſſaile him.
23 He ſhal be about to fil his belly, but God ſhal ſend vpon him his ſearce wrath, & ſhal cauſe to lye vpon him, euen vpon his meat.
24 He ſhal ſlee from the yron weapons, and the bowe of ſtele ſhal ſtrike him through a He declared that two things moued him to ſpeake to wit, becauſe Iob ſeemed to touch him, & becauſe he thought he had know ledge ſufficient to confute him

b His purpoſe is to proue Iob to be a wicked man, & an hypocrite, becauſe God puniſhed him, and changed his proſperitie into aduerſitie.
c Where as y ſaith, through ambition & tyrannie oppreſſed the poore, the children through power tie & malice ſhal ſee fauour at y pore.
d So that the things, which he hath taken away by violence, ſhal be reſtored againe by force
e Meaning, that as ſhal carry nothing away with him, but his ſinne
f As y ſaith y is ſwete in the mouth of the wicked, when it cometh into y body ſo all vice at y firſt is pleaſant, but afterward God turneth it to deſtruction
g He comparerth euil gotten goods to y vnum of alpes, which ſerpeant is moſte dangerous: noting that Iobs great riches were not truly come by, & therefore God did plague him ſuffely for the ſame
h Though God giue to all other abundance of his bliſſings, yet he ſhal haue no parte thereof
i That is, theſe raueners & ſpoilers of y poore ſhal enioye their theft but for a time: for after God will take it from them and cauſe thei to make reſtitution, ſo y it is but an exchange k He ſhal leaue nothing to his poſteritie.
l The wicked ſhal neuer be in reſt: for one wicked min ſhal ſeeke to ſtroy another.

LI. IIII.

m Some read, vpon his fleſh, alluding to Iob, whoſe fleſh was ſinuen with a ſcabbie

^a Some read, of ^b quiper
^c All feare & sorow shal light vpon him, when he thinketh to escape
^d That is, fyre frō heauen, or ^e fyre of Gods wrath
^f Meaning, ^g children of ^h wicked shal flowe away like riuers and be disperfed in diuers places.
ⁱ Thus God wil plague the wicked
^j Against God, thinking to exalte him selfe, and to escape Gods hand

^a Your diligent marking of my wordes shalbe to me a great consolation
^b As though he wolde say, I do not talke with man, but with God, who wil not answer me, & therefore my minde must needs be troubled
^c He chargeth them as though they were not able to cōprehēd this his feeling of Gods iudgement, & exhorteth the therefore to silence
^d Iob proueth against his aduersaries that God punisheth not straight waies the wicked, but oft times giueth the long life, and prosperitie: so that we must not iudge God iuste or vniuste by the things that appeare to our eye
^e They haue store of children, lustie & helthful, & in these pointes he answereth to that which Zophar alledged before
^f Not being tormented with long sickenes.
^g They desire nothing more the to be except from all tribulation that they shulde beare to God: this Iob sheweth his aduersaries, if they reason onely by ^h which is seene by common experience, ⁱ wicked that hate Gods are better delt with, then they that loue him.
^j It is not their owne, but God onely lendeth it vnto them, God keepe me from their prosperie.

15 The arrowe is drawen out, and cometh forth of the ^a body, and shineth of his gall, so feare cometh vpon him.
16 All darkenes shalbe hid in his secret places: the fyre that is not ^b blowen, shal deuoure him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shalbe destroyed.
17 The heauen shal declare his wickednes, and the earth shal rise vp against him.
18 The increase of his house shal go away: it shal flowe away in the day of his wrath.
19 This is the porcion of the wicked man from ^c God, & the heritage that he shal haue of God for his ^d wordes.

C H A P. X X I.

1 Iob declareth how the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proude, ^a In so muche that they blasphemē God.
10 Their destruction is at hand 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, nether good for prosperitie.

BUt Iob answered, and said,
2 Heare diligently my wordes, and this ^a shalbe in stead of your consolations.
3 Suffre me, that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.
4 Do I direct my talke to man? If it ^b were so, how shulde not my spirit be troubled?
5 Marke me, and be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your ^c mouth.
6 Euen when I remember, I am afraied, & feare taketh holde on my flesh.
7 Wherefore do the wicked ^d liue, and waxe olde, and growe in welth?
8 Their sede is established in their sight with them, and their generacion before their eies.
9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.
10 Their bullocke gendreth, & faileth not: their cowe calueth, and casteth not her calfe.

11 They send forth their children ^e like shepe, and their sonnes dance.
12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sounde of the organs.
13 They spend their daies in welth, and suddenly ^f they go downe to the graue.
14 They say also vnto God, Depart frō vs: for we desire not the ^g knowledge of thy waies.
15 Who is the Almighty, that we shulde serue him? and what profite shulde we haue, if we shulde pray vnto him?
16 Lo, their welth is not in their hand: ^h therefore let the counsel of the wicked ⁱ be farre from me.
17 How oft shal the candel of the wicked be put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he wil deuide their liues in his wrath.

18 They shal be as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme caryeth away.

19 God will lay vp the sorow of the father for his children: when he rewardeth him, he shal knowe it.

20 His eies shal see his destruction, and he shal drinke of the wrath of ^j Almightye.
21 For what pleasure hathe he in his house after him, when the number of his moneths is cut of?
22 Shal any teache ^k God knowledge, who iudgeth the hieft things?
23 One ^l dyeth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.
24 His breasts are full of milke, and his bones runne full of marowe.

25 And another ^m dyeth in the bitterness of his foule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.
26 They shal slepe bothe in ⁿ the dust, and the wormes shal couer them.

27 Beholde, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises, ^o where with ye do me wrong.

28 For ye say, Where is the princes ^p house? and where is the tabernacle of the wicked dwelling?

29 May ye not ^q aske the that go by ^r way? and ye can not denie their signes.

30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of ^s destruction, & they shal be brought forth to the day of wrath.

31 Who shal declare his waie ^t to his face? and who shal rewarde him for that he harhe done?

32 Yet shal he be brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape.

33 The ^u slimie valley shalbe swete vnto hi, and euerie man shal drawe after him, as before him there were innumerable.

34 How the comfort ^v ye me in vaine, seig in your answers there remaine but lyes?

C H A P. X X I I.

1 Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his finnes.
6 He accuseth him of vnnecessaries, ^a And that he denied Gods providence, as he exhorteth him to repentance

THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 May a man be ^b profitable vnto God, as he that is wise, may be profitable to him selfe?

3 Is it any thing vnto the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable ^c to him, that thou makest thy wayes vp-right?

4 Is it for feare ^d of thee that he wil accuse thee? or go with thee in to iudgement?

5 Is not thy wickednes great, & thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken the ^e pledge from thy brother for noight, and spoiled the clothes of the naked.

7 To suche as were weary, thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawn bread from the hungrie.

^k When God recompenseth his wickednes he shal knowe ^l his prosperitie was but vaine
^m Who sendeth to the wicked prosperitie, & punisheth the godlie ⁿ Meaning, the wicked.
^o To wit, the godlie
^p As concerning their bodies: and this he speaketh according to ^q common iudgement
^r Thus they called Iobs house in derision, concluding ^s it was destroyed because he was wicked
^t Which through long trauailing haue experience & tokens here of, to wit, that the wicked do prosper & the godlie lue in affliction
^u Though the wicked flourish here, yet God wil punish hi in the last day.
^v Though men do flatter him, and none dare reprove him in this worlde, yet death is a token that God wil bring him to an account
^w He shal be glad to lie in a slimie pit, before colde not be content with a royal palace ^x Saying, that the iust in this worlde haue prosperitie & ^y wicked aduersitie.

^a Though men were iuste, yet God wolde haue no profite of this his iustice: and therefore when he punisheth him, he harhe no regard to his iustice, but to his sinne.
^b Chap. 35. 7. b Let ^c I shaldest reprove or hurt him?

^c Thou hast bene cruel and without charitie, & woldest do nothing for the poore, but for thine owne aduantage.

d When thou wast in power and autoritie, thou didst not iustice, but wrong
e Thou hast not onely not shewed pittie, but oppressed them
f That is, many folde afflictions
g He accuseth Iob of impie- tie & contempt of God, as though he wolde say, if thou passe not for men, yet consider the height of Gods maiestie
h That so muche the more by that excellent worke y maist feare God and reuerence him i He reproverth Iob as though he denied Gods providence, and that he colde not see things that were done in this worlde k How God hath punished them from the beginning l He proueth Gods prouidence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe
m He answereth to that, which Iob had said Chap 21.7 that the wicked haue prosperitie in this worlde: desiring that he might not be partaker of y like n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first, because God sheweth him self iudge of the worlde, & by this meanes continueth his honour and glorie: secondly, because God sheweth that he hath care ouer his in that he punisheth their enemies.
o That is, the state and preservation of y godlie is hid vnder Gods wings.
p Meaning, of the wicked
q He exhorteth Iob to repentance and to returne to God.
r God will restore vnto thee all thy substance s Which shalbe in abundance like dust t That is, the fauour of God.
u God will deliuer his when the wicked are destroyed rounde about them, as in the flood and in Sodom x God will deliuer a whole countrey from peril, euen for the iuste mans sake.

8 But the mightie man ^d had the earth, and he that was in autoritie, dwelt in it.
9 Thou hast cast out widowes emptie, and the armes of ^e the fatherles were broken.
10 Therefore snares ^{are} rounde about thee, and feare shal sodenly trouble thee:
11 Or daikenes that thou shuldest not feare, and ^f abundance of waters shal couer thee.
12 Is not God on ^g hie in the heauen? & beholde the height of the ^h staires how hie they are.
13 But thou saiest, How shulde God ⁱ knowe can he iudge through the daike cloude?
14 The cloudes hid him that he can not see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.
15 Hast thou marked the way of ^j y worlde, ^k wherein wicked men haue walked?
16 Which were ^l cut downe before the time, whose fundacion ^m was as a riuier that ouerflowed:
17 Which said vnto God, Departe from vs, and asked what the Almighty colde do for them.
18 Yet he ⁿ filled their houses with good things: but let the counsel of the wicked be farre from me.
19 The righteous shal see them, and shal reioyce, ^o and the innocent shal laugh them to scoine.
20 Surely ^p our substance is hid: but the fyre hath deuoured the remnant of ^q them.
21 Therefore acquaint thy self, I pray thee, with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie.
22 Receiue, I pray thee, the law of his mouth, and laie vp his wordes in thine heart.
23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt ^r be buyt vp, & thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle.
24 Thou shalt lay vp golde for ^s dust, and the golde of Ophir, as the flints of the riuers.
25 Yea, the Almighty shalbe thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.
26 And thou shalt the delite in the Almighty, and lift vp thy face vnto God.
27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shal heare thee, and thou shalt rendie thy vowes.
28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, & he shal establish it vnto thee, and the ^t light shal shine vpon thy waies.
29 ^u When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shal saue the humble persone.
30 The innocent shal deliuer the ^v yland, and it shalbe preserued by the purenes of thine hands.

CHAP. XXIII.

^a Iob affirmeth that he both knoweth and feareth the power and sentence of the Iudge, ¹⁰ And that he is not punished onely for his sinnes.

^b Vt Iob answered and said,
1 Though my talke be this day in a bitterness, and my plague greater the my groning,
2 Wolde God yet I knewe how to finde him, I wolde entre vnto his place.
3 I wolde pleade the cause before him, and fil my mouth with arguments.
4 I wolde knowe the wordes, that he wolde answer me, and wolde vnderstand what he wolde say vnto me.
5 Wolde he ^b plead against me with his great power? No, but he wolde ^c put strength in me.
6 There the righteous might reason with him, so I shulde be deliuered for euer fro my Iudge.
7 Beholde, if I go to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I can not perceiue him:
8 If to the North where he worketh, yet I can not see him: he wil hide him self in the South, and I can not beholde him.
9 But he knoweth my ^d way, and tryeth me, and I shal come forth like the golde.
10 My fore hath followed his steppes: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.
11 Nether haue I departed from the commandement of his lippes, & I haue ^e esteemed the wordes of his mouth more then mine appointed fode.
12 Yet he is in one minde, and who can ^f turne him? yea, he doeth what his minde desireth.
13 For he wil performe that, which is decreed of me, and ^g many such things are with him.
14 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, & in considering it, I am afrayed of him.
15 For God ^h hath softened mine heart, & the Almighty hath troubled me.
16 For I am not cut of in ⁱ darkenes, but he hath hid the darkenes from my face.

a He sheweth the iuste cause of his coplaining, & as touching that Elphaz had exhorted him to returne to God, chap 22. 21, he declareth that he desireth nothing more: but it seemed that God wolde not be fowde of him
b Vnto his absolute power & saying, Because I am God, I may do what I wil
c Of his mercie he wolde giue me power to answer him
d When he of his mercie hath giuen strength to mainteine their cause e Meaning, y if he consider Gods iustice, he is not able to cōprehende his iudgements on what side or parte soeuer he turneth him self f God hath this preeminence aboue me that he knoweth my way: to wit, that I am innocent, and I am not able to iudge of his workes: he sheweth also his confidence, that God doeth visite him for his profite
g His worde is more precious vnto me, then the meat wherewith the bodie is sustained

h Iob confesseth that at this present he felt not Gods fauour, and yet was assured, that he had appointed him to a good end

^a The living God hath taken away my ^a iudgement: for the Almighty hath put my soule in bitterness.
^b Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the they shall receiue of the Almighty.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisdom of God is Unsearchable.

^a He siluer surely hath his vaine, ^a &
^b the golde his place, where they take it.
^c Yron is taken out of the dust, and brasle is molten out of the stone.
^d God putteth an end to darknes, ^e & he try-eth the perfectio of all things: he setteth a ^f bode of darkenes, & of ^g shadow of death.
^h The flood breaketh out against the ⁱ inhabitant, and the waters ^d forgotten of the fote, being higher than the mā, are gone away.

^e Out of the same earth cometh ^e bread, & vnder it, as it were fyre is turned vp.
^f The stones thereof are a place ^f of sa-phirs, and the dust of it is golde.
^g There is a path which no foule hath known, neither hath the kites eye sene it.
^h The lions whelps haue not walked it, nor the lion passed thereby.
ⁱ He putteth his hand vpon the ⁱ rocks, & ouerthroweth the mountaines by ^j their rootes.
^k He breaketh riuers in the rocks, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.
^l He bindeth the floods, that they do not ouerflowe, & the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.
^m But where is wisdom founde ^m & where is the place of vnderstanding?
ⁿ Man knoweth not ⁿ the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.
^o The depth saith, It is not in me: the sea also saith, It is not with me.
^p Golde shall not be giuen for it, neither shall siluer be weighed for ^q the price thereof.
^r It shall not be valued with the wedge of golde of Ophir, nor with the precious o-nix, nor the saphir.
^s The golde nor the cristall shall be equal vnto it, nor the exchange shall be for plate of fine golde.
^t No mention shall be made of coral, nor of the ^t gabrils: for wisdom is more precious then perles.
^u The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equal vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedge of pure golde.
^v Whence shall cometh wisdom? and where is the place of vnderstanding, ^w Seing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, & is hid fro the ^w soules of ^x the heauē?
^x Destruction and death say, We haue heard the same thereof with our eares.
^y But God vnderstandeth the ^y way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.
^z For he beholdeth the ends of ^z the worlde, & seeth all that is vnder heauen, ^{aa} To make the weight of the windes, & to weigh the waters by measure.
^{ab} When he made a decree for the raine, &
a way for the lightening of the thunders, ^{ac} Then did he se it, and counted it the prepared it and also considered it.
^{ad} And vnto man he said, Beholde, ^{ad} the ^{ad} Primum. 1.7
^{ae} feare of the Lord is wisdom, and to depart from euil is vnderstanding.

^r They were afraid to offend me, and cause me to be angry

^s I had them at commandment

^t That is, mine estate is changed, & where as before the ancient men were glad to do me seruence, the yong men now contemne me.

When his light shined vpon mine head:
when by his light I walked through the darkenes,

As I was in the dayes of my youth: when Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:
When the Almighty was yet with me, & my children rounde about me:

When I washed my paths with butter, and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle:

When I went out to the gate, even to the iudgemēt seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seat in the strete.

The yong men sawe me, and hid them selues, and the aged arose, and stode vp.

The princes stayed talke, and laied their hand on their mouth.

The voyce of princes was hid, and their tongue cleaued to y roofe of their mouth.

And when the eare heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye sawe me, it gaue witness to me.

For I deliuered the poore that cryed, and the fatherles, and him that had none to helpe him.

The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon me, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

I put on iustice, and it couered me: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

I was the eyes to the blinde, and I was the fete to the lame.

I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knewe not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

I brake also the chawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the praye out of his tethe.

Then I said, I shal dye in my nest, and I shal multiplie my dayes as the sande.

For my roote is spread out by the water, and the dewe shal lye vpon my branche.

My glorie shal renue toward me, and my bowe shal be restored in mine hand.

Vnto me men gaue eare, and waited, and helde their tongue at my counsel.

After my wordes they replied not, & my talke dropped vpon them.

And they waited for me, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth as for the latter raine.

If I laughed on them, they beleued it not: nether did they cause the light of my countenance to fall.

I appointed out their way, and did sit as chief, and dwelt as a King in the armie, and like him that comforteth y mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

Iob complaineth that he is contemned of the moste contemptible. 11. 11. Because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

But now they that are yonger then I, mocke me: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to set with the dogges of my flockes.

For where to shulde the strength of their hands haue serued me, seing-age perished in them?

For pouertie and famine they were solitarie, fleeing into the wildernes, which is darke, desolate and waste.

They cut vpon nettels by the bushes, and the iuniper rootes was their meat.

They were chased forthe from among men: they showed at them, as at a thefe.

Therefore they dwelt in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes.

They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thittels they gathered them selues.

They were the children of fooles and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

And now am I their song, & I am their talke.

They abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

Because that God hath losed my corde and humbled me, & they haue losed the bridel before me.

The youth rise vp at my right had: they haue pusht my fete, and haue trode on me on the paths of their destruction.

They haue destroyed my paths: they toke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none helpe.

They came as a great breache of waters, and vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.

Feare is turned vpon me: and they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passeth away as a cloude.

Therefore my soule is now powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken holde on me.

It perceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.

For the great vehemencie is my garmēt chaged, which compasseth me about as the colar of my coate.

He hath cast me into the myre, and I am become like ashes and dust.

When I crye vnto thee, y dost not heare me, nether regardest me, when I stand vp.

Thou turnest thy self cruelly against me, and art enemie vnto me with the strength of thine hand.

Thou takest me vp and causest me to ride vpon the winde, and makest my strength to faile.

Surely I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.

Doutles none can stretche his hand vnto the graue, thogh they crye in his destruction.

Did not I wepe with him y was in trouble?

^b Meaning, to be my shepherd, or to kepe my dogges.

^c That is, their fathers dyed for famine before they came to age.

^d Or, malice.

^e Iob sheweth that these that mocked him in his afflictio, were like to their fathers, wicked, and fewde fellows, such as he hege deserveth.

^f They make songs of me, & mocke at my miserie.

^g God hath taken from me y force, credit & autoritie, where-with I kept them in subiection.

^h He said that the yong men when they saw him, hid them selues, as chap. 29. 18. and now in his miserie they were impudent and licentious.

ⁱ That is, they sought by all means how they might destroy me.

^k They nede none to helpe them.

^l By my calamitie they rooke an occasio against me.

^m My life faileth me, and I am as halfe dead.

ⁿ Meaning, sorowe.

^o That is, God hath bragged me into contempt.

^p He speaketh not thus to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby he was cōryed beside himself.

^q He compasseth his afflictions to a rest, or whole winde.

^r Or, wisdom, or Law.

^s None can deliuer me thence thogh they lament at my death.

ble was not my soule in heauines for the poore?
 ¶ In head of 26 comforting they mocked at me. f Not deliting in anie worldly thing, no not so much, as in the vie of the sunne. e Lamenting the that were in affliction, & mouing others to pite them. u I am like y wilde beastes chat desire mo the solitarie places x With the heat of affliction.

18 Yet when I loked for good, & euil came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darkenes.
 19 My bowels did boyle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.
 20 I wet mourning without sunne: I stode vp in the congregacion and cryed.
 21 I am a brother to the dragons, and a companion to the ostriches.
 22 My skinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heat.
 23 Therefore mine harp is turned to mourning, and mine organs into the voyce of them that wepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob reciteth the innocencie of his living, and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the fashful.

a I kept mine eyes from all wanton lokes. b Wolde not God then haue punished me?

I Made a couenant with mine eyes: why the shulde I thinke on a maid?
 2 For what porcion shulde I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the Almighty from on hie?

c Iob declarereth that the feare of God was a bridel to stay him from all wickednes.

3 Is not destruction to the wicked & strange punishment to the workers of iniquitie?
 4 Doeth not he beholde my wayes and tell all my steppes?
 5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my fote hath made haste to deceit, d He sheweth wherein his vprightnes standeth: that is, in as much as he was blameles before men, & sinned not against the second table.

6 Let God weigh me in the iuste balance, and he shal knowe mine vprightnes.

e Tharis, hath accomplished the lust of mine eye. f According to the curse of the Law, Deu. 28.33.

7 If my step hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye, or if anie blot hath cleaued to mine hands, g Let her be made a flauie. h He sheweth that albeit man neglect the punishment of adulterie, yet the wrath of God wil neuer cease til suche be destroyed.

8 Let me sowe, & let another eat: yea, let my plants be rooted out.

28 If I reioyced at his destruction that hated me, or was moued to ioye when euil came vpon him, 29 Nether haue I suffered my mouth to sinne, by wishing a curse vnto his soule.

SO these three men ceased to answer Iob, because he ^a esteemed him selfe iust.

² The wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the ^a Buzite, of y^e familie of ^b Ram, was kindled: his wrath, ⁱ say, was kindled against Iob, because he iustified him self ^c more then God.

³ Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they colde not finde an answer, ^{and} yet condemned Iob.

⁴ (Now Elihu had waited til Iob had spoken: for ^d they were more ancient in yeres then he)

⁵ So when Elihu sawe, that there was none answer in the mouth of the thre men, his wrath was kindled.

⁶ Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel, the Buzite answered, and said, I am yong in yeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afrayed to shewe you mine opinion.

⁷ For I said, The dayes ^e shal speake, and the multitude of yeres shal teache wisdom.

⁸ Surely there is a spirit in man, ^f but the inspiracion of the Almighty giueth vnderstanding.

⁹ Great men are not ^{alway} wise, nether do the aged ^{all way} vnderstand iudgement.

¹⁰ Therefore I say, Heare me, ^{and} I wil shewe also mine opinion.

¹¹ Beholde, I did waite vpon your wordes ^{and} hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you sought out ⁸ reasons.

¹² Yea, when I had considered you, lo, there was none of you that reproveth Iob, nor answered his wordes:

¹³ Left ye shulde say, We haue ^h founde wisdom: for God hathe cast him downe, ^{and} no man.

¹⁴ Yet hathe ⁱ he not directed his wordes to me, nether wil I answer ^k him by your wordes.

¹⁵ Then they fearing, answered nomore, but left of their talke.

¹⁶ When I had waited (for they spake not, but stode stil and answered nomore)

¹⁷ Then answered I in my turne, ^{and} I shewed mine opinion.

¹⁸ For I am ful of ^l matter, ^{and} the spirit within me compelleth me.

¹⁹ Beholde, my bellie is as the wine, which hathe ⁿ no vent, ^{and} like the newe bottels that bratt.

²⁰ Therefore wil I speake, that I may take breath: I wil open my lippes, and wil answer.

²¹ I wil not now accept the persone of mā, ^{neither} wil I giue titles to man.

²² For I may not giue ⁿ titles, lest my Maker shulde take me away sodenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

¹ Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. ¹⁴ He sheweth that God hathe diuers meanes to instruct man and so drawe him from sinne. ^{19.29} He afflicteth man and sodenly deliuereth him. ³⁶ Man being deliuered, giveth thanks to God.

Wherefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke and hearken vnto all my wordes.

² Beholde now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hathe spoken in my mouth.

³ My wordes ^{are} in the vprightenes of mine heart, and my lippes shal speake pure knowledge.

⁴ The ^a Spirit of God hathe made me, ^{and} the breath of the Almighty hathe giuen me life.

⁵ If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe ^{and} stand before me.

⁶ Beholde, I am according to thy wish in Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.

⁷ Beholde, my terrour shal not feare thee, nether shal mine hand be heauy vpon thee.

⁸ Doubteles thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy wordes.

⁹ I am ^d cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.

¹⁰ Lo, he hathe founde occasions against me, and counted me for hisemie.

¹¹ He hathe put my fere in the stockes, and loketh narrowly vnto all my paths.

¹² Beholde, in this hast thou not done right: I wil answer thee, y^e God is greater the mā.

¹³ Why doest thou strue against him? for he doeth not ^e giue account of all his matters.

¹⁴ For God speaketh ^f once or twise, ^{and} one seeth it not.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Elihu chargeth Iob, that he called him selfe righteous. 12 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God destroyeth the mighty. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

1 MOREouer Elihu answered, and said, 2 Heare my wordes, ye aⁿ wise men, and hearken vnto me, ye that haue knowledge.

3 For the eare tryeth the wordes, as y^e mouth tasteth meat.

4 Let vs seke b^e iudgement among vs, & let vs knowe among our selues what is good.

5 For Iob hath said, I am righteous, and God hath taken away my iudgement.

6 Shulde I lye in my d^e right? my wounde of the arrowe is eⁿ grievous without my sinne.

7 What man is like Iob, that drinketh f^e scornfulnes like water?

8 Which goeth in the s^e companie of them that worke iniquitie, & walketh with wicked men?

9 For he hath said, h^e It profiteth a man nothing that he shulde walke with God.

10 Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of wisdom, God forbid y^e wickednes shulde be in God, and iniquitie in the Almighty.

11 For he wil rendre vnto man according to his worke, & cause euerie one to finde according to his way.

12 And certainly God wil not do wickedly, nether wil the Almighty peruert iudgement.

13 Whome^a hath he appointed ouer y^e earth beside him self^e? or who hath placed the whole worlde?

14 If^k he set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto him self his spirit and his breath, 15 All flesh shal perish together, and man shal returne vnto dust.

16 And if y^e hast vnderstanding, heare this & hearken to the voyce of my wordes.

17 Shal he that hateth iudgement, m^e gouerne? & wilt thou iudge him wicked that is moste iust?

18 Wilt thou say vnto a King, Thou artⁿ wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodlie?

19 How muche lesse to him that accepteth not the persones of princes, & regardeth not the riche, more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his hands.

20 They shal dye suddenly, oⁿ and the people shal be troubled at midnight, & they shal passe forth and take away the mightie without hand.

21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he seeth all his goings.

22 There is no darkenes nor shadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.

23 For he wil not lay on man so muche, that he shulde eⁿtre into iuggement with God.

24 He shal breake the mightie without s^eking, and shal set vp other in their stead.

25 Therefore shal he declare their f^e workes: he shal turne the n^eight, and they shal be destroyed.

26 He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the s^eers,

27 Because they haue turned backe from him, and woldenot consider all his waies:

28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto him, and he hath heard the crye of the afflicted.

29 And when he giueth quietnes, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can beholde him, whether it be vpon nacions, or vpon a man onely?

30 Because the y^e hypocrite doeth reigne, & because the people are snared.

31 Surely it apperteineth vnto God to say, I haue pardoned, I wil not destroye.

32 aⁿ But if I se not, teache thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I wil do no more.

33 Wil he performe the thing through b^e thee? for thou haste reprobud^e it, because that thou hast chosē, and not I. now speake what thou knowest.

34 Let men of vnderstanding tel me, and let a wise man hearken vnto me.

35 Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, nether were his wordes according to wisdom.

36 I desire that Iob may be d^e tryed, vnto the end touching the answers for wicked men.

37 For he eⁿ addeth rebellion vnto his sinne: he clappeth his hands among vs, & multiplieth his wordes against God.

a Which are esteemed wise of the worlde. b Let vs examine the matter vprightly. c That is, hath afflicted me without measure. d Shulde I say, I am wicked, being an innocent? e I am forer punished, then my sinne deserueth. f Which is compelled to receiue the reproche & scorn of many for his foolish wordes. g Meaning, that Iob was like to the wicked, because he seemed not to glorifie God, & iudged him selfe to his iudgements. h He wasteth Iobs wordes, who said that Gods childre are oft times punished in this worlde, & the wicked go free. i That is, liue godly, as Gen 5.22. Chap 36.23. k To destroye him. l The breath of life, which he gaue man.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Neither doeth godlines profite, or vngodlines hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked crye vnto God and are not heard.

1 ELihú spake moreouer, and said,
2 Thikest thou this right, that thou hast said, I am a more righteous then God?
3 For thou hast said, What profiteth it thee and what auaieth it me, to purge me from my sinne?

4 Therefore wil I answer thee, and thy companions with thee.

5 Loke vnto the heauen, and se and beholde the cloudes which are hier then thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou against him, yea, when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him, or what receiueth he at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednes may hurt a man as thou art: thy righteousnes may profite the sonne of man.

9 They cause many that are oppressed, to crye, which crye out for the violence of the mightie.

10 But none saith, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more the the beastes of the earth, and giueth vs more wisdom then the foules of the heauen.

12 Then they crye because of the violence of the wicked, but he answereth not.

13 Surely God wil not heare vanitie, nether wil the Almightye regarde it.

14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, yet iudgement is before him: tust thou in him.

15 But now because his angre hathe not vifired, nor called to couit the euil with great extremitie, 16 Therefore Iob openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 ELihú sheweth the power of God, 6 And his iustice, 9 And wherefore he punisheth. 13 The propertie of the wicked.

1 ELihú also proceded and said,
2 Suffe me a litle, & I wil instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.

3 I wil fetch a my knowledge a farre of, & wil attribute righteousnes vnto my Maker.

4 For truely my wordes shal not be false, & he that is perfite in knowledge, speaketh with thee.

5 Beholde, the mightie God casteth away none that is mightie & valiant of courage.

6 He mainteineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He withdraweth not his eies from the righteous, but they are with Kings in the throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters & tyed with the cordes of affliction,

9 Then wil he shewe them their worke and their sinnes, because they haue bene proude.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.

11 If they obey and serue him, they shal end their dayes in prosperitie, & their yerres in pleasures.

12 But if they wil not obey, they shal passe by the sworde, & perish without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites of heart increafe the wrath: for they call not when he bindeth them.

14 Their soule dyeth in youth, & their life among the whoremongers.

15 He deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen so wolde he haue taken thee out of the streight place into a broad place & not shut vp beneth, and that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene ful of fat.

17 But thou art ful of the iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie mainteine all things.

18 For Gods wrath is, lest he shulde take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of giftes can deliuet thee.

19 Wil he regarde thy riches? he regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in strength.

20 Be not careful in the night, how he destroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou hede: loke not to iniquitie: for thou hast chusen it rather then affliction.

22 Beholde, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?

23 Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men beholde.

25 All men se it, and men beholde it a farre of.

26 Beholde, God is excellent, & we knowe him not, nether can the number of his yerres be searched out.

27 When he restraineth the droppes of water, the raine powreth downe by the vapour thereof, 28 Which raine the cloudes do droppe & let fall abundantly vpon man.

29 Who can knowe the diuisions of the cloudes & the thunders of his tabernacle?

30 Beholde he spreadeth his light vpon it, and couereth the bottome of the sea.

f He wil moue their heartes to file their sinnes, & they may come to him by repentance as he did Manasseh Isa 1.19.

g That is, in their follie or obstination, & so shal be cause of their owne destruction. h Which are maliciously bett against God and flatter the felues in their vices.

i When they are in affliction they seke not to God for succour, as Afa. 2. Chro 16. 12. reuel 16. 11.

k They dye of some vile death and that before they come to age.

l Thou hast bene obedient to God, he wolde haue brought thee to libertie & welth.

m Thou art altogether after the manner of the wicked: for thou dost murmure against the iustice of God.

n God doeth punish thee, lest thou shuldest forget God in thy welth and so perish.

o Be not thou curious in seeking the cause of Gods iudgements, when he destroyeth any.

p And so murmure against God through impacience.

q The workes of God are so manifest, that a man may see that a farre of and knowe God by the same.

r Our infirmities hindereth vs so, that we can not attaine to the perfecte knowledge of God.

s That is, the raine cometh of those droppes of water, which he keepeth in the cloudes.

t Meaning of the cloudes, & he calleth the Tabernacle of God.

u Vpon the cloudes. x That men can not come to the knowledge of the springs of life, &c.

a Iob neuer spake these wordes: but because he maineined his innocencie, it seemed as though he wolde say, that God tormented him without iust cause.

b Suche as are in the like error: c If thou canst not controle the cloudes, wilt thou presume to instruct God?

d Nether doeth thy sinne hurt God, nor thy iustice profite hi: for he wil be glorified without thee.

e The wicked may hurt man and cause him to crye, who if he soght to God, which sendeth comfort, shulde be deliuered.

f Because they pray not in faith as feling Gods mercies.

g God is iust, howsoeuer y iudget of hi.

h For if he did punish thee, as thou deseruest, thou shuldest not be able to open thy mouth.

Chap XXXVI. a He sheweth that when we speake of God we must lift our spirits more hie, then our natural sense is able to reach.

b Thou shalt perceiue that I am a faithful instructor, & that I speake to thee in the name of God.

c Strong and constant, & of understanding: for these are the gifts of God, & he loueth them in man: but for a sinne as God punished now Iob, it is a signe that these are not in hi.

d Therefore he wil not pre-serue the wicked: but to the humble & afflicted heart he wil shewe grace.

e He preferreth the godliesse honour.

 p That is, ouer ignorance: ſignifying that Iob was ſo preſumptuous that he wold controll the workes of God.

31 For thereby he iudgeth the people, and giueth meat abundantly.
 32 He couereth the light with the cloudes, and commandeth them to go againſt it.
 33 His companion ſheweth him thereof, and there is angre in riſing vp.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Elihu proueth that the unſearchable wiſdomes of God are maniſeſt by his workes, 4 As by the thunders, 6 The ſnowe, 9 The whirle winde, 11 And the raigne.

AT this alſo mine heart is aſtonied, & is moued out of his place.

2 Heare the ſounde of his voyce, and the noiſe that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the world.

4 After it a noiſe foundeth: he thundreth with the voyce of his maietie, and he wil not ſtay them when his voyce is heard.

5 God thundreth maruelouſly w his voyce: he worketh great things, which we knowe not.

6 For he ſaith to the ſnowe, Be thou vpon ſ earth: d likewise to the ſmale raine and to the great raine of his power.

7 With the force thereof he ſhutteth vp euery man, that all men may knowe his worke.

8 Then the beaſts go into the denne, and remaine in their places.

9 The whirle wide cometh out of ſ South, and the colde from the ſ North winde.

10 At the breath of God the ſiſt is giuen, & the breadth of the waters is made narrowe.

11 He maketh alſo the cloudes to labour, to water the earth, & ſcatereth the cloude of his light.

12 And it is turned about by his gouernement, that thei may do whatſoeuer he commandeth them vpon the whole worlde:

13 Whether it be for puniſhment, or for his land, or of mercie, he caueth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, o Iob: ſtand and conſider the wonderous workes of God.

15 Didſt thou knowe when God diſpoſed them? and cauſed the light of his cloude to ſhine?

16 Haſt thou knowen the varietie of the cloude, & the wonderous workes of him, that is perſite in knowledge?

17 Or how thy clothes are warme, when he maketh the earth quiet through the South winde?

18 Haſt thou ſtretched out ſ heauens, which are ſtrong, & as a molten glaſſe?

23 It is the Almighty: we cā not finde him out: he is excellent in power & iudgement, & abundant in iuſtice: he afflicteth not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: for he wil not regard any that are wiſe in their owne conceit.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God ſpeaketh to Iob, and declareth the weakenes of man in the conſideration of his creatures, by whoſe excellencie the power, iuſtice and prouidence of the Creator is knowne.

THEN answered the Lord vnto Iob out of the whirle winde, & ſaid,

2 Who is this that darkeneth the counſel by wordes without knowledge?

3 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I wil demande of thee and declare thou vnto me.

4 Heare, I beseeche thee, and I wil speake: I wil demande of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

5 I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Therefore I abhorre my self, and repent in dust and ashes.

7 ¶ Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, the Lord also said vnto Elipház the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends, for ye haue not spokē of me y thing that is right, like my seruant Iob.

8 Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullockes, and seuen rams, and go to my seruant Iob, & offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shal pray for you: for I wil accept him, lest I shulde put you to shame, because ye haue not spokē of me the thing, which is right, like my seruant Iob.

THE

of Dauid.

THE ARGUMENT.

This booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holie Gost to be esteemed as a moste precious treasure, wherein all things are contained that apperteyne to true felicitie: aswel in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, and heauenlie wisdom are here set open for vs, to take thereof moste abundantly. If we wolde knowe the great, and his maiestie of God, here we may se the brightnes thereof shine moste clearely. If we wolde seke his incomprehensible wisdom, here is the schole of the same profession. If we wolde comprehend his inestimable bounty, and approche nere therunto, and fill your hands with that treasure, here we may haue a moste liuely, and comfortable taste thereof. If we wolde knowe wherein standeth our saluation, and how to attaine to life euerlasting, here is Christ our onely redemer, and mediator moste evidently described. He that wil reioyce, shal knowe the true ioy, and how to kepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shal se wherein standeth their comforte, and how they ought to praise God when he sendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of God shal se how the hand of God is euer against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he bridleth them, in somuche as they can not touche an heere of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the end their destruction is moste miserable. Briefly, here we haue moste present remedies against all tentations, and troubles of minde and conscience, so that being wel practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare, and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glorie, which is laud & p for all them that loue the summing of our Lord Iesus Christ.

* Or, Praises, according to Hebrewes: and were chiefly instituted to praise, and giue thanks to God for his beuities. These are called the Psalmes, or Songs of Dauid because the moste parte were made by him.

PSALME I.

Whether it was Esdras, or anse other that gathered the Psalmes into a booke, it semeth he did set this Psalm first in manner of a preface, to exhorde all godlie men to studie, and meditate the heauenlie wisdom. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they be blessed, which giue them selues wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures. 4 And that the wicked contempters of God, though they seme for a while happy, yet at length shal come to miserable destruction.

^a When a man hath the guide once place to counsell, counsel, or to his owne conscience,
he beginneth to forget himself in his sin, & so falleth in to contempt of God, which contempt is called the seat of the scorners.

^d Though the wicked seme to beare the swige in this worlde, yet the Lord drineth them downe that they shal not rise nor stand in the companie of the righteous.
^e But treble, when they se the Gods wrath.
^f Doeth approue and prosper, like as get to knowe, is to reprove and reiect.

Blessed is the man that doeth not walke in the counsel of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seat of the scornful:

But his delite is in the Law of the Lord, & in his Law doeth he meditate day and night.

For he shal be like a tree planted by the riuers of waters, that wil bring forth the her frute in due season: whose leafe shal not fade: so whatsoeuer he shal do, shal prosper.

The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the winde driueth away.

Therefore the wicked shal not stand in the Iudgement, nor sinners in the assem- blie of the righteous.

For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shal perish.

PSAL. II.

The Prophet Dauid reioyceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God wil continue his kingdome for euere & aduance it euen to the end of the worlde. so And therefore exhorteth Kings and rulers, that they wolde humbly submit them selues vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resiste God. Herein is figured Christs kingdome.

Why do the heathen rage, & the people murmur in vaine?

The Kings of the earth band them selues, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

Let vs breake their bands, and cast their cords from vs.

But he that dwelleth in the heauen shal laugh: the Lord shal haue the derisio.

Then shal he speake vnto them in his wrath, & vex them in his sore displeasure, saying,

Euen I haue set my King vpon Zion mine holic mountaine.

I wil declare the decree: that is, the Lord hath said vnto me, Thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

Aske of me, & I shal giue thee the heathē for thine inheritance, and the endes of the earth for thy possession.

Thou shalt crush them with a sceptre of yron, & breake them in peeces like a pot- ters vessel.

Be wise now therefore, ye Kings: be learned ye Iudges of the earth.

1 David driue forth of his kingdome, was greatly tormēted in munde for his finnes against God: 4 And therefore calleth vpon God, & waxeth bolde through his promises against the great railings and terrors of his enemies, yea, against death itself, which he sawe present before his eyes. 7 Finally he reioyceth for the good suc-

1 David oppreſſed with the crueltie of his enemies, and feare of greater dangers, calleth to God for ſuccour, ſhewing how requiſite it is that God ſhulde puniſh the malice of his aduerſaries. 7 After being aſſured of deceitful.

7 But I e wil come into thine houſe in the multitude of thy mercie: & in thy feare wil I worſhip towards thine holie Temple.

8 Lead me, o Lord, in thy righteouſnes, f becauſe of mine enemies: make thy waie plaine before my face.

9 For no coſtancie is in their mouth: within, they are very corruption: their g throte is an open ſepulchre, & they flatter with their tongue.

10 Deſtroye them, o God: let them h fall from their counſels: caſt them out for the multitude of their iniquities, becauſe they haue rebelled againſt thee.

11 And i let all them that truſt in thee, re-ioyce & triumphe for euer, k couer thou them: and let them, that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee.

PSAL. VI.

1 When David by his finnes had prouoked Gods wrath, and now felt not onely his hand againſt him, but alſo conceiued the horrors of death euerlaſting, he deſireth forgiveness. 6 Bewailing that if God toke him awaie in his indignation, he ſhulde lacke occaſion to praife him: as he was wont to do, when he was among men. 9 Then ſuddenly feeling Gods mercies, he ſharply rebuketh his enemies which reioy-ced in his affliction.

Victories that he had sent him against his enemies, and also proued by manifold experience how ready God was at hand in all his troubles. 14 He being now likewise in danger of new enemies, desireth God to helpe him according to his wote. 17 And to destroy the malicious arrogancie of his aduersaries.

2 I wil be glad, and reioyce in thee: I wil sing praise to thy Name, o moste high,

3 For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shal fall, and perishe at thy presence.

4 For thou hast maintained my right & my cause: thou art set in the throne, and iudgeth right.

5 Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer.

6 O enemy, destructions are come to a perpetual end, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memorial is perished with them.

7 But the Lord shal sit for euer: he hath prepared his throne for iudgement.

8 For he shal iudge the worlde in righteousness, & shal iudge the people with equitie.

9 The Lord also wil be a refuge for the poore, a refuge in due time, euen in affliction.

10 And they that knowe thy Name, wil trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed they that seke thee.

11 Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: shewe the people his workes.

12 For when he maketh inquisition for blood, he remembereth it, & forgetteth not the complaint of the poore.

13 Haue mercie vpon me, o Lord: consider my trouble, which I suffer of them that hate me, thou that liftest me vp from the gates of death.

14 That I maie shewe all thy praises within the gates of the daughter of Zion, & reioyce in thy saluacion.

PSAL. X.

1 He complaineth of the fraude, rapine, tyrannie, and all kindes of wrong, which worldly men vse, assigning the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldly prosperitie, and therefore setting aparte all feare and reuerence towards God, thinke they may do all things without controuersie. 15 Therefore he calleth vpon God to send some remedie against these desperate euils. 16 And at length comforteth him selfe with hope of deliuerance.

1 Why standest thou farre of, o Lord, & hidest thee in due time, euen in affliction?

2 The wicked with pride doeth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the crafts that they haue imagined.

3 For the wicked hath made boast of his owne hearts desire, and the couetous blesseth him selfe: he contemneth the Lord.

4 The wicked is so proude that he seeketh not for God: he thinketh alwaies, There is no God.

5 His waies alwaie prosper: thy iudgements are hid about his sight: therefore defieth he all his enemies.

6 He saith in his heart, I shal neuer be moued, nor be in danger.

7 His mouth is full of cursing and disceite and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief & iniquities.

8 He lieth in waite in the villages: in the secret places doeth he murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.

9 He lieth in wait secretly, euen as a lyon in his denne: he lieth in waite to spoile the poore: he doeth spoile the poore, when he draweth him into his net.

10 He croucheth & boweth: therefore heapes of the poore do fall by his might.

11 He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten, he hideth awaie his face, & wil neuer se.

12 Arise, o Lord God: lift vp thine hand: forget not the poore.

13 Wherefore doeth the wicked contemne God? he saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard me.

14 Yet thou hast sene it: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou maiest take it into thine hands: the poore comitteth him selfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherles.

15 Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: searche his wickednes, & thou shalt finde none.

16 The Lord is King for euer and euer: the heathen are destroyed for the of his land.

17 Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparest their heart: thou besteepest thine eare to them,

18 To iudge the fatherles and poore, that earthly man cause to feare no more.

The iudgment of the wicked. Pſalmes. All men are vniust. 237 79/1224

PSAL. XI.

This pſalme containeth two partes. In the first Dauid sheweth how harde assalties of temptations he sustained, & in how great anguish of minde he was, when Saul did persecute him. 4 Then next he reioyeth that God set him succour in his necessitie, declaring his iustice as wel in gouerning the good, and the wicked men, as the whole worlde.

To him that excelleth. A Pſal. of Dauid.

IN the Lord put I my trust: how say ye then to my soule, ^a Flee to your mountaine as a birde?

^a For lo, the wicked bend their bowe, and make readie their arrowes vpo the string, that they may secretly shoote at the, which are vpright in heart.

^b For the ^b fundaciōs are cast downe: what liathe the ^c righteous done?

^d The Lord is in his holie palace: ^e y Lords throne is in the heauen: his eyes ^d wil consider: his eye lids wil trye the children of men.

^e The Lord wil trye the righteous: but the wicked & him that loueth iniquitie, doeth his soule hate.

^f Vpon the wicked he shal raine snares, ^e fyer, and brimstone, & stormie tempest: this is the ^f porcion of their cup.

^g For the righteous Lord loueth righteousnes: his countenance doeth beholde ^g iust.

PSAL. XII.

The Prophet lamenting the miserable estate of the people, and the decay of all good order, desireth God speedily to send succour to his children. 7 The comforting him self and others with the assurance of Gods helpe, he commendeth the constant veritie that God obserueth in keeping his promises.

To him that excelleth vpon the eight tune. A Pſ. of Dauid.

HElpe Lord, for there is not ^a a godlie man left: for the faithful are failed from among the children of men.

^b They speake decentfully euerie one with his neighbour, ^b flattering with their lippes, and speake with a double heart.

^c The Lord cut of all flattering lippes, & the tongue that speaketh proude things:

^d Which haue said, ^c With our tongue wil we preuaile: our lippes are our owne: who is lord ouer vs?

^e Now for the oppresion of the nedie, & for the sighes of the poore, I wil vp saie the Lord, and wil ^e set at libertie him, whome the wicked hathe snared.

^f The wordes of the Lord are pure wordes, as ^f siluer, tryed in a fornace of earth, fined seuen folde.

^g Thou wilt kepe ^g them, O Lord: thou wilt preferue him from this generaciō for euer.

^h The wicked walke on euerie side: when they are exalted, ^h it is a shame for the sonnes of men.

PSAL. XIII.

Dauid as it were overcome with sundrie and new afflictions, fleeth to God as his onelie refuge. 3 And so at the length being encouraged through Gods promises, he conceiueh moste sure confidence against the extreme horrors of death.

To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

How long wilt ^a thou forget me, O Lord, thy face from me?

^b How long shal I take ^b couſel within my self, ^b hauing wearines daiely in mine heart? how long shal mine enemie be exalted a boue me?

^c Beholde, & heare me, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, that I slepe not in death:

^d Lest mine enemie saie, I haue ^c preuailed against him: & they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide.

^e But I trust in thy ^d mercie: mine heart shal reioyce in thy saluacion: I wil sing to the Lord, because he hathe ^e delt louingly with me.

PSAL. XIII.

He describeth the peruerse nature of men; which were so grown to licentiousnes, that God was brought to utter contempt. 7 For the which thing although he was greatly grieved, yet being persuaded that God wolde send some present remedie, he comforteth him self & others.

To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

THe foole hathe said in his heart, ^a There is no God: thei haue ^b corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good.

^b The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to se if there were anie that wolde vnderstand, and seke God.

^c All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

^d Do not all ^d y workers of iniquitie knowe that they eat vp my people, & they eat bread: they call not vpon the Lord.

^e There they shal be taken with feare, because God is in the generacion of the iust.

^f You haue made ^e a mocke at the counſel of the poore, because the Lord is his trust.

^g Oh giue saluacion vnto ^f Israēl out of Zión: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iacob shal reioyce, and Israēl shal be glad.

PSAL. XV.

This Pſalme teacheth on what conditiō God did chuse the Iewes for his peculiar people, and wherefore he placed his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they by liuing vprightly and godly, might witness that they were his special and holie people.

A Pſalme of Dauid.

Lord, who shal dwell in thy Tabernacle, who shal rest in thine holie Mountayne?

^a This is the wicked counſel of his enemies to him & his companions, to driue him from the hope of Gods pines

^b All hope of succour is taken awaie
^c Yet am I innocent and my cause good.
^d Though all things in earth be out of order, yet God wil execute iudgement from heauen

^e As in the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah
^f Which they shal drinke euen to the aregs, Ezek 23:34.

^g Which dare detende the truth, & shew mercie to the oppressed
^h He meaneth y flatterers of the court, & hurt him more with their tongues then with their weapons

ⁱ They thinke the felues able to persuade whatsoever they take in hand ^j The Lord is moued with the complaints of his, & delivereth in the end from all dangers.

^k Because the Lordes worde and promise is true & vnderstandable, he wil performe it & preferue the poore from this wicked generation
^l That is, thine, though he were but one man
^m For thel suppres y godlie and maintaine the wicked.

^a He declarerh y his afflictions lasted a long time, & y his faith fauted not ^b Chāging my purpose as the sickemā doeth his place.

^c Which might turne to Gods dishonour, if he did not defend his.
^d The mercie of God is the cause of our saluacion
^e Both by the benefices past and by others to come.

^f Psal 13.
^g He sheweth that the cause of all wickednes is to forget God
^h There is nothing but disorder & wickednes among them

ⁱ Dauid here maketh comparison betwene the faithful and the reprobate: but S Paul speaketh the same of all men naturally, Rom 3:10

Or, a covetise came.

n My righte cause.

1 He that walketh vprightly and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the trueth in his heart.

2 He that sclandreth not with his tongue, nor doeth euil to his neighbour, nor receiue a false reporte against his neighbour.

3 In whose eyes a vile persone is cōtemned, but he honoreth them that feare the Lord: he that sweareth to his owne hinderance and changeth not.

4 He that giueth not his money vnto vsurie, nor taketh rewarde against the innocent: he that doeth these things, shall neuer be moued.

PSAL. XVI.

1 David prayeth to God for succour, not for his workes, but for his faiths sake. 4 Protesting that he hateth all idolatrie, taking God onelie for his comfort and felicitie. 8 Who suffreth him to lacke nothing.

Michtam of David.

1 P Reserue me, o God: for in thee do I trust.

2 O my soule, thou hast said vnto the Lord, Thou art my Lord: my bewelddoing extendeth not to thee,

3 But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delite is in them.

4 The sorowes of them, that offer to another god, shal be multiplied: their offerings of blood wil I not offer, nether make mencion of their names with my lippes.

5 The Lord is the porcion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou shalt mainteine my lot.

6 The lines are fallen vnto me in pleasant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage.

7 I wil praise the Lord, who hath giuen me counsel: my reins also teache me in the nights.

8 I haue set the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand: therefore I shall not slide.

9 Wherefore mine heart is glad and my tongue reioyeth: my flesh also doeth rest in hope.

10 For thou wilt not leaue my soule in the graue: nether wilt thou suffer thine holie one to se corruption.

11 Thou wilt shewe me the path of life: in thy presence is the fulnes of ioye: and at thy right hand there are pleasures for euermore.

PSAL. XVII.

1 Here he complaineth to God of the cruel pride and arrogancie of his enemies, who thus ragged with his cause giuen on his parte. 6 Therefore he desireth God to reuenge his innocencie and deliuer him.

The prayer of David.

1 H Eare the right, o Lord, consider my crye: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfained.

2 Let my sentence come forth from thy presence, & let thine eyes beholde equitie.

3 Thou hast proued & visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tryed me, & foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my mouth shulde not offend.

4 Concerning the workes of men, by the wordes of thy lippes I kept me from the paths of the cruel man.

5 Stay my steps in thy paths, that my fete do not slide.

6 I haue called vpon thee: surely thou wilt heare me, o God: incline thine care to me, & hearken vnto my wordes.

7 Shewe thy maruelous mercies: thou that art the Sauour of them that trust in thee, from suche as resist thy right hand.

8 Kepe me as the apple of the eye: hide me vnder the shadow of thy wings,

9 From the wicked that oppresse me, from mine enemies, which compass me rounde about for my soule.

10 They are inclosed in their owne fatt, and they haue spoken proudly with their mouth.

11 They haue compassed vs now in our steps: they haue set their eyes to bring downe to the grounde:

12 Like as a lyon that is greedie of praye, & as it were a lyons whelpes lurking in secret places.

13 Vp Lord, disappoint him: cast him downe: deliuer my soule from the wicked with thy sworde, 14 From men by thine hand, o Lord, from men of the worlde, who haue their porcion in this life, whose belies thou fillest with thine hid treasure: their childre haue ynough, and leaue the rest of their substance for their children.

15 But I wil beholde thy face in righteousness, & when I awake, I shall be satisfied with thine image.

PSAL. XVIII.

1 This Psalme is the first beginning of his gratulacion, and thankesgiving in the entering into his kingdome, wherein he extolleth & praiseth moste highly the maruelous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preserved and defended him. 32 Also he setteth forth the image of Christs kingdome, that the faithfull may be assured that Christ shall alwayes conquer & ouercome by the unspeakable power of his Father, though all the whole worlde shulde strue thereagainst.

1 To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David the servant of the Lord, which spake vnto the Lord the wordes of this song (in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, & from the hand of Saül) and said,

4 The ^c sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednes made me a-fraied.

5 The ^c sorowes of the graue haue compassed me about: the snares of death ouertoke me.

6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my crye did come before him, ^{euen} into his e-ares.

7 Then the earth trembled, and quaked:
the fundacions also of the mountaines moued and shoke, because he was angry.

8 Smoke went out at his nostrils, and a ^c co-suming fyre out of his mouth: coles were kindled therat.

9 He bowed the heauens also and came downe, and ^f darkened was vnder his fete.

10 And he rode vpon ^g Cherubim and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the winde.

11 He made darkenes his ^h secret place, & his pavilion rounde about him, ^{euen} dar-kenes of waters, and cloudes of the aire.

12 At the brightnes of his presence his cloudes passed, haile stones & coles of fyre.

13 The Lord also thundered in the heauen, and the Highest gaue ⁱ his voyce, haile-stones and coles of fyre.

14 Then he sent out ^k his arrowes & sca-tered them, and he increased lightnings and destroyed them.

15 And the chanelles of waters were sene, and the ^l fundacions of the worlde were discouered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrils.

16 He hath sent downe from aboue ^m and taken me: he hath drawn me out of many waters.

17 He hath deliuered me from my ⁿ strong enemie, and from them which hate me: for they were ^o to strong for me.

18 They preuented me in the daye of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 He brought me forth also into a large place: ^p he deliuered me because he fauoured me.

20 The Lord rewarded me according to my ^q righteousness: according to the pu-renes of mine hands he recompensed me:

21 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, & did not wickedly againt my God.

22 For all his Lawes ^r were before me, and I did not cast away his ^s commandements from me.

23 I was vpright also with him, & haue kept me from my ^t wickednes.

24 Therefore ^y Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness, & according to the purenes of mine hands in his sight.

25 With the ^u godlie thou wilt shewe thy self godlie: with the vpright man thou wilt shewe thy self vpright.

26 With the pure thou wilt shewe thy self pure, & with the frowarde thou wilt shewe thy self froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people,
& wilt ^v cast downe the proude lokes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candel: the Lord my God will lighten my darkenes.

29 For by thee I haue ^x broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The waye of God is vncorrupt: the wordes of the Lord is tryed in the fyre: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mightie saue our God?

32 God girdeth me with strength, and ma-keth my ^y waye vpright.

33 He maketh my fete like hindes ^z fete, and setteth me vpon mine ^a high places.

34 He teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bowe of ^b brasse is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giue me ^y ^b shield of thy saluacion, and thy right hand hath stayed me, and thy ^c louing kindenes hath caused me to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steppes vnder me, and mine heles haue not slid.

37 I haue pursued mine enemies, and take them, and haue not turned againe til I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded the, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my fete.

39 For thou hast girded me with strength to battell them: that rose againt me, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast ^e giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroye them that hate me.

41 They ^f cryed, but there was none to saue them, ^{euen} vnto the Lord, but he answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them smale as the dust before the winde: I did tread them flat as the claye in the stretes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the con-sentions of the people: thou hast made me the head of the ^g heathen: a people, ^h whome I haue not ⁱ knowen, shal ser-ue me.

44 As sone as thei heare, then shal obey me:

PSAL. XXII.

Dauid complained because he was brought into such extremities, that he was past all hope, but after he had rehearsed the sorowes & griefs, wherewith he was vexed, he recovereth him self fro the bottomles pit of tentations and groweth in hope. And here under his owne persone he setteth forth the true figure of Christ, whome he did foresee by the Spirit of prophete, that he shoulde maruelously & strangely be despoiled, & abused, before his Father shoulde raise & exalte him againe

To him that excelleth vpon Aueie: h HafsShahai. A Psalme of Dauid.

MY God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me, & art so farre from mine health, and from the wordes of my roaring?

O my God, I crye by daie, but thou hearest not, & by night, but haue no audiēce. But thou art holie, and dost inhabite the praises of Israël.

Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didest deliuer them.

They called vpon thee, and were deliuered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.

But I am a worme, & not a man: a shame of men, and the contempt of the people.

All they that se me, haue me in derision: they make a mowe & nod the head, saying,

"He trusted in the Lord, let him deliuer him: let him saue him, seig he loueth him.

But y didest drawe me out of the wombe: thou gauest me hope, euen at my mothers breasts.

I was cast vpon thee, euen from the wombe: thou art my God from my mothers belly.

Be not farre from me, because trouble is nere: for there is none to helpe me.

Manye yong bulles haue compassed me: mightie bulles of Bashan haue closed me about.

They gape vpon me with their mouthes, as a ramping and roaring lion.

I am like water powred out, and all is gone. He meaneth, that his enemies were so far, proude and cruel, that they were rather beasts then men. Before, he spake of the occulcie of his enemies, and now he declareth the inward griefs of y minde, so that Christ was tormented, both in soule and bodie.

my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is like waxe: it is molten in the middes of my bowels.

My strength is dried vp like a potsherd, and my tongue cleueth to my iawes, and y haue brought me into the dust of death.

For dogges haue compassed me, & the assemblie of the wicked haue inclosed me: they perced mine hands and my fete.

I maie tel all my bones: yet thei beholde, and loke vpon me.

They parte my garments among them, and cast lottes vpon my vesture.

But be not thou faile of, O Lord, my strength: hasten to helpe me.

Deliuere my soule from the sworde: my desolate soule from the power of the dog.

Saue me from the lions mouth, and answer me in sauing me from the hornes of the vnicornes.

I wil declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the middes of the Congregation wil I praise thee, saying,

Praise the Lord, ye that feare him: magnifie ye him, all the sede of Iakob, & feare ye him, all the sede of Israël.

For he hathe not despised nor abhorred y affliction of the poore: nether hathe he hid his face from him, but when he called vnto him, he heard.

My praise shalbe of thee in the great Congregation: my vowes wil I performe before them that feare him.

The poore shal eat and be satisfied: thei that seeke after the Lord, shal praise him: your heart shal liue for euer.

All the ends of the worlde shal remember them selues, and turne to the Lord: and all the kindreds of the nations shal worship before thee.

For the kingdome is the Lords, and he ruleth among the nations.

All thei that be fat in the earth, shal eat and worship: all they that go downe into the dust, shal bowe before him, euen he that can not quicken his owne soule.

Thei sede shal serue him: it shalbe counted vnto the Lord for a generation.

Thei shal come, & shal declare his righteousness vnto a people that shal be borne, because he hathe done it.

PSAL. XXIII.

Because the Prophet had proued the great mercies of God at diuerse times, and in sundrie maners, he gathereth a certaine assurance, fully perswading him self that God wil continue the verie same goodnes toward him for euer.

A Psalme of Dauid.

The Lord is my shepherd, I shal not want.

He maketh me to rest in grene pasture, & leadeth me by the still waters.

He brestoreth my soule, & leadeth me in Oo.iii.

I Thou hast suffered me to be without all hope of life.

k Thus Dauid complaineth as though he were nailed by his enemies both hands & fete: but this was accomplished in Christ

PSAL. XXV.

1 The Prophet touched with the consideration of his sin-nes, and also grieved with the cruel malice of his enemies, 6 Prayeth to God moste feruently to haue his sinner forgiven. 7 Especially such as he had commissed in his youth He begetteth euerie versē according to the Hebrew letters two on three excepts.

A Psalm of David.

1 Vnto thee, O Lord, lift I vp my soule.

2 My God, I trust in thee: let me not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer me.

3 So all that hope in thee, shal not be ashamed: but let them be confounded, that trágessie without cause.

4 Shew me thy waies, O Lord, & teache me thy paths.

5 Lead me forth in thy trueth, and teache me: for thou art the God of my saluacion:
in thee do I trust all the daie.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindenes: for thei haue bene for euer.

7 Remember not the sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindenes remember thou me, euen for thy goodnes sake, O Lord.

fore wil he teache sinners in the waie.

gement; and teache the humble his waie.

ful vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great.

him wil he teache the waie that he shal chuse.

them, that feare him: and his couenant to giue them vnderstanding.

15 Mine eyes are euer toward the Lord: for he wil bring my fete out of the net.

16 Turne thy face vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: for I am desolate and poore.

17 The sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: drawe me out of my troubles.

18 Loke vpon mine affliction & my trauel, and forgieue all my sinnes.

19 Beholde mine enemies, for thei are many, and they hate me with cruel hatred.

be confounded, for I trust in thee.

serue me: for mine hope is in thee.

PSAL. XXVII.

Dauid maketh this psalme being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the praises and thanksgiuings annexed: 6 Wherein we may see the constant faith of Dauid against the assaults of all his enemies. 7 And also the end wherefore he desireth to liue and to be deliuered, onely to worship God in his Congregation.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

a Because he ¹ was assured of good successe in all his dangers, and that his saluation was surely laid vp i God, he feared not the tyrātie of his enemies
b That God ³ wil deliuer me, & giue my faith y victorie
c The losse of ⁴ a countrie, wife & all worldly commodities grieue me not in respect of this one thig, that I may not praise thy Name in the midst of the Congregation

THE Lord is my ^a light and my saluation, whome shal I feare: the Lord is the strength of my life, of whome shal I be afraid?
2 When the wicked, ^{euē} mine enemies and my foes came vpon me to eat vp my flesh they stumbled and fel.
3 Though an hoste pitched against me, mine heart shulde not be afraid: though warre be raised against me, I wil trust in ^b this.
4 ^c One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I wil require, ^{euē} that I may dwel in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to beholde the beautie of the Lord, & to visite his Temple.
5 For in the time of trouble he shal hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pavilion shal he hide me, & set me vp vpon a rocke.
6 ^d And now shal he lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies round about me: therefore wil I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioye: I wil sing and praise the Lord.

d Dauid assured him selfe by the Spirit of prophetic that he shulde overcome his enemies and serue God in his Tabernacle.

7 Hearken vnto my voice, O Lord, when I crye: haue mercie also vpon me and heare me.
8 When thou saidest, ^e Seke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I wil seke thy face.

9 Hide not ^{therefore} thy face from me, nor cast thy seruant awaie in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, nether forsake me, O God of my saluation.

10 ^f Though my father and my mother shulde forsake me, yet the Lord wil gather me vp.
11 Teach me thy waie, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies.
12 Giue me not vnto the lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnessess rise vp against me, & suche as speake cruelly.
13 I shulde haue fainted, except I had beleued to see the goodnes of the ^h Lord in the land of the liuing.
14 ⁱ Hope in the Lord: be strong, & he shal comfort thine heart, & trust in the Lord.

f He magnifieth Gods loue towards his, which farre passeth the most tender loue of parents towards their children
g But rather pacifie their wrath, or breake their rage.

PSAL. XXVIII.

Being in great feare & heavynesse of heart to see God dishonoured by the wicked, he desireth to be rid of them, & cryeth for vengeance against them. & at length assureth him selfe, that God hath heard his prayer. 9 Vnto whose tuition he commendeth all the faithful.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

VNto thee, O Lord, do I crye: O my strength, be not deafe toward me, lett, if thou answer me not, I be like them that go downe into the pit.
2 Heare the voice of my petitions, when I crye vnto thee, when I holde vp mine hands toward thine ^b holy Oracle.
3 ^c Drawe me not awaie with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice ^{is} in their hearts.
4 ^d Reward them according to their dedes, and according to the wickednes of their inuentions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: rede them their reward.
5 For they regard not the workes of y Lord, nor the operation of his hands: ^{therefore} breake them downe, & buyld the not vp.
6 ^e Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voice of my petitions.
7 The Lord ^{is} my strength and my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shal reioyce, & with my song wil I praise him.
8 The Lord ^{is} their strength, and he is the strength of the deliuerances of his appointed.
9 Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: fede them also, & exalt the for euer.

a He counteth him selfe as a dead man, til God shew his fauour toward him, and graue him his petition

b He vsed this outward meanes to helpe y weaknes of his faith: for in y place was the Arke, and there God promised to shewe the tokens of his fauour.

c Destroy not the good with the bad, d He thus prayeth in respect of Gods glorie, & not for his owne cause, being assured, that God wolde punish the persecuters of his Church.

e Let them be utterly destroyed, as Malach 1. 4
f Because he felt the assurance of Gods help in his heart, his mouth was opened to sing his praises
g Meaning, his soldiers, who were as meanes, by whome God declared his power.

PSAL. XXX.

The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the worlde, (which for the most parte thinke there is no God) 3 At the least to feare him for the thunders & tempestes, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 11 And thogh thereby God threateneth sinners yet is he alwaies merciful to hu, & moueth the thereby to praise his Name.

PSAL. XXX.

When David was deliuered from great danger, he rendered thanks to God, exhorting others to do the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather merciful then ſeuere and rigorous towards his children, & alſo that the fall from proſperitie to aduerſitie is ſudden. & Thus done he returneth to prayer, promiſing to praife God for euer.

A Psalm of ſong of the dedication of the house of David.

3 O Lord, thou haſt brought vp my ſoule out of the graue: thou haſt reuiued me fro them that go downe into the pit.

4 Sing praifes vnto the Lord, ye his Saints, and giue thanks before the remembrance of his Holines.

5 For he endureth but a while in his angre: but in his fauour is life: weeping maie abide at euening, but ioye cometh in the morning.

6 And in my prosperitie I ſaid, I ſhal neuer be moued.

7 For thou Lord of thy goodnes haſteſt made my mountaine to ſtand ſtrong: but y^e diddeſt hide thy face, and I was troubled.

8 Then cryed I vnto thee, o Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profit is there in my blood, whē I go downe to y^e pit: ſhal the dust giue thanks vnto thee? or ſhal it declare thy truth?

David

10 Heare, o Lord, and haue mercie vpon me: Lord, be thou mine helper.

11 Thou haſt turned my mourning into ioye: thou haſt looſed my ſacke & girded me with gladnes.

12 Therefore ſhal my tongue praife thee and not ceaſe: o Lord my God, I wil giue thanks vnto thee for euer.

PSAL. XXXI.

David deliuered from ſome great danger, firſt rehearſeth what meditation he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his enemy being ready to take him. Then he affirmeth that the ſauour of God is alwaies readie to theſe that feare him. Finally he exhorteth all the faithful to truſt in God and to loue him, becauſe he preferueth and ſtrengtheneth them, as they may ſee by his example.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

1 IN thee, o Lord, haue I put my truſt: let me neuer be confounded: deliuer me in thy righteouſnes.

2 Bowe downe thine eare to me: make haſte to deliuer me: be vnto me a ſtrong rocke, & an houſe of defence to ſaue me.

3 For thou art my rocke and my ſtrong hold: therefore for thy Names ſake direct me & guide me.

4 Drawe me out of the net, that they haue laied priuily for me: for thou art my ſtrength.

5 Into thine hand I commende my ſpirit: for thou haſt redeemed me, o Lord God of truth.

6 I haue hated them that giue them ſelues to deceitful vanities: for I truſt in the Lord.

7 I wil be glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou haſt ſene my trouble: thou haſt known my ſoule in aduerſities,

8 And thou haſt not ſhut me vp in the hand of y^e enemy, but haſt ſet my ſete at large.

9 Haue mercie vpon me, o Lord: for I am in trouble: mine eye, my ſoule & my bellie are conſumed with grief.

10 For my life is waſted with heauines, and my yeres with mourning: my ſtrength faileth for my paine, & my bones are conſumed.

11 I was as reproche among all mine enemies, but ſpecially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, who ſeing me in the ſtrete, fled from me.

12 I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken veſſel.

13 For I haue heard the railing of great men: feare was on euerie ſide, while they conſpired together againſt me, & conſulted to take my life.

14 But I truſted in thee, o Lord: I ſaid, Thou art my God.

15 My times are in thine hand: deliuer me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that perſecute me.

I becauſe thou haſt preferred me, y^e my tongue ſhulde praife thee, I wil not be vnmindful of my dutie.

a For the God declareth him ſelf iuſt, whē he preferueth his according as he hath promiſed.

b Preſerue me from the craftie counſels & ſubtil practiſes of mine enemies.
c He deſireth God not onely to take care for him in his life, but that his ſoule may be ſaued after this life.
d This affligg ought to be in all Gods children, to haue whatſoever thing is not grounded vpon a ſure truſt in God, as deceitful and vaine.
e Laignes ſignifieth comfort: as ſometimes to row and peril.
f Meaning, that his ſorrow and torment had continued a great while.
g Mine enemies had drawn all me to their parte againſt me, eue my chief friends.
h They were aſtayed to ſhew me any token of friendſhip.
i They were in authority, condemned me as a wicked doer.
k I had this reſtimonie of conſcience, y^e thou woldeſt defend mine innocencie.
l Whatſoever changes come, thou gouerneſt them by thy providence.

16 Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruāt, & saue me through thy mercie.

17 Let me not be confounded, o Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked be put to confusion, & to silence in y^e graue.

18 Let the lying lippes be made dumme, which cruelly, proudly & spitefully speake against the righteous.

19 How great is thy goodnes, which thou hast laied vp for them, that feare thee! & done to them, that trust in thee, euen before the sonnes of men!

20 Thou doest hide them: priuely in thy presence from the pride of men: thou kepest them secretly in thy Tabernacle fro^m
 the strife of tongues.

21 Blessed be the Lord: for he hath shewed his maruelous kindenes towarde me in a strong citie.

22 Though I said in mine haste, I am cast out of thy sight, yet y^e leade st the voyce of my praier, when I cryed vnto thee.

23 Loue ye the Lord all his Saints: for the Lord pferueth the faithful, and rewar-deth abundantly the proude doer.

24 All ye that trust in the Lord, be strong, and he shal establish your heart.

PSAL. XXXII.

1 David punished with grievous sickness for his sinnes, counteth them blessed, to whome God doeth not impute their transgressions: And after that he had confessed his sinnes and obtained pardon, 6 He exhorteth the wisked men to lue godly, 11 And the good to reioyce.

1 A Psalme of David to giue instruction.

1 Blessed is he whose wickednes is forgiuen, & whose sinne is couered.

2 Blessed is the man, vnto whome the Lord impureth not iniquitie, & in whose spirit there is no guile.

3 When I helde my tongue, my bones consumed, or when I roared all the day, (For thine had is heauie vpon me, daie & night: & my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Sélah)

4 The Lord acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, nether hid I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I wil confesse against my self my wickednes vnto the Lord, and thou forgauest the punishment of my sinne. Sélah.

5 Therefore shal euerie one, that is godlie, make his praier vnto thee in a time, when thou maiest be founde: surely in the flood of great waters: they shal not come nere him.

6 Thou art my secret place: thou pferuest me from trouble: thou compassist me about with ioyful deliuerance. Sélah.

7 I wil instruct thee, & teache thee in the way, that thou shalt go, & I wil guide thee with mine eye.

8 Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule, which vnderstand not: whose mouthes & that he wil diligently luke and take care to direct them in the waie of sal-uation. 1 If men can rule brute beastes, thinke they, that God wil not bridle and tame their rage

thou doest binde with bit and bridel, lest they come nere thee.

10 Many sorowes shal come to the wicked:
 but he, that trusteth in the Lord, mercie shal compass him.

11 Be glad ye righteous, & reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyful all ye, that are vpright in heart.

PSAL. XXXIII.

1 He exhorteth good men to praise God for that he hath not onely created all things, and by his prouidence gouerneth the same, but also is faithful in his promises, 10 He vnderstandeth mans heart, and scattereth the counsel of the wicked, 16 So that no man can be pferued by any creature or mans strength but they, that put their confidence in his mercie, shal be pferued fro^m all aduersities.

1 Reioyce in the Lord, o ye righteous: for it becometh vpright men to be thankful.

2 Praise y^e Lord with harpe: sing vnto him with viole & instrument of ten strings

3 Sing vnto him a new song: sing cherefully with a loude voyce.

4 For the worde of the Lord is righteous, and all his workes are faithful.

5 He loueth righteousnes & iudgement:
 the earth is ful of the goodnes of y^e Lord.

6 By the worde of the Lord were the hea-uens made, and all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth.

7 He gathereth the waters of the sea together as vpon an heape, and laie th vp the depths in his treasures.

8 Let all the earth feare the Lord: let all the that dwell in the worlde, feare him.

9 For he spake, & it was done: he commanded, and it stode.

10 The Lord breaketh the counsel of the heathen, & bringeth to nought the deuises of the people.

11 The counsel of the Lord shal stand foreuer, & the thoughts of his heart throughout all ages.

12 Blessed is that nacion, whose God is the Lord: euen the people, that he hath chosen for his inheritance.

13 The Lord loketh downe from heauen, & beholdeth all the children of men.

14 From the habitation of his dwelling he beholdeth all then. that dwell in the earth.

15 He facioneth their hearts euerie one,
 & vnderstandeth all their workes.

16 The King is not saued by the multitude of an hoste, nether is the mightie mā deliuered by great strength.

17 A horse is a vaine helpe, and shal not de-liuer any by his great strength.

18 Beholde, the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, & vpon them, that trust in his mercie,

19 If Kings and the mightie of the worlde can not be saued by worldelie meanes, but onely by Gods prouidence, what haue others to trust in that haue not like meanes? m God sheweth that towarde his of his mercie, which man by no meanes is able to compasse.

19 To deliuer their soules from death, and to preferue them in famine.

20 Our soule waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shield.

21 Surely our heart shal reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holie Name.

22 Let thy mercie, O Lord, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

PSAL. XXXIII.

After Dauid had escaped Achish, according as it is written in the 1. Sam. 27. 11. whome in this title he calleth Ahimelech (which was a general name to all the Kings of the Philistines) he praiseth God for his deliverance. 3 Prouoking all others by his example to trust in God to feare & serue him: 14 Who defendeth the godlie with his Angels, 15 And utterly destroyeth the wicked in their finnes.

A Psalme of Dauid, when he changed his behaviour before Ahimelech, who drone him awaie, & he departed.

I Wil alwaie giue thanks vnto the Lord: his praise shal be in my mouth continually.

My soule shal glorie in the Lord: the humble shal heare it, and be glad.

Praise ye the Lord with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together.

I fought the Lord, and he heard me: yea, he deliuered me out of all my feare.

They shal loke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces shal not be ashamed, saying,

This poore man cryed, & the Lord heard him, and saued him out of all his troubles.

The Angel of the Lord pitcheth route about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them.

Taste ye & se, how gracious the Lord is: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.

Feare the Lord, ye his Saints: for nothing wanteth to them that feare him.

The Lyons do lacke and suffer hunger, but they, which seke the Lord, shal want nothing that is good.

Come children, hearken vnto me: I wil teache you the feare of the Lord.

What man is he, that desireth life, and loueth long daies for to se good?

Kepe thy tongue from euil, and thy lips, that they speake no guile.

Eschew euil and do good: seke peace & followe after it.

The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, & his cares are open vnto their crie.

But the face of the Lord is against them that do euil, to cut of their remembrance from the earth.

The righteous crie, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles.

The Lord is nere vnto them that are of a contrite heart, and wil saue such as be afflicted in spirit.

Great are the troubles of the righteous:

but the Lord deliuereth him out of the all.

He kepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

But malice shal slay the wicked: & they that hate the righteous, shal perish.

The Lord redemeth the soules of his seruants: & none, but trust in him, shal perish.

PSAL. XXXV.

So long as Saül was enemie to Dauid, all that had authority vnder him to flatter their King (as is the course of the world) did also most cruelly persecute Dauid against whome he praueth God to please & to auenge his cause, 8 That they may be taken in their nets & snares, which they laied for him, that his innocencie may be declared. 27 And that the innocents, which take part with him, may reioyce & praise the Name of the Lord, that thus deliuereth his seruants. 28 And so he promiseth to speake for the iustice of the Lord, & to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Leade thou my cause, O Lord, with them that strue with me: fight thou against them, that fight against me.

Laye hand vpon the shield and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe.

Bring out also the speare and stoppe the waye against them, that persecute me: saue vnto my soule, I am thy saluacion.

Let the be confounded & put to shame, that seke after my soule: let them be turned backe, and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

Let them be as chaffe before the winde, and let the Angel of the Lord scatter them.

Let their waie be darke & slipperie: & let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

For without cause they haue hid the pit and their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule.

Let destruction come vpon him at vnwares, & let his net, that he hath laied priuely, take him: let him fall into the same destruction.

The my soule shal be ioyful in the Lord: it shal reioyce in his saluacion.

All my bones shal saie, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him, that is to strong for him! yea, the poore and him that is in miserie, from him that spoileth him!

Cruel witnesses did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knewe not.

They rewarded me euil for good, to haue spoiled my soule.

Yet when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule with fasting; and my prayer was turned vpon my bosome.

I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother.

But in mine aduersitie they reioyced, & gathered them selues together: the ab-

PSAL XXXV.

He desireth God to undertake his cause against them that did persecute him and slander him

Albeit God can with his breath destroy all his enemies, yet his holie Ghost attributeth vnto him these outward weapons to assure vs of his present power

Assure me against these tentations, that thou art the author of my saluacion

Smite them with the spirit of giddines that their enterprises may be foolish, & they receive iuste reward

Shewing if we may not call God to be a reuenger, but onely for his glorie, & where our cause is iuste

When he promiseth to him selfe peace

Which he prepared against the children of God

He attributeth his deliuerance onely to God, praising him therefore bothe in soule & body

That wolde not suffice me to purge my selfe

I played for them with outward affliction, as I wolde haue done for my selfe

Or declared mine affliction with bowing downe mine head

When they saw me ready to slip and as one that haltered for infirmities

PSAL. XXXVI.

The Prophet grievously vexed by the wicked, doeth complaine of their malicious wickednes. 6 Then he turneth to consider the unspeakable goodnes of God towards all creatures. 9 But specially towards his children, that by the faith thereof he may be comforted & assured of his deliuerance by the ordinarie course of Gods worke. 13 Who in the end destroyeth the wicked & saue the iuste.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid, the seruant of the Lord.

Wickednes faileth to y wicked mā, euen in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes.
2 For he flattereth him self in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is found worthe to be hated.
3 The wordes of his mouth are iniquitie and deceit: he hathe left of to vnderstand & to do good.
4 He imagineth mischief vpon his bed: he setteth him selfe vpon a ware, that is not good & doeth not abhorre euil.

a T he euidently by his dedes, that sime puffeth forward y reprobate fro wickednes, albeit he go about to couer his impietie.

c The reprobate mocke at holisome doctrine and put not difference betwene good and euil.
d By describing at large the nature of the reprobate,

Thy mercie, o Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, and thy faithfulness vnto the cloudes.
6 Thy righteousnes is like the mightie mountaines: thy iudgements are like a great deepe: thou, Lord, dost saue man and beast.
7 How excellent is thy mercie, o God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadowe of thy wings.
8 They shal be satisfied with the fatnes of thine house, & thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuier of thy pleasures.
9 For with thee is the well of life, & in thy light shal we se light.
10 Extend thy louing kindenes vnto them that knowe thee, and thy righteousnes vnto them that are vpriight in heart.
11 Let not the fote of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked moue me.
12 There they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast downe, and shal not be able to rise.

PSAL. XXXVII.

This Psalm contemeth exhortation & consolation for the weake, that are grieved at the prosperitie of the wicked, & the affliction of the godlie. 7 For how prosperously soeuer the wicked do liue for the time, he doeth affirme their felicitie to be vaine and transitorie, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the end they are destroyed as his enemies. 11 And how miserably that the righteous semeth to liue in the world, yet his end is peace, & he is in the fauour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked & preserved.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Reate not thy self because of the wicked men, neither be enuious for the euil doers.
2 For they shal soone be cut downe like grasse, and shal wither as the grene herbe.
3 Trust thou in the Lord & do good: dwell in the land, & thou shalt be fed assuredly.
4 And delite thy self in the Lord, and he shal giue thee thine hearts desire.
5 Commit thy waye vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shal bring it to passe.
6 And he shal bring forth the thy righteousnes as the light, & thy iudgement as the noone daye.
7 Waite patiently vpon the Lord & hope in him: fret not thy self for him which prospereth in his waye: nor for the mā that bringeth his enterprises to passe.
8 Cease from engre, & leaue of wrath: fret not thy selfe, & also to do euil.
9 For euil doers shalbe cut of, and they that waite vpon the Lord, they shal inherite the land.

t These three pointes are required of the faithful, that their talke be godlie, y^e Gods Law be in their heart, & that their life be vpright.

wicked shal not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shal not be founde.

11 But * meeke men shal possesse the earth, and shal haue their delite in the multitude of peace.

12 The wicked practiseth against the iust, and gnasheth his teeth against him.

13 But the Lord shal laugh him to scorne: for he seeth, that his daye is coming.

14 The wicked haue drawne their sworde, and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore and nedie, and to slay suche as be of vpright conuersation.

15 But their sworde shal entre into their owne heart, & their bowes shal be broken.

16 A small thing vnto the iust man is better, then great riches to the wicked and mightie.

17 For the armes of the wicked shal be broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men.

18 The Lord knoweth y^e dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shal be perpetual.

19 They shal not be cōfounded in the perillous time, and in the dayes of famine they shal haue m^{uch} ynough.

20 But the wicked shal perish, and the enemies of the Lord shal be consumed as the fat of lambes: euen with the smoke shal they consume awaye.

21 The wicked boroweth and payeth not againe: but the righteous is merciful, and giueth.

22 For suche as be blessed of God, shal inherit the land, & they that be cursed of him, shal be cut of.

23 The paths of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his waye.

24 Though he fall, he shal not be cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

25 I haue bene yong and am olde: yet I saw neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seede begging bread.

26 But he is euer merciful and lendeth, and his seede enjoyeth the blessing.

27 Flee from euil and do good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, & forsaketh not his Saints: they shal be preferred for euermore: but the seede of the wicked shal be cut of.

29 The righteous mē shal inherit the land, and dwell therein for euer.

30 The mouth of the righteous wil speake of wisdom, and his tongue wil talke of iudgement.

31 For the Law of his God is in his heart, & his steppes shal not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But y^e Lord wil not leaue him in his hād, nor condemne him, when he is iudged.

34 Though it be sometime so expedient both for Gods glorie & mans will approue their cause, & reuenge their wrong.

34 Waite thou on the Lord, and kepe his waye, & he shal exalt thee, that thou shalt inherit the lād: when the wicked men shal perish, thou shalt se.

35 I haue sene the wicked strong, & spreading him self like a grene baye tre.

36 Yet he passed away, and to, he was gone, and I sought him, but he colde not be founde.

37 Marke the vpright man, and beholde the iust: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressours shal be destroyed together, and the end of the wicked shal be cut of.

39 But the saluation of the righteous mē shal be of the Lord: he shal be their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shal helpe them, and deliuer them: he shal deliuer them from the wicked, and shal saue them, because they trust in him.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

Dauid lying sicke of some grievous disease, acknowledgeth him self to be chastised of the Lord for his finnes, & therefore praieth God to turne away his wrath.

He uttereth the greatnes of his grief by maner wordes & circumstances, as wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire, forsaken of his friends, euil intreated of his enemies. 22 But in the end with firme confidence he commendeth his cause to God, & hopeth for speedie helpe at his hand.

A Psalme of Dauid for a remembrance.

O Lord, rebuke me not in thine angre, nether chastise me in thy wrath.

For thine arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lyeth vpon me.

There is nothing founde in my flesh, because of thine angre: nether is there rest in my bones because of my sinne.

For mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, & as a weightie burden they are to heaue for me.

My woundes are putrified, and corrupt because of my foolishnes.

I am bowed, and croked very fore: I go mourning all the daye.

For my reines are ful of burning, & there is nothing founde in my flesh.

I am weakened and sore broken: I sorrowe for the verie grief of mine heart.

Lord, I powre my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee.

Mine heart panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen they are not mine owne.

My louers and my friends stand aside from my plague, and my kinsmen stand a farre of.

They also, that like after my life, laye snares, and they that go about to do me euil, talke wicked things and imagine deceite continually.

about, or, as is said in the margin, that he was destitute of all helpe & comfort. h My sight faileth me for verie sorrowe. i Partely for teare, and partely for pride they denie all duetie and friendship.

x So that the prosperitie of the wicked is but as a cloude, which vanissheth away in a moment. y He exhorteth the faithful to marke diligently the exaples bothe of Gods mercies, & also of his iudgements. z He sheweth that y^e patient hope of the godlie is neuer in vaine, but in the end hath good success, though for a time God proue them by sundrie tentations.

a To put him self & others in minde of Gods chastisement for sinne. b He desireth not to be excused fro Gods rod, but that he wolde so moderate his hand, that he might be able to beare it. c Thy sickness, where-with thou hast visited me. d Dauid acknowledgeth God to be iust in his punishments because his sins had deservede muche more. e He cōfesseth his sins, Gods iustice, & maketh prayer for his refuge. f That rather gaue place to mine owne iustices, then to the wil of God. g Or, blacke, as our trasu^r is depicted & figured with sickness. h This exaple warneth vs neuer to despair, be the torment neuer so great, but alwayes to crie vnto God with sure trust for deliuerance. i Ebr. k For I can haue no audience before me, and therefore patiently waite for the helpe of God.

l That is, if they ſee y^e thou ſuccour me not in time, they wil mocke & triumph, as though thou haſt forſaken me.

m I am without hope to recouer my ſtrength. n In my greateſt miſerie they moſt reioyce. o He had rather haue the hatred of all y^e worlde, then to faile in anie parte of his dutie to Godward. p Which are the autor of my ſaluation: & this declarer that he prayed y^e ſure hope of deliuerance.

a This was one of y^e chief fingers, 1 Chr 16:41.

b Albeit he had appointed with him ſelf patiently to haue taried Gods leaſure, yet the vehemencie of his paine cauſed him to breake his purpoſe. c Though whē the wicked ruled, he thought to haue kept ſilence, yet his zeale cauſed him to change his minde. d He confeſſeth that he grudged againſt God, conſidering the greatnes of his ſorrowes, & the ſhortnes of his life. e Yet David offended in y^e that he reaſoned y^e God, as though that he were to ſuere towards his weak creature.

f Make me not a mocking ſtocke to the wicked, or wrap me not up wth the wicked, when they are put to ſhame.

13 But I as ^k a deafe man heard not, and am as a dumme man, which openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, & in whoſe mouth are no reprofes.

15 For on thee, o Lord, do I waite: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God.

16 For I ſaid, Heare me, leſt they reioyce ouer me: for ⁱ when my ſote ſlippeth, they extoll them ſelues againſt me.

17 Surely I am ready to ^m halte, and my ſorrow is euer before me.

18 When I declare my paine, & am ſorie for my ſinne,

19 Then mine ^a enemies are alieue & are mightie, and they that hate me wrongfully are manie.

20 They alſo, that rewarde euil for good, are mine aduerſaries, becauſe I followe ^o goodnes.

21 Forſake me not, o Lord: be not thou farre from me, my God.

22 Haſte thee to helpe me, o my Lord, my ^p ſaluation.

PſAL. XXXIX.

1 David uttereth with what great grief & bitterneſſe of minde he was driven to theſe ouragious complaints of his infirmities. 2 For he confeſſeth that when he had determined ſilence, that he braſt forth yet into wordes that he wolde not, through the greatnes of his grief. 3 Then he rehearſeth certaine requeſtes which taſte of the infirmities of man. 4 And maxeth wth ſhew manie prayers. but all diſſerve a miſde wonderfully troubled, that is maye plainly appeare how he did ſtrive mightily againſt death and diſperation.

To the excellent muſician ^a Jeduthun. A ^{pſ} ſalm of David.

I Thought, ^b I wil take hede to my iwares, that I ſinne not with my tongue: I wil kepe my mouth bridled, while the wicked is in my ſight.

2 I was dumme and ſpake nothing: I kept ſilence ^{euen} from good, ^c and my ſorrow was more ſtirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was muſing, the fyre kindled, & ^d I ſpake with my tongue, ſaying,

4 Lord, let me know mine end, & the meaſure of my dayes, what it is: let me know how long I haue to liue.

5 Beholde, thou haſt made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age as nothing in reſpect of thee: ſurely euerie man in his beſt ſtate is altogether ^e vanitie. Selah.

6 Douteles man walketh in a ſhadowe, and diſquieteth him ſelf in vaine: he heapeth up riches, & ^a can not tel who ſhal gather theſe.

7 And now Lord, what waite I for ^a mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuere me from all my tranſgreſſions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the ^f fooliſh.

9 I ſhoulde haue bene dumme, and not haue opened my mouth, becauſe ^s thou diſdeſt it.

10 Take thy plague away from me: for I am conſumed by the ſtroke of thine had.

11 When thou with rebukes doeſt chaſtiſe man for iniquitie, thou as a moth ^b makeſt his ⁱ beaurie to conſume: ſurely euerie man is vanitie. Selah.

12 Heare my praier, o Lord, & hearken vnto my crye: kepe not ſilence at my teares, for I am a ſtranger with thee, & a ſoiourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay ^{thine} angre from me, that I maie recouer my ſtrength, ^k before I go hence & be not.

away all that is deſired in this worlde. ^k For his ſorrow cauſed him to thinke that God wolde deſtroy him utterly: whereby we ſee how hard it is for the verie ſaintes to kepe a meaſure in their wordes, when death & deſpayr aſſaile them.

PſAL. XL.

1 David deliuered from great danger, doeth magnifie and praiſe the grace of God for his deliuerance, & commendeth his providence towards all mankind. 2 Then doeth he promiſe to giue him ſelf wholly to Gods ſervice, & ſo declarer how God is truly worſhipped. 14 Afterward he giueth thanks & praiſeth God, & hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for aide and ſuccour.

To him that excellith. A Pſalm of David.

I Waited ^a patiently for the Lord, & he inclined vnto me, and heard my crye.

2 He brought me alſo out of the ^b horrible pit, out of the myrie claie, and ſet my fete vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

3 And he hath put in my mouth ^c a new ſong of praiſe vnto our God: manie ſhal ſee it and feare, and ſhal truſt in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man, that maketh the Lord his truſt, and regardeth ^d not the proude, nor ſuche as turne aſide to lies.

5 O Lord my God, thou haſt made thy wonderful workes ſo manie, that none can counte in ordre to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I wolde declare, & ſpeake of thee, but they are mo then I am able to expreſſe.

6 Sacrifice and offering thou diſdeſt not deſire: (for ^f mine eares haſt thou prepared) burnt offering and ſin offering haſt thou not required.

7 Then ſaid I, Lo, I come: for in the rolle of the booke it is writen of me,

8 I deſired to do thy good wil, o my God: yea, thy Law is within mine heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteouſnes in the ^h great Congregation: lo, I wil not reſtreat my lippes: o Lord, thou knoweſt.

10 I haue not hid thy righteouſnes within mine heart, but I haue declared thy truth and thy ſaluation: I haue not concealed thy mercie and thy truth from the great Congregation.

ſervice. ^g When thou haſt opened mine eares & heart, I was ready to obey thee, being aſſured that I was writen in the booke of thine clef for this end. ^h In the Church aſſembled to y^e Sanctuary. ⁱ David here ſheweth degrees of our ſaluation: Gods mercie, whereby he pitteth vs: his righteouſnes, which ſignifieth his continual protection, and his truth, whereby appeareth his conſtant fauour, ſo that herofore proceedeth our ſaluation.

11 Withdraw not thou thy tendre mercie from me, o Lord: let thy mercie and thy trueth alway preferue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed me: my sinnes haue taken suche holde vpon me, that I am not able to loke vp: yea, they are mo in number then the heeres of mine head: therefore mine heart hath failed me.

13 Let it please thee, o Lord, to deliuer me: make haste, o Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them be confounded & put to shame together, y^e feke my soule to destroye it: let them be driue backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them be destroyed for a rewarde of their shame, w^h saye vnto me, Aha, aha.

16 Let all the, that seke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee: & let the, that loue thy saluation, saye alway, The Lord be praised.

17 Thogh I be poore and nedie, the Lord thinketh on me: thou art mine helper & my deliuerer: my God, make no taying.

PSAL. XLII.

1 David being grievously afflicted, blesteth them, that pite his case. 2 And complaineth of the treason of his owne friends & familiars, as came to passe in Iudas. Iohn 13, 18 After he feling the great merites of God gently chastising him, & not suffering his enemies to triumph against him. 13 Giueh moste heartie thanks vnto God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

1 Blessed is he that iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shal deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord wil kepe him, & preferue him aliue: he shal be blessed vpon the earth, & thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the wil of his enemies.

3 The Lord wil strengthen him vpon the bed of sorowe: thou hast turned all his bed in his sickenes.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercie vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies speake euil of me, saying, When shal he dye, and his name perish?

6 And if he cometo se me, he speaketh lies, but his heart heapeh iniquitie within hi, & when he cometh forth, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: even against me do they imagine mine hurt.

8 A mischief is light vpon him, & he that lieth, shal no more rise.

9 Yea, my familiar friend, whome I trusted, which did eat of my bread, & hath lifted vp the heele against me.

10 Therefore, o Lord, haue mercie vpon me, & raise me vp: so I shal rewarde them.

11 By this I know that thou fauorist me, because mine enemy doeth not triumph against me.

12 And as for me, thou vpholdest me in mine integritie, and doest set me before thy face for euer.

3 My teares haue bene my meat daie and night, while they daely say vnto me, Where is thy God?

4 When I remembred these things, I powdered out my verie heart, because I had gone with the multitude, & led them into the House of God with the voice of singing, & praise, as a multitude y^e kepeth a feast.

5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vnquiet within me? waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence.

6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me, because I remember thee, from the land of Iordén, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizár.

7 One & depe calleth another depe by y^e noise of thy water spoutes: all thy waues and thy floods are gone ouer me.

8 The Lord wil grante his louing kindness in the daie, and in the night shal I sing of hi, enē a praier vnto y^e God of my life.

9 I wil saie vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten me? why go I mournig, when the enemy oppresseth me?

10 My bones are cut a sunder, while mine enemies reproche me, saying daely vnto me, Where is thy God?

11 Why art thou cast downe, my soule? & why art thou disquieted within me? waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thanks: he is my present helpe, and my God.

When David was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan, for his great offences, he did not onely acknowledge the same to God with protestation of his natural corruptio and enquitie, but also left a memorial tereof to his posteritie. 7 Therefore first he desireth God to forgive his finnes, 10 And to renew in him his holie Spirit, 13 With promes that he wil not be unmindeful of those great graces. 18 Finally fearing lest God wolde punish the whole Church for his fault, he requirerh that he wolde rather increase his graces towards the same.

To him that excelleth. A psalme of David, when the Prophet Nathan ^a came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba.

cording to the multitude of thy compassions put awaie mine iniquities.

Wash me ^c throughly from mine iniquitie, and cleanse me from my sinne.

For I ^d knowe mine iniquities, & my sin-ne is euil before me.

Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, & done euil in thy sight, that thou maiest be iuste when thou ^e speakest, and pue when thou iudget.

Beholde, I was borne in iniquitie, and in sinne hath my mother conceiued me.

Beholde, thou ^f louest trueth in ^y inward affections: therefore hast thou taught me wisdome in the secret of mine heart.

Purge me with ^g hyssope, and I shal be cleane: wash me, & I shal be whiter then snowe.

Make me to heare ⁱ ioye and gladnes, that Hide thy face from my finnes, and put awae all mine iniquities.

Create in me a cleane heart, ^o God, &
renue a right spirit within me.

Cast me not awaie from thy presence, and take not thine holie Spirit from me.

Restore to me the ioye of thy saluacion, and stablish me with thy ^k fre Spirit.

Then shal I teache thy ^l waies vnto the wicked, and sinners shal be conuerted vnto thee.

Deliver me from ^m blood, ^o God, which art the God of my saluacion, and my ton-in the Sanctuarie.

¹ He describeth the order of the people, who then went to the Temple to give thanks for the victory.

² Which come of the Patriarke Iacob.

³ Benjamin is called little, because he was the youngest sonne of Iacob.

⁴ Who was some chief ruler of the tribe.

⁵ Declare out of thine holie palace thy power for the defence of thy Church Ierusalem.

⁶ He desireth that the pride of the mightie may be destroyed, & accustomed to triumph their sinnes with silence: & therefore for their glistering pompe thought the felues about all men.

⁷ He prophesieth that the Gentiles shall come to the true knowledge & worship of God.

⁸ By his terrible thunders he will make him self to be knowne of God of all the world.

⁹ In shewing fearful iudgements against thine enemies for the saluation of thy people.

¹⁰ He alludeth to the Tabernacle which was dedicated into three partes.

²⁵ The fingers went before, the plaiers of instruments after: in the middes were the maidens playing with timbrels.

²⁶ Praise ye God in the assemblies, & the Lord, ye that are of the fountaine of Israel.

²⁷ There was a little Benjamin with their ruler, & the princes of Iudah with their assemblie, the princes of Zebulun, & the princes of Naphtali.

²⁸ Thy God hath appointed thy strength: stablish, O God, that, which thou hast wrought in vs, ²⁹ Out of thy Temple vpon Ierusalem: & Kings shall bring presents vnto thee.

³⁰ Destroye the companie of the spearmen, & multitude of the mightie bulles with the calves of the people, that tread vnder fete pieces of siluer: scatter the people that delite in warre.

³¹ Then shall thy princes come out of Egypt: Ethiopia shall haile to stretch her hands vnto God.

³² Sing vnto God, O ye kingdoms of the earth: sing praise vnto the Lord, (Selah)

³³ To him that rideth vpon the moste high heauens, which were from the beginning: beholde he wil send out by his voyce a mightie founde.

³⁴ Ascribe the power to God: for his maiestie is vpon Israel, & his strength is in the cloudes.

³⁵ O God, thou art terrible out of thine holie places: the God of Israel is he that giueth strength and power vnto the people: praised be God.

PSAL. LXXIX.

¹ The complaints, prayers, seruents & sale & great anguish of David is set forth as a figure of Christ & all his members: ²¹ The malicious crueltie of the enemies, ²² And their punishments also, ²⁶ Where Iudas & such traitors are accused. ³⁰ He gathereth courage in his affliction & offereth praises vnto God, ³² Which are more acceptable then all sacrifices: where of all the afflicted may take comfort. ³⁵ Finally he doeth prouoke all creatures to praises, prophesying of the kingdom of Christ, & the preseruacion of the Church, where all the faithful, ³⁷ And their sides shall dwell for ever.

¹ To him that excelleth vpon a Shofhannim. A Psalm of David.

¹ Salue me, O God: for the waters are sentied euen to my soule.

² I sticke fast in the depe myre, where no stea is: I am come into depe waters, and the streames runne ouer me.

³ I am wearie of crying: my throte is drye: mine eyes faile, whiles I waite for my God.

⁴ They that hate me without a cause, are mo then the heertes of mine head: thei that wolde destroye me, and are mine enemies falsely, are mightie, so that I restored that which I toke not.

⁵ O God, thou knowest my foolishnes, & my fautes are not hid from thee.

⁶ Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, be ashamed for me: let not those that seke thee, be confounded through me, O God of Israel.

⁷ For thy sake haue I suffred reprove: shame hath couered my face.

⁸ I am become a stranger vnto my brether, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes.

⁹ For the zeale of thine house hath eaten me, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.

¹⁰ I wept and my soule fasted, but that was to my reprove.

¹¹ I put on a sacke also: and I became a prouerbe vnto them.

¹² They that sate in the gate, spake of me, and the drunkards sang of me.

¹³ But Lord, make my prayer vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercie: O God, heare me in the truth of thy saluation.

¹⁴ Deliuer me out of the myre, that I sinke not: let me be deliuered from the that hate me, and out of the depe waters.

¹⁵ Let not the waterflood drowne me, nether let the depe swallowe me vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me.

¹⁶ Heare me, O Lord, for thy louing kindness is good: turne vnto me according to the multitude of thy tendre mercies.

¹⁷ And hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make hast & heare me.

¹⁸ Drawe nere vnto my soule & redeme it: deliuer me because of mine enemies.

¹⁹ Thou hast knowen my reprove and my shame, & my dishonour: all mine aduersaries are before thee.

²⁰ Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heauines, and I looked for some to haue pitie on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I founde none.

²¹ For thei gaue me gall in my meat, and in my thirst thei gaue me vinegre to drinke.

²² Let their table be a snare before them, and their prosperitie their ruine.

²³ Let their eyes be blinded that thei se not: and make their loynes alwaie to tremble.

²⁴ Powre out thine anger vpon them, & let thy wrathful displeasure take them.

²⁵ Let their habitation be void, & let none dwell in their tentes.

²⁶ For thei persecute him, whome thou hast smiten: and they adde vnto the sorowe of them, whome thou hast wounded.

²⁷ Lay in iniquitie vpon their iniquitie, & let them not come into thy righteounes.

²⁸ Let them be put out of the booke of life,

^g Though I be gillie to thee warde, yet am I innocēt toward them.

^h Let not mine euil increasē of the enemies be an occasiō, y the faithful fall frō thee.

ⁱ When I sawe thine enemies pretend thy Name onely in mouth, and in their life denie the same, thine holie Spirit thrust me forward, to reprove the & defend thy glorie.

^k My zeale moued me to lament & pray for my saluation.

^l The more he sought to winne them to God, the more thei were against him both poore and riche.

^m Knowing that albeit I suffer now trouble, yet I haue a time, where in I shall appointed my deliuerance.

ⁿ He sheweth a liuelie faith, in that he as sureth his self, y God is fauorable to him, while he seemeth to be angrie: & at hand, when he seemeth to be farre of.

^o Not that he feared y God, y old not heare him, but y care made him to thinke that God differed long.

^p Thou seest y I am beset as a shepe among manie wolues.

^q He sheweth y it is in vaine to put trust in men in our great necessities, but y our comfort onely dependeth of God: for man rather increaseth sorrowes, then diminisheth them.

^r He desireth God to execute his iudgements against the reprobate, y can not by any means be turned.

^s Take bothe iudgement and power frō the. ^{Act. 1. 20.} Punish not onely them, but their posteritie, which shall be like vnto them. ^u By their continuance and increasing in their sinnes let it be known that they be of the reprobate. ^x They which sēd by their profession to haue bene written in thy booke, yet by their frutes proue the contrarie, let them be known as reprobate.

^a Of Shofhannim read Psalm.

^b David signifieth by the waters, in what great dangers he was, out of which God did deliuer him.

^c No firmite or stables to settle my fete.

^d Though his senses failed him, yet his faith was constant & encouraged him still to praise.

^e Condemning me gillies.

^f Thei iudged me pore innocent as a thief.

^g And gaue my goods to others as though I had stolen them.

There is no sacrifice, & God more esteemeth, then thanksgiving for his benedictions.

For as he delivered his servants from the hand of the enemy, so will he do all things for his servants, and call upon him.

Under the temporal promises of the land of Canaan he comprehended the promises of life everlasting to the faithful & their posterity.

Psalm LXX. Which might put him in remembrance of his deliverance.

He teacheth us to be earnest in prayer, though God seeme to say: for at his time he will heare vs. He was assured that the more they raged, the nearer they were to destruction & he the nearer to his deliverance. Hereby we are taught not to mocke at others in their miserie, lest fame fall on our owne necks. Because he had felt Gods helpe before, he groundeth on experience and boldly seeketh vnto him for succour.

Psalm LXXI.

He praieth to God wth full assurance of faith, & he will deliver him from his aduersaries by declaring thy self true of promises. Thou hast in finite means, & all creatures are at thy commandment, therefore shew some signe, whereby I shalbe delivered.

That is, from Absolon, Abiathophel & that conspiracie. He strengtheneth his faith by the experience of Gods benefites, who did not onely preserve him in his mothers belly, but toke him thence, & ever since hath preferred him.

nether let them be written with the righteous.

When I am poore & in heaviness, thine helpe, O God, shal exalt me.

I wil praise the Name of God with a song, & magnifie him with thanksgiving.

This also shal please the Lord better then a yong bullocke, that hath horns and hooves.

The humble shal see this, & they that feke God, shalbe glad, & your heart shal liue.

For the Lord heareth the poore, and despiseth not his prisoners.

Let heauen & earth praise him: the seas and all that moueth in them.

For God wil saue Zion, and buyld the cities of Iudah, that men maie dwell there and haue it in possession.

The seede also of his seruants shal inherit it: and they that loue his Name, shal dwell therein.

PSAL. LXX.

He praieth to be right speedily deliuered. 2 He desireth the shame of his enemies. 4 And the ioyful comfort of all those that feke the Lord.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David to put in remembrance.

O God, haste thee to deliuer me: make haste to helpe me, O Lord.

Let them be confounded & put to shame, that feke my soule: let them be turned backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

Let them be turned backe for a rewarde of their shame, which said, Aha, aha.

But let all those that feke thee, be ioyful & glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluacion, saie alwaies, God be praised.

Now I am poore and nedie: O God, make haste to me: thou art mine helper, and my deliuerer: O Lord, make no tarying.

PSAL. LXXI.

He praieth in faith, established by the worde of the promises. 3 And confirmed by the worke of God from his youth. 10 He complaineth of the cruelty of his enemies. 17 And desireth God to continue his graces towards him. 22 Promising to be mindeful and thankful for the same.

In thee, O Lord, I trust: let me neuer be ashamed.

Rescue me and deliuer me in thy righteousness: incline thine eare vnto me and saue me.

Be thou my strong rocke, whereunto I maie alwaies resorte: thou hast giue commandement to saue me: for thou art my rocke, and my fortresse.

Deliuer me, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked: out of the hand of the cuil and cruel man.

For thou art mine hope, O Lord God, euen my trust from my youth.

Vpon thee haue I bene staid from the wombe: thou art he that toke me out of my mothers bowels: my praise shal be alwaies of thee.

I am become as it were a fonsicle vnto manie: but thou art my sure trust.

Let my mouth be filled with thy praise, & with thy glorie euerie day.

Cast me not of in the time of age: forsake me not when my strength faileth.

For mine enemies speake of me, & they that laie waite for my soule, take their counsel together,

Saying, God hath forsaken him: pursue and take him, for there is none to deliuer him.

Go not farre from me, O God: my God, haste thee to helpe me.

Let them be confounded and consumed that are against my soule: let them be couered with reproofe & confusion, that feke mine hurt.

But I wil waite continually, & wil praise thee more and more.

My mouth shal daily rehearse thy righteousness, and thy saluacion: for I knowe not the number.

I wil go forward in the strength of the Lord God, and wil make mention of thy righteousness, euen of thine onely.

O God, thou hast taught me from my youth euen vntil now: therefore wil I tel of thy wonderful workes,

Yea, euen vnto mine olde age and graie, O God: forsake me not, vntil I haue declared thine arme vnto this generation, & thy power to all them, that shal come.

And thy righteousness, O God, I wil exalt on high: for thou hast done great things: O God, who is like vnto thee!

Which hast shewed me great troubles and aduersities, but thou wilt reuue me and reuiue me, and wilt come againe, and take me vp from the depth of the earth.

Thou wilt increase mine honour, & returne and comfort me.

Therefore wil I praise thee for thy faithfulness, O God, vpon instrument and viol: vnto thee wil I sing vpon the harpe, O Holie one of Israel.

My lippes wil reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my soule, which thou hast deliuered.

My tongue also shal talke of thy righteousness daily: for they are confounded & brought vnto shame, that feke mine hurt.

PSAL. LXXII.

He praieth for the prosperitie of the kingdom of Salomon, who was the figure of Christ. 4 Vnto whom shal be righteousness peace and felicitie. 10 Vnto whom all Kings and all nations shal do homage. 17 Whose name and power shal endure for ever. & in whom all nations shal be blessed.

and therefore he promisseth to delite in nothing, but wherein God maie be glorified.

All the world wondereth at me because of my miseries, as well as in authority, as the common people, yet being assured of thy fauour I remained steadfast.

Thou that didst helpe me in my youth, when I had more strength, helpe me now so muche the more in mine olde age & weakness.

Thus the wicked boethe blaspheme God & triumph against his Saints, as though he had forsake them, if he suffer them to fall into their hands.

In calling him his God, he putteth backe false reportes of the aduersaries, that said, God had forsaken him.

Because thy benefites toward me are innumerable, I can not but continue in meditation & rehearse them.

I wil remaine steadfast, being vpholden with thy power of God.

He desireth as he hath begonne, he wolde so continue his benefices, & his liberalitie maie haue perite praise.

Thy iust performance of thy promises.

His faith breaketh through all temptations, & by this exclamation he praiseth thy power of God.

As he confesseth that God is the onely author of his deliverance: so he acknowledgeth that these euils were sent vnto him by Gods providence.

He boasteth of his long patience as well recompensed, when God performed his promises.

For there is no true praising of God, except it come from the heart: God maie be glorified.

q Concerning his ſonne Salomon.

PSAL. LXXIII.

The Prophet teacheth by his example that neither the worldlie proſperitie of the ungodlie. 14 Nor yet the affliction of the good ought to diſcourage Gods children:
but rather ought to moue vs to conſider our Faathers providence, and to cauſe vs to reuerence Gods iudgements, 19 For aſmuch as the wicked vaniſh away. 24 And the godlie enter into life euerlaſting. 28 In hope who of he reſigneth him ſelf into Gods hands.

¶ A Pſalme committed to Aſaph.

Yet God is good to Iſraēl: euen, to the pure in heart.

As for me, my ſete were almoſt gone: my ſteps had welnece ſlup.

For I ſieated at the fooliſh, when I ſawe
the proſperitie of the wicked.

For there are no bands in their death,
but they are luſtie & ſtrong.

They are not in trouble as other men, nether are they plagued with other men.

Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto the,
& crueltie couereth them as a garment.

Their eyes ſtand out for fatnes: they haue more then heart can wiſh.

They are licentious, and ſpeake wickedly of their oppreſſion: they talke preſumptuoſly.

They ſet their mouth againſt heauen, & their tongue walketh through the earth.

Therefore his people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them.

And they ſay, How doeth God know it: or is there knowledge in y moſte High?

Lo, theſe are the wicked, yet proſper they alway, & increaſe in riches.

Certainly I haue clenſed mine heart in vaine, and waſhed mine hands in innocencie.

For daily haue I bene puniſhed, and cha-ſtened euerie morning.

If I ſay, & I wil iudge thus, beholde the generaciō of thy children: I haue not eſ-paced.

peinful for me,

Vntil I went into the Sanctuarie of God: then vnderſtoode I their end.

Surely thou haſt ſet them in ſlipperie

How ſuddenly are they deſtroyed, periſhed & horribly conſumed,

As a dreame when one awaketh: O Lord, when thou raiſeſt vs vp, thou ſhalt make their image deſpiſed.

PSAL. LXXIII.

The faithful complains of the destruction of the Church & true religion. 1 Under the name of Zion, and the Temple destroyed: 11 And trusting in the might & free mercies of God, 20 By his covenant, 21 They require helpe & succour for the glorie of Gods holie Name, for the saluacion of his poore afflicted seruants, 23 And the confusion of his proude enemies.

A Psalm to giue instruction, committed to Asaph.

O God, ^a why hast thou put vs away for euer? why is thy wrath kindled against the shepe of thy pasture?

2 Thinke vpon thy Congregation, which thou hast possessed of olde, & on the ^b rod of thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed, & on this mount Zión, wherein thou hast dwelt.

3 Lift vp thy ^c strokes, that thou maiest for euer destroye euerie enemy that doeth euil to the Sanctuarie.

4 Thine aduersaries roare in the middes of thy Congregation, & ^c set vp their banners for signes.

5 He that ^d lifted the axes vpon the thicke trees, was renoumed, as one, that brought a thing to perfection:

6 But now they breake downe the carued worke thereof with axes and hammers.

7 They haue cast thy Sanctuarie into the fyre, & ^e rased it to the ground, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name.

8 They said in their ^e hearts, Let vs destroye them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.

9 We see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor anie with vs that knoweth ^f how long.

10 O God, how long shal the aduersarie reproche thee: shal the enemy blaspheme thy Name for euer?

11 Why withdrawest thou thine hand, euen thy right hand? drawe it out of thy bosome, & ^g consume them.

12 Euen God is my King of olde, working saluacion ^h in the middes of the earth.

13 Thou didest diuide ^y Sea by thy power:

thou brakest the heades of the ⁱ dragons in the waters.

14 Thou brakest the head of ^k Liuiathan in pieces, and gauest him to be ^l meat for the people in wildernes.

15 Thou brakest vp the fountaine and riuier: thou driedst vp mightie riuers.

16 The ^m daye is thine, and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of ^y earth: thou hast made somer and winter.

18 Remember this, that the enemy hathe reproched the Lord, and the foolish people hathe blasphemed thy Name.

19 Giue not the soule of thy ⁿ turtle dooue vnto the beast, & forget not the Congregation of thy poore for euer.

20 Consider thy covenant: for ^o the darke places of the earth are ful of the habitacions of the cruel.

21 Oh let not the oppressed returne ashamed, but let the poore & nedie praise thy Name.

22 Arise, ^o God: mainteine thine ^p owne cause: remember thy dailie reproche by the foolish man.

23 Forget not the voyce of thine enemies: for the tumulte of them, that rise against thee, ascendeth continually.

PSAL. LXXV.

5 How he established a testimonie in Iaakob, and ordeined a Law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they shulde teache their children:

6 That the posteritie might knowe it, and the children, which shulde be borne, shulde stand vp, & declare it to their children:

7 That they might set their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God
but kepe his commandments:

8 And not to be as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generacion: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithful vnto God.

9 The children of Ephraim being armed & shooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battel.

10 They kept not the couenant of God, but refused to walke in his Law,

11 And forgate his Actes, and his wonderful workes that he had shewed them.

12 He did maruelous things in the sight of their fathers in the land of Egypt: euen in the field of Zoan.

13 He deuided the Sea, and led them through: he made also the waters to stand as an heape.

14 In the daie time also he led them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fyer.

15 He claue the rockes in the wildernes, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

16 He broght floods also out of the stonie rocke, so that he made the waters to defcend like the rivers.

17 Yet they sinned stil against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wildernes,

18 And tempted God in their heartes in requiring meat for their lust.

19 They spake against God also, saying,
Can God prepare a table in the wil-dernes?

20 Beholde, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can he giue bread also, or prepare flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard and was an-grie, and the fyer was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel,

22 Because they beleued not in God, and trusted not in his helpe.

23 Yet he had commanded the cloudes aboue, and had opened the dores of heauen,

24 And had rained downe man vpon the for to eat, and had giuen them of the wheat of heauen.

25 Man did eat the bread of Angels: he sent them meat ynough.

26 He caused the Eastwinde to passe in the heauen, and through his power he broght in the Southwinde.

27 He rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the sand of the sea.

28 And he made it fall in middes of their campe, euen round about their habitations.

29 So thei did eat and were wel filled: for he gaue them their desire.

30 They were not turned from their lust, but the meat was yet in their mou-thes,

31 When the wrath of God came euen vp-on them, and flew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

32 For all this, thei sinned stil, and belcued not his wonderous workes.

33 Therefore their daie did he consume in vanitie, and their yeres hastily.

34 And when he slewe them, thei soght hi
& they returned, & soght God early.

35 And thei remembered that God was their strength, & the moste high God their redemer.

36 But thei flattered him with their mouth and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their heart was not vpriight with him: nether were they faithful in his covenant.

38 Yet he being merciful forgave their in-iquitie, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his angie, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.

39 For he remembered that thei were flesh:
yea, a winde that passeth and commeth not againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wildernes, & grieve him in the desert?

41 Yea, they returned, and temored God, and limited the Holie one of Israel.

42 Thei remembered not his hand, nor the daie when he deliuered them from the e-nemie,

43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, & his wonders in the field of Zoan,

44 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods, that thei colde not drinke.

45 He sent a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, & frogs, which destroyed them.

46 He gaue also their frutes vnto the car-

47 He destroyed their vines with haile, & their wilde figgetrees with the hailestone.
48 He gaue their cattel also to the haile, and their flockes to the thunderboltes.
49 He cast vpon them the fiercenes of his angre, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of euil Angels.
50 He made awaie to his angre: he spared not their soule from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence, 51 And smote all the firstborne in Egypt, euen the beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham.
52 But he made his people to go out like shepe, and led them in the wildernes like a flocke.
53 Yea, he caried them out safely, and they feared not, and the Sea couered their enemies.
54 And he brought them vnto the borders of his Sanctuarie: euen to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchased.
55 He cast out the heathen also before the and caus'd them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles.
56 Yet they tempted, and prouoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies,
57 But turned backe and delr: fa'sely like their fathers: they turned like a deceitful bowe.
58 And they prouoked him to angre with their high places, & moued him to wrath with their giants images.
59 God heard this and was wroth, & greatly abhorred Israel,
60 So that he forsoke the habitation of Snio, eue the Tabernacle where he dwelt among men,
61 And deliuered his power in to captiui-tie, and his beautie into the enemies hand.
62 And he gaue vp his people to the sword, and was angrie with his inheritance.
63 The fyre deuoured their chosen men, and their maidens were not praised.
64 Their Priests fell by the sword, & their widowes lamented not.
65 But the Lord awaked as one out of slepe, and as a strong man that after his wine cryeth out,
66 And smote his enemies in the hinder par-tes, and put them to a perpetual shame.
67 Yet he refused the tabernacle of Joseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim:
68 But chose the tribe of Iudah, & mount

Zion which he loued.
69 And he buylt his Sanctuarie as an high palace, like the earth, which he stablished for euer.
70 He chose Dauid also his seruant, & toke him from the shepfoldes.
71 Euen from behinde the ewes withyong brought he him to fede his people in Iakob, and his inheritance in Israel.
72 So he fed them according to the simpli-citie of his heart, and guided them by the discretion of his hands.
PSAL. LXXXIX.
1 The Israelites complaine to God for the great calamities and oppression that they suffered by Gods enemies, 2 And confessing their finnes, flee to Gods mercies with full hope of deliurance, 10 Because their calamities were sowne with the conspect of his Name, 13 For the which they promise to be thankful.
¶ A Psalm committed to Asaph.
1 O God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holie Temple haue they defiled, & made Ierusalem heapes of stones.
2 The dead bodies of thy seruants haue they giuen to be meat vnto foules of the heauen: and the flesh of thy Saints vnto the beastes of the earth.
3 Their blood haue they shed like waters round about Ierusalem, and there was none

Psal LXXXIII
a This Psalm semeth to haue bene composed, as a forme of prayer against the dangers that the Church was in in the daies of Iosaphat.
b He calleth them Gods enemies, who are enemies to his Church.
c The elect of God are his secret ones: for he hideth them in the secret of his tabernacle, & preserveth them fro all dangers.
d They were not content to take the Church as prisoner, but sought verily to destroy it.
e By all secret means.
f They thought to haue subverted thy counsel, wherein the perpetuall of the Church was established.
g The wickednes of the Ammonites & Moabites is described, in that they provoked the other nations to fight against the Israelites their brethren.

h By these examples, they were confirmed that God wolde not suffer his people to be utterly destroyed, Iudg 7.21 and 4.15.

litie. 3 And exhorteth them to do iustice. 4 But seeing none amendment, 5 He desireth God to undertake the matter & execute iustice him self.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

God standeth in the assemblie of gods: he iudgeth among gods.
How long wil ye iudge vniustly, and accept the persones of the wicked? Sélah.
Do right to the poore and fatherles: do iustice to the poore and nedie.
Deliuere the poore and nedie: saue them from the hand of the wicked.
They knowe not & vnderstand nothing: they walke in darknes, albeit all the fundacions of the earth be moued.
I haue said, Ye are gods, and ye all are children of the most High.
But ye shal dye as a man, & ye princes, shal fall like others.
O God, arise, therefore iudge thou the earth: for thou shalt inherite all nations.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

The people of Israel praise vnto the Lord to deliuer them from their enemies both at home and farre of, which imagined nothing but their destruction. 9 And they desire that all such wicked people maie, according as God was accustomed, be stricken with the stormie tempest of Gods wrath. 11 That they maie knowe that the Lord is moste high vpon the earth.

A 30. or Psalm committed to Asaph.

Kepe not thou silence, O God: be not still and cease not, O God.
For lo, thine enemies make a tumult: & they hate thee, haue lifted vp the head.
They haue taken craftie counsel against thy people, and haue consulted against thy secret ones.
They haue said, Come and let vs cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance.
For they haue consulted together in heart, & haue made a league against thee: The tabernacles of Edom, & the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Agarims:
Gebal and Ammon, and Amalech, the Philistines with the inhabitants of Tyrus:
Asshur also is ioyned with them: they haue bene an arme to the children of Lot. Sélah.
Do thou to them as vnto the Midianites: as to Siserah & as to Iabin at the riuier of Kishon.
They perished at Endor, & were done for the earth.
Make them, even their princes like Oré and like Zéeb: yea, all their princes like Zébah and like Zalmuná.
Which haue said, Let vs take for our possession the habitations of God.

h By these examples, they were confirmed that God wolde not suffer his people to be utterly destroyed, Iudg 7.21 and 4.15.
i Troden vnder fetters myre. Iud 7.25 8.21.
k That is, in case for where this Church is, there dwelleth he among them.

13 O my God, make them like vnto a whele, & as the stubble before the winde.
14 As the fyre burneth the forest, and as the flame setteth the mountaines on fyre:
15 So persecute them with thy tempest, and make them ashaied with thy storme.
16 Fill their faces with shame, that they maie seeke thy Name, O Lord.
17 Let them be confounded and troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame and perish, 18 That they maie knowe that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, even the moste High ouer all the earth.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

1 David driven forthe of his country, 2 Desireth moste ardently to come agayne to the Tabernacle of the Lord & the assemblie of the Saints to praise God. 4 Promising them blessed that maie so do. 6 Then he praiseth the courage of the people, that passe through the wilderness to assemblie them silues in Zion. 10 Finally with praise of this matter & confidence of Gods goodnes be enaeth the Psalm.

To him that excelleth vpon Gittith. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

O Lord of hostes, how amiable are thy Tabernacles!
2 My soule longeth, yea, & fainteth for the courts of the Lord: for mine heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God.
3 Yea, the sparowe hath founde her an house, and the swallowe a nest for her, where she maie lay her yong: even by thine altars, O Lord of hostes, my King and my God.
4 Blessed are they that dwell in thine house: they wil euer praise thee. Sélah.
5 Blessed is the man, whose strength is in thee, & in whose heart are thy waies.
6 They going through the vale of Baca, make welles therein: the raine also couereth the pooles.
7 They go from strength to strength, till euery one appeare before God in Zion.
8 O Lord God of hostes, heare my prayer: hearken, O God of Iakob. Sélah.
9 Beholde, O God, our shield, & loke vpon the face of thine Anointed.
10 For a daie in thy courtes is better than a thousand other where: I had rather be a doorekeeper in the House of my God, then to dwell in the tabernacles of wickednes.
11 For the Lord God is the sunne & shield vnto vs: the Lord wil giue grace & glorie, & no good thing wil he withhold from them that walke vprightly.
12 O Lord of hostes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

1 David complaining that he can not haue access to the Church of God to make profession of his faith & to profit in religion.
2 For none but the priests coulde enter in to the Sanctuary, & the rest of the people into the courtes.
3 So that the poore birds haue more libertie then I.
4 Who trusteth nothing in himself, but in thee onely, & learneth of thee to rule his life.
5 That is, of mulberietrees which was a barren place: so that they which passed through, must dig pits for water: signifying that no lesse can hinder the Church fully bent to come to Christs Church, neither yet that God wil euer faile them.
6 That is, neuer weare, but increase in strength & courage til they come to Gods House.
7 That is, for Christs sake, whose figure I represent.

complaints of their long afflictions: & thirdly they reioyce in hope of felicitie promised. 9 For their deliuerance was a figure of Christs kingdome, vnder the which shulde be perfecte felicitie.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Lord, thou hast bene a fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought againe the captiuitie of Iakob.

Thou hast forgotten the iniquitie of thy people, and covered all their sinnes. Selah.

Thou hast withdrawn all thine angre, & hast turned backe from the fiercenes of thy wrath.

Turne vs, O God of our saluacion, & release thine angre towards vs.

Wilt thou be angrie with vs for euer? wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another?

Wilt thou not turne againe and quicken vs, that thy people maie reioyce in thee?

Shewe vs thy mercie, O Lord, and grante vs thy saluacion.

I wil hearken what the Lord God wil saie: for he wil speake peace vnto his people, & to his Saints, that they turne not againe to folie.

Surely his saluacion is nere to them that feare him, that glorie maie dwell in our land.

Mercie and trueth shal mete: righteousness and peace shal kisse one another.

Trueth shal bud out of the earth, and righteousness shal lōke downe fro heauen.

Yea, the Lord shal giue good things, and our land shal giue her increase.

Righteousnes shal go before him, and shal set her steps in the waie.

PSAL. LXXXVI.

David fore afflicted & forsaken of all, prayeth feruently for deliuerance: sometimes rehearsing his miseries, 11 Sometimes the mercies receiued, 12 Desiring also to be instructed of the Lord, that he maie feare him and glorifie his Name, 14 He complaineth also of his aduersaries, & requirerth to be deliuered from them.

A prayer of David.

Incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and nedie.

Preserue thou my soule, for I am merciful: my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee.

Be merciful vnto me, O Lord: for I cry vpon thee continually.

Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soule.

For thou, Lord, art good and merciful, & of great kindenes vnto all them, that call vpon thee.

Giue eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, & hearken to the voyce of my supplication.

In the daye of my trouble I wil call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.

e By crying and calling continually, he sheweth how we maie not be wearie, though God grante not forthwith our request, but that we must earnestly, and often call vpon him.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none that can do like thy workes.

9 All nations, whome thou hast made, shal come and worship before thee, O Lord, and shal glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great and doest wonderful things: thou art God alone.

11 Teache me thy waie, O Lord, and I wil walke in thy trueth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I maie feare thy Name.

12 I wil praise thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I wil glorifie thy Name for euer.

13 For great is thy mercie towards me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from the lowest graue.

14 O God, the proude are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.

15 But thou, O Lord, art a pitiful God and merciful, slowe to angre and great in kindenes and trueth.

16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, & saue the sonne of thine handmaid.

17 Shewe a token of thy goodnes towards me, that they which hate me, maie see it, & be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me and comforted me.

The holie Ghost promisseth that the condition of the Church, which was in miserie after the captiuitie of Babylon, shulde be restored to great excellencie. 4 So that there shulde be nothing more comfortable then to be nombred among the members thereof.

A Psalm or song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

God laied his fundacions among the holie mountaines.

a That is, to humble It was the beginning of a song, by the tune whereof this Psalme was sung b Though many crye in their sorowes, yet they crye not earnestly to God for remedie as he did: whome he confessed to be the author of his saluation.

c For he that is dead, is free from all cares & busines of this life: & thus he saith because he was vnprofitable for all matters concerning mans life, and as it were cut of fro this worlde

he to tary til shei be dead & then raise the vp againe k That is, in the graue, where onely the bodie lieth without all sense and remembrance

l I am euer in great dangers & sorowes, as though my life shulde vnterly be cut of euery moment.

m Euer were in danger.

A song or Psalme of Heman the Exrahite to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth vpon Alamuth a Leannath.

O Lord God of my saluaciō, I crye day and night b before thee.

Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my crye.

For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth nere to the graue.

I am counted among them that go downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without strength:

c Ere amōg the dead, like the slaine lying in the graue, whome thou remembrest no more, and they are cut of from thine hand.

Thou hast laied me in the lowest pit, in darkenes, & in the depe.

Thine indignation lieth vpon me, and thou hast vexed me with all thy waues. Sélah.

Thou hast put away mine acquaintance farre fro me, & made me to be abhorred of them: s I am shut vp, and can not get forth.

h Mine eye is sorowful through mine affliction: Lord, I call dailey vpon thee: I stretch out mine hands vnto thee.

Wilt thou shewe a miracle to the dead? or shal the dead rise & praise thee? Sélah.

Shal thy louing kindenes be declared in the graue? or thy faithfulness in destruction?

Shal thy wonderous workes be known in the darke? and thy righteousness in the land k of obliuion?

But vnto thee haue I cryed, o Lord, and early shal my prayer come before thee.

Lord, why dost thou reiect my soule, & hidest thy face from me?

I am afflicted and at the point of death: l from my youth I suffer thy terrours, doubting of my life.

Thine indignations go ouer me, & thy feare hath cut me of.

They came round about me dailey like water, & compassed me together.

My louers and friends hast thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance hid them selues.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

With manie wordes doeth the Prophet praise the goodness of God. 33 For his testament & covenant, that he had made betwene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the sonne of Dauid: 38 Then doeth he complaine of the great ruine, and desolation of the kingdome of Dauid, so that to the outwarde appearance the promises was broke 46 Finally he prayeth to be deliuered fro his afflictions, making mention of the shortnes of mans life, & confirming him self by Gods promises.

A Psalme to giue instruction, of Ethan the Exrahite.

I Wil sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth wil I declare thy truth from generacion to generacion.

For I b said, Mercie shalbe set vp for euer: thy truth shalt thou c stablish in the varie heauens.

d I haue made a couenāt with my chosen: I haue sworne to Dauid my seruant, Thy sede wil I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generacion to generacion. Sélah.

O Lord, euen the e heauens shal praise thy wonderous worke: yea, thy truth in the f Congregation of the Saints.

For who is equal to the Lord in the heauen! & who is like the Lord among the s sonnes of the gods!

God is verie terrible in the assemblie of the h Saints, and to be reuerenced about all, that are about him.

O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lord, and thy truth is about thee!

i Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a slainne: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mightie arme.

The heauens are thine; the earth also is thine: thou hast laied the fundacion of the worlde, and all that therein is.

Thou hast created the North and the South: k Tabór and Hermón shal reioyce in thy Name.

Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thine hand, & high is thy right hand.

l Righteousnes & equitie are the stablishment of thy throne: mercie ad truth go before thy face.

Blessed is the people, that can m reioyce in thee: they shal walke in the light of thy n countenance, o Lord.

They shal reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousness shal they exalt them selues.

For thou art the o glorie of their strength, and by thy fauour our hornes shalbe exalted.

For our p shield appertaineth to the Lord, and our King to the Holie one of Israël.

g Meaning, the Angels h If the Angels be terrible before Gods majestic & infinite iustice, what earthly creature by oppressing the Church, dare set him selfe against God?

i For as he deliuered the Church by the red Sea, & by destroying Rahab, that is, the Egyptians: so wil he elsone deliuer us, when the dangers be great k Tabór is a mountain Westwarde fro Ierusalem, & Hermón Eastward: so the Prophet signifieth all partes & places of the worlde shal obey Gods power for the deliuerance of his Church

The trueth of Gods promes. Psalmes. The shortnes of mans life. 4/1224

10 I haue founde Dauid my seruant: with mine holie oyle haue I anointed him.

11 Therefore mine hand shalbe established with him, and mine arme shal strengthen him.

12 The enimie shal not oppresse him, neither shal the wicked hurt him.

13 But I wil ^c destroye his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.

14 My trueth also and my ^c mercie shalbe with him, and in my Name shal his ^a horn be exalted.

15 I wil set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the ^x floods.

16 He shal crye vnto me, Thou art my ^y Father, my God and the rocke of my saluacion.

17 Also I wil make him my ^{first} borne, higher then the Kings of the earth.

18 My mercie wil I kepe for him for euermore, and my couenāt shal stand fast with him.

19 His sede also wil I make to endure ^z for euer, and his throne as the dayes of heauē.

20 But if his children forsake my Lawe, and walke not in my iudgements:

21 ^a If they breake my statutes, and kepe not my commandements:

22 Then wil I visit their transgression with the rod, and their iniquitie with strokes.

23 ^a Yet my louing kindenes wil I not take from him, nether wil I falsifie my trueth.

24 My couenant wil I not breake, nor ^b alter the thing that is gone out of my lippes.

25 I haue sworne once by mine holines, that I wil not faile Dauid, saying, 26 His sede shal endure for euer, and his throne shalbe as the sunne before me.

27 He shalbe established for euermore as the moone, & as a faithful ^c witnes in the heauen. Sélah.

28 But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast bene angrie with thine Anointed.

29 Thou hast ^d broken the couenant of thy seruant, & profaned his ^e crowne, casting it on the grounde.

30 Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast layed his fortresses in ruine.

31 All that go by the way, spoile him: he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours.

32 Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce.

33 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sworde, and hast not made him to stand in the battel.

34 Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the grounde.

35 The dayes of his ^f youth hast thou shortened, and couered him with shame. Sélah.

by ^g Spirit of prophecie Eshān speaketh of those great misfortune afterwarde to passe at the captiuitie of Babylon. ^h I he sheweth that ⁱ

36 Lord, how long wilt thou hide thy self, for euer? shal thy wrath burne like fyre?

37 Remember ^h of what time I am: wherefore shuldest thou creat in vaine all the children of men?

38 What man liueth, & shal not se death? shal he deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue? Sélah.

39 Lord, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy trueth?

40 Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my ⁱ bosome of all the mightie people.

41 For ^k thine enemies haue reproched thee, O Lord, because they haue reproched the ^l foresteppes of thine Anointed.

42 Praised be the Lord for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

PSAL. XC.

1 Moses in his prayer setteth before vs the eternal fauour of God toward him. 3 Who are nether admonished by the breuitie of their life. 7 Nor by his plagues to be thankful. 12 Therefore Moses praisth God to turne their hearts & continue his mercies toward them. & their posteritie for euer.

1 A prayer of Moses, the ^a man of God.

1 Lord, thou hast bene our ^b habitacion from generation to generation.

2 Before the ^c mountaines were made, and before thou hadest formed the earth, & the worlde, euen from euermore to euermore thou art our God.

3 Thou ^d turnest man to destruction: againe thou saiest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam.

4 ^e For a thousand yeres in thy sight are as yesterdaie when it is past, and as a watche in the night.

5 Thou hast ^f ouerflowed them: they are as a slepe: in the morning he groweth like the grasse:

6 In the morning it flourisheth and groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth.

7 For we ^g are consumed by thine angrie, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret finnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are past in thine angrie: we haue ^h spent our yeres as a thought.

10 The time of our life is thre score yeres & ten, and if they be of strength, ⁱ foure score yeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorowe. for it is cut of quickly, and we flee away.

11 ^k Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine angrie.

12 Teache vs so to number our dayes, that we maie applie our hearts vnto ^l wisdom.

13 Returne (O Lord, ^m how long?) and be ⁿ pacified toward thy seruants.

ⁱ Meaning, according to the commune state of life ^k If mans life for the breuitie be miserable, muche more, if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they, which feare thee, only knowe. ^l Which is by considering the shortnes of our life & by meditating the heauenly ioyes ^m Meaning, wilt ⁿ be angrie? ^o Ur, sake comfort in thy seruants.

The Prophet in ioyng prayer & his complaint, sheweth ^y his faith neuer failed ^h Seeing mans life is short, & ^y hath created mā to bestowe thy benefites vpon him, except thou haue to helpe, death wil preuent thee

1 He meaneth ^y Gods enemies did not onely slander him behinde his backe: but also mocked him to his face, & as it were cast their iniuries in his bosome ^k So he calleth the that persecute ^y Church. ^l They laugh at vs, & pacietly waite for ^y coming of thy Christ.

1 Thus the Scripture teacheth to call the Prophetes.

2 Thou hast bene as an house and defence vnto vs in all our troubles & trauailes now this foure hundred yeres

3 Thou hast chosen vs to be thy people before ^y foundations of the worlde were layed.

4 Moses by lamenting the frailtie & shortnes of mā's life moueth God to pittie

5 Though man thinke his life long, & is in dede moche short, yea, though it were a thousand yeres: yet ⁱ Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watche ^y lasteth but thre houres.

Here is described in what assurance he liueth that putteth his whole trust in God, & committeth him self wholly to his protection in all temptations. 14 A promise of God to those that loue him, know him and trust in him, to deliuer them, & giue them immortal glorie.

WHoso dwelleth in the secrect of the moste High, shal abide in the shadowe of the Almighty.

^a I wil say vnto the Lord, O mine hope, and my fortresse: he is my God, in him wil I trust.

^b Surely he wil deliuer thee from the snare of the hunter, and from the noisome pestilence.

^c He wil couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his truth shal be thy shield and buckler.

^d Thou shalt not be afraid of the feare of the night, nor of the arrowe that flieth by daye:

^e Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darknes: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone daye.

^f A thousand shal fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand, but it shal not come nere thee.

^g Douteles with thine eyes shalt thou behold and se the rewarde of the wicked.

^h For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the moste high for thy refuge.

ⁱ There shal none euil come vnto thee, nether shal anie plague come nere thy tabernacle.

^j For he shal giue his Angels charge ouer thee to kepe thee in all thy waies.

^k They shal beare thee in their hands, that thou hurt not thy foot against a stone.

^l Thou shalt walke vpon the lion and aspre: the yong lion and the dragon shalt thou tread vnder fete.

^m Because he hathe loued me, therefore wil I deliuer him: I wil exalt him because he hathe knowen my Name.

ⁿ He shal call vpon me, & I wil heare him: I wil be with him in trouble: I wil deliuer him, and glorifie him.

^o He shal call vpon me, & I wil heare him: I wil be with him in trouble: I wil deliuer him, and glorifie him.

16 With long life wil I satisfie him, and shewe him my saluacion.

PSAL. XCII.

This psalme was made to be sung on the Sabbath, to stirre vp the people to acknowledge God and to praise him in his workes: the Prophet reioycest therein. 6 But the wicked is not able to consider that the vngodlie, who he is moste flourishing, shal moste speedely perish. 12 In the end is described the felicitie of the iust, planted in the house of God to praise the Lord.

^a A Psalme of song for the Sabbath daie.

IT is a good thing to praise the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, o moste High,

^b To declare thy louing kindenes in the morning, and thy truth in the night,

^c Vpon an instrument of ten strings, and vpon the viose with the song vpon the harpe.

^d For thou, Lord, hast made me glad by thy workes, & I wil reioyce in the workes of thine hands.

^e O Lord, how glorious are thy workes: thy thoughts are verie depe.

^f An vnwise man knoweth it not, and a foole doeth not vnderstand this,

^g (When the wicked growe as the grasse, and all the workers of wickednes do flourish) that thei shal be destroyed for euer.

^h But thou, o Lord, art moste high for euer more.

ⁱ For lo, thine enemies, o Lord: for lo, thine enemies shal perish: all the workers of iniquitie shal be destroyed.

^j But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the vnicornes, & I shal be anointed with fieshoile.

^k Mine eie also shal see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shal heare my wish against the wicked, that rise vp against me.

^l The righteous shal flourish like a palme tre, & shal growe like a cedre in Lebanon.

^m Suche as be planted in the House of the Lord, shal flourish in thy courts of our God.

ⁿ Thei shal stil bring forth the frute in their age: thei shal be fat and flourishing, ^o To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

Exalt thy self, & Iudge of the worlde, & render a rewarde to the proude.

- 3 Lord, how long shal the wicked, how long shal the wicked triumph?

They prate & speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vante themselves.

- 5 They smite downe thy people, & Lord, and trouble thine heritage.

They slaie the widow and the stranger, and murder the fatherles.

Or he that chasticeth the nations, shal he not correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, shal he not knowe?

Blessed is the man, whome thou chasticest, & Lord, and teachest him in thy Law, Surely & Lord wil not faile his people, neither wil he forsake his inheritance.

When I said, My forte slideth, thy mercie, & Lord, staied me.

PSAL. XCV.

An earnest exhortation to praise God. 4 For the government of the worlde, and the election of his Church. 8 An admonition not to followe the rebellion of the old fathers, that tempted God in the wilderness: 11 For the which they might not enter into the land of promise.

- 1 Come, let vs reioice vnto the Lord: let vs sing aloude vnto the rocke of our saluacion.

Let vs come before his face with praise: let vs sing loude vnto him with psalme.

- 3 For the Lord is a great God, and a great King aboue all gods.

In whose had are y depe places of y earth, & the heights of the mountaines are his:

- 5 To whome the sea belongeth: for he made it, and his hands formed the drye land.

Come, let vs worship and fall downe, & knele before the Lord our maker.

- 7 For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, & the shepe of his hand: to daie, if ye wil heare his voice,

Harden not your heart, as in Meribah, & as in the daie of Massah in the wilderness.

- 9 Where your fathers tempted me, proued me, though they had sene my worke.

Fortie yeres haue I contended with this generation, & said, They ate a people that erre in heart, for they haue not known my waies.

PSAL. XCVI.

An exhortation vnto the Jewes and Gentiles to praise God for his mercie. And this specially ought to be referred to the kingdom of Christ.

- 1 Sing vnto the Lord a newe song: sing vnto the Lord, all the earth.

Sing vnto the Lord, & praise his Name: declare his saluacion from daie to daie.

- 3 Declare his glorie among all nations, and his wonders among all people.

For the Lord is great and much to be praised: he is to be feared aboue all gods.

- 5 For all the gods of the people are idoles: but the Lord made the heauens.

Strength & glorie are before him: power and beautie are in his Sanctuarie.

- 7 Giue vnto the Lord, ye families of y people: giue vnto the Lord glorie & power.

Giue vnto the Lord the glorie of his Name: bring an offering, and entre into Idoles, or whatsoever made not the heauens, are not God. As by experience ye see that it is onely due vnto him. By offering vp your selues wholly vnto God, declare that you worship him onely.

It is a great token of Gods iudgement, when the purpose of the wicked is broken, but most when they are destroyed in their owne malice.

PSAL. XCV.

He sheweth Gods seruice handeth not in dead ceremonies, but chiefly in the sacrifice of praise & thanksgiving.

Euen Angels (who in respect of men are thought as gods) are nothing in his sight: much lesse the idols, & mans braine inuenteth. All things are gouerned by his providence.

By these three wordes he significheth one thing: meaning that they make wholly giue them selues to serue God. That is, the flocke whome he gouerneth with his owne hand. He sheweth wherther are Gods flocke: that is, if they heare his voice.

By the containing of Gods wordes.

Besides Gods power & wisdom in creating, and gouerning, his great mercie also appeareth in that he hath giuen his people his worde and counsaile.

Whose office it is to take vengeance on the wicked.

Shewe by effect that thou art Iudge of the worlde to punish the wicked.

That is, brag of their cruelty & oppression, or, cheme them selues as none aliother.

Seeing the Church was thus, so fore oppressed, it ought not to seeme strange to vs, if we be so now, & therefore we make call to God to take our cause in hand.

He sheweth that they are desperat in malice, forasmuch as they feared not God, but gaue the felmes wholly to downe wickedly.

He sheweth that it is impossible, but God shalde heare, se & vnderstand their wickednes.

If God punish whole nations for their sin, it is more folle for anie one man, or els aske to thinke that God wil spare the.

God hath care ouer his and chasticeth them for their welch, & they shulde not perill for sin with the wicked.

God wil restore the state & gouernment of things to their right use, & then the godlie shal folowe him cheerefully.

He complaineth of them, which wolde not helpe him to resist the enemies: yet was assured that Gods helpe wolde not faile.

In my trouble & distress I neuer founde thy present helpe.

PSAL. XC VIII.

An earnest exhortation to all creatures to praise the Lord for his power, mercie and fidelitie in his promises by Christ. 10 By whome he hath communicated his saluacion to all nations.

A Psalme.

- 1 Sing vnto the Lord a new song: for he shal haue done maruelous things: * his right hand, and his holie arme haue gotten him the victorie.
- 2 The Lord declared his saluation: his righteousness hath he reueiled in y sight of the nations.
- 3 He hath remembered his mercie and his trueth toward the house of Iſraél: all the ends of the earth haue ſene the saluation of our God.
- 4 All the earth, sing ye loude vnto y Lord: crye out and reioyce, and sing praises.
- 5 Sing praise to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voice.
- 6 With shalmes and ſounde of trumpets sing loude before the Lord the King.
- 7 Let the sea roare, and all that therein is, the worlde, and thei that dwell therein.

PSAL. XC IX.

He commendeth the power, equitie and excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ ouer the Iewes and Gentiles. 5 And prouoketh them to magnifie the same & to serue the Lord. 6 Following the example of the ancient Fathers. Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

- 1 THe Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: he sitteth between y Cherubims, let the earth be moued.
- 2 The Lord is great in Zión, & he is high aboue all the people.

David describeth what gouernement he wil obserue in his house and kingdome: He wil punish and correct, by rooting forth the wicked, & And cherishing the god-lie persons.

A Psalme of David.

I Wil sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, wil I sing.
 I wil do wisely in the perfite waie: til y come to me: I wil walke in y vprightnes of mine heart in the middes of mine house.
 I wil set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the worke of them that fall away: it shal not cleaue vnto me.
 A froward heart shal depart from me: I wil knowe none euil.
 Him, that priuely & slandereth his neighbour, wil I destroy: he that hath a proude loke and high heart, I can not suffer.
 Mine eyes shal be vnto the faithful of the land, that they maie dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfit waie, he shal ser-ue me.
 There shal no deceitful persone dwell within mine house: he that telleth lies, shal not remaine in my sight.
 Betimes wil I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I maie cut of all the workers of iniquitie from the Citie of the Lord.
 He sheweth

 In punishing the vices, which

 He sheweth

 wis of the sword to punish the wicked and to mainteine the good.
 Magistrates must immediatly punish vice, lest it growe to farther inconuenience and if heauen Magistrates are bounde to do this, how much more shal that be the charge of the Church of God?

*It seemeth that this prayer was appointed to the faithful for the building of the Church: 18 Wherof followeth the praise of God to be published vnto all posteritie.

 22 The conuersion of the Gentiles, 23 And the stablishing

*A prayer of the afflicted, when he shalbe

Whereby, is signified, that albeit we be in neuer so great miserivey, yet there is euer place left for prayer.

O Lord, heare my praier, and let my crye come vnto thee.

Hide not thy face from me in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me:
 when I call, make haste to heare me.

For my daies are consumed like smoke, and my bones are burnt like an herth.

Mine heart is smitten and withereth like grasse, because I forgate to eat my bread.

For the voice of my groning my bones do cleaue to my skin.

I am like a pellicane of the wildernes: I am like an owle of the deserts.

I wathe and am as a sparowe alone vpon
 the house toppe.

Mine enemies reuile me dailey, & they rage against me, haue sworn against me.

Surely I haue eaten ashes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping,

Because of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast heaued me vp, and cast me downe.

My daies are like a shadowe that fadeth, and I am withered like grasse.

But thou, O Lord, doest remaine for e-uer, and thy remembrance from generacio to generacion.

Thou wilt arise & haue mercie vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the appointed time is come.

For thy seruants delite in the stones thereof, and haue pitie on the dust thereof.

Then the heathen shal feare the Name of the Lord, & all the Kings of the earth thy glorie,

When the Lord shal buyld vpon Zion, &
 shal appeare in his glorie,

And shal turne vnto the praier of the desolate, and not despise their praier.

This shalbe writen for the generacion to come: & the people, which shal be created, shal praise the Lord.

For he hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuarie: out of the heauen, did the Lord beholde the earth,

That he might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the children of death:

That they maie declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, and his praise in Ieru-salém,

When the people shalbe gathered together, and the kingdomes to serue the Lord.

He abated my strength in the waie, & shortened my daies.

And I said, O my God, take me not away

as it were created anewe.

Who now in their bani-them cold loke for nothing but death.

He sheweth that Gods Name is neuer more praised, then when religion flourisheth, and the Church increaseth: which thing is chiefly accomplished vnder the kingdome of Christ.

The Church lamenteth that she is not the time of Christ, which was promised, but haue but fewe yeres and short daies.

He declareth that in our praier we must liuely fe-le that, which

 and readily be-lieue to obteine

These excessiue kindes of

PSAL. CIII.

1 He prouoketh all to praise the Lord, which hath pardoned is sinnes, deliuered him from destruction, and giuen him sufficient of all good things. 10 Then he addeth the tender mercies of God, which he sheweth like a moste tender Father towards his childre. 14 The frailtie of mans life. 20 An exhortation to man and Angels to praise the Lord.

¶ A Psalm of David.

^a He waketh his dulnes to praise God, theu ing y both vnder- standing & affe- ctions, minde & heart are to like to ser- uice his praise. ^b This is the beginning and chiefest of all benefites: remission of sinne. ^c For before y we haue remission of our sinnes, we are as dead me in the graue. ^d As the egge, whether beake ouergrow th, sucketh blood, and so is roused in strength, euen so God miraculously giueth strength to his Church aboue all mas expectation. ^e As to his chief minister & next to his people. ^f He sheweth first his seuerie iudgement, but so soon as the sinner is humbled, he recei- ueth him to mercie. ^g We haue p- ued by cotinual experience, y his mercie ha- the euer pre- uailed against our offences. ^h As great as the worlde is, so ful is it of signes of Gods mercies toward his faith- ful, when he hath remoued their sinnes. ⁱ He declareth that ma hath nothing in him selfe to moue God to mer- cie, but onely the confession of his infirmities & miserie.

1 MY soule, praise y the Lord, & all that is within me, praise his holie Name.

2 My soule, praise thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefites.

3 Which forgiveth all thine iniquitie, & healeth all thine infirmities.

4 Which redemeth thy life from y graue, and crowneth thee with mercie and compassions.

5 Which satisfieth thy mouth with good things: and thy youth is renewed like the egles.

6 The Lord executeth righteousness and iudgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He made his waies known vnto Moses, & his works vnto the children of Israel.

8 The Lord is full of compassion and mer- cie, slowe to anger and of great kindenes.

9 He wil not alwaie chide, nether kepe his anger for euer.

10 He hath not dealt with vs after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is about the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As farre as the East is from the West: so farre hath he remoued our sinnes from vs.

13 As a father hath compassio on his chil- dren, so hath the Lord compassio on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembereth that we are but dust.

15 The daies of ma are as grasse: as a flow- er of the field, so flourisheth he.

16 For the winde goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shal knowe it no more.

17 But the louing kindenes of the Lord endureth for euer & euer vpon them that fea- re him, and his mightcoufnes vpon chil- drens children, 18 Vnto them that kepe his couenant, and thinke vpon his commandements to do them.

19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.

20 Praise the Lord, ye his Angels, that ex- cel in strength, that do his commande- ment in obeying the voice of his worde.

21 Praise the Lord, all ye his hostes, ye his seruants that do his pleasure.

22 Praise the Lord, all ye his workes, in all places of his dominion: my soule, praise thou the Lord.

PSAL. CIII.

1 An excellent Psalm to praise God for the creation of the worlde & the gouernance of the same by his mar- uelous prouidence. 35 Wherein the Prophet praiseth a- gainst the wicked, who are occasions that God dimi- shed his blessings.

1 MY soule, praise thou y Lord: o Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, y art clothed with glorie & honour.

2 Which couereth him self with light as with a garment, & spreadeth the heauens like a curtaine.

3 Which laicth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which maketh the spirits his messen- gers, & a flaming fyre his ministers.

5 He set the earth vpon her fundacions, so y it shal neuer moue.

6 Thou coueredst it with y deepe as with a garment: the waters wolde stand about the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke thei flee: at the voice of thy thunder thei haste awaie.

8 And the mountaines ascend, & the vallis descend to the place which thou hast esta- blished for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bonde, which thei shal not passe: thei shal not returne to co- uer the earth.

10 He sendeth the springs into the vallis, which runne betwene the mountaines.

11 Thei shal giue drinke to all the beastes of the field, and the wilde asses shal quen- che their thirst.

12 By these springs shal the foules of the heauen dwell, and sing among the braches.

13 He watereth the mountaines from his chambers, & the earth is filled with the fruite of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to growe for the cat- tel, and herbe for the vse of man, that he maie bring forth the bread out of the earth,

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, & oyle to make the face to shine,

^k His iuste & faithful kepig of his promes. ^l To whome he giueth grace to feare hi, & to obey his worde. ^m In that that we, which nat- urally are slowe to praise God, exhort the Angels, w^h willingly do it, we stirre vp our selues to consider our duerie, & awake out of our sluggishnes.

^a The Prophet sheweth that we neede not to enter into the heauens to seeke God, for asmuch as all the ordre of nature, with y proprietie and placing of the clementes, are moste lively mirrours to se his maiestie. ^b As the Pro- phet here sheweth y all visible powers are readie to serue God: so the Apostle to y Ebr 1. 7 be- holderth in this glasse, how y venie Angels alio are obedi- ent to his comendement. ^c Thou makest the sea to be an ornament vnto y earth. ^d If by thy power y di- ddest not bridle the rage of y waters, it were not possible, but the whole worlde shulde be destroyed. ^e If God prouide for y venie beastes, much more wil he extend his prouident care to man. ^f There is no part of the worlde so barren, where moste euident signes of Gods bless- ings appeare not. ^g From the cloudes. ^h He describeth Gods prouident care ouer man, who doeth not onely prouide necess- sarye things for him, as herbes & other meate but also things to reueycc and comforte him, as wine & oyle or ornaments.

PSAL. CVI.

The people dispersed Under Antiochus do magnifie the goodnes of God among the iuste and repentāt: 4 Desiring to be broght againe into the land by Gods mercifull visitation 8 And after the manifeste maruels of God wrought in their deliuerance forthe of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rehearsed, 47 They do pray & desire to be gathered from among the heathē to the intent they may praise the Name of the God of Israel

Praise ye the Lord.

1 Praise ye the Lord because he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer.

2 Who can expresse the noble actes of the Lord, or shewe forthe all his praise?

3 Blessed are they that kepe iudgement, and do righteousnes at all times.

4 Remember me, O Lord, with thy fauour of thy people: visit me with thy saluacion,

5 That I may see the felicitie of thy chosen, and reioyce in the ioye of thy people, and glorie with thine inheritance.

6 We haue sinned with our fathers: we haue committed iniquitie, and done wickedly.

7 Our fathers vnderstode not thy wōders in Egypt, nether remembred thy multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, even at the red Sea.

8 Neuertheles he saued them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be knowne.

The Prophet exhorteth the people to praise God for his benefites past, & thereby their mindes may be strengthened against all present troubles & despaire. He sheweth that it is not ynough to praise God with mouth, except the whole heart agre therunto, and all our life be thereunto framed. Let good will that thou hearest to thy people, extend vnto me, that thereby I may be receiued in to the number of thine. By earnest confession as wel of their owne, as of their fathers finnes, they shew that they had hope that God according to his promises wolde piete them. The inestimable goodnes of God appeareth in this, that he wolde change the ordre of nature, rather then his people shoulde not be deliuered, although they were wicked.

9 And he rebuked the red Sea, and it was dryed vp, and he led them in the depe, as in the wilcernes.

10 And he saued them frō the aduersaries hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the enimie.

11 And the waters couered their oppressers: not one of them was left.

12 Then beleued they his wordes, & sang praise vnto him.

13 But incontinently they forgate his workes: they waited not for his counsel, 14 But lusted with concupiscēce in the wilcernes, & tempted God in the desert.

15 Then he gaue them their desire: but he sent leannes into their soule.

16 They eniued Moses also in the tentes, & Aaron the holie one of the Lord.

17 Therefore the earth opened and swallowed vp Dathan, and couered the companie of Abiram.

18 And the fyre was kindled in their assembly: the flame burnt vp the wicked.

19 They made a calfe in Horēb, & worshipped the molten image.

20 Thus they turned their glorie into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse.

21 They forgate God their Sauour, which had done great things in Egypt, 22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham, and fearful things by the red Sea.

23 Therefore he minded to destroye them, had not Moses his chosen stand in the breach before hī to turne away his wrath, lest he shoulde destroye them.

24 Also they contemned that pleasant land, & beleued not his worde, 25 But murmured in their tentes, & hearkened not vnto the voyce of the Lord.

26 Therefore he lifted vp his hād against them, to destroye them in the wilcernes, 27 And to destroye their sede among the nacions, and to scatter them throughout the countreis.

28 They ioyned them selues also vnto Baal-peor, & did eat the offerings of the dead.

29 Thus they prouoked him vnto angre, with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.

30 But Phinehas stode vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was staied.

31 And it was imputed vnto him for righteousnes frō generacion to generacio for euer.

32 They angred him also at the waters of Meribah, so that Moses was punished for their sakes, 33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that he spake vnadvisedly with his lippes.

34 Nether destroyed they the people, as y Lord had commanded them,

Exod. 14, 27. f The wonderfull workes of God caused the to beleue for a time and to praise him. g They wolde preēt his wil dome and prouidence. h The abundance that God gaue the, profited not, but made the pūe away, because God curied it. i By greatnes of the punishment the hatous offence may be considered: for they that rise against Gods ministers, rebel against him. k He sheweth y all idolaters renounce God to be their glorie, when in stead of him they worship anie creature, muche more wood, stone, metal or idoles. l If Moses by his intercession had not obtained Gods fauour against their rebellious m Tharcs, Canaan, & was as it were an earnest penic of the heauenlie inheritance. n That is, he saue. Nom. 25, 12. f This acte declared his liuelie faith, & for his faiths sake was accepted. Nom. 20, 2. p sal. 95, 8. t If so notable a Prophet of God escape not punishment though others prouoked him to fūne, how muche more shal they be fabricat to Gods iudgement, & such cause Gods child are to sin.

^a He sheweth how monstrous a thing idolatry is, w^{ch} can winne vs to things abhorring to nature, where as Gods worde can not obtaine moſte ſmale things.

^z Then true chaſtite is to cleaue wholly & onely vnto God.

^y The Prophet ſheweth y^e neither by menaces, nor promiſes we can come to God, except we be all together newly reformed, & y^e his mercie ouercometh and hide our malice.
^z Not y^e God is changeable in him ſelf, but that then he ſeemeth to repent, whē he altereth his puniſhment, & forgiveth vs a Gather thy Church, w^{ch} is diſperſed, and giveth vs conſolation vnder the croſſe, that w^e one conſent we may all praife aboe.

^a This notable ſentence was in the beginning viſed, as the ſote or tenour of the ſong, w^{ch} was oftentimes repeated.
^b As this was true in y^e Jewes, ſo is there none of Gods elect, y^e ſele not this helpe in their neceſſitie
^c Or, from the ſea: meaning the red ſea, which is on the South parte of the land
^d He ſheweth that there is none affliction ſo grievous, out of the which God wil not deliuer us, and alſo exhorteth them, that are deliuered, to be quidefull of ſo great a benefite.

35 But were mingled among the heathen, & learned their workes, 36 And ſerued their idoles, which were their ruine.
37 Yea, they offered their ^a ſonnes, and their daughters vnto diuels, 38 And ſhed innocent blood, even the blood of their ſonnes, and of their daughters, whome they offered vnto the idols of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they ſteined with their owne workes, and went ^x a whoring with their owne inuentions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled againſt his people, & he abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And he gaue them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lords ouer them.
42 Their enemies alſo oppreſſed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.
43 Manie ^y a time did he deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counſels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.
44 Yet he ſawe when they were in affliction, and he heard their crye.
45 And he remembred his couenāt toward them, and ^z repēted according to the multitude of his mercies, 46 And gaue them fauour in the ſight of all them, that led them captiues.
47 Saue vs, o Lord our God, and ^a gather vs from among the heathen, that we maie praife thine holie Name, and glorie in thy praife.
48 Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſraēl for euer & euer, and let all the people ſay, So be it. Praiſe ye the Lord.

11 They, that dwell in darkenes and in the shadowe of death, being bounde in miſerie and yron, 12 Becauſe they ^d rebelled againſt the wordes of the Lord, and deſpiſed the counſel of the moſte High,
13 When he humbled their heart with heauines, then they fell downe and there was no helper.
14 Then they ^e cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their diſtrefſes.
15 He brought them out of darkenes, and out of the shadowe of death, and brake their bands a ſunder.
16 Let them therefore confeſſe before the Lord his louing kindenes, & his wonderful workes before the ſonnes of men.
17 For he hath broken y^e gates of braſſe, and braſt the barres of yron a ſundre.
18 Fools by reaſon of their tranſgreſſion & becauſe of their iniquities are afflicted.
19 Their ſoule abhorreth all meat, & they are brought to deaths dore.
20 Then they crye vnto the Lord in their trouble, & he deliuereth them from their diſtrefſes.
21 He ſendeth his worde and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their ⁱ grieues.
22 Let them therefore confeſſe before the Lord his louing kindenes, & his wonderful workes before the ſonnes of men,
23 And let them offer ſacrifices of ^k praife, and declare his workes with reioycing.
24 They that go downe to the ^l ſea in ſhippes, & occupie by the great waters, 25 They ſee the workes of the Lord, & his wonders in the depe.
26 For he commandeth and raiſeth the ſtormie winde, and it liſteth vp the waues thereof.
27 They mounte vp to the heauē, & deſcēd to the depe, ſo that their ſoule ^m melteth for trouble.
28 They are toſſed to and fro, and ſtagger like a drunken man, and all their ⁿ cunning is gone.
29 Then they crye vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their diſtrefſes.
30 He turneth the ſtorme to calme, ſo that the waues thereof are ſtill.
31 When they are quieted, they are glad, &

^d Then y^e true way to obey God, is to followe his expreſſe comādemēt: alſo hereby all are exhorted to deſcēd into the ſelues, ſo far as none are puniſhed, but for their finnes
^e He ſheweth that the cauſe why God doeth puniſh vs extremely, is becauſe we can be brought vnto him by none other meanes.
^f When there ſeemeth to miſ judgement no recoverie, but all things are brought to deſpaire, the God chieſly ſheweth his mighty power
^g Ther y^e haue no feare of God, by his ſharp rods are brought to call vpon him and ſo finde mercie
^h By healing the he declareth his good wil toward them ⁱ Meanig, their diſeaſes, w^{ch} had almoſt brought the to the graue & corruption ^k Praiſe and confeſſion of Gods benefites are the true ſacrifices of the goodlie
^l He ſheweth by y^e ſea what care God hath the ouer man, for in that y^e deliuereth the from the great dangers of the ſea, he deliuereth them, as it were, from a thouſand deaths
^m Their feare & danger is ſo great ⁿ When their arte & meanes faile the, they are compelled to confeſſe that onely Gods goodnes doeth preſerue them ^o Though before euerie drop ſeemed to fight one againſt another, yet at his comādemēt they are as ſtill, as though they were ſea ſen.

he bringeth them vnto the haue, where they wolde be.

31 Let the therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, and his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men.

p This great benefite ought not onely to be considered particularly, but magnified in all places & assemblies Or, saluence.

32 And let them exalt him in the congregation of the people, and praise him in the assemblie of the Elders.

33 He turneth the floods into a wildernes, and the springs of waters into drieness, 34 And a fruteful land into barrennes for the wickednes of them that dwell therein.

q For the loue y he beareth to his Church he changeth the ordre of nature for their commoditie

35 Againe he turneth the wildernes into pooles of water, & the drye land into water springs.

36 And there he placeth the hungrie, and they buyld a cite to dwell in,

37 And sowe the fields, & plant vineyardes, which bring forth fruteful increase.

r Continual increase & fertile.

38 For he blesseth them, and they multiplie exceedingly, and he diminisheth not their cattel.

f As God by his prouidence doeth exalte men, so doeth he also humble them by afflictions to knowe them selues
r For their wickednes and tyrannie he causeth the people & subiects to contene them.
q They, whose faith is lightened by Gods spirit, shal reioyce to se Gods iudgements against the wicked & vngodlie.

39 Againe men are diminished, and brought lowe by oppressiō, euil and sorowe.

40 He powreth contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way.

41 Yet he raiseth vp the poore out of miserie, and maketh him families like a flocke of shepe.

42 The righteous shal se it, and reioyce, and all iniquitie shal stop her mouth.

43 Who is wise that he maie obserue these things: for they shal vnderstand the louing kindenes of the Lord.

PSAL. CVIII.

This Psalm is composed of two other Psalmes before, the seuen and fiftieth & the sixtieth. The matter here contained is, 1 That Dauid giueth him self with heart and voyce to praise the Lord, 2 And assureth him self of the promises of God concerning his kingdome ouer Israel, and his power against other nations: 3 Who though he seme to forsake vs for a time, yet he plene wil in the end cast downe our enemies.

A song or Psalm of Dauid.

O God, mine heart is prepared, so is my tongue: I wil sing & giue praise.

e This earnest affection declareth that he is free fro hypocrisy, and suggestion
Or, my glorie, because it chiefly serueth for the glorie of God

Awake viole & harpe: I wil awake early.

3 I wil praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nations.

For thy mercie is great about the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the cloudes.

Exalt thy self, O God, about the heauens, and let thy glorie be vpon all the earth,

That thy beloued maie be deliuered: d helpe with thy right hand and heare me.

God hath spoken in his holines: therefore I wil reioyce, I shal diuide Shechem and measure the valley of Succoth.

e Let all the worlde se thy iudgements, in that that thou art God ouer all, & so confesse that thou art glorious d Whe God by his benefites maketh vs partakers of his mercies, he admonisheth vs to be earnest in praier to desire him to continue and finish his graces
e As he hath spoken to Samuel concerning me, so wil he shewe him self constant, and holie in his promises, so that these nations following shalbe subiect vnto me.

8 Gilead shalbe mine, and Manasséh shalbe mine: Ephraim also shalbe the strength of mine head: Iuda is my Lawgiuer.

9 *Móab shalbe my washpot: ouer Edóm wil I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina wil I triumph.

Psalm 60, 1.

10 Who wil leade me into the strong citie: who wil bring me vnto Edóm?

11 Wilt not thou, O God, which haddest forsaken vs, & didest not go forth, O God, with our armies?

f From the sixte verse of this psalme vnto the last read the exposition in the thre score psalme, and like verie.

12 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Though God we shal do valiantly: for he shal tread downe our enemies.

PSAL. CIX.

Dauid being falsly accused by flatterers vnto Saúl, praith God to helpe him and to destroy his enemies. And vnder this he speaketh of Iudas the traitor vnto Iesus Christ, and of all the like enemies of the children of God. 27 And desireth so to be deliuered, that his enemies may knowe the worke to be of God. 30 Then doeth he promise to giue praises vnto God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid.

Holde not thy tongue, O God of my praise.

a Though all the worlde condemne me, yet thou wilt approve mine innocencie, & that is a sufficient praise to me.

2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceit are opened vpon me: thei haue spoken to me with a lying tongue.

3 Thei compassed me about also with wordes of hatred, and fought against me without a cause.

4 For my friendship thei were mine aduersaries, but I gaue my self to praier.

b To declare y I had none other refuge, but thee, in whome my confidence was at rest

5 And they haue rewarded me euil for good, and hatred for my friendship.

6 Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let y aduersarie stand at his right hand.

7 When he shalbe iudged, let him be condemned, and let his praier be turned into sinne.

8 Let his daies be fewe, and let another take his charge.

c Whether it were Doeg or Saúl, or some familiar friend y had betrayed hi, he praith not of private affliction, but moued by Gods spirit, y God wold take vengeance vpon him

9 Let his children be fatherles, & his wife a widowe.

10 Let his children be vagabunds & begge and seke bread, comming out of their places destroyed.

d As to the eldest all things turne to their profit: so to the reprobate euen those things, y are good, turne to their damnation

11 Let the extortioner catche all y the hate, and let the strangers spoile his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercie vnto him: nether let there be anie to shewe mercie vpon his fatherles children.

e This was chiefly accomplished in Iudas, A& 1 20. f He declareth that the curse of God lieth vpon the extortioners: who thinking to enrich their children by their vnlawful gotten goods, are 13 Let his posteritie be destroyed, & in the generacion following let their name be put out.

14 Let the iniquitie of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother be done auaie.

g Thus punisheth the parents of the wicked in their wicked children

T.iii.

by Gods iust iudgement deprived of all the Lord to the third, and fourth generacion the wickednes of the parents in their wicked children

15 But let them alway be before the Lord, that he maie cut of their memorial from the earth.

16 Because ^h he remembred not to shewe mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorowful hearted to slaye him.

17 As he loued cursing, ⁱ so shal it come vnto him, & as he loued not blessing, so shal it be farre from him.

18 As he clothed him self with cursing like a raiment, so shal it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith he shalbe alwaie girded.

20 Let this be the rewarde of mine aduersarie ^k from the Lord, and of them, that speake euil against my soule.

21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy ^l Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercie is good)

22 Because I am poore and nedie, and mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I departe like ^m shadowe that declineth, and am shaken of as the ⁿ grasshopper.

24 My knees are weake through fasting, & my flesh ^o hath lost all fatnes.

25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shaked their heads.

26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: ^p saue me according to thy mercie.

27 And they shal knowe, that this is thine hand, & that thou, Lord, hast done it.

28 Though they ^q curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shal arise and be confounded, but thy seruants shal reioyce.

29 Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame, and let them couer the selues with their confusion, as with a cloke.

30 I wil giue thanks vnto the Lord greatly with my ^r mouthe, and praise him among the multitude.

31 For he wil stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them, that wolde condemne his soule.

PSAL. CX.

David prophesieth of the power and everlasting kingdom giuen to Christ. ^a And of the Priesthood, which should put an end to the Priesthood of Levi.

A Psalm of David.

1 The Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntil I make thine enemies thy foetstole.

2 The Lord shal send the rod of thy power out of ^b Zion: be thou ruler in the middest of thine enemies.

3 Thy people shal come willingly at the time of assembling: ^c thine armie in holie beautie: the youth of thy wombe shal be as the morning dewe.

4 The Lord sware and wil not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer after the ordre of ^d Melchi-zedek.

5 The Lord, ^e that is at thy right hand, shal wounde Kings in the daie of his wrath.

6 He shalbe Iudge among the heathen: he shal fill all with dead bodie, and smite the head ouer great countreys.

7 He shal ^f drinke of the brooke in ^g waie: therefore shal he lift vp his head.

PSAL. CXI.

1 He giueth thanks to the Lord for his merciful workes toward his Church, ^h and declareth wherein true wisdom and right knowledge consisteth.

Praise ye the Lord.

1 I wil ⁱ praise the Lord with my whole heart in the assemblie and Congregation of the iust.

2 The workes of the Lord ^j are great, and ought to be fought out of all them that loue them.

3 His worke is beautiful and glorious, and his righteousness endureth for euer.

4 He hath made his wonderful workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is merciful and full of compasion.

5 He hath giuen ^k a portion vnto the that feare him: he wil euer be mindeful of his couenant.

6 He hath shewed to his people the power of his workes in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen.

7 The workes of his hands ^l are truth and iudgement: all his statutes are true.

8 They are established for euer & euer, and are done in truth and equitie.

9 He sent redemption vnto his people: he hath commanded his couenant for euer: holie and feareful is his Name.

10 The beginning of wisdom ^m is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue them, haue good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

ⁿ They only are wise, that feare God: and none haue vnderstanding, but they that obey his worde. ^o To wit, his commandments, as verily.

PSAL. CXII.

1 He praiseth the felicitie of the that feare God, ^p and condemneth the cursed state of the contemners of God.

Praise ye the Lord.

1 Blessed is the man, that ^q feareth the Lord, & deliteth greatly in his commandments.

2 His sede shalbe mightie vpon earth: the generacion of the righteous shalbe blessed.

3 Riches and treasures shalbe in his house, and his righteousness endureth for euer.

4 Vnto the ^r righteous ariseth light in darkness: he is merciful and full of compasion and righteous.

^s The faithful in all their aduersities knowe that all shal geue way to them: for God wil be merciful and iust.

A good

^h He sheweth God accuser to plague them after a strange sort, & sheweth them selues cruel toward other. ⁱ Thus giueth the Lord to euerie man the thing, wherein he deliteth, & the reprobate can not accuse God of wrong, when they are giuen vp to their lusts and reprobate mindes.

^k For being destitute of mans helpe, he fully trusted in the Lord, that he wolde deliuer him. ^l As ^m we are as need merciful, gracious and long suffering, so shewe they self in such manner. ⁿ He hath no state nor assurance in this worlde. ^o For hunger, that came of sorow, he was leane, and his natural moyshes failed him. ^p The more grievous ^q Sathan assailed him, the more earnest & instant was he in prayer. ^r They shal praise nothing by cursing me. ^s Not onely in confessing it secretly in my self, but also in declaring it before all the congregation. ^t Hereby he sheweth ^u he had not so do ^v them, that were of little power, but ^w the iudges and princes of the world.

^a Desires Christ in the two & twenty of Mares giueth the interpretation hereof, & sheweth ^b that it is not properly to be applied vnto David, but to him self. ^c And thence it shal stretch through all the worlde: & this power chiefly standeth in the preaching of his worde. ^d By thy worde thy people shalbe assembled into thy Church, which increase shalbe so abundant & wonderful, as the drops of the dewe.

^d As Melchizedek ^e figure of Christ was both King & Priest: so the office can not be accomplished in any King, save onely in Christ. ^f 2 Chron. 26, 21. ^g No power shalbe able to resist him. ^h Under this similitude of a captain, that is so greedy to destroy his enemies, that he wil not scarce drinke by the way, he sheweth how God wil destroy his enemies.

ⁱ The Prophet declareth that he wil praise God both priuily & openly, & that from his heart, as he ^j consecrated his self wholly & onely vnto God. ^k He sheweth ^l Gods workes are a faithfull cause, wherefore we shoulde praise him, but chiefly his benefites toward his Church. ^m God hath giuen to his people al that was necessarie for this, & will do likewise for his covenantes sake, and in this sense the Hebrew worde is taken, Prov. 30, 8 & 31, 15. ⁿ Or, praise, & so. ^o As God promised to take the care of his Church: so in effect doeth he declare himselfe iust and true in ^p go- vernment of the same.

^q He meaneth that reverent feare, which is in ^r children of God, which causeth them to delight onely in ^s worde of God. ^t The godlie shal haue abundance & contentment, because their heart is satisfied in God.

A good man is merciful and lendeth, and wil measure his affaires by iudgement.
 Surely he shal neuer be moued: but the righteous shalbe had in euerlasting remembrance.
 He wil not be afraid of euil tidings: for his heart is fixed, & beleueth in the Lord.
 His heart is stablished: therefore he wil not feare, vntil he se his desire vpon his enemies.
 He hath distributed and giuen to the poore: his righteousness remaineth for euer: his house shalbe exalted with glorie.
 The wicked shal se it and be angrie: he shal gnash with his teeth, and consume awaye: the desire of the wicked shal perish.
 The blessing of God vpon his children shal cause the wicked to dye for saue

PSAL. CXIII.

An exhortation to praise the Lord for his providence. 7 In that that contrarie to the course of nature he worketh in his Church.

Praise ye the Lord.

Praise, O ye seruants of the Lord, praise the Name of the Lord.
 Blessed be the Name of the Lord from hence forth and for euer.
 The Lords Name is praised from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same.
 The Lord is high above all nations, & his glorie aboute the heauens.
 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high!
 Who abaseth him self to beholde things in the heauen and in the earth.
 He raiseth the needy out of the dust, & lifeth vp the poore out of the dung,
 That he maie set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people.
 He maketh the baren woman to dwell with a familie, & a ioyful mother of children. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXIII.

How the Israelites were deliuered for the of Egypt, & of the wonderful miracles, that God wrought at that time which put vs in remembrance of Gods great mercie toward his Church, who, when the course of nature faileth, preserveth his miraculously

Exod. 14. 21

When Israel went out of Egypt, & the house of Iaakob from the barbarous people, Iudah was his sanctification, & Israel his dominion.
 The Sea sawe it and fled: Iordén was turned backe.
 The mountaines leaped like rams, & the hilles as lambs.
 What ailed thee, O Sea, that thou fleddest? O Iordén, why wast thou turned backe?

Ye mountaines, why leaped ye like rams, and ye hilles as lambs?
 The earth trembled at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Iaakob.
 Which turneth the rocke into water-poolles, & the flint into a fountaine of water.

PSAL. CXV.

A prayer of the faithful oppressed by idolatrous tyrants against whom they desire that God would succour them, & Trusting most constantly that God wil preserve them in this their need, seeing that he hath adopted and received them to his fauour, is Promising finally that they wil not be unmerciful of so great a benefite, if it will please God to heare their prayer, & deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

Not vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glorie, for thy louing mercie and for thy truthes sake.

Wherefore shal the heathen saie, Where is now their God?

But our God is in heauen: he doeth what soeuer he wil.

Their idoles are siluer and golde, euen the worke of mens hands.

They haue a mouth and speake not: they haue eyes and se not.

They haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not.

They haue hands and touche not: they haue fete and walke not: neither make they a sounde with their throte.

They that make them are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.

O house of Aarón, trust ye in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.

Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for he is their helper and their shield.

The Lord hath bene mindeful of vs: he wil blesse, he wil blesse the house of Israel, he wil blesse the house of Aarón.

He wil blesse them that feare the Lord, bothe smal and great.

The Lord wil encrease his graces toward you, euen toward you and toward your children.

Ye are blessed of the Lord, which made the heauen and the earth.

The heauens, euen the heauens are the Lords: but he hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men.

The dead praise not the Lord, neither anie that go downe into the place of silence.

But we wil praise the Lord from hence forth and for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

thing but to shewe his fatherlie care toward men. Though the dead see for the Gods glorie, yet he meaneth here, that they praise him not in his Church and Congregation.

Ought them his people to be insensible, when they see his power & maiestie? That is, caused miraculously water to come out of the rocke in moite abundance, Exod. 17. 6.

Because God promised to deliuer them, not for their sakes, but for his Name, Isa. 48. 11, therefore they grounde their prayer vpon this promise.

When wicked se God accomplisheth not his pines, as they imagine, they thinke there is no God.

No impediments can leaue his worke, but he vseth euery impediment to serue his will.

Seeing that neither force, nor forme can commede idols, it followeth there is nothing, why they shulde be esteemed.

He sheweth what great vantage it is to aske helpe of the, which not onely haue no helpe in them, but lacke sense and reason.

As muche without sense, as blockes & stones.

For they were appointed by God as instructors & teachers of faith and religion for others to followe.

That is, he wil continue his graces toward his people.

And therefore doeth all gouerne & continue all things therein.

And they declare yongh his sufficiencie, so that the world seeth his no-

1 David being in great danger of Saile in the desert of Moab, perceiving the great and insupportable love of God to ward him, magnifieth such great mercies.
 13 And protesteth that he will be thankful for the same.

1 I Loue γ Lord, because he hath heard my voice and my prayers.

2 For he hath inclined his care vnto me, when I did call vpon him γ in my daies.

3 When the snares of death compassed me, and the griefs of the graue caught me: where I founde trouble and sorowe,

4 Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, saying, I beseeche thee, δ Lord, deliuer my soule.

5 The Lord is ϵ merciful & righteous, and our God is full of compassion.

6 The Lord preserueth the simple: I was in miserie and he saued me.

7 Returne vnto thy rest, δ my soule: for γ Lord hath bene beneficial vnto thee,

8 Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eyes from teares, & my feet from falling.

9 I shall walke before the Lord in the land of the liuing.

10 ϵ I beleued, therefore did I speake: for I was sore troubled.

11 I said in my ϵ feare, All men are liars.

12 What shall I rendre vnto the Lord for all his benefites toward me?

13 I wil γ take the cup of saluacion, and call vpon the Name of the Lord.

14 I wil paie my vows vnto γ Lord, *eu*en now in the presence of all his people.

15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saints.

16 Beholde, Lord: for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, & the sonne of thine hand maide: thou hast broken my bonds.

17 I wil offer to thee a sacrifice of praise, & wil call vpon the Name of the Lord.

18 I wil paie my γ vows vnto the Lord, *eu*en now in the presence of all his people,

19 In the courtes of the Lords house, *eu*en in the maddes of thee, δ Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

20 He hath a care ouer his, so that he bothe disposeth their death and taketh an account: γ I wil thanke him for his benefites: for that is a iuste payment, to confesse that we owe all to God.

Psal CXX

a Here they are not called blessed, which thinke themselves wise in their owne iudgement, nor which imagine to themselves a certaine holines, but the whole conuersation is without hypocrisie. b For they are ruled by Gods Spirit and embrace no doctrine but his. c David acknowledgeth his imperfecti on, desiring God to reforme it that his life maie be conformable to Gods worde. d For true religion addeth to serueng God without hypocrisie. e That is, thy precepts, & certaine perfitte righteousness. f He refuseth not to be tryed by tentations, but he feareth to faile, if God succor not his infirmities in time. g Because youth is most giuen to licentiousnes, he chiefly warneth them to frame their liues betime to Gods worde. h If Gods worde be grauen in / heartes, we shalbe more able to resist the assaults of Satan: and therefore the Prophet desireth God to instruct him daily more & more therein.

e The Prophet doeth not boast of his virtues, but setteth forth an exaple for others to followe. Gods worde & leaue worldlie vanities. a He sheweth that we ought not to desire to liue but to serue God, and that we can not serue him aright, except he open our eyes and myndes. b Seeing mans life in this worlde is but a passage, what shoulde become of him, if thy worde were not his guide?

- 26 Blessed be he, that cometh in the Name of the Lord: we haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord.
27 The Lord is mightie, and hath giuen vs a light: binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar.
28 Thou art my God, and I wil praise thee, euen my God: therefore I wil exalt thee.
29 Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

PSAL. CXX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the children of God to frame their liues according to his holie worde. 123 Also he sheweth wherein the true seruice of God standeth, that is, when we serue him according to his worde, & not after our owne fantasies.

ALEPH.

- Blessed are those that are vpright in their waie, & walke in the Lawe of the Lord.
2 Blessed are they that kepe his testimonies, & seke him with their whole heart.
3 Surely they worke none iniquitie, that walke in his waies.
4 Thou hast commanded to kepe thy precepts diligently.
5 Oh that my waies were directed to kepe thy statutes.
6 Then shoulde I not be confounded, when I haue respect vnto all thy commandments.
7 I wil praise thee with an vpright heart, when I shal learne the iudgements of thy righteousness.
8 I wil kepe thy statutes: forsake me not ouerlong.

BETH.

- 9 Wherewith shal a yong mā redresse his waie? in taking hede thereto according to thy worde.
10 With my whole heart haue I sought thee: let me not wander from thy commandments.
11 I haue hid thy promises in mine heart, that I might not sinne against thee.
12 Blessed art thou, O Lord: teache me thy statutes.
13 With my lippes haue I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth.
14 I haue had as great delite in the waie of thy testimonies, as in all riches.
15 I wil meditate in thy precepts, and consider thy waies.
16 I wil delite in thy statutes, & I wil not forget thy worde.

GIMEL.

- 17 Be beneficial vnto thy seruāt, that I maie liue and kepe thy worde.
18 Open mine eyes, that I maie see the wonders of thy Law.
19 I am a stranger vpon earth: hide not worldlie vanities frome God, and that we can not serue him aright, except he open our eyes and myndes. b Seeing mans life in this worlde is but a passage, what shoulde become of him, if thy worde were not his guide?

thy commandments from me.

- 20 Mine heart breaketh for thy desire to thy iudgements alwaie.
21 Thou hast destroyed the proude: cursed are they that do erre from thy commandments.
22 Remoue from me shame and contempt: for I haue kept thy testimonies.
23 Princes also did sit, & spake against me: but thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes.
24 Also thy testimonies are my delite, & my counsellers.

DALETH.

- 25 My soule cleaueth to the dust: quicken me according to thy worde.
26 I haue declared my waies, and thou hearest me: teache me thy statutes.
27 Make me to vnderstand the waie of thy precepts, and I wil meditate in thy wondrous workes.
28 My soule melteth for heauines: raise me vp according vnto thy worde.
29 Take from me the waie of lying, and grant me graciously thy Law.
30 I haue chosē the waie of trueth, & thy iudgements haue I laied before me.
31 I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confounde me not.
32 I wil runne the waie of thy commandments, when thou shalt enlarge mine heart.

HE.

- 33 Teache me, O Lord, the waie of thy statutes, and I wil kepe it vnto the end.
34 Giue me vnderstanding, and I wil kepe thy Law: yea, I wil kepe it with my whole heart.
35 Direct me in the path of thy commandments: for therein is my delite.
36 Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies, and not to couetousnes.
37 Turne awaie mine eyes from regarding vanitie, & quicken me in thy waie.
38 Stablish thy promises to thy seruant, because he feareth thee.
39 Take awaie my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good.
40 Beholde, I desire thy commandments: quicken me in thy righteousness, VAU.

- 41 And let thy louing kindenes come vnto me, O Lord, & thy saluacion according to thy promises.
42 So shal I make answer vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy worde.
43 And take not the worde of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I wait for thy iudgements.
44 So shal I alwaie kepe thy Lawe for euer and euer.
45 And I wil walke at libertie: for I seke self to be able to confute the slanderers of his aduersaries. c They that simply walke after Gods worde, haue no lets to intangle them, that do contrary, are euer in nets and snares.

e In all ages I haue plagued all such, & maliciously & contemptuously depair from thy truth. d When the powers of the worlde gaue false sentence against me, thy worde was a guide & counseller to teache me what to do, & to comfort me. a That is, it is almost brought to the graue, & without thy worde I can not liue. b I haue confessed mine offences, and now depend wholly on thee. c If God did not mainteine vs by his worde, & life woulde drop awaie like water. d Instruct me in thy worde, whereby my minde maie be purged fro vanitie & taught to obey thy wil. e By this he sheweth y we can neither choose good, cleaue to Gods word, nor runne forward in his waie, except he make o beaars large to receiue his grace, & willing to obey. a He sheweth that he can not followe on to the end, except God teache him oft times and lead him forward. b Not onely in outward conuersation, but also in inward affection. c Hereby meaning all other vices, because y couetousnes is the rote of all euil. d Meaning, all his senses. e Let me not fall to the dishonour, but let mine heart still delite in thy gracious worde. f Giue me strength to continue in thy worde euen to the end. a He sheweth y Gods mercie and loue is the first cause of our saluacion. b By trusting in Gods worde he assurich himself. c They that simply walke after Gods worde, haue no lets to intangle them, that do contrary, are euer in nets and snares.

I wil meditate in thy statutes.

Z A I N.

49 Remēbre ^a the promes made to thy ser-uāt, wherein thou hast caused me to trust.

50 It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promes hath quickened me.

51 The ^b proude haue had me exceedingly in derision: yet haue I not declined from thy Law.

52 I remembered thy ^c iudgements of olde,
^o Lord, and haue bene comforted.

53 ^d Feare is come vpon me for the wicked,

58 I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be merciful vnto me according to thy promes.

59 I haue considered my ^b waies, & turned my fete into thy testimonies.

60 I made haste and delayed not to kepe thy commandements.

61 The bands of the wicked haue ^c robbed me: but I haue not forgotten thy Law.

62 At midnight wil I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

63 I am ^d companion of all them that feare thee, and kepe thy precepts.

64 The earth, ^o Lord, is ful of thy mercie:
^e teache me thy statutes.

T E T H.

Psalm 69.10.

a Pet 2.1. b Golde hathe
nele to be fined, but thy word: is perfection it self.

c This is the true trial, to praise God in aduersitie d So that the life of man without the knowledge of God is death.

a He sheweth that all his affections & whole heart were bent to God ward for to haue helpe in his dangers.

kepe thy testimonies.

147 I preuented the morning light, & cryed:
for I waited on thy worde.

b He was more earnest in studie of Gods worde, then they, that kept the watche, were in their charge.

148 Mine eyes ^b preuent the night watches to meditate in thy worde.

c Or, custome
e He sheweth the nature of the wicked to be to persecute agaist their conscience
d His faith is grounded vpon Gods worde, that he wolde
euer be at hand when his children be oppressed.

149 Heare my voice according to thy lou-ing kindenes: ^o Lord, quicken me according to thy ⁱ iudgement.

150 They drawe nere, that followe after ^c malice, and are farre from thy Law.

151 Thou art nere, ^o Lord: for all thy com-mandements are true.

152 I haue knowen long since ^d by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer.

RESH.

153 Beholde mine affliction, and deliuer me:
for I haue not forgotten thy Law.

154 Plead my cause, and deliuer me: quicken me according vnto thy ^a worde.

a For without Gods promises
there is no hope of deliuerance

155 Saluacion is farre from the wicked, because they seke not thy statutes.

156 Great are thy tender mercies, ^o Lord:
quicken me according to thy ^b iudge-ments.

b According to thy promises made in the Law, because the wicked lacke, they cahaue no hope of saluacion

157 My persecutours and mine oppressours are manie: yet do I not swaue from thy testimonies.

c My zeale co-sumed me, when I sawe their malice & contempt of thy glorie

158 I sawe the transgressours & was ^c grie-ued, because they kept not thy worde.

159 Consider, ^o Lord, how I ^d loue thy precepts: quicken me according to thy louing kindenes.

d It is a sure signe of our adoption, when we loue the Law of God.

160 The ^e beginning of thy worde is truth, and all the iudgements of thy righteoufnes endure for euer.

e Since ^f first promised, euen to the end all thy sayings are true

161 Princes haue ^a persecuted me without cause, but mine heart stode in awe of thy wordes.

a The threatenings & perle-cutions of princes coulde not cause me to shrink to cofesse thee, who me I more feare then men

162 I reioyce at thy worde, as one that fin-deth a great spoile.

163 I hate falfshode and abhorre it, but thy Lawe do I loue.

b That is, offe & sondrie times

164 ^b Seuen times a daie do I praise thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

c For their co-science assureth them, that they please thee,
whereas they,
that loue not thee, haue the contrarie

165 They, ^c that loue thy Law, shal haue great prosperitie, and they shal haue none hurt.

d He sheweth that we must first haue faith, before we can worke & please
God.

166 Lord, I haue ^d trusted in thy saluacion, and haue done thy commandements.

e I had no respect of me, but for thee alwayes before mine eyes, as ^f iudge of my doings.

167 My soule hath kept thy testimonies:
for I loue them exceedingly.

a As thou hast promised to be the schola-master vnto all them, & depend vpon thee.

168 I haue kept thy precepts and thy testimonies: ^e for all my waies are before thee.

TAV.

169 Let my complaint come before thee, ^o Lord, and giue me vnderstanding, ^a according vnto thy worde.

170 Let my supplicatio come before thee, and deliuer me according to thy promises.

171 My lippes shal ^b speake praise, when thou hast ^c taught me thy statutes.

b The worde signifieth to pouer forthe continually.
c All his prai-
er, & desire is,
to profit in worde of God.

172 My tongue shal intreate of thy worde:
for all thy commandements are rightteous.

173 Let thine hand helpe me: for I haue chosen thy precepts.

174 I haue longed for thy saluacion, ^o Lord, and thy Law is my delite.

d That is, thy prouident care ouer me, and where with ^e wilt iudge mine enemies
e Being chased to and fro by mine enemies, and hauing no place to rest in.

175 Let my soule liue, & it shal praise thee,
and thy ^d iudgements shal helpe me.

176 I haue ^e gone astraye like a lost shepe:
seke thy seruant, for I do not forget thy commandements.

PSAL. CXX.

1 The prayer of David being vexed by the false reportes of Sauls flatterers. 5 And therefore he lamenteth his long abode among those infidels, 7 Who were gi-uen to all kinde of wickednes and contention.

A song of ^a degrees.

PSAL. CXXI.

1 This Psalm teacheth that the faithful ought onely to like for helpe at God, 7 Who onely doeth maineine, preserue and preserue his Church

A song of ^a degrees.

1 I will lift mine eyes ^a vnto the moun-taines, from whence mine helpe shal come.

a Or, alone the mountaines; meaning, that there is nothing so high in this world, wherein he can trust, but onely
in God

2 Mine helpe commeth from the Lord, which hath made the ^a heauen and the earth.

a He accuseth mans ingratitude, who can not depend on Gods power

3 He wil not suffer thy fote to slippe: for he that kepeth thee, wil not ^b slumber.

b He sheweth that Gods providence nor

2 Our fete shal stand in thy gates, o Ierusalem.

3 Ierusalem is buylded as a citie, that is compact together in it self:

4 Whereunto the tribes, euen the tribes of the Lord go vp according to the testimonie to Israēl, to praise the Name of the Lord.

5 For there are thrones set for iudgement, euen the thrones of the house of David.

6 Praise for the peace of Ierusalem: let the prosper that loue thee.

7 Peace be within thy walles, & prosperitie within thy palaces.

8 For my brethren and neighbours sakes I wil wish thee now prosperitie.

9 Because of the House of the Lord our God, I wil procure thy welth.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

A praiser of the faithful, which were afflicted ether in Babylon or under Antiochus by the wicked worldlings and contemners of God.

A song of degrees.

I Lift vp mine eyes to thee, that dwelt in the heauens.

2 Beholde, as the eyes of seruants loke vnto the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a maiden vnto the hād of her ma-stres: so our eyes waste vpon the Lord our God vntil he haue mercie vpon vs.

3 Haue mercie vpon vs, o Lord, haue mercie vpon vs: for we haue suffred to much contempt.

4 Our soule is filled to ful of the mocking of the welthe, & of the despitefulness of the proude.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

The people of God, escaping a great peril, do acknowledge them selues to be deliuered, not by their owne force, but by the power of God. 4 They declare the greatness of the peril, 6 And praise the Name of God.

A song of degrees or Psalm of David.

I F the Lord had not bene on our side, (maie Israēl now say)

2 If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose vp against vs,

3 They had then swallowed vs vp quicke, when their wrath was kindled against vs.

4 Then the waters had drowned vs, and the streame had gone ouer our soule:

5 Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule.

6 Praised be the Lord, which hathe not giuen vs as a praye vnto their teeth.

7 Our soule is escaped, euen as a birde out of the snare of the fowlers: the snare of the wicked did not onely furiously rage against the faithfull, but craftely imagined to destroy them.

is broken and we are deliuered.

8 Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hathe made heauen and earth.

PSAL. CXXXV.

He describeth the assurance of the faithful in their afflictions. 4 And desireth their welth, 5 And the destruction of the wicked.

A song of degrees.

T Hei that trust in the Lord, shal be as mount Zion, which can not be removed, but remaineth for euer.

2 As the mountaines are about Ierusalem: so is the Lord about his people from hence forth and for euer.

3 For the Lord of the wicked shal not rest on the lot of the righteous, lest the righteous put forth their hand vnto wickednes.

4 Do wel, o Lord, vnto those that be good and true in their hearts.

5 But these that turne aside by their crooked waies, them shal the Lord leade with the workers of iniquitie: but peace shal be vpon Israēl.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

This psalme was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, and sheweth that the meane of their deliuerance was wonderful after the seuenie yeres of captiuitie foretold by Ieremie chap. 25. 12. & 29. 10.

A song of degrees or Psalm of David.

W Hen the Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, we were like them that dreame.

2 Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with ioye: then said thei among the heathē, The Lord hathe done great things for them.

3 The Lord hathe done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce.

4 O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the riuers in the South.

5 Thei that sowe in teares, shal reape in ioye.

6 Thei went weping and caried precious seds: but thei shal returne with ioye and bring their sheaues.

PSAL. CXXXVII.

He sheweth that the whole estate of the worlde, bothe domestical and political standerh by Gods mere prouidence and blessing. 3 And that to haue children wel nurtured is an especial grace and gift of God.

A song of degrees or Psalm of Salomon.

E Xcept the Lord buyld the house, ether labour in vaine that buyld it: except the Lord kepe the citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine.

2 It is in vaine for you to rise early, & to lye downe late, & eat y^e bread of sorrow: but he wil surely giue rest to his beloued.

eaten with grief of minde e Not exempting them from labour, but making their labours comfortable, and as it were a rest.

a Though the worlde be subiect to mutations, yet the people of God shal stand sure & be defended by Gods prouidence.
b Though God suffer vs to be vnder y^e crosse, lest thei shulde embrace wickednes, yet this crosse shal not so rest vpon the, that it shulde driue the fro hope.
c He desireth God to purge his Church from hypocrites & such as haue no scale of the truth.

a Their deliriance was as a thing incredible, and therefore toke away all excuse of ingratitude
b He sheweth how y^e godlie ought to reioyce, when God gathereth his Church or deliuereth it c If the inidels confesse Gods wonderful worke, the faithfull can neuer shewe the selues sufficient to deliuer his barren places.

a That is, gouerne & dispose all things pertaining to y^e familie
b The publike estate of y^e common welch c Which warre, & ward, & are also magistrats, & iudgers of y^e citie
d Either that, y^e is gotten by hard labour, or rewarde.

4 As are the arrowes in the hand of the strong man : so are the children of youth.

duced & strength
& verities fro
God: for these are signes of Gods blessings, & not of nobles.
g Suche children shalbe able to stop lie life is maliciously accused before iudges.

5 Blessed is the man, that hathe his quiuer full of them: for they shall not be ashamed, when they speake with their enemies in the gate.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

1 He sheweth that blessednes appertaineth not to all vniuersally, but to them onely that feare the Lord, and walke in his wayes.

A song of degrees.

1 Blessed is euery one that feareth the Lord and walketh in his wayes.

a God appro-ueth not our life, except it be reformed, according to his worde.

2 When thou eatest the labours of thine hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shall be wel with thee.

b The worlde esteemeth them in welth, and ydleness: but holie God approueth them

the meane part of their labours.

3 Thy wife shall be as the fruteful vine on the sides of thine house, and thy children like the olive plants round about thy table.

c Because Gods fauour appeareth in none outward thing more than in increase of children, he promiseth to enrich the faithful with this gift. d
Because of the spiritual blessing, which God hath made to his Church,
these temporal things shall be granted. e For except God blessed his Church publically, this pri-uate blessing were nothing.

4 Lo, surely thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the Lord.

5 The Lord out of Zión shall bless thee and thou shalt see the welth of Ierusalém all the dayes of thy life.

6 Yea, thou shalt see thy childrens children, and peace vpon Israël.

PSAL. CXXIX.

1 He admonisheth the Church to reioyce though it be afflicted. 4 For by the righteous Lord it shall be deliuered. 6 And the enemies for all their glorious shewe, shall suddenly be destroyed.

A song of degrees.

a The Church
now afflicted ought to reme-ber, how her conditiõ hath euer bene such from the beginning: to be molested most griuously by wicked: yet in time it hath euer bene de-liuered.

1 They haue often times afflicted me from my youth (may Israël now say)

2 They haue often times afflicted me from my youth: but they coulde not preuaile against me.

3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long sorrowes.

4 But the righteous Lord hath cut the cordes of the wicked.

5 They that hate Zión, shall be all ashamed and turned backward.

6 They shall be as grass that groweth on the house topes, which withereth afore it cometh forth.

7 Whereof the mower filleth not his hand, neither the gatherer his lap:

8 Neither they, which go by, say, The blessing of the Lord be vpon you, or, We bless you in the Name of the Lord.

PSAL. CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomles miseries do cry vnto God, and are heard. 3 They confesse their sinnes and flee vnto Gods mercie.

A song of degrees.

a That is, I wote that perill and none shall passe for the.
a Being in great distresse and sorrow.

Out of the deep places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.

Lord, heare my voyce: let thine cares attend to the voice of my prayers.

3 If thou, O Lord, straitly markest iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand?

4 But mercie is with thee, that thou maifest be feared.

5 I haue waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, and I haue trusted in his worde.

6 My soule waiteth on the Lord more then the mornig watcheth for the morning.

7 Let Israël waite on the Lord: for with the Lord is mercie, and with him is great redemption.

8 And he shall redeme Israël from all his iniquities.

PSAL. CXXXI.

1 Dauid charged with ambition and greedie desire to reigne, protesteth his humilitie & modestie before God, and teacheth all men, what they shoulde do.

A song of degrees or Psalm of Dauid.

1 Lord, mine heart is not hawtie, neither are mine eyes loftie, neither haue I walked in great matters and hid from me.

2 Surely I haue behaued my self, like one wained from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my self as one that is wained.

3 Let Israël waite on the Lord from hence forth and for euer.

PSAL. CXXXII.

saying, Of the frute of thy bodie wil I set vpon thy throne.

^a Because this can not be accomplished but in Christ, it followeth that ^b James was ^c spiritual

^a Meaning, for his owne sake, & not for the plentifulnes of the place: for he promisseth to bleesse it, declaring before, ^b it was barre^d ^c That is, with my protection, whereby thei shal be safe. ^d Though his force for a time seemed to be broken, yet he promisseth to restore it.

^a Because the greatest parte were againe ^b Daurid, though some fauoured him, yet when he was established King, at length thei joyed all together like brethren: & there fore he sheweth by these similitudes the commoditie of brotherlie loue

^a Ye ^b are Leuites & chiefly appointed to this office ^c For their charge was not onely to keepe ^d Temple, but to praie there & to giue God thanks ^e And therefore hathe all power, bleesse thee with his Fatherlie loue declared in Zion Thus the Leuites vsed to praie the Lord, and bleesse the people

^a If thy sonnes keepe my couenant, and my testimonies, that I shal teache them, their sonnes also shal sit vpon thy throne for euer.

^a For the Lord hathe chose Zion, & loued to dwell in it, saying,

^a This is my rest for euer: here wil I dwell, for I haue a delight therein.

^a I wil surely bleesse her vitailles, & wil satisfie her poore with bread,

^a And wil clothe her Priests with saluacion, and her Saintes shal shewe for ioie.

^a There wil I make the home of Daurid to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anointed.

^a His enemies wil I clothe with shame, but on him his crowne shal flourish.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

^a This psalme containeth the commendacion of brotherlie amitie among the seruants of God

^a A song of degrees or Plalmes of Daurid.

^a Beholde, how good and how comelie a thing it is, brethren to dwelle euen together.

^a It is like to the precious ointment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, which wet downe on the border of his garments:

^a And as the dewe of Hermón, which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zion: for there the Lord appointed the blessing & life for euer.

^a The ointment was a figure of the graces, which come fro Christ the head vnto his Church ^b By Hermón & Zion he meaneth the plentiful countrie about Ierusalem ^c Where there is such concord

PSAL. CXXXIII.

^a He exhorteth the Leuites, watching in the Temple, to praie the Lord.

^a A song of degrees.

^a Beholde, praie ye the Lord, all ye seruants of the Lord, ye that by night stand in the House of the Lord.

^a Lift vp your hands to the Sanctuarie, & praie the Lord.

^a The Lord, that hathe made heauen and earth, bleesse thee out of Zion.

^a And therefore hathe all power, bleesse thee with his Fatherlie loue declared in Zion Thus the Leuites vsed to praie the Lord, and bleesse the people

PSAL. CXXXV.

^a He exhorteth all the faithful, of what estate so euer thei be, to praie God for his maruelous workes, & especially for his graces toward his people, wherein he hathe declared his mercie. ^b To the confusion of all idolaters and their idoles.

^a Praie ye the Lord.

^a Praie the Name of the Lord: ye seruants of the Lord, praie him.

^a Ye stand in the House of the Lord, & in the courtes of the House of our God,

^a Praie ye the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises vnto his Name: for it is a com-melie thing.

^a For the Lord hathe chosen Iakób to him selfe, and Israël for his chief treasure.

^a For I knowe that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods.

^a Whatsoeuer pleased the Lord, that did he in heauen and in earth, in the sea, & in all the depths.

^a He bringeth vp the cloudes from the ends of the earth, and maketh the lightnings with the raine: he draweth forth the winde out of his treasures.

^a He smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast.

^a He hathe sent tokens and wonders into the middes of thee, o Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants.

^a He smote manie nations, & slewe mighty Kings:

^a Sihón King of the Amorites, and Og King of Baschan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan:

^a And gaue their land for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Israël his people.

^a Thy Name, o Lord, endureth for euer: o Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.

^a For the Lord wil iudge his people, and be pacified towards his seruants.

^a The idoles of the heathen are siluer & golde, euen the worke of mens hands.

^a Thei haue a mouth, & speake not: thei haue eyes and se not.

^a Thei haue eares and heare not, nether is there anie breath in their mouth.

^a Thei that make them, are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

^a Praise the Lord, ye house of Israël: praise the Lord, ye house of Aarón.

^a Praise the Lord, ye house of Leui: ye that feare the Lord, praie the Lord.

^a Praised be the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Praie ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

^a A moste earnest exhortation to giue thanks vnto God for the creation and gouernance of all things, whub standeth in confessing that he giueth vs all of his mere liberallitie.

^a Praie ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

^a Praie ye the God of gods: for his mercie endureth for euer.

^a Praie ye the Lord of lords: for his mercie endureth for euer.

^a Which onelie doth great wonders: for his mercie endureth for euer:

^a Which by his wisdom made the heauens: for his mercie endureth for euer:

^a Which hathe stretched out the earth

^a That is, hath frely loued the posteritie of Abraham.

^a He sheweth what frute the godlie coeene of Gods power, whereby thei see how he destroyeth his enemies, & deliuereth his people.

Num 21, 26 & 24, 38.

^a That is, gouerne & defende his people. ^b By shewing what punishment God appointeth for heathen idolaters, he warneth his people to beware the like offence, seeing y idoles haue nether power nor life, & y their deliriance came not by idoles, but by y mightie power of God read psal 115 vers. 4.

^a By this repetition he sheweth that y least of Gods benefices bide vs to thankes giue: but chiefly his mercie, & is principally declared towards his Church.

b This was a comūne kinde of thakeſgūig, & the whole people vied, when thei had receiued anie benefite of God, as 2 Chr 7.6 & 20.21: meaning y^e God was not onely mercifull to eheir fathers, but also continued y^e ſame to their poſteritie
c Gods mercifull prouidence toward mā appeareth in all his creatures, but chiefly in that that he deliuered his Church from y^e thraldome of their enemies
d In doing ſuch a worke as was neuer done before, nor that anie other coulde do e Where for y^e ſpace of fortie yeres he ſhewed infinite and moſte ſtrange wonders f Declaring thereby that no power nor authority was ſo dere vnto him, as the loue of his Church.

g In our greateſt affliction & ſclauerie, when we looked for nothing leſſe then to haue had anie ſuccour.
h Seeing y^e God prouideth, not for the beaſtes: much more haſte he care ouer his.
i Seeing that all ages haue had moſt plaine teſtimonies of Gods benefites.

a That is, we abode a long time: & albeit y^e the countrie was pleaſant, yet coulde it not ſate our reſtes, nor turne vs fro the true ſerue of our God.
b To wit, of that countrie by our ſilence we ſhould ſignifie that we hoped no more in God.

vpon the waters: for his ^b mercie endureth for euer:

7 Which made great lights: for his mercie endureth for euer:

8 As the ſunne to rule the daie: for his mercie endureth for euer:

9 The moone and the ſtarres to gouerne the night: for his mercie endureth for euer:

10 Which ſmote Egypt with their firſt borne (for his mercie endureth for euer)

11 And broght out Iſraél from among them (for his mercie endureth for euer)

12 With a mightie hand and ^d ſtretched out arme: for his mercie endureth for euer:

13 Which diuided the red Sea in two partes: for his mercie endureth for euer:

14 And made Iſraél to paſſe through the middes of it: for his mercie endureth for euer:

15 And ouerthrewe Pharaóh and his hoſte in the red Sea: for his mercie endureth for euer:

16 Which led his people through the ^e wildernes: for his mercie endureth for euer:

17 Which ſmote great Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer:

18 And ſlewe mightie Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer:

19 As Sihón King of the Amorites: for his mercie endureth for euer:

20 And Og the King of Baſhán: for his mercie endureth for euer:

21 And gaue their land for an heritage: for his mercie endureth for euer:

22 Euen an heritage vnto Iſraél his ſeruant: for his mercie endureth for euer:

23 Which remembered vs in our ^e baſe eſtate: for his mercie endureth for euer:

24 And haſte reſcued vs from our oppreſſour: for his mercie endureth for euer:

25 Which giueth foode to all ^h fleſh: for his mercie endureth for euer.

26 Praise ye the God of heauen: for his mercie endureth for euer.

The people of God in their baniſhment ſeing Gods true religion decaye, liued in great anguiſh and ſorrowe of heart: the which griefe the Chaldeans did ſo liſle pteſe, that thei rather increaſed the ſame daily with tauntes reproches and blaſphemies againſt God. Wherefore the Iſraelites deſire God, firſt to puniſh the Edomites, who prouoked the Babylonians againſt them, and moved by the Spirit of God, propheticke the deſtruction of Babylon, wherethei were handled ſo tyrannouſly.

By the riuers of Babel we ^a ſate, and there we wept, when we remembered Zión.

We hanged our harpes vpon the willowes in the middes ^b thereof.

ged vpon our harpes, ſaying, Sing vs one of the ſongs of Zión.

4 How ſhal we ſing, ſaid we, a ſong of the Lord in a ſtrange land?

5 If I forget thee, ^d O Ieruſalém, let my right hand forget to play.

6 If I do not remembre thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roſe of my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ieruſalém to my ^e chief ioye.

7 Remember the children of ^f Edóm, ^g O Lord, in the ^h daie of Ieruſalém, which ſaid, Raſe it, raſe it to the fundacion thereof.

8 O daughter of Babel, worthie to be deſtroied, bleſſed ſhal he ⁱ be y^e rewardeth thee, as thou haſt ſerued vs.

9 Bleſſed ſhal he be that taketh & daſheth thy children againſt the ſtones.

conſpired with y^e Babylonians againſt their brethren & kinſfolke diden viſit Ieruſalém. He alludeth to Iſaies propheticke chap 13. & 16 verſe promiſing good ſucces to Cyrus and Darius, whose ambition moved to fight againſt Babylon: but God viſed them as his reeds to puniſh his enemies.

PSAL. CXXXVIII.

David with great courage praiſeth the goodnes of God toward him, the which is ſo great. That it is knowne to forren princes, who ſhal praiſe the Lord together with him. And he is aſſured to haue like comfort of God in the time following, as he hath had heretofore.

A Pſalme of David.

I Wil praiſe thee with my whole heart: ^a Ieuen before the ^b gods wil I praiſe thee.

2 I wil worſhip toward thine holie ^b Temple and praiſe thy Name, becauſe of thy louing kindenes and for thy trueth: for thou haſt magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy worde.

3 When I called, then thou heardeſt me, & haſt ^c increaſed ſtrength in my ſoule.

4 All the ^d Kings of the earth ſhal praiſe thee, ^e O Lord: for they haue heard the wordes of thy mouth.

5 And thei ſhal ſing of the waies of the Lord, becauſe the glorie of the Lord is great.

6 For the Lord is high: yet he beholdeth the lowely, but the proude he knoweth ^e a faile of.

7 Thogh I walke in the middes of trouble, yet wilt thou reuiue me: thou wilt ſtretch forth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand ſhal ſaue me.

8 The Lord wil ^f performe his worke toward me: ^g O Lord, thy mercie endureth for euer: forſake not the workes of thine hands.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

David to cleaſe his heart from all hypocriſie ſheweth that there is nothing ſo hid, which God ſeeth not. Whereby he confirmeth by the creation of man. After declaring his zeale and feare of God, he proteſteth to be enemye to all them that conſerne God.

To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of David.

d Albeit the faithful are comforted with their particular griefs, yet the comūne ſorrowe of the Church is moſte grievous vnto them, & are ſu. he as thei can not but remember and lament e The decaye of Gods religion
f Their counſell was ſo grievous, that no ioye coulde make them glad, except it were reſtored.
g According as Ezekiel 25. 17. & Ieremie 49. 7 verſe propheticke: & Abdias verſe 10 ſheweth that the Edomites, who came of Eſau, who thou dideſt viſit Ieruſalém. He alludeth to Iſaies propheticke chap 13. & 16 verſe promiſing good ſucces to Cyrus and Darius, whose ambition moved to fight against Babylon: but God viſed them as his reeds to puniſh his enemies.

a Euen in the preſence of Angels & of thei, y^e haue authority among me.
b Bothe y^e Temple & ceremonial ſeruite at Chriſts coming were aboliſhed: ſo that now God wil be worſhipped onely in ſpirit and trueth c Thou haſt ſtrengthened me againſt mine outward & inward enemies.
d All y^e worlde ſhal confeſſe y^e thou haſt wonderfully preſerued me, & perſormed thy promiſes
e Diſtance of place can not hinder God to ſhewe mercie to his, and to iudge the wicked, thogh thei thinke y^e he is farre of f Thogh mine enemies rage neuer ſo much, yet the Lord, who haſte begun his worke in me, wil continue his grace to y^e end.

O Lord, thou hast tryed me and knowest me.
 Thou knowest my sitting & my rising: thou vnderstandest my thought a farre off.
 Thou compassest my paths, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my waies.
 For there is not a worde in my tongue, but lo, thou knowest it wholly, O Lord.
 Thou holdest me strait behinde and before, and laiest thine hand vpon me.
 Thy knowledge is to wonderfull for me: it is so high that I can not attaine vnto it.
 Whether shal I go from thy spirit? or whether shal I flee from thy presence?
 If I ascend into heauen, thou art there: if I lie downe in hel, thou art there.
 Let me take the wings of the morning, & dwell in the vttermoost partes of the sea:
 Yet thether shal thine hand leaue me, & thy right hand holde me.
 If I saie, Yet the darkenes shal hide me, euen the night shal be light about me.
 Yea, the darkenes hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the daie: y darke and light are bothe alike.
 For thou hast possessed my reins: y hast couered me in my mothers wombe.
 I wil praise thee, for I am fearfully & wonderously made: maruelous are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it wel.
 My bones are not hid from thee, though I was made in a secret place, & facioned k beneth in the earth.
 Thine eyes did see me, when I was without forme: for in thy booke were all things written, which in continuance were facioned, when there was none of them before.
 How mercere therefore are thy thoughts vnto me, O God! how great is y summe of the!
 If I shulde counte them, thei are mo then the sand: whe I wake, I am stil with thee.
 Oh that thou woldest slay, O God, y wicked and bloodie men, to whom I saie, Depart ye from me:
 Which speake wickedly of thee, & beig thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine.
 Do not I hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and do not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee?
 I hate them with an vnfaigned hatred, as they were mine vtter enemies.
 Trye me, O God, and knowe mine heart: proue me and knowe my thoughts,
 And consider if there be anie waie of wickednes in me, and lead me in the waie for euer.

PSAL. CXL.

David complaineth of the crueltie, falsehood & iniuries of his enemies, & against the which he prayeth vnto the Lord and assureth himself of his helpe and succour.

Wherefore he prouoketh the iust to praise the Lord, & to assure them selves of his tuition.
Tomim that excelleth. A psalme of David.

Deliuer me, O Lord, from the euil man: preferue me from the cruel man:
 Which imagine euil things in their heart, & make waie continually.
 Thei haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: adders poyson is vnder their lippes. Selah.
 Kepe me, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked: preferue me from the cruel man, which purposeth to cause my steppes to slide.
 The proude haue laid a snare for me & spied a net with cordes in my pathwaie, & set gienues for me. Selah.
 Therefore I said vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voice of my prayers.
 O Lord God the strength of my saluacion, thou hast couered mine head in the daie of battell.
 Let not y wicked haue his desire, O Lord: performe not his wicked thought, lest thei be proude. Selah.
 As for the chief of them, that compassed me about, let the mischief of their owne lippes come vpon them.
 Let coles fall vpon them: let him cast them into the fyre, & into the depe pittes, that thei rise not.
 For y backbiters shal not be established vpon the earth: euil shal hunt the cruel man to destruction.
 I knowe that the Lord wil auenge the afflicted, & iudge the poore.
 Surely the righteous shal praise thy Name, & the iust shal dwell in thy presence.

PSAL. CXII.

David being grievously persecuted Under Saul, only fleeth vnto God to haue succour. Desiring him to bridle his affections, & at he maie patiently abide til God take vengeance of his enemies.

A Psalm of David.

O Lord, I call vp O thee: haste thee vnto me: heare my voyce, when I crye vnto thee.
 Let my praier be directed in thy sight as incense, & the lifting vp of mine hands as an euening sacrifice.
 Set a watche, O Lord, before my mouth, & kepe the dore of my lippes.
 Incline not mine heart to euil, that I shulde commit wicked workes with men that worke iniquitie: and let me not eat of their delicates.
 Let the righteous smite me: for that is a benefite: & let him reprove me, & it shal be a precious oyle, that shal not breake mine head: for within a while I shal euen praise in their miseries.

8 The people, which followed their wicked rulers in persecuting y^e Prophet, shal repent & turne to God, when they se their wicked rulers punished.
h Here appeareth y^e Dauid was miraculously deliuered out of many deaths, as 2 Cor 1,9 i Into Gods nettes, whereby he catcheth y^e wicked & their owne malice k So that none of the escape.

stonie places, thei shal s heare my woies, for thei are swete.

7 Our bones lie scattered at the h graues mouth, as he that heweth wood or diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eyes loke vnto thee, o Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule deftiture.

9 Kepe me from the snare, which thei haue laied for me, and from the gennes of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fall into his nettes k together, whiles I escape.

PSAL. CXLII.

1 The Prophet nether astoned with feare, nor caried away with angre, nor forced by desperation, wolde kee Saül, but with a quiet minde directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserve him.

¶ A Psalm of Dauid, to giue instruction, & a prayer, when he was in the caue.

I Cryed vnto the Lord with my voyce: With my voyce I a prayed vnto y^e Lord.

2 I powred out my meditacion before him, & declared mine afflictio in his presence.

3 Thogh my spirit was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knewest my path: in y^e waie, wherein I walked, haue thei priuely laied a snare for me.

4 I looked vpon my right hand, & behelde, but there was none that wolde knowe me: all refuge failed me, & none cared for my soule.

5 Then cryed I vnto thee, o Lord, & said, Thou art mine b hope, & my porcion in y^e land of the liuing.

6 Hearken vnto my crye, for I am brought verie lowe: deliuer me from my persecuters, for thei are to strong for me.

7 Bring my soule out of c prisõ, that I maie praise thy Name: then shal the righteous d come about me, when thou art beneficial vnto me.

PSAL. CXLIII.

1 An earnest prayer for remission of finnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly persecute him by Gods iust iudgement. s He desireth to be restored to grace, so To be gouerned by his holie Spirit, that he maie spende the remnant of his life in the true feare & seruice of God.

¶ A Psalm of Dauid.

Hear me prayer, o Lord, & hearken vnto my supplication: answer me in thy a trueth & in thy b righteousness.

(And entre not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy c sight shal none that liueth, be iustified)

For the enemy hath persecuted my soule: he hath smiten my life downe to the earth: he hath laied me in the darkenes, as thei that haue bene dead d long ago:

4 And my spirit was in perplexitie in me, & mine e heart within me was amased.

d He acknowledgeth that God is the onelie & true phisicion to heale him: & that he is able to raise him to life, thogh he were dead long ago, & turned to ashes e So that onely by faith, & by the grace of Gods Spirit he was vpholden.

5 Yet do I remember the time f past: I meditate in all thy workes. yea, I do meditate in the workes of thine hands.

6 I stretche forth mine hands vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thiristie land. Selah.

7 Heare me speedely, o Lord, for my spirit fealeth: hide not thy face from me, els I shal be like vnto them that go downe into the pit.

8 Let me heare thy louing kindenes in the s morning, for in thee is my trust: h shewe me the waie, that I shoulde walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuer me, o Lord, from mine enemies: for i I hid me with thee.

10 Teache me to k do thy wil, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit lead me vnto the land of l righteousness.

11 Quicken me, o Lord, for thy Names sake, & for thy righteousness bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercie m slay mine enemies, and destitoe all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy n seruant.

PSAL. CXLIIII.

1 He praiseth the Lord with great affection and humilitie for his kingdome restored, and for his victories obtained, s Demanding helpe and the destruction of the wicked, s Promising to acknowledge the same with songs of praises, s And declareth wherein the felicitie of a me people consisteth

¶ A Psalm of Dauid.

Blessed be the Lord my strength, w^h teacheth mine hands to fight, & my fingers to battell.

2 He is my goodnes & my fortres, my tower & m my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth my b people vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man that thou c regardest him! or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon him!

4 Man is like to vanitie: his daies are like a shadowe, that vanisheth.

5 d Bowe thine heauens, o Lord, and come downe: touche the mountaines & thei shal smoke.

6 e Cast forth the lightening and scatter them: shote out thine arrowes, and consume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take me out of the great f waters, and from the hand of strangers,

8 Whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand s of falsehood.

9 I wil sing a h newe song vnto thee, o God, & sing vnto thee vpon a viole, & an instrument of ten strings.

f To wit, thy great benefices of olde, & the manifold examples of thy fauour toward thine g That is, speedely & in due season h Let thine holie Spirit counsel me how to come forth of these great cares & troubles i I hid my self vnder the shadow of thy wigs, y I might be defended by thy power k He cõfesseth that bothe the knowledge & obedience of Gods wil cometh by y^e Spirit of God, who teacheth vs by his worde, giueth vnderstanding by his Spirit, & frameth our hearts by his grace to obey him.

l That is, iustly & aright for so long as we decline from Gods wil, we fall into error m Which shal be a signe of thy Fatherlie kindenes toward me n Recognizing my self wholly vnto thee, and trusting in thy protection.

Psalm CXLIIII A Who of a poore shephord hath made me a valiant warrior and mightie conquerour o By my deliuerer vn to me for the Prophet can not satisfie him self with any worde.

b He cõfesseth that neither by his owne autoritie, power nor policie his kingdome was quiet, but by the secret grace of God

c To giue vnto God iust praise is to confesse our selues to be vnworthie of so excellent benefices. & y he bestoweth them vpon vs of his free mercie.

d He desireth God to continue his graces & to send helpe for the present necessitie.

e By these manner of speeches, he sheweth that all the letters in the worlde can not hinder Gods power, which he apprehended by faith f That is, deliuer me from tumultes of them that shoulde be my people, but are corrupt in their iudgement & enterprises, as thogh thei were strangers. g For thogh thei shake hands, yet thei kepe not promises h That is, a rare & excellent song, as thy great benefices deserue.

I Thogh wicked Kings be called Gods seruants, as Cyrus, Isa 45. 1. forasmuche as he vsurth the to execute his iudgements yet David because of Gods pnes, and they, that rule godly, are properly so called, because they serue not their owne affections, but set forthe Gods glorie. k He desireth God to continue his benefices toward his people, counting the promotion of children and their good education among chiefest of Gods benefices.

l That the corner stones of our houses may be full of store for the great abundance of his blessings. m He attributeth not onely the great commodities, but euen the least also to Gods fauour. n And if God give not to all his children all these blessings, yet he recompenseth them with better things.

Kings, & rescueth Dauid his seruāt from the hurtful sword.

11 Rescue me, and deliuer me from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood:

12 That our ^k sonnes may be as the planties growing vp in their youth, & our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a palace:

13 That our ^l corners may be full, and abounding with diuers sortes, and that our shepe may bring forth the thousands and tens of thousands in our stables:

14 That our ^m oxen may be strong to labour: that their be none inuasiō, nor going out, nor no crying in our stables.

15 Blessed are the people, that be ⁿ so, yea, blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

PSAL. CXLV.

This Psalm was composed, when the kingdom of Dauid flourished. 1 It becometh he describeth the wonderful prouidence of God, as wel in gouerning man, as in preserving all the rest of his creatures. 17 He praiseth God for his iustice & mercie. 18 But specially for his loving kindnes toward those that call vpon him, that feare him, and loue him: 21 For the which he promisseth to praise him for euer.

A Psalm of Dauid of praise.

O my God and King, ^a I wil extoll thee, and wil blesse thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I wil blesse thee daily, and praise thy Name for euer and euer.

3 Great is the Lord, & moste worthie to be praised, and his greatnes is incomprehensible.

4 Generation shal praise thy workes vnto generation, and declare thy power.

5 I wil meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiestie, & thy wonderful workes,

6 And they shal speake of the power of thy d feareful Actes, and I wil declare thy greatnes.

7 They shal breake out into the mention of thy great goodnes, & shal sing aloud of thy righteousness.

8 * The Lord is gracious and ^e merciful, slowe to anger, and of great mercie.

9 The Lord is good to all, & his mercies are ouer all his workes.

10 All thy workes praise thee, ^o Lord, and thy Saints blesse thee.

11 They shewe the glorie of thy kingdom and speake of thy power, a He sheweth what sacrifices are pleasant & acceptable vnto God: euen praise & thanksgiving, and seeing that God still continueth his benefices towards vs, we ought neuer to be wearie in praising him for the same. b Herby he declareth y all power is subiect vnto God, & y no worldlie promotion ought to obscure Gods glorie. c Forasmuche as the end of mans creation, & of his preservation is this life is to praise God, therefore he requirerh, y not onely we our selues do this, but cause all other to do the same. d Of thy terrible iudgements against the wicked. Exod. 34. 6.

e He describeth after what sorte God sheweth him self to all his creatures, thogh our finnes haue prouoked his vengeance against all. f He pardoneth the finnes of his elect, but in doing good tuen to the reprobates, he can not fele the sweete comfort of the same. g The praise of the creatures: & thogh y wicked wolde obscure y praise of the righteous, yet the faithful are euer munde of the same.

12 To cause his ^s power to be knowne to the sonnes of men, & the glorious renome of his kingdom.

13 Thy ^{*} kingdom is an euerlasting kingdom, & thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.

14 The Lord vpholdeth all ^h that fall, and lifteth vp all that are readie to fall.

15 The eyes of ⁱ all waite vpon thee, and thou giuest them their meat in due season.

16 Thou openest thine hand, and fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure.

17 The Lord is ^k righteous in all his waies, and holie in all his workes.

18 The Lord is nere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in trueth.

19 He wil fulfil the ^m desire of them that feare him: he also wil heare their crye, & wil saue them.

20 The Lord preferueth all them that loue him: but he wil destroye all the wicked.

21 My mouth shal speake the praise of the Lord, and all ⁿ flesh shal blesse his holie Name for euer and euer.

liuering them. 1 Which onely apperteineth to the faithful: and this veritie is contrarie to infidelitie, doubting, impacience and murmuring. m For they wil aske or wish for nothing but tennement to his will, 1 Ioh 4. 14. n That is, all men shal be made liue by him.

PSAL. CXLVI.

1 Dauid declareth his great zeale that he hath to praise God. 3 And teacheth, not to trust in man, but onely in God almighty. 7 Which deliuereth the afflicted. 9 Defendeth the strangers, comforteth the fatherles, and the widowes. 10 And reigneth for euer.

Praise ye the Lord.

PRAISE thou the Lord, ^o my ^a soule.

2 I wil praise the Lord during my liues: as long as I haue anye being, I wil sing vnto my God.

3 Put not your trust in ^b princes, nor in the sonne of mā, for there is none helpe in hi.

4 His breath departeth, & he returneth to his earth: then his ^c thoghts perish.

5 Blessed is he, that hath the God of Iakob for his helpe, whose hope is in y Lord his God.

6 Which made ^d heauen & earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which kepeth his fidelitie for euer:

7 Which executeth iustice ^e for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord looseth the prisoners.

8 The Lord giueth fight to the blinde: the Lord raiseth vp the croke: the Lord ^f loueth the righteous.

9 The Lord kepeth the ^g strangers: he relieueth the fatherles and widowe: but he ouerthroweth the way of the wicked.

Xx.ii.

g He sheweth y all things are out of ordre, but onely where God reigneth. Luk. 1. 33. h Who being in miserie and affliction wolde faile and fall away, if God did not vpholde them, and therefore they ought to reuerence him, that reigneth in heauen, and suffer them selues to be gouerned by him. i To wit, as wel of man, as of beast. k He praiseth God, not onely for that he is beneficiall to all his creatures, but also in that that he justly punisherh y wicked, & mercifully examineth his by the crosse, giuing them strength & deliuering them. 1 Which onely apperteineth to the faithful: and this veritie is contrarie to infidelitie, doubting, impacience and murmuring. m For they wil aske or wish for nothing but tennement to his will, 1 Ioh 4. 14. n That is, all men shal be made liue by him.

a He sheweth vp him self, & all his affections to praise God. b That God may haue the whole praise wherein he forbiddeth all vaine confidence, shewing y of nature we are more inclined to put our trust in creatures, then in God y Creator. c As their vaine opinions, whereby they flattered them selues, and so imagined wicked enterprises. d He enuinceth, that y godly to trust onely in the Lord, bothe for that his power is able to deliuer them from all danger, & for his promises sake his will is moste readie to do it. e Whose faith & aduersaries, that he may be knowne to be iudge of the worlde. f Thogh he visit them by affliction, he yet his Fatherlie loue and are signes of his loue. g Meaning all them, that are destitute of worldlie meanes and succour.

^a He assureth the Church ^b God reioyceth for euer for ^c preferuatiō of the same.

10 The Lord shal ^a reigne for euer: ^b Zion, thy God ^c endureth from generacion to generacion. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet praiseth the bountie, wisdom, power, iustice & prouidence of God vpon all his creatures, 2 But specially vpon his Church, which he gathereth together after their disperſion, 19 Declaring his wordes and iudgements ſo vnto them, as he hath done to none other people.

1 Praise ye the Lord, for it is good to ſing vnto our God: for it is ^a a pleaſant thing, & praise is comelie.

2 The Lord doeth buyld vp ^b Ieruſalem, & gather together the diſperſed of Iſrael.

3 He healeth thoſe that are ^c broken in heart, and bindeth vp their ſores.

4 He ^d counteth the number of the ſtarres, & calleth them all by their names.

5 Great ^e is our Lord, and great ^f is his power: his wiſdome is infinite.

6 The Lord releueth the meke, & abaſeth the wicked to the ^g ground.

7 Sing vnto the Lord with praise: ſing vpō the harpe vnto our God,

8 Which ^h couereth the heauē with cloudes and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the graſſe to growe vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beaſtes their fode, and to the yong rauens that ⁱ crye.

10 He hath not pleaſure in the ^j ſtrength of an horſe, nether deliteth he in the legges of man.

11 But the Lord deliteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercie.

12 Praise the Lord, ^k Ieruſalem: praise thy God, ^l Zion.

13 For he hath made the barres of thy gates ^m ſtrong, and hath bleſſed thy childre within thee.

14 He ſetteth peace in thy borders, & ſatiſfieth thee with the ⁿ floure of wheat.

15 He ſendeth forth his ^o commandemēt vpon earth, and his worde runneth verie ^p ſwiftly.

16 He giueth ſnow like wool, & ſcattereth the hoare froſt like aſhes.

17 He caſteth forth his yce like morſels: who can abide the colde thereof?

18 He ſendeth his worde and melteth the: he cauſeth his winde to blowe, & the waters flowe.

19 He ſheweth his ^q worde vnto Iakob, his ſtatutes and his iudgements vnto Iſrael.

20 He hath not dealt ſo with euerie nation, nether haue they ^r known his iudgements.

^a He doeth not onely furniſh his Church & all things neceſſarie, but preferueth alſo the ſame, & maketh it ſtrong againſt all outward force ^b For ſo ^c his ſecret working in all creatures is as a commandemēt to keepe the in ordre, & to giue the mouing & force ^d For immediately & without reſiſting all things obey him ^e As before he called Gods ſecret working in all his creatures his word: ſo he meaneth here, by his worde, ^f doctrine of liſe euerlaſting, w^h he hath left to his Church as a moſt precious treaſure ^g The cauſe of this difference is Gods fre mercie, which hath elected him in his Sonne Chriſt Ieſus to ſaluacion: & his iuſte iudgemēt, whereby he hath appointed the reprobate to eternal damnation.

Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to praise the Lord in heauē and earth and all places. 14 Specially his Church for the power that he hath giuen to the ſame after that he had choſen them and ioyned them vnto him.

Praise ye the Lord.

1 Praise ye the Lord from the heauen: praise ye him in the high places.

2 Praise ye him, all ye ^a his Angels: praise him, all his armie.

3 Praise ye him, ^b ſunne and moone: praise ye him all bright ſtarres.

4 Praise ye him, ^c heauens of heauens, & ^d waters, that be aboue the heauens.

5 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for he commāded, and they were created.

6 And he hath eſtabliſhed them for euer and euer: he hath made an ordinance, which ſhal not paſſe.

7 Praise ye the Lord frō the earth, ye ^e dragons and all depths:

11 ^g Kings of the earth and all people, princes and all iudges of the worlde:

12 Yong men and maidens, alſo olde men and children:

13 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, and his praise aboue the earth and the heauē.

14 For he hath exalted the ^h horne of his people, which is a praise for all his Sainctes, euen for the ⁱ children of Iſrael, a people that is nere vnto him. Praise ye the Lord.

by Gods appointed ordinance ^g For the greater giſtes that anie hath received, and the more high that one his preferred, the more bound is he to praise God for the ſame, but nether high nor lowe condition or degre can be exempted from this dutie. ^h That is, the dignitie, power and glorie of his Church ⁱ By reaſon of his covenant made with Abraham.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to praise the Lord for his victorie and conquest that he giueth his Sainctes against all maner power.

Praise ye the Lord.

1 Sing ye vnto the Lord ^a a new ſong: let this praise be heard in the Congregation of Sainctes.

2 Let Iſrael reioyce in him that ^b made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their King.

3 Let them praise his Name with the flute: let them ſing praises vnto him with the timbrel and harpe.

of Salomón.

THE ARGUMENT.

The wonderful loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke forasmuche as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these brief sentences, which partly containe doctrine, and partly maners, and also exhortacions to bothe. Wherof the nine first chapters are as a preface full of graue sentences, and depe mysteries, to allure the haertes of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a moste precious reuel to the Church, of those three thousand parables mentioned 1. King. 4, 32, and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomons seruants and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

- 1 The power and vse of the worde of God. 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his worde. 10 We may not consent to the enticing of sinners. 20 Wisdome complaieth that she is contemned. 24 The punishment of them that contemne her.

1 He Parables of Salomón the sonne of Dauid King of Israel.

To knowe wisdome, & instruction, to vnderstand the wordes of knowledge,

^a That is, what we ought to knowe & followe, & what we ought to refuse.

^b Meaning the worde of God wherein is the onely true knowledge.

^c To learne to submit our selues to the correction of those that are wise.

^d By liuing iustely and rendering to euery man that we apperceiueh vnto him.

^e To iuche as haue not discretion to rule them selues.

^f As he shewethy these parables concerning the effect of religion astouching maners & doctine do apperaine to the simple people: so doeth he declare that the same is also necessarie for them that are wise and learned. *Psal. 111, 10. eccl. 1, 16

- 2 To receiue instruction to do wisely, by iustice and iudgement and equitie,
- 4 To giue vnto the simple sharpenes of wit, & to the childe knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shal heare and increase in learning, and a man of vnderstanding, shal atteme vnto wise counsels,

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of the wise, & their darke sayings.

7 ¶ The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisdome & instruction.

- 8 My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching.
- 9 For thou shalbe a comelie ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke.
- 10 ¶ My sonne, if sinners do intise thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, we wil lay wait for blood, & lie priuie for the innocent without a cause:

12 We wil swallowe the vp aliue like a graue even whole, as those that go downe into the pit:

13 We shal finde all precious riches, & fill our houses with spoile:

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we wil all haue one purse:

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy fote from their path.

16 For their fete runne to euil, & make hast to shed blood.

17 Certainly as without cause the net is spread before the eyes of all that hath wing:

18 So they laye wait for blood & lie priuie for their liues.

Xxiii.

whereby the wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue euerie one part of the spoile of the innocent. ⁿ That is, haue nothing at all to do with them. ^o He sheweth that there is no cause to moue the wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice and crueltye.

*This worde Prouerbe, or Parable signifieth a graue & notable sentence, worthe to be kept in memorie: and is some tyme taken in the euil parte for a mocke, or scoffe.

^g He speaketh this in the Name of God, & is the vniuersal Father of all creatures, or in the Name of the pastor of the Church, who is as a father h that is, of the Church, wherein the faithful are begotten by the incorruptible seede of Gods worde.

^h Ebr. increase of grace. ⁱ To wit, the wicked, which haue not the feare of God. ^k He speaketh not onely of shedding of blood with hand, but of all craftie practises which rede to the detriment of our neighbour.

^l As the graue is neuer satiate so the auarice of the wicked and their crueltye hath no end.

^m He sheweth one part of the spoile of the innocent. ⁿ That is, haue nothing at all to do with them. ^o He sheweth that there is no cause to moue the wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice and crueltye.

The foolish hate wisdom, Prouerbes. The harlot described. 540/1224

p Whereby he concludeth y^e the couetous man is a murderer
 q This wisdom is the eternal worde of God
 r So that none can preceid ignorance
 f Wisdom re- proueth the knodes of me: the foolish or simple, which erre of ignorā- ce, and y^e mock- ers, that can not suffer to be taught, & y^e foo- les which are drowned in worldelic lu- stes, & hate the knowledge of godlines t This is spo- ken according to our capacite, signifying that the wic- ked, y^e mocke & iest at Gods wordes, shal ha- ue the iuste re- ward of their mocking.
 u That is, your destruction, w^h thing you fea- red x Because they sought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne grief
 y. Shewing y^e without faith and obedience, we cā not call vpon God a- right.
 z They shal seele what co- moditie their wicked life shal geue the.
 a That is the prosperitie, & sensualitie, wherein they delite.

19 Suche are the wayes of euarie one that is gredie of gaine: he wolde take away the life of the owners thereof.
 20 ¶ Wisdom clyeth without: she vttereth her voyce in the stretes.
 21 She calleth in the hye strete among the prease in the entings of the gates, & vttereth her wordes in the citie, saying,
 22 O ye foolish, how long wil ye loue foolishnes & the skorneful take their pleasure in skorning, & the fooles hate knowledge?
 23 (Turne you at my correction: lo, I wil powie out my minde vnto you, & make you vnderstand my wordes)
 24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none wolde regarde.
 25 But ye haue despised all my counsel, & wolde none of my correction.
 26 I wil also laugh at your destruction, and mocke, when your feare cometh.
 27 When your feare cometh like sudden desolation, and your destruction shal come, like a whirle winde: when affliction & anguish shal come vpon you,
 28 Then shal they call vpon me, but I wil not answer: they shal seke me early, but they shal not finde me, 29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord.
 30 They wolde none of my counsel, but despised all my correction.
 31 Therefore shal they eat of the fruite of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuises.
 32 Foxe ease slayeth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them.
 33 But he that obeierh me, shal dwell safely, & be quiet from feare of euil.

CHAP. II.

1. Wisdom exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 She is giuen of God. 10 She preferueth from wickednes.

1 MY sonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, and hide my commandements within thee,
 2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisdom, & encline thine heart to vnderstanding,
 3 (For if thou callest after knowledge, & cryest for vnderstanding:
 4 If thou sekest her as siluer, and searchest for her as for treasures,
 5 Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, and finde the knowledge of God.
 6 For the Lord giueth wisdom, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderstanding.
 7 He preferueth the state of y^e righteous: he is a shield to them that walke vprightly, a That is, kepe them in thine heart.

 b. If thou giue thy self to the true knowledge of God without hypo- crisie c Meanings, y^e we must seke the knowledge of God with care and diligence.
 d Shewing y^e no labour must be spared e Thus (sayeth he) is the true wisdom to be sought, & feare of God
 f Or, heareth the saluacion.

8 That they may kepe the wayes of iudgement: and he preferueth the way of his Saints)
 9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousnes, and iudgement, and equitie, & euerie good path.
 10 ¶ When wisdom entreth into thine heart, and knowledge deliteth thy soule, 11 Then shal counsel preferue thee, & vnderstanding shal kepe thee, 12 And deliuer thee from the euil way, and from the man that speaketh froward things, 13 And from them that leaue the wayes of righteousnes to walke in the wayes of darknesses:
 14 Which reioyce in doing euil, & delite in the frowardnes of the wicked, 15 Whose wayes are croked and they are lewde in their paths.
 16 And it shal deliuer thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger, which flattereth with her wordes.
 17 Which forsaketh the guide of her youth, and forgetteth the couenant of her God.
 18 Surely her house tendeth to death, & her paths vnto the dead.
 19 All they that go vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they holde of the wayes of life.
 20 Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, & kepe the wayes of the righteous.
 21 For the iust shal dwell in the land, and the vpright men shal remaine in it.
 22 But the wicked shal be cut off from the earth and the transgressors shal be rooted out of it.

CHAP. III.

1 The worde of God giueth life 5 Trust in God 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffre his correction. 22 To them that followe the worde of God, all things shal succede wel.

1 MY sonne, forget not thou my Law, but let thine heart kepe my commandements.
 2 For they shal increase the length of thy daies and the yers of life, and thy prosperitie.
 3 Let not mercie and trueth forsake thee: binde them on thy necke, & write them vpon the table of thine heart.
 4 So shalt thou finde fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.
 5 ¶ Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisdom.
 6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shal direct thy wayes.
 7 ¶ Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and departe from euil.
 8 So health shal be vnto thy nauel, and Hear, o ye children, the instruction of a father, and giue care to learne vnderstanding.

2 For I do giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my law.
3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and dere in the sight of my mother.
4 When he taught me, and said vnto me,
Let thine heart holde fast my wordes: ke-pe my commandments, and thou shalt liue.
5 Get wisdom: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the wordes of my mouth.
6 Forsake her not, and she shal kepe thee:
loue her and she shal preserue thee.
7 Wisdom is the beginning: get wisdom therefore: and aboute all thy possession get vnderstanding.
8 Exalt her, and she shal exalt thee: she shal bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.
9 She shal giue a comelie ornament vnto fieth with his fete: he s instructeth with 14 Lewde things are in his heart: he imagineth euil at all times, and raiseth vp contentions.

15 Therefore shal his destructiō come spe-dely: he shalbe destroyed suddenly without recouerie.

16 ¶ These six things doeth the Lord hate:
yea, his soule abhorreth seuen:

17 The haucie eyes, a lying tongue, and the hands that shede innocent blood,

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, h fete that be swift in running to mischief,

19 A false wignes that speaketh lyes, & him that raiseth vp cōtentions amōg brethē.

20 ¶ My sonne, kepe thy fathers commandement, and forsake not thy mothers instruction.

21 Binde them alway vpon thine heart, and tye them about thy necke.

22 It shal leade thee, when thou walkest: it shal watch for thee, when thou slepest, and when thou wakest, it shal talke with thee.

23 For the k commandement is a lantern, and instruction a light: and i correctiōns for instruction are the waie of life,

24 To kepe thee from the wicked woman, & from the flatterie of the tongue of a strange woman.

25 Desire not her beautie in thine heart, nether let her take thee with her m eyeliddes.

26 For because of the whoorish womā a man is broght to a morsel of bread, & a woman wil hunt for the precious life of a man.

27 n Can a man take fyre in his bosome, & his clothes not be burnt?

28 O i can a man go vpon coles, and his fete not be burnt?

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife, shal not be innocent, whoso euer i toucheth her.

30 Men do not o despise a thief, when he stealeth, to satisfie his p soule, because he is hungrie.

31 But if he be founde, he shal restore seuen folde, or he shal giue all the substance of his house.

32 But he that committeth adulterie with a woman, he r is destitute of vnderstanding:
he y doeth it, destroyeth his owne soule.

33 He shal finde q a wounde and dishonour,
& his reproche shal neuer be put away.

34 For iclouise is y rage of a man: therefore he wil not r spare in the day of vengeaunce.

35 He can not beate the fight of anie raun-some: nether wil he consent, though thou augment the giftes.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortacion to wisdom and to the worde of God, s Which wil preserue vs from the harlot, & whose maners are described.

MY sonne, kepe my wordes, and hide my commandements with thee.

2 Kepe my commandements, & thou shalt liue, and mine instruction as the a apple of thine eyes.

3 Binde them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Saie vnto wisdom, Thou art my sister:
and call vnderstanding thy kinswoman,

5 That they maie kepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger that is smothe in her wordes.

6 ¶ b As I was in the windowe of mine house, I loked through my windowe,

7 And I sawe among the fooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding,

8 Who passed through the strete by her corner, and went toward her house,

9 In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be c blacke and darke.

10 And beholde, there met him a woman with an harlots behauiour, and f subtil in heart.

11 (She d is babling and lowde: whose fete can not abide in her house.

12 Now she is without, now in the stretes, & lieth in waite at euerie corner)

13 So she caught him & kissed him & "with an impudent face said vnto him,

14 I haue e peace offrings: this f day haue
I paid my vowes.

15 Therefore came I for the to mete thee, y
I might see thy face: & I haue founde thee.

16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, carpets and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom.

18 Come, let vs take our fil of loue vntil the mornig: let vs take our pleasure in dalliāce.

19 For mine husband is not at home: he is gone a iourney faie of.

20 He hath taken r with him a bagge of siluer, and wil come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yelde, & with her flattering lippes she entised him.

22 And he followed her straightwaies, as an s oxe that goeth to the slaughter, & h as a foole to the stocks for correction,

23 Til a dart strike through his liuer, as a birde hasteth to the snare, not knowing that r he is in danger.

24 ¶ Heare me now therefore, o children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her waies:
wander thou not in her paths.

26 For she hath caused manie to fall downe

Chap. 8. 20.

1 DOeth not a wisdom crye and vnderstanding vtter her voyce?
 2 She standeth in the top of the high places by the way in the place of the paths.
 3 She cryeth besides the gates before the citie at the entrie of the dores,
 4 O men, I call vnto you, and vtter my voice to the children of men.
 5 O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdom, and ye, o fooles, be wise in heart.
 6 Giue care, for I wil speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes shall teache things that be right.
 7 For my mouth shall speake the trueth, and my lippes abhorre wickednes.
 8 All the wordes of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdenes, nor frowardenes in them.
 9 Thei are all plain to him that wil vnderstand, and straight to them that wolde finde knowledge.
 10 Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine golde.
 11 For wisdom is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.
 12 I wisdom dwell with prudence, and I finde forth the knowledge and counsels.
 13 The feare of the Lord is to hate euil as pride, and arrogancie, and the euil waie: and a mouth that speaketh lewde things, I do hate.
 14 I haue counsel and wisdom: I am vnderstanding, & I haue strength.
 15 By me, Kings reigne, and princes decree iustice.
 16 By me princes rule and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.
 17 I loue them that loue me: & thei that seke me early, shall finde me.
 18 Riches and honour are with me: h euen durable riches and righteousness.
 19 My frute is better then golde, euen the fine golde, and my reuenues better then fine siluer.
 20 I cause to walke in the waie of righteousness, & in the muddes of the paths of iudgement, 21 That I maie cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I wil fil their treasures.
 22 The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his waie: I was before his workes of olde.
 23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning & before the earth.
 24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

25 Before the mountaines were setled: & before the hilles, was I begotten.

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the worlde.

27 When he prepared the heauens, I was there, when he set the compas vpon the depe.

28 When he established the cloudes aboue, when he confirmed the fountaines of the depe,

29 When he gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters shulde not passe his commandement: when he appointed the fundacions of the earth,

30 Then was I with him as a nourisher, and I was daily his delite reioycing alwaie before him, 31 And toke my solace in the compasse of his earth: & my delite is with the childre of men.

32 Therefore now hearken, o children, vnto me: for blessed are thei that kepe my waies.

33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, & refuse it not. blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, & giuing attendance at the postes of my dores.

34 For he that findeth me, findeth life, and shall obtaine fauour of the Lord.

35 But he that sinneth against me, hurteth his owne soule: & all that hate me, loue death.

CHAP. IX.

1 Wisdom calleth all to her feast. 7 The scorner wil not be corrected. 10 The feare of God. 13 The condicions of the harlots.

1 WISDOME hath buyt her a house, & hewen out her seven pillars.

2 She hath killed her vitayles, drawen her wine, and prepared her table.

3 She hath sent forth her maidens and cryeth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying,

4 Whoso is simple, let him come hether, & to him is destitute of wisdom, she saith,

5 Come, & eat of my meat, and drinke of the wine that I haue drawen.

6 Forsake your way, ye foolish, and ye shall lue: & walke in my waie of vnderstanding.

7 He that reproveth a scorner, purchaseth to him self shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth him self a blot.

8 Rebuke not a scorner, lest he hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, & he wil loue thee.

9 Giue admonition to the wise, and he wil be the wiser: teache a righteous man, & he wil increase in learning.

10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord, & the knowledge of holy things, is vnder-

He declareth the eternitie of the Sonne of God, which is ment by this worde Wisdom, who was before all time and euer present w the Father.
 m Some read a chief worker: signifying that this Wisdom, euen Christ Iesus, was equal w God his Father, and created, preserved, and fil worketh w him, as Ioh. 1. 17.
 n Whereby is declared that the worke of creation was no penne, but a solace vnto the wisdom of God.
 o By earth, he meaneth man, which is the worke of God to whome wisdom toke pleasure: in somuch as for mans sake & Diuine Wisdom toke mans nature, and dwelt among vs, & filled vs with vnspokeable treasures: and this is that solace & pastime whereof is here spoken.

a Christ hath prepared him a Church.
 b That is, many chief states and principal partes of his Church, as were the Patriarkes, Prophets, Apostles, Pastors & Doctors.
 c He compareth wisdom with great princes y kepe open house for all y come.
 d Meaning true preachers, w are not infected with mans wisdom.
 e He that knoweth his owne ignorance and is void of malice.
 f By the meat and drinke, is ment the worde of God and the ministratio of the sacraments, whereby God nourieth his seruants in his house, w.

15 g Church. g For the wicked wil contemne him & labour to diffame him.
 h Meaning, them that are incorrigible, which Christ calleth dogs & swine: or he speaketh this in comparisou, not that y wicked shuld not be rebuked, but he sheweth their malice, and the small hope of profite.

¹ He sheweth what true vnderstanding is, to know & wil of God in his worde, & is ment by holie things.
^k Thou shalt haue the chief profite, and commoditie thereof.
^l By & foolish woman, some vnderstand, the wicked preachers, who counterfeit & worde of God, as appeareth ver. 10, & were true worles of the true teachers, as ver. 4: but their doctrine is but as stolle waters: meaning that they are but mens traditions, which are more pleasant to & flesh then & worde of God and therefore they them selues boast thereof.

¹⁵ vnderstanding.

¹¹ For thy dayes shalbe multiplied by me, and the yeres of thy life shalbe augmented.

¹² If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for thy self, and if thou be a scorner, thou alone shalt suffice.

¹³ ¶ A foolish woman is troublesome: she is ignorant, and knoweth nothing.

¹⁴ But she sitteth at the dore of her house on a seat in the hye places of the citie,

¹⁵ To call them that passe by the way, that go right on their way, saying,

¹⁶ Who so is simple, let him come hether, and to him that is destitute of wisdom, she saith also,

¹⁷ Stollen waters are swete, and hid bread is pleasant.

¹⁸ But he knoweth not, that the dead are there, and that her ghesles are in the depth of hel.

CHAP. X.

In this chapter and all that followe vnto the thirtieth, the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which he calleth parables, to followe vertue, and flee vice and sheweth also what profite cometh of wisdom, & what hinderance proceedeth of foolishnes.

THE PARABLES OF SALOMON.

Chap. 15. 20. ¹ A Wise sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauines to his mother

^a That is, wickedly gotten. ² The treasures of wickednes a profite nothing: but righteousness deliuereth fro death.

^b Though he suffer & iuste to want for a time, yet he wil send him comfort in due season. ³ The Lord wil not famish the soule of the righteous: but he casteth away the substance of the wicked.

⁴ A flouthful hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh riche.

⁵ He that gathereth in sommer, is the sonne of wisdom: but he that slepeth in haruest, is the sonne of confusion.

⁶ Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shal couer the mouth of the wicked.

⁷ The memorial of the iuste shalbe blessed: but the name of the wicked shal rotte.

⁸ The wise in heart wil receiue commadements: but the foolish in talke shalbe beaten.

⁹ He that walketh vp rightly, walketh boldly: but he that peruerteth his waies, shal be knownen.

¹⁰ He that winketh with the eye, worketh sorowe, and he that is foolish in talke, shalbe beaten.

¹¹ The mouth of a righteous man is a well spring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.

¹² Hatred stirreth vp contentions: but loue couereth all trespasses.

¹³ In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding wisdom is founde, and a rod shalbe for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdome.

¹⁴ Wise men laye vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is a present destruction.

¹⁵ The riche mans goods are his strong citie: but the feare of the nedie is their pouertie.

¹⁶ The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne.

¹⁷ He that regardeth instruction, is in the way of life: but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.

¹⁸ He that dissembleth hatred with lying lippes, and he that inuenieth scandre, is a foole.

¹⁹ In manie wordes there can not wat iniquitie: but he that refraineth his lippes, is wise.

²⁰ The tongue of the iuste man is as fined silver: but the heart of the wicked is litle worthe.

²¹ The lippes of the righteous do fede manie: but fooles shal dye for want of wisdom.

²² The blessing of the Lord, it maketh riche, and he doeth adde no sorowes with it.

²³ It is as a passe time to a foole to do wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man.

²⁴ That which the wicked feareth, shal come vpon him: but God wil grante the desire of the righteous.

²⁵ As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlasting fundacion.

²⁶ As vinegre is to & teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the flouthful to them that send him.

²⁷ The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the yeres of the wicked shalbe diminished.

²⁸ The pacient abiding of the righteous shalbe gladnes: but the hope of the wicked shal perish.

²⁹ The way of the Lord is strength to the vp right man: but feare shalbe for the workers of iniquitie.

³⁰ The righteous shal neuer be remoued: but the wicked shal not dwell in the land.

³¹ The mouth of the iuste shalbe fruteful in wisdom: but the tongue of the frowarde shal be cut out.

³² The lippes of the righteous knowe what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh frowarde things.

CHAP. XI.

¹ False balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfite weight pleaseth him.

² When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowlie is wisdom.

Yy.ii.

^h And so maketh him bold to do euil, where as pouertie bridleth the poore from manie euil things.

^a For they speake truth and cast manie by exhortations, admonition and counsel.
^k Meaning, & all worldelie things bring care, & sorow, where as they that feele the blessings of God, haue none.

^l He is but a trouble, and grief to him that setteth him about anie business.
^m The time of their prosperitie is shorte, because of their great fall, though they seme to liue long.

ⁿ They enioye in this life by faith, and hope their euerlasting life.

^a Vnder this worde he conueneth all false weights, measures and deceit.
^b When man forgetteth himself, and thinketh to be exalted aboue his vocation, then God bringeth him to confusion.

3 The vprightenes of the iuste shal guide them: but the frowardnes of the transgressors shal destroye them.

*Ezek. 7. 19.
eccles. 5. 10.*

4 * Riches auaille not in the day of wrath: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousness of the vpright shal direct his way: but the wicked shal fall in his owne wickednes.

6 The righteousness of the iuste shal deliuer them: but the transgressors shal be take in their owne wickednes.

Wisd. 5. 15.

7 * When a wicked man dyeth, his hope perissheth, and the hope of the vniust shal perish.

8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, & the wicked shal come in his stead.

That is, shal enter into trouble.

A dissembler that pretendeth friendship, but is a prauie enemy.

*The countrey is blessed, where there is godlie men, & they ought to reioyce, when the wicked are take away.
Or, prosperitie.*

9 An hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shal be deliuered by knowledge.

10 In the prosperitie of the righteous the citie is reioyced, and when the wicked perissheth, there is ioye.

11 By the blessing of y righteous, the citie is exalted: but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked.

Will not make light report of others.

12 He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisdom: but a man of vnderstanding wil kepe silence.

13 He that goeth about as a scladerer, discouereth a secret: but he that is of a faithful heart, conceileth a matter.

Where God giueth store of men of wisdom, and counsel.

Whose conuersation he knoweth not.

He y doeth not without iudgement, and consideration of the circumstances put him self in danger.

As Chap 6. 1.

Or, modest.

Is bothe good to him self, and to others.

Or, neighbour.

14 Where no counsel is, the people fall: but where manie counselors are, there is health.

15 He shal be sore vexed, that is suretie for a stranger, and he that hateth suretieship, is sure.

16 A gracious woman attaineth honour, & the strong men attaine riches.

17 He that is merciful, rewardeth his owne soule: but he that troubleth his owne flesh, is cruel.

18 The wicked worketh a disceitful worke: but he that soweth righteousness, shal receiue a sure rewarde.

19 As righteousness leadeth to life: so he that followeth euil, seeketh his owne death.

20 They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpright in their way, are his delite.

I Though they make neuer so manie friends, nor thinke the felnes neuer so sure, yet they shal nor escape.

Or, in vncomely behauiour.

They can looke for nothing but Gods vengeance.

Meaning the, that giue liberally, whome God blesteth.

That is, the niggard.

Ebr. the soule of blessing shal be made for.

21 Though hand royne in had, the wicked shal not be vnperished: but the fede of the righteous shal escape.

22 As a iewel of golde in a swines snoute: so is a faire woman, which lacketh discretio.

23 The desire of the righteous is onely good: but the hope of the wicked is indignacion.

24 There is that scattereth, and is more increased: but he that spareth more, then is right, surely cometh to pouertie.

25 The liberal persone shal haue plentie: and he that watereth, shal also haue raine.

26 He that with draweth the corne, the people wil curse him: but blessing shal be vpon the head of him that selleth corne.

27 He that seeketh good things, getteth fauour: but he that seeketh euil, it shal come to him.

28 He that trusteth in his riches, shal fall: but the righteous shal flourish as a leafe.

29 He that troubleth his owne house, shal inherite y winde, and the foole shal be seruuant to the wise in heart.

30 The frute of the righteous is as a tre of life, and he that winneth soules, is wise.

31 Beholde, the righteous shal be recompensed in the earth: how much more the wicked and the sinner?

CHAP. XII.

HE that loueth instructio, loueth knowledge: but he that hateth correction, is a foole.

2 A good man getteth fauoure of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginations wil be condemne.

3 A man can not be establisht by wickednes: but the roote of the righteous shal not be moued.

4 A verteous woman is the crowne of her housband: but she that maketh him ashamed, is as corruption in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the iuste are right: but the counsels of the wicked are disceitful.

6 The talking of the wicked is to lie in wait for blood: but the mouth of the righteous wil deliuer them.

7 God ouerthroweth the wicked, and they are not: but the house of y righteous shal stand.

8 A man shal be commended for his wisdom: but the froward of heart shal be despised.

9 He that is despised, and is his owne seruuant, is better then he that boasteth him self and lacketh bread.

10 A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruel.

11 He that tilleth his land, shal be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, is destitute of vnderstanding.

12 The wicked desireth the net of euils: but the roote of the righteous giueth frute.

13 The euil man is snared by the wickednes of his lippes, but the iust shal come out of aduersitie.

14 A man shal be satiate with good things by the frute of his mouth, and the recompense of a mans hands shal God giue vnto him.

15 The way of a foole is right in his owne eyes: but he that heareth counsel, is wise.

16 A foole in a day shal be known by his angre:

p That prometh for y use of them that are in necessitie.

q The couerto men y spare their riches to the hinderance of their families, shal be depriued thereof miserably.

r For though y wicked be riche, yet are they but slaves to y godlies.

w are the true possessors of y giftes of God.

f That is, bringeth them to the knowledge of God.

t Shal be punished as he deserueth, as a They are so grounded in y fauour of God, that their roe shal prosper continually.

1 Pet 4. 12.

Ebr. strong or persual.

b As their conscience is vpright, so shal they be able to speake for them selues against their accusers.

c The poore man that is condemned, & yet liueth of his owne travail.

d Is merciful, euen to the very beast that doeth him seruice.

Chap. 14. 5.
^h Which seke nothing more then to proue others to angre

17 He that speaketh trueth, wil shewe righteousness: but a false witness shall disceit.

18 * There is that speaketh wordes like the prickings of a sword: but the tongue of wise men is health.

19 The lippe of trueth shall be stable for euer: but a lying tongue varieth incontinently.

20 Disceit is in the heart of them that imagine euil: but to the counsellors of peace shall be reue.

21 There shall none iniquitie come to the iuste: but the wicked are full of euil.

22 The lying lippes are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truly are his delite.

23 A wise man conceileth knowledge: but the heart of the fooles publisheth foolishnes.

Chap. 10. 4.

24 * The hand of the diligent shall beate the reul: but the idle shall be vnprofitable.

25 Heauines in the heart of man doeth bring it downe: but a good worde reioyceth it.

^h This is, wordes of comfort, or a chereful minde, which is declared by his wordes, reioyceth a man, as a courteous minde killeth him
^h That is, more liberal in giuing
In Although he getteth much by vnprofitable meanes, yet will he not spend it upon himself

26 The righteous is more excellent then his neighbour: but the way of the wicked wil disceue them.

27 The disceitful man roseth not, that he is toke in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man are precious.

28 Life is in the way of righteousness, and in that pathway there is no death.

CHAP. XIII.

^h A Wise sonne wil obey the instruction of his father: but a scorner wil heare not rebuke.

2 A man shall eat good things by the fruite of his mouth: but the soule of the trespassers shall suffer violence.

^h If he vse his tongue to Gods glorie, and the praise of his neighbour, God shall bless him

3 He that kepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: but he that openeth his lippes, destruction shall be to him.

^h He neuer desisteth, but taketh no paines to getteth anything.

4 The sluggarde lusteth, but his soule hath no night: but the soule of the diligent shall haue plentie.

5 A righteous man hateth lying wordes: but the wicked causeth slander and shame.

Chap. 10. 4.

6 Righteousnes preferreth the vpright of life: but wickednes ouerthroweth the sinner.

^h For his poverty, he is not able to escape the threatenings, which his oppressors vse against him.

7 There is that maketh him self riche, and hath nothing, & that maketh him self poore, hauing great riches.

^h When a man is content to haue his preeminence, he will not giue place to another
^h That is, goods euil gotten ^h That is, with his owne labour

8 A man wil giue his riches for the raufome of his life: but the poore can not heare the reproche.

9 The light of the righteous reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked shall be put out.

10 * Onely by pride doeth man make contention: but with the well aduised is wisdom.

11 The riches of vanitie shall diminish: but he that gathereth with the hand, shall increase them.

crease them.

12 The hope that is deferred, is the fainting of the heart: but when the desire cometh, it is as a tree of life.

13 He that despiseth the worde, he shall be destroyed: but he that teareth the commandment, he shall be rewarded.

^h Meaning, wordes of God, whereby he is admonished of his dutie.

14 The instruction of a wise man is as the well spring of life, to turne away from the snares of death.

15 Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the disobedient is hated.

16 Euerie wise man wil worke by knowledge: but a foole wil spread abroad follie.

17 * A wicked messenger fallth into euil: but a faithful ambassadour is preseruation.

Chap. 25. 15.
^h Binger, manie into menies borne to him selfe and to others

18 Pouertie and shame is to him that refuseth instruction: but he that regardeth correction, shall be honoured.

19 A desire accomplished deliue the soule: but it is an abomination to fooles to departe from euil.

20 He that walketh with the wise, shall be wise: but a companion of fooles shall be afflicted.

^h As he is partaker of their wickednes, & biueth with their vices, so shall he be punished alike as they are
^h Read Iob, 27. 16
^h God blesteth the labour of the poore, & comforteth their goods, which are negligene, because they thinke they haue enough.

21 A afflictio followeth sinners: but vnto the righteous God wil recompense good.

22 The good man shall giue inheritance vnto his children: and the riches of the sinner is laid vp for the iuste.

23 Muche foode is in the field of the poore: but the field is destroyed without discretio.

24 * He spareth his rod, hateth his sonne: but he that loueth him, chasteneth him betime.

25 The righteous eaterh to the contentation of his minde: but the bellie of the wicked shall want.

Chap. 23. 13.
Eccl. 30. 1.

CHAP. XIII.

^h A Wise woman buyldeth her house: but the foolish destroyeth it with her owne hands.

^h That is, taketh paines to profite her familie and so as that which concerneth her dutie in her house

2 * He that walketh in his righteousness, feareth the Lord: but he that is lewde in his waies, despiseth him.

Iob 12. 4.
^h That is, in vprightnes of heart and without hypocritie

3 In the mouth of the foolish is the rodde of pride: but the lippes of the wise preferre them.

4 Where none oxen are, there the crib is emptie: but muche increaseth cometh by the strength of the ox.

^h His wroude tongue that cause him to be punished
^h By the oxen is meant labour, and by the cribbe the barne meaning, without labour there is no profite

5 A faithful witness wil not lye: but a false recorde wil speake lyes.

6 A scorner seeketh wisdom, and findeth it not: but knowledge is easie to him that wil vnderstand.

^h For his maintenance of his owne ambitio and not for Gods glorie, as Simon magus.

7 Departe from the foolish man, when thou perceiuest not in him the lippes of knowledge.

8 The wisdom of the prudent is to vnderstand his way: but the foolishnes of the fooles is disceit.

f. Doeth not knowe y^e gricuousnes thereof nor Gods iudgements agaiſt the ſame.

9 The foole maketh a mocke of ſinne: but among the righteous there is fauour.

10 The heart knoweth the bitterneſſe of his ſoule, and the ſtranger ſhal not medle with his ioye.

11 The houſe of y^e wicked ſhalbe deſtroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous ſhal flouriſh.

12 * There is a way which ſemeth right to a man: but the yſſues thereof are the wayes of death.

13 Euen in laughing the heart is ſorowful, and the end of that mirth is heauines.

14 The heart that declineth, ſhalbe ſolate with his owne wayes: but a good man ſhal departe from him.

15 The fooliſh wil beleue euerie thing: but the prudent wil conſider his ſteppes.

16 A wiſe man feareth, and departeth from euil: but a foole rageth, and is careleſſe.

17 He that is haſt ie to angre, committeth folie, and a buſie bodie is hated.

18 The fooliſh do inherite folie: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19 The euil ſhal bowe before the good, and the wicked at the gates of the righteous.

20 The poore is hated euen of his owne neighbour: but the friends of the riche are manie.

21 The ſinner deſpiſeth his neighbour: but he that hath mercie on the poore, is bliſſed.

22 Do not they erre that imagine euil? but to them that thinke on good things, ſhalbe mercie, and truth.

23 In all labour there is abundance: but the talke of the lippes bringeth onely want.

24 The crowne of the wiſe is their riches, & the folie of foolles is fooliſhnes.

25 A faithfull witneſſe deliuereth ſoules: but a diſceiuer ſpeaketh lies.

26 In y^e feare of y^e Lord is an aſſured ſtrength, and his children ſhal haue hope.

27 The feare of the Lord is as a well ſpring of life, to auoide the ſnares of death.

28 In the multitude of the people is the honour of a King, and for the want of people cometh the deſtruction of the prince.

29 He that is ſlowe to wrath, is of great wiſdome: but he that is of an haſtie minde, exalteth folie.

30 A ſound heart is the life of the fleſh: but enuie is the rotting of the bones.

31 * He that oppreſſeth the poore, reprooueth him that made him: but he honoureth him that hath mercie on the poore.

32 The wicked ſhalbe caſt away for his malice: but the righteous hath hope in his death.

33 Wiſdome reſteth in the heart of him that hath vnderſtanding, and is knowne in the middes of foolles.

34 Juſtice exalteth a nation, but ſinne is a ſhame to the people.

35 The pleaſure of a King is in a wiſe ſeruant: but his wrath ſhalbe toward him that is lewde.

3 The eyes of the Lord in euerie place beholde the euil and the good.

4 A whoſome tongue is as a tre of life: but the frowardnes thereof is the breaking of the minde.

5 A foole deſpiſeth his fathers inſtruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent.

6 The houſe of the righteous hath muche treaſure: but in the reuenues of the wicked is a trouble.

7 The lippes of the wiſe do ſpread abroad knowledge: but the heart of the fooliſh doeth not ſo.

8 The ſacrifice of the wicked is abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of y^e righteous is acceptable vnto him.

9 The way of the wicked is an abomination vnto the Lord: but he loueth him y^e followeth righteouſnes.

10 Inſtruction is euil to him that forſaketh the way, & he y^e hateth correction, ſhal dye.

11 Hel & deſtruction are before the Lord: how much more the hearts of the ſonnes of men?

12 A ſcorner loueth not him that rebuketh him, neither wil he go vnto the wiſe.

13 * A ioyful heart maketh a chereful countenance: but by the ſorow of the heart the minde is heauie.

14 The heart of him that hath vnderſtanding, ſeketh knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is fed with fooliſhnes.

15 All y^e daies of the afflicted are euil: but a good conſcience is a continual feaſt.

16 * Better is a litle with y^e feare of the Lord, the great treaſure and trouble therewith. Pſal. 37. 26.

17 Better is a dinner of grene herbes where loue is, then a ſtalled ox and hatred therewith.

18 * An angrie man ſtirreth vp ſtriſe: but he that is ſlowe to wrath, appeaſeth ſtriſe. Chap. 29. 22.

19 The way of a ſlouthful man is as an hedge of thornes: but the way of y^e righteous is plaine.

20 * A wiſe ſonne reioyceth the father: but a fooliſh man deſpiſeth his mother.

21 Fooliſhnes is ioye to him that is deſtitute of vnderſtanding: but a man of vnderſtanding walketh vprightly.

22 Without counſel thoughtes come to nought: but in the multitude of counſellers there is ſtedfaſtneſſe.

before thee,

And put the knife to thy throte, if thou be a mangiuen to the appetite.

Be not desirous of his deintie meats: c for it is a disceruible meat.

Ti auail not to muche to be riche: but cease from thy d wisdom.

Wilt thou cast thine eyes vpon it, which is nothing: for riches takerh her to her win-ges, as an egle, and flieth into the heauen.

Eat y not the bread of him that hathe an

For as thogh he thought it in his heart, so wil he say vnto thee, Eat and drinke: but his heart is not with thee.

Thou shalt vomit thy f morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lose thy swete
wordes.

Speak not in the eares of a fool: for he wil despise the wisdom of thy wordes.

 Remoue not the ancient boundes, and entre not into the fields of the fatherles.

For he that redemeth the, is mightie: he wil defende their cause against thee.

24 The father of the righteous shal greatly reioyce, & that begetteth a wife childe, shal haue ioye of him.

25 Thy father and thy mother shal be glad, and she that bare thee, shal reioyce.

1 Give thy self wholly to wisdom
Chap. 22, 14.

26 My sonne, giue me thine heart, and let thine eyes deuide in my wayes.

Chap. 7, 1.

27 For a whore is as a deepe ditch, & a strange woman as a narrow pit.
28 Also she lieth in wait, as for a pray, and she increaseth the transgressors among men.

m She seduceeth manie, & caueth them so offend God

29 To whome is woe to whome is sorowe, to whome is strife, to whome is murmuring, to whome are woundes without cause, & to whome is the rednes of the eyes.

30 Euen to them that tarie long at the wine, to them that go, and seke mixt wine.

a Which by art make wine stronger, and more pleasant.

31 Loke not thou vpon the wine, when it is red, & when it sheweth his colour in the cuppe, or goeth downe pleasantly.

32 In the end thereof it wil bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice.

a That is, dronkennes shal bring thee to whoredome

33 Thine eyes shal loke vpon strange womē, and thine heart shal speake lewde things.

p In such great danger shalt thou be q Thogh dronkennes make them more insensible then beasts, yet can they not refrain

34 And thou shalt be as one that slepeth in the middes of the sea, and as he that slepeth in the top of the mast.

35 They haue stricken me, shalt thou say, but I was not sicke: they haue beaten me, but I knewe not, when I awoke: therefore wil I seke it yet stil.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Be not thou enuious against euil men, nether desire to be with them.

2 For their heart imagineth destruction, and their lippes speake mischief.

3 Through wisdom is an house buylded, and with vnderstanding it is established.

4 And by knowledge shal the chambers be filled with all precious, & pleasant riches.

5 A wise man is strong: for a man of vnderstanding encreaseth his strength.

Chap. 20, 18.

6 For with counsel thou shalt enterprise thy warre, and in the multitude of them that can giue counsel, is health.

a In the place where wisdom shulde be shewed.

7 Wisdom is hie to a foole: therefore he can not open his mouth in the gate.

8 He that imagineth to do euil, men shal call him an autor of wickednes.

9 The wicked thought of a foole is sinne, and the scorner is an abomination vnto men.

b Man hath no cryal of his strength til he be in troubles.
c None can be excused, if he helpe not the innocent, who is in danger.

10 If thou be faint in the day of aduersitie, thy strength is smal.

11 Deliuere them that are drawn to death: and wilt thou not preferue them that are led to blame.

12 If thou say, Beholde, we knewe not of it: he that pōdereth the hearts, doeth not he vnderstand it: and he that keepeth thy soule, knoweth he it not: wil not he also recompense euery man according to his workes?

13 My sonne, eat thou honie, for it is good, and the honie combe, for it is swete vnto thy mouth.

d As honie is swete & pleasant to the soule, so wisdom is to the soule.

14 So shal the knowledge of wisdom be vnto thy soule, if thou finde it, and there shal be an end, and thine hope shal not be cut of.

e Or, reward.

15 Lay no waite, O wicked man, against the house of the righteous, and spoyle not his resting place.

16 For a iuste man falleth fewen times, & riseth againe: but the wicked fall into mischief.

e He is subiect to many perils but God deliuereth him

17 Be thou not glad when thine enemy falleth, and let not thine heart reioyce when he stumbleth, 18 Lest the Lord see it, and it displease him, and he turne his wrath from him.

f To be angered on thee.

19 Fearing not thy self because of the malicious, nether be enuious at the wicked.

g Meaning, either of the wicked, and sedicious, as vers. 19, and 21, or of them that feare not God nor obey their King 20 For there shal be none end of plagues to the euil man: the light of the wicked shal be put out.

h Psal. 37, 1. Chap. 23, 17.

21 My sonne, feare the Lord, and the King, & meddle not with them that are sedicious.

22 For their destruction shal rise suddenly, & who knoweth the ruine of them & bothe?

g Meaning, either of the wicked, and sedicious, as vers. 19, and 21, or of them that feare not God nor obey their King

23 ALSO THESE THINGS PERTAIN TO THE WISE, It is not good to haue respect of any persone in iudgement.

24 He that faith to the wicked, Thou art righteous, him shal the people curse, and the multitude shal abhorre him.

i Ebr. as knoweth the face

25 But to them that rebuke him, shal be pleasure, and vpon them shal come the blessing of goodnes.

26 They shal kisse the lippes of him that answereth vpriight wordes.

27 Prepare thy worke without, and make ready thy things in the field, and after, buylde thine house.

h Be sure of it means how to compass it before thou take any enterprise in hand.

28 Be not a witnes against thy neighbour without cause: for wilt thou deceiue with thy lippes?

29 Say not, I wil do to him, as he hath done to me, I wil recompense euery man according to his worke.

Chap. 20, 22.

30 I passed by the field of the slothful, & by the vineyard of the man destitute of vnderstanding.

i He sheweth what is the nature of the wicked, to reuenge wrong for wrong.

31 And lo, it was all growen ouer with thornes, & nettles had couered the face thereof, and the stone wall thereof was broken downe.

32 Then I behelde, and I considered it wel: I looked vpon it, and receiued instruction.

33 Yet a little slepe, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to slepe.

k That I might learne by another mans fault

34 So thy pouertie cometh as one that reuileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.

THE glorie of God is to conceale a thing secret: but the Kings honour is to search out a thing.

The heauens in height, and the earth in depenes, and the Kings heart can no man search out.

Take the dross from the siluer, and there shall procede a vessel for the fines.

Take away the wicked from the King, and his throne shall be stablished in righteousness.

Boast not thy self before the King, and stand not in the place of great men.

For it is better, that it be said vnto thee, Come vp hither, than thou be put lower in the presence of the prince whome thine eyes haue sene.

Go not forth hastily to strife, lest thou knowe not what to do in the end thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame.

Disbate thy matter with thy neighbour, & discover not the secret to another,

Lest he that heareth it, put thee to shame, and thine infamie do not cease.

A worde spoken in his place, is like apples of golde with pictures of siluer.

He that reproveth the wise, and the obedient: are, as a golden earing and an ornament of an girdle

As the colde of the snow in the time of harvest, so is a faithfull messenger to them that find him: for he refresheth the soule of his masters.

A man that boasteth of false liberaltie, is like cloudes and winde without raine.

A prince is pacified by staying of anger, and a soft tongue breaketh iron bones.

If thou haue founde honie, eat that is sufficient for thee, lest thou be ouerfull, and vomit it.

Withdraw thy foot from thy neighbours house, lest he be weary of thee, and hate thee.

A man that beareth false witness against his neighbour, is like an hammer & a sword, and a sharpe arrowe.

Confidence in an vnfaithful man in time of trouble is like a broken towre and a sliding fote.

He that taketh away the garment in cold season, is like wine gathered vpon a thorn, or like him that singeth songs to an heauie heart.

If he that hateth thee be hungry, giue him bread to eat, and if he be thirstie, giue him water to drinke.

For thou shalt lay thy coles vpon his head, and the Lord shall recompense thee.

As the Northwind driueth away the raine, so doeth an angry countenance flye scolding tongue.

It is better to dwell in a corner of the house toppe, than with a contentious woman in a wide house.

As are the colde waters to a wearie soule, so is good newes from a farre countrey.

A righteous man falling downe before the wicked, is like a troubled well, and a corrupt spring.

It is not good to eat much honie. So to search their owne glorie is not glorie.

A man that refraineth not his appetite, is like a citie which is broken downe, & without walles.

CHAP. XXVI.

As the snow in the sommer, and as the raine in the haruest are not mete, so is honour vnseemely for a foole.

As the sparrow by flying, and the swalowe by flying escape, so the curse that is caused, shall not come.

Vnto the horse belongeth a whip, to the asse a bridle, and a rodde to the foolles backe.

Answer not a foole according to his foolishnes, lest thou also be like him.

Answer a foole according to his foolishnes, lest he be wise in his owne conceite.

He that sendeth a message by the hand of a foole, is as he that cutteth off the fete, and drinketh iniquitie.

As they that lift vp the legges of the lame, so is a parable in a foolles mouth.

As the closing vp of a precious stone in an heape of stones, so is he that giueth glorie to a foole.

A thorne standing vp in the hand of a drunkard, so is a parable in the mouth of foolles.

The excellent that formed all things, bothe rewardeth the foole and rewardeth the transgressors.

As a dogge turneth againe to his owne vomite, so a foole turneth to his foolishnes.

Seekest thou a man wise in his owne conceite? more hope is of a foole then of him.

The slouthful man saith. A lyon is in the waye: a lyon is in the streets.

The dore turneth vpon his hinges, so doth the slouthful man vpon his bed.

The slouthful hideth his hand in his bosome, and it grieveth him to put it agayne to his mouth.

The sluggard is wise in his owne conceit, than seven men that can rendre a reason.

He that passeth by and medleth with the strife that belongeth not vnto him, is as a dogge that taketh a dogge by the eares.

- 18 As he that faineth him self mad, casteth fyre brandes, arrowes and mortal things, 19 So dealeth the deceitful man with his friend and faith, Am not I in sporte?
20 Without wood the fyre is quenched, & without a tale bearer strife ceaseth.
21 As the cole maketh burning coles, and wood a fyre, so the contentious man is apt to kindle strife.
22 The wordes of a tale bearer are as flat- terings, and they go downe into the bowels of the bellie.
23 As siluer drosse ouerlaid vpon a pot- shard, so are burning lippes, and an euil

24 He that hateth, wil counterfait with his lippes, but in his heart he layeth vp deceit.

thers ^d house in the day of thy calamitie:
for better is a neighbour that is nere, then a brother farre off.
11 My sonne, be wise, & reioyce mine heart, that I may answer him that reprocheth
me.
12 A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himself: but the foolish go on stil, and are punished.

- 13  Take his garment that is suretie for a* stranger, & a pledge of him for the strager.
14 He that ^e praiseth his friend with a low-de voyce, rising ^f early in the morning, it shalbe counted to him as a curse.
15  A continual dropping in the day of rai-* ne, and a contentious woman are a like.
16 He that hideth her, hideth the wunde, & she is as the oyle in his right hand, that viti-reth it self.
17 Yron sharpeneth yron, so doeth ^g a man sharpen the face of his friend.
18 He that kepeth the figge tre, shal eat the frute thereof: so he that waiteth vpon his master, shal come to honour.
19 As a water face answereth to face, h so the heart of man to man.
20 The graue and destruction can neuer be ful, so ⁱ the eyes of man can neuer be satisffied.
21  As is the fining pot for siluer & the for-* nace for golde, so is euerie man according to his dignitie.
22 Thogh thou shuldest braye a foole in a morter among wheat brayed with a pes-tel, yet wil not his foolishnes departe from him.
23 Be diligent to knowe the state of thy flocke, and take hede to the heards.
24 For riches remain not alwaye, nor the crowne from generation to generation.
25 The heye discouereth it self, and the grasse appeareth, and the herbes of the mountaines are gathered.
26 The ^k lambs are for thy clothing, and the goats are the price of the field.
27 And let the milke of the goats be sufficient for thy foode, for the foode of thy familie, and for the sustinance of thy mai-des.

CHAP. XXVIII.

- THE wicked ^a flee when none pursu-

3 A poore man, if he oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine, that leaueth no fo-ode.
4 They that forsake the Law, praise the wicked: but they that kepe the Law, set the selues against them.
5 Wicked men vnderstand not iudgements:
but they that feke the Lord, vnderstand all things.
6  Better is the poore that walketh in his* vprightnes, then he that peruertereth his waies, thogh he be riche.

Whose praier God hateth. Prouerbes. The want of the word 127/1224

- 7 He that kepeth the law, is a childe of vnderstanding, but he that fedeth the gluttons, shameth his father.
- 8 He that increaseth his riches by vsurie and interest, gathereth them for him that wil be merciful vnto the poore.
- 9 He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his praier shal be abominable.
- 10 He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euil way, shal fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shal inherit good things.
- 11 The riche man is wise in his owne conceit: but the poore that hathe vnderstanding, can trye him.
- 12 * When righteous men reioyce, there is great glorie: but when the wicked come vp, the man is tryed.
- 13 He that hideth his sinnes, shal not prosper: but he that confesseth, and forsaketh them, shal haue mercie.
- 14 Blessed is the man that seaueth alwaye: but he that hardeneth his heart, shal fall into euil.
- 15 As a roaring lyon, and an hūgrie beare, so is a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.
- 16 A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but he that hateth couetousnes, shal prolong his daies.
- 17 A man that doeth violence against the blood of a persone, shal sle vnto the graue, and then shal not stay him.
- 18 He that walketh vprightly, shal be saved: but he that is froward in his waies, shal once fall.
- 19 * He that tilleth his land, shal be satisfied with bread: but he y followeth the ydle, shal be filled with pouertie.
- 20 A faithfull man shal abounde in blessings, & he that maketh haste to be riche, shal not be innocent.
- 21 To haue respect of persones is not good: for that man wil transgresse for a piece of bread.
- 22 A man with a wicked eye hasteth to riches, and knoweth not, that pouertie shal come vpon him.
- 23 He that rebuketh a man, shal finde more fauour at the length, then he that flattereth with his tongue.
- 24 He that robbeth his father and mother, & saith, it is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth.
- 25 He that is of a proude heart, stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shal be made fat.
- 26 He that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but he that walketh in wisdom, shal be deliuered.
- He that giueth vnto the poore, shal not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, shal haue many curses.

- 28 * When the wicked rise vp, men hide themselves: but when they perish, the righteous increase.

CHAP. XXX.

- 1 A Man that hardeneth his necke, when he is rebuked, shal suddenly be destroyed and can not be cured.

- 2 * When the righteous are in autoritie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh.

- 3 A mā that loueth wisdom, reioyceth his father: * but he that fedeth harlots, wasteth his substance.

- 4 A King by iudgement maintaineth the country: but a man receiuing giftes, destroyeth it.

- 5 A man y flattereth his neighbour, & spreadeth a net for his steppes.

- 6 In the transgression of an euil man is his snare: but the righteous doeth sing and reioyce.

- 7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regaileth not knowledge.

- 8 Scornful men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

- 9 If a wise man contend with a foolish man, whether he be angrie or laugh, there is no rest.

- 10 Bloodie men hate him that is vpright: but the iuste haue care of his soule.

- 11 A foole powreth out all his minde: but a wise man kepeth it in til afterwarde.

- 12 Of a prince that hearkeneth to lyes, all his seruants are wicked.

- 13 * The poore and the vsurer mete together, and the Lord lightneth bothe their eyes.

- 14 * A King that iudgeth the poore in truth, his throne shal be established for euer.

- 15 The rodde and correction giue wisdom: but a childe set at libertie, maketh his mother ashamed.

- 16 When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shal se then fall.

- 17 Correct thy sonne and he wil giue thee rest, and wil giue pleasures to thy soule.

- 18 d Where there is no vision, the people decay: but he that kepeth the Law, is blessed.

- 19 A seruant wil not be chastised with wordes: thogh he vnderstand, yet he wil not answer.

ECCLESIASTES, OR the Preacher.

THE ARGUMENT.

Salomōn, as a preacher and one that desired to instruct a' in the way of saluation, describeth the deceuall: vanities of this worlde, that man shoulde not be addicted to anie thing, grauer the seruice, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heauenlie life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which set their felicitie, ether in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that mans true felicitie consisteth in that that he is vnited with God and shal enioye his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as muche as they further vs to attaine to this heauenlie treasure, which is sure and permanent, and can not be founde in anie other saue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

^a All things in this worlde are ful of vanitie, and of none ^b endurance. ^c All mans wisdom is but false and grief.

He wordes of the ^a Preacher, the sonne of Dauid King in Ierusalem.

^b Vanitie of vanities, faith ^c y Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.

^d What remaineth vnto mā in all his ^e tra-uall, which he suffereth vnder the sunne?

^a One generacion passeth, and another generacion succedeth: but the earth remaineth for ^b euer.

^c The sunne riseth, & the sunne goeth downe, & draweth to his place, where he riseth.

^d The ^e winde goeth toward ^f y South, & cōpasseth toward ^g y North: the winde goeth iound about, & returneth by his circuites.

^h ¶ All the riuers go into the sea, yet the sea is not ful: for the riuers go vnto the place, ⁱ One man dieth after another, and the earth remaineth longest, vnto the last daie, which yet is subiect to corruption

^j By this sunne, winde and riuers he sheweth that the greatest labour and longest hath an end, and therefore there can be no iusticie in this worlde

^k Eccles. 4. 1.

^a Salomōn is here called a Preacher, or one that addeblith the people, because he teacheth the true knowledge of God, & how men ought to passe their life in this transitorie world

^b He condemneth the opinions of all men that set felicitie in anie thing, but in God alone, seeing that in this worlde all things are as vanitie and nothing

^c Salomōn doeth not commend man's labour or diligence, but sheweth that there is no full contentation in anie thing vnder y heauen, nor in anie creature, for in muche as all things are transitorie.

f The sea & compasseth all the earth, filcheth the vines thereof, the powre out springs and issues into the sea againe. g He speaketh of times & seasons & things done in them, which as thou haue bene in times past, so come thou to passe againe. h He proueth that if anie colde haue attained to felicitie in this worlde by labour and studie, he chiefly shulde haue obtained it, because he had gifts and aydes of God thereunto above all other. i Man of nature hath a desire to knowe, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, & is the punishment of sinne, to humble man, and to teache him to depende onely vpon God. k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to goe other wise then they do: neither can he nombre the fautes that are committed, muche lesse remedie them. l That is, vaine things, which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commoditie, but grief & trouble of conscience. m Wisdome & knowledge can not be come by without great paine of bodie and minde: for when a man hath attained to the hiest, yet is his minde neuer fully content, therefore in this worlde is no true felicitie.

f whence they returne, and go. 8 All things are full of labour: man can not utter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing. 9 What is it that hath bene that that shalbe: & what is it that hath bene done that which shalbe done: and there is no new thing vnder the sunne. 10 Is there anie thing, whereof one may say, Beholde this, it is newe: it hath bene already in the olde time: y was before vs. 11 There is no memorie of y former, neither shal there be a remembrance of the later that shalbe, with them that shal come after. 12 ¶ I the Preacher haue bene King ouer Israel in Ierusalem: 13 And I haue giuen mine heart to seach & finde out wisdome by all things that are done vnder the heauen. (this fore trauail hath God giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them thereby) 14 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne, and beholde, all is vanitie, and vexacion of the spirit. 15 That which is k crouked, can none make straight: & that w faileth, can not be nobred. 16 I thought in mine heart, & said, Beholde, I am become great, and excel in wisdome all them that haue bene before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath sene muche wisdome and knowledge. 17 And I gaue mine heart to knowe wisdome & knowledge, madnes & foolishnes: I knewe also y this is a vexacion of the spirit. 18 For in y multitude of wisdome is muche m grief: & he that encreaseth knowledge, encreaseth sorowe.

l That is, vaine things, which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commoditie, but grief & trouble of conscience. m Wisdome & knowledge can not be come by without great paine of bodie and minde: for when a man hath attained to the hiest, yet is his minde neuer fully content, therefore in this worlde is no true felicitie.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buyldings, riches and possessions are but vanitie. 14 The wise and the foole haue bothe one end, touching the bodie death.

1 I said in mine heart, Go to now, I will proue a thee with ioye: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: & beholde, this also is vanitie. 2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioye, What is this that thou doest? 3 I sought in mine heart to giue my self to wine, & to lead mine heart in b wisdome, and to take holde of folie, til I might se where is that goodnes of the children of men, which they enioye vnder the sunne: the whole number of the daies of their life. 4 I haue made my great workes: I haue buylt me houses: I haue plated me vineyards. 5 I haue made me gardens and orchardes, and planted in them trees of all frute. 6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to watter therewith the woods that growe with trees.

a Salomon maketh this discours with his self, as though he wolde trye whether there were contentation in ease and pleasures. b Ebr drawe my self to wine. c Albeit I gaue my self to pleasures, yet I thought to keepe wisdome & the feare of God in mine heart, and gouerne mine affaires by the same. d Ebr do. e Ebr paradise.

7 I haue gotten seruants & maids, and had children borne in the c house: also I had great possession of beues and shepe aboute all that were before me in Ierusalem. 8 I haue gathered vnto me also siluer and golde, and the chief treasures of Kings & prouinces: I haue prouided me me fingers and women fingers, and the d delites of the sonnes of men, as a woman e taken captiue, and women taken captiues. 9 And I was great, and encreased aboute all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdome f remained with me. 10 And what soeuer mine eyes desired, I withelde it not from the: I withdrew not mine heart from anie ioye: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour: and this was my g portion of all my trauail. 11 The I looked on all my workes that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauail that I had labored to do: and beholde, all is vanitie and vexacion of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the sunne. 12 ¶ And I turned to beholde h wisdome, & madnes and folie: (for who is the man that wil come after the King in things, which men now haue done?) 13 Then I sawe that there is profite in wisdome, more then in folie: as the light is more excellent then darkenes. 14 For the wise mans i eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darkenes: yet I knowe also that the same k condition falleth to them all. 15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to the foole. Why therefore do I the labour to be more wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vanitie. 16 For there shalbe no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole l for euer. for that that now is, in the daies to come shal all be forgotten. And m how dyeth the wise man, as doeth the foole? 17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke y is wrought vnder y sunne is grievous vnto me: for all is vanitie, & vexacion of the spirit. 18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder y sunne, which I shal leaue to the man that shalbe after me. 19 And who knoweth whether he shalbe wise or foolish? yet shal he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, & wherein I haue shewed my self wise vnder the sunne. This is also vanitie. 20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart n abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne. 21 For there is a man whose trauail is in wisdome, & in knowledge and in equitie: yet to a ma that hath not trauailed herein, shal he o giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great grief.

c Meaning, of the seruants or slaues, w he had bought: so the childre borne in their seruitude, were the masters. d That is, what soeuer men take pleasure in. e Which were the most beautiful of them that were taken in warre, as Iudges. 5. 30. Some vnderstand by these wordes, noe women but instruments of musique. f For all this God did not take his gift of wisdome from me. g This was y frute of all my labour, a certayne pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanitie in the next verse. h I bethoght with my self whether it were better to followe wisdome, or mine owne affectiōs and pleasures, which he calleth madnes. i O, compare with the King. Prom. 17. 24. k He foreseeth things, w the foole can not for lacke of wisdome. l For bothe dye & are forgotten, as verſe 16. or they bothe alike haue prosperitie or aduersitie. m Meaning, in this worlde. n He wondereth that men forget a wise man, being dead, as one as they do a fool. o That I might seeke the true felicitie which is in God. p Among other griefs this was not y least to leaue that which he had gotten by great trauail, to one y had taken no paine therefore, and whome he knew not whether he were a wise man or a foole.

Tyme for all things. Or the Preacher. Of man and beasts. 507/824

- 22 For what hath he man of all his trauail and grief of his heart, wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne?
- 23 For all his dayes are sorrowes, and his trauail grief. his heart also taketh not rest in the night, which also is vanitie.
- 24 There is no profit to man but that he eat, and drinke, and delight his soule with the profits of his labour. I sawe also this, that it was of the hand of God.
- 25 For who coulde eat, and who coulde haste to outward things more then I?
- 26 Surely to a man that is good in his fight, God giveth wisdom, and knowledge, and strength: but to the sinner he giveth paine, to gather, and to haue to give to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, & vexation of the spirit.

CHAP. III.

All things haue their time. 14 The workes of God are perfect, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iuste, and vniuste.

- TO all things there is an appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen.
- 2 A time to be borne, & a time to dye: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that, which is planted.
- 3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to buyld.
- 4 A time to wepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to dance.
- 5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be faire from embracing.
- 6 A time to kepe, and a time to lose: a time to kepe, and a time to cast away.
- 7 A time to ret, & a time to sowe: a time to kepe silence, and a time to speake.
- 8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.
- 9 What profit hath he that worketh, of thy thing wherein he trauaileth?
- 10 I haue sene the trauail that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them therby.
- 11 He hath made euerie thing beautiful in his time: also he hath set the world in their heart, yet can not man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning even to the end.
- 12 I knowe that there is nothing good in the, but to reioyce, & to do good in his life.
- 13 And also that euery man eateth and drinketh, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour, this is the gift of God.
- 14 I knowe that whatsoever God shal do, it shalbe foreuer: to it can no man adde, and fro it can none diminish: for God hath done it, they shulde feare before him.
- 15 What is that that hath bene - that is now: & that that shalbe, hath bene before God: for God requireth that which is past.

- 16 And moreover I haue sene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednes, and the place of iustice where was iniquitie.
- 17 I thought in mine heart, God wil iudge the iuste & the wicked, for time is there for euery purpose and for euery worke.
- 18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men that God had purged them: yet to see to, they are in the selues as beasts.
- 19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beastes are euery as one condition vnto them. As the one dyeth, so dyeth the other, for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man aboue the beast, for all vanitie.
- 20 All go to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shal retorne to the dust.
- 21 Who knoweth whether the spirit of man ascende vpward, and the spirit of the beast descend downward to the earth?
- 22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man shulde reioyce in his affaires, because this is his portion. For who shal biig him to see what shalbe after him?

CHAP. IIII.

- The innocents are oppressed. 4 Mens labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Mans societie is necessarie. 13 A young man poore, and wise is to be preferred to an olde King that is a foole.*
- SO I returned, and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sunne, & beholde, the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them, and the strength of the hand of them that oppress them, and none comforteth them.
- 2 Wherefore I praised the dead which are now at ease, about the liuing, which are yet at labour.
- 3 And I counted him better then them both, which hath not yet bene, for he hath not sene the euil workes which are wrought vnder the sunne.
- 4 Also I behelde all trauail, and all perfection of workes that this is the enuie of a man against his neighbour, this also is vanitie and vexation of spirit.
- 5 The foole foloweth his hands, and eateth vp his owne flesh.
- 6 Better is an handful with quietnes, then two handfule with labour and vexation of spirit.
- 7 Again I returned, and sawe vanitie vnder the sunne.
- 8 There is one alone, and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet there none end of all his trauail, neither can his eye be satisfied with riches: neither doth he thinke, For whome do I trauail, and defraude my soule of pleasure: this also is vanitie, and this is an euil trauail.

3 When thou hast vowed a vowe to God, deferre not to pay it: for he deliteth not in fooles. paye therefore y^e thou hast vowed.

4 It is better that thou shuldest not vowe, then that thou shuldest vowe and not paye it.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy flesh to sinne: nether say before the Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore shal God be angrie by thy voyce, & destroye the worke of thine hands?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, & vanities are also manie wordes: but feare thou God.

7 If in a countrey thou seeft the oppressiō of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not astonished at the matter: for he that is higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King also consisteth by the field that is tilled.

9 He that loueth siluer, shal not be satisfied with siluer, & he that loueth riches, shal be without the frute thereof: this also is vanitie.

10 When goods encrease, they are encreased that eat them: and what good cometh to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The slepe of him that trauaileth, is swete, whether he eat litle or much: but the facietie of the riche wil not suffer him to slepe.

12 There is an euil sicknes that I haue sene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches^k refused to the owners thereof for their euil.

13 And these riches perish by euil trauail, & he begetteth a sonne, and in his hand is nothing.

14 As he came forth of his mothers belly, he shal returne naked to go as he came, & shal beare away nothing of his labour, which he hath caused to passe by his had.

15 And this also is an euil sicknes that in all pointes as he came, so shal he go, and what profite hath he that he hath trauailed for the winde?

16 Also all his dayes he eateth in darkness with much grief, and in his sorow & angre.

17 Beholde then, what I haue sene good, that it is comelie to eat, and to drinke, & to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he trauaileth vnder the sunne, y^e whole nōber of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his porcion.

18 Also to euerie man to whome God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eat thereof, and to take his parte, and to enioye his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely he wil not muche remember the dayes of his life, because God answereth to the ioye of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whome God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

1 There is an euil, which I sawe vnder the sunne, and it is muche among mē: 2 A man to whome God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and he wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but a God giueth him not power to eat thereof, but a strange man shal eat it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euil sicknes.

3 If a man beget an hundreth children and liue manie yeres, and the dayes of his yeres be multiplied, and his soule be not satisfied with good things, and he be not buried, I say that an vntimelie fiute is better then he.

4 For he cometh into vanitie and goeth

8 The renewes of searh are to be preferred above all things, & appertene to this life. h Kings and princes can not mainteiner their estate without tillage, & this commendeth y^e excellencie of tillage.

into darkenes: & his name shalbe couered with darkenes.

5 Also he hathe not sene y sunne, nor knowe it: therefore this hathe more rest then the other.

6 And if he had liued a thousand yeres twise tolde, and had sene no good, shal not all go to one place?

7 All the labour of mā is for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled.

8 For what hathe the wise man more then the fool? what hathe y peoie that knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The sight of the eye is better then to walke in the lutes: this also is vanitie and vexacion of spirit.

10 What is that that hathe bene the name thereof is now named: and it is known that it is man: and he can not strue with him that is stronger then he.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to followe that which is good, and to auoide the contrarie.

SURVY there be manie things that increase vanitie & what auaileth it mā?

2 For who knoweth what is a good for man in the life & in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seing he maketh the as a shadow? For who can shewe vnto man what shalbe after him vnder y sunne?

3 A good name is better then a good oyntment, and the day of death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to go to the house of mourning, then to go to the house of feasting, because this is the end of all men, and the liuing shal lay it to his heart.

5 Angrie is better then laughter: for by a sad loke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of foolles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a mā shulde heare the song of foolles.

8 For like the noise of the thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppressio maketh a wise mā mad: and the rewarde destroyeth the heart.

10 The end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, & the pacient in spirit is better then the proude in spirit.

11 Be not y of an hastie spirit to be angrie: for angrie resteth in the bosome of foolles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou dost not enquire so wisely of this thing.

13 Wisdome is good with an inheritaunce, and excellent to them that see the sunne.

14 For man shal rest in the shadowe of wisdom, & in y shadowe of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisdom giueth life to the possessers thereof.

15 Beholde the worke of God: for who can make a straight that which he hathe made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth be of good comfort, & in the day of affliction confide: God also hathe made this contrary to that, to the intent that mā shulde finde nothing after him.

17 I haue sene all things in the daies of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be not thou iust ouermuche, nether make thy self ouer wise: wherefore shuldest thou be desolate?

19 Be not thou wicked ouermuche, nether be thou foolish: wherefore shuldest thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou late holde on this: but yet withdrawe not thine hand from that: for he that feareth God, shal come forth of them all.

21 Wisdome shal strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.

23 Giue not thine heart also to all y wordes that men speake, lest thou do heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For oftentimes also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast cursed others.

25 All this haue I proued by wisdom: I thought I wil be wise, but it went faire from me.

26 It is farre off, what maie it be, and it is a profound depenes, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, bothe I and mine heart to knowe and to enquire and to searche wisdom and reason, and to knowe the wickednes of folie, and the foolishnes of madnes,

28 And I finde more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nettes & snares, and her hands as bands: he that is good before God, shalbe deliuered from her, but y sinner shalbe taken by her.

29 Beholde, saith the Preacher, this haue I founde, seeking one by one to finde y cōte:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not. I haue founde one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not founde.

31 Onely lo, this haue I founde, that God hathe made man righteous: but they haue sought manie inuentions.

his ^a face to shine: and the ^b strength of his face shalbe changed.

2 I advertiseth thee to take hede to the ^c mouth of the King, and to the worde of the othe of God.

3 ^d Hastenot to go forth of his sight: stand not in an euil thing: for he wil do whatsoeuer pleaseth him.

4 Where the worde of the King is, there is power, and who shal say vnto him, What doest thou?

5 He that kepeth the commandement, shal knowe none euil thing, and the heart of the wise shal knowe the ^e time and iudgement.

6 For to euerie purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the ^f miserie of man is great, vpon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which shalbe: for who can tel him when it shalbe?

8 Man is not lord ^g ouer the spirit to re- teine the spirit: nether hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battel, nether shal wickednes deliuer the possesseis thereof.

9 All this haue I sene, and haue giuen mine heart to euerie worke, which is wrought vnder the sunne, and I sawe a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne ^h hurt.

10 And likewise I sawe the wicked buried, and ⁱ they returned, and they that came from the holie ^k place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euil worke is not ^l executed spedely, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in the to do euil.

12 Thogh a sinner do euil an hundreth times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I knowe that it shalbe wel with them that feare the Lord, and do reuerence before him.

13 But it shal not be wel to the wicked, nether shal he prolong his dayes: he shalbe like a shadowe, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whome it cometh according to the ^m worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whome it cometh according to the worke of the iuste: I thoght also that this is vanitie.

15 And I praised ioye: for there is no goodnes to man vnder the sunne, saue ⁿ to eat and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the sunne.

16 When I applied mine heart to knowe wisdom, and to beholde the busines that is done on earth, that nether day nor night the eyes of man take slepe,

17 Then I behelde ^o the whole worke of God, that man can not finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne. for the which man laboreth to seke it, and can not finde it: yea, and thogh the wise man thinke to knowe it, he can not finde it.

- CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man knowe whome God loveth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his end. 16 Wisdom excelleth strength.

1 I haue suerly giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iuste, & the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God. & no man knoweth ether loue or ^a hatred of all that ^b before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition ^c is to the iuste and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, & to the polluted, & to him that sacrificeth, & to him that sacrificeth not: as ^d is the good, so ^e is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an othe.

3 This is euil among all that is done vnder the sunne, that there is one ^b condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is ful of euil, and madnes ^c is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they go to the dead.

4 Surely whosoever is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dog, then to a dead lyon.

5 For the liuing knowe that they shal dye, but the dead knowe nothing at all: nether haue they anie more a rewarde: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue, and their hatred, & their enie is now perished, and they haue no more portion foreuer, in all that is done vnder the sunne.

7 Go, eat thy bread with ioye, & drinke thy wine with a cheereful heart: for God now ^d accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be ^e white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 ^{} Reioyce with the wife whome ^f thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, for God hath giuen thee vnder the sunne: all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, & in thy trauail wherein thou laborest vnder the sunne.

10 All that thine hand shal finde to do, do it with all thy power: for there is nether worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the graue whether thou goest.

11 I returned, & I sawe vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battel to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also fauour to men of vnderstanding, nether yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and ^g chance cometh to them all.

12 For nether doeth man knowe his ^h time, but as the fishes, which are taken in an euil net, a Meaning, what things he ought to cause or refuse or make knowne: not by these outward things, but by prosperitie or aduersitie, whome God doeth fauour or hate: for he sundereth them as wel to the wicked as to the goodlie.

b In outward things as riches, and povertie, sickness, & helth there is no difference betweene the goodlie, & the wicked but difference is that godlie are assured by faith of Gods fauour & assistance.
c He noteth Epicures, and carnal men, who made their belly their god, & had no pleasure but in this life, without rather to be an abject, & vile person in this life, then a man of authority, and to dye, which is ment by the dog and lyon.
d They flatter them selves to be in Gods fauour, because they haue all things in abundance.

net, & as the birdes that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euil time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also sene this wisdome vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A litle citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and buylded forres against it.

15 And there was founde therein a poore and wise man, and he deliuered the citie by his wisdome: but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisdome then strength: yet the wisdome of the poore is despised, and his wordes are not heard.

17 The wordes of the wise are more heard in quietnes, then the crye of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wisdome then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnes and wisdome. 11 A scelerer is like a serpent that can not be charmed. 16 Of foolish Kings, and drunken princes. 17 And of good Kings and princes.

1 Dead flies cause to stinke, and putrifie the ointment of the apoticarie: so doeth a litle folie him that is in estimation for wisdome, and for glorie.

2 The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he telleth vnto all that he is a foole.

4 If the spirit of him that ruleth, rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentleness pacifieth great finnes.

5 There is an euil that I haue sene vnder the sunne, as an error that procedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Folie is set in great excellencie, and the riche set in the lowe place.

7 I haue sene seruants on horses and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it, & he that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 He that remoueth stones, shall hurt himself thereby, & he that cutteth wood, shall be in danger thereby.

10 If the yron be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, he must then put to more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisdome.

11 If the serpent bite, when he is not charmed: no better is a babler.

12 The wordes of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lippes of a foole deuoure him self.

13 The beginning of his wordes of his mouth is foolishnes, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnes.

a So that he doeth all things wel, & iustly, where as the foole doeth the contrary

b By his doings he bewraeth himself.

c If thy superior be angry with thee, be thou discrete, & not moued. d Meaning, it is an euil thing when they that are in authority, faile, & do not their dutie

f Without wisdome what fouer a man taketh in hand, turneth to his owne hurte.

14 For the foole multiplieth wordes, saying, Manknoweth not what shall be: and who can tell him what shall be after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doeth weary him: for he knoweth not to go into the citie.

16 Wo to thee, o land, when thy King is a childe, and thy princes eat in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, o land, when thy King is the sonne of nobles, and thy princes eat in time, for strength and not for drunkennes.

18 By slouthfulness thy rooffe of the house goeth to decay, and by the ydlenes of the hands the house droppeth through.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the liuing, but siluer answereth to all.

20 Curse not the King, no nor in thy thought, neither curse the riche in thy bed chamber: for the foule of the heauen shall carry the voice, & that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberal to the poore. 4 Not to doubt of Gods providence. 8 All worldlye prosperitie is but vanitie. 9 God will iudge all.

1 Cast thy bread vpon the waters: for after manie daies thou shalt finde it.

2 Giue a portion to seuen, & also to eight: for thou knowest not what euil shall be vpon the earth.

3 If the cloudes be full, they will poure forth the raine vpon the earth: and if the tre do fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tre falleth, there it shall be.

4 He that obserueth the winde, shall not sowe, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones do growe in the wombe of her that is with childe: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sowe thy seede, and in the euening let not thine hand be idle: for thou knowest not whether thou shalt prosper, this or that, or whether both shall be alike good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

8 Though a man liue manie yeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remember the daies of his darknes, because they are manie, all that cometh is vanitie.

9 Reioyce, o yong man, in thy youth, & let thine heart chere thee in the daies of thy youth: and walke in the waies of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but knowe that for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.

g The ignorance, & beahlines of the wicked is such, that they know not comune things, & yet will they discusse his matters.

h That is, without wisdome and counsell.

i Are giuen to their lustes & pleasures.

k Meaning, when he is noble for vertue & wisdome, & with the giftes of God.

l Thou canst not worke euil so secretly, but it shall be known.

a That is, be liberal to the poore, & though it seeme to be as a thing ventred on the sea, yet it shall bring thee profite.

b As the cloudes that are full, poure out raine, so the riche that haue abundance, must distribute it liberally.

c He exhorteth to be liberal, while we liue: for after there is no power. d He that seareth inconueniences, when necessity requireth, shall neuer do his dutie.

e Be not weary of working.

AN EXCELLENT SONG

which was Salomons.

THE ARGUMENT.

In this Song, Salomon by moste sweete and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfecte love of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithful soule or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste and without re-prehension. So that here is declared the singular love of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benesites wherewith he doth enrich her of his pure lountie and grace without any of her desertings. Also the earrest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the love of Christ desireth to be more and more voyued to his true love, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

The familiar talke and mystical communication of the spiritual loue betwene Iesus Christ and his Church.
The domestical enemies that persecute the Church.

I haue taken with the suckles of his mouth: for thy loue is better than win.

Because of the fauour of thy good ointments
thy name is as an ointment powred out: therefore the virgines loue thee.

Drawe me: we wil runne after thee: the King hath brought me into his chambers.

we wil reioyce and be glad in thee:
we wil remember thy loue more then wine.
the righteous do loue thee.

I am blacke, o daughters of Ierusalem, but comelie, as the frutes of a Kedár,
as the curtines of Salomon.

Regarde ye me not because I am blacke: for the sonne hath looked vpon me. The sonne of my mother were angrie against me: thei made me the keeper of the vines:
but I kept not mine owne vine.

Shewe me, o thou, whome my soule lo-ueth,

ueth, where thou fedest, where thou liest at noone: for why shulde I be as she that turneth aside to thy flockes of thy companions?

If thou knowe not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee forth by the steps of the flocke, and fede thy kiddes by the tents of the shepherdes.

I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in thy charrets of Pharaoh.

Thy cheekes are comelie & rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.

We wil make thee borders of golde with studdes of silver.

Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenarde gaue the smell thereof.

My welbeloued, as a bundle of myrrhe vnto me: he shal lye betweene my breasts.

My welbeloued, as a clustre of camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi.

My loue, beholde, thou art faire: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the dooues.

My welbeloued, beholde, thou art faire and pleasant: also our bed is greene: the beames of our house are cedres.

CHAP. II.

The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadowe of Christ. 2 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the dooue, 15 And the enemies to the foxes.

I Am the rose of the field, & the lillie of the vallies.

Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my loue among the daughters.

Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest: so is my welbeloued among the sonnes of men: vnder his shadowe had I delite, & sate downe: and his frute was swete vnto my mouth.

He brought me into the wine celler, and loue was his banner ouer me.

Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am sicke of loue.

His left hand is vnder mine head, & his right hand doeth embrace me.

I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem,
by the rocs & by the hundredes of the field,
that ye stirre not vp, nor wakē my loue, vn-
til she please.

It is the voice of my welbeloued, beholde,
he cometh leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hilles.

My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong heart: lo, he standeth behinde our wall, lo-king forth of the windowes, shewing him selfe through the gratas.

My welbeloued spake & said vnto me, Arise, my loue, my faire one, & come thy way.

For beholde, winter is past, the raine is changed, and is gone away.

The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birdes is come, & the voice of the turtle is heard in our land.

The figure hath brought forth the h. yong figges, & the vines with their small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away.

My dooue, that art in the holes of the rocke, in thy secret places of thy staires, shewe me thy sight, let me heare thy voice: for thy voyce is swete, and thy sight comelie.

Take vs thy foxes, thy lillie foxes, & destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes.

My welbeloued is mine, and I am his:
he fedeth among the lillies,

Vntil thy day breake, & the shadowes flee away: returne, my welbeloued, & be like a roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountai-nes of Bethel.

CHAP. III.

The Church desireth to be ioyned inseparably to Christ her houseband, & her deliuerance out of the wilderness.

In my bed by night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I founde him not.

I wil rise therefore now, and go about in the citie, by the stretes & by the open places, & wil seeke him that my soule loueth:
I sought him, but I founde him not.

The watchmen that went about the ci-tie, founde me: to whome I said, Haue you sene him whome my soule loueth?

When I had past a lillie from them, then I founde him whome my soule loued: I toke holde on him and left him not, til I had brought him vnto my mothers house into the chamber of her that conceiued me.

I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem,
by the roes and by the hundredes of the field,
that ye stirre not vp, nor wakē my loue vn-
til she please.

Who is she that commeth vp out of the wildernes like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, & with all the spices of the marchant?

Beholde his bed, which is Salomons:
threescore strong men are round about it,
of the valiant men of Israel.

Thei all handle the swordes, & are expert in warre, euerie one hath his sworde vpon his thigh for the feare by night.

King Salomón made him selfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon.

He made the pillars thereof of silver, & pauement thereof of golde, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paued with the loue of thy daughters of Ierusalem.

Come forth, ye daughters of Zion, & beholde the King Salomón with the crow-ne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnes of his heart.

CHAP. IIII.

2 Thy ^b teethe are like a flocke of sheepe in good ordre, which go vp si ð y walhing: which enerie one bring out twinnes, and none is baten among them.

3 Thy lippes are like a threde of skarlet & thy talke is comelie: thy temples are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate.

4 Thy necke is as the towre of Dauid buylt for defense: a thousand shields hang therein, and all the targates of the strong men.

6 Vntil the day breake, and the shadowes flee away, I wil go into the mountaine of myrrhe and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faite, my loue, and there is no spot in thee.

d Christ promyseth his Church to call his faithful from all the corners of the world.

8 ^d Come with me from Lebanón, my spouse, ^{euen} with me from Lebanón, and loke from the top of Amanáh, from the top of Shenir and Hermón, from the denues of the lyons and from the mountaines of the leoparides.

e Christ calleth his Church the sister in respect that he had taken the flesh of man.

9 My ^e sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine ^f eyes, & with a chaine of thy necke.

f In that he made his Church beautiful, & riche, he loued his giftes in her.

10 My sister, my spouse, how faire is thy loue: how muche better is thy loue then wine: & the fauour of thine ointments the allspices.

g Because of thy confession and thanksgyng.

11 Thy ^s lippes, my spouse, droppe as honie combes: honie and milke are vnder thy tógue, & the fauour of thy garments is as the fauour of Lebanón.

12 My sister my spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fountaine sealed vp.

13 Thy plantes are as an orcharde of pomegranates with swete frutes, as camphire, spikenarde, 14 ^{euen} spikenarde, and safran, calamus, & synamom with all the trees of incense, myrrhe and aloes, with all the chief spices.

15 ^h O fountaine of the gardens, ð well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanón.

i She desireth Christ to comforte her, and so powre the graces of his spirit vpon her, which spirit is sent by the North and South winde.

16 Arise, ð i North, and come ð South, and blowe on my garden that the spices thereof may flowe out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eat his pleasant frute.

2 I slepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto me, my sister, my loue, my dooue, my vndeiled: for mine head is ful of dewe, and my lockes with the dropes of the ^c night.

3 I haue put of my ^d coate, how shal I put it on: I haue washed my fete, how shal I defile them?

11 His ⁱ head is as fine golde, his lockes curled, & blacke as a rauen.

12 His eyes are like dooues vpon the riuers of waters, which are washt with milke, & remaine by the ful vessels.

13 His chekes are as a bed of spices, and as swete flowres, & his lippes like lilies dropping downe pure myrrhe.

ISAIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

God, according to his promes Deut. 18, 15. that he wolde neuer leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a special reuelation, but also to interpret & declare the Law, and to applie particularly the doctrine, contained briefly therein, to the vtilitie & profite of those, to whome they thought it chiefly to appertine, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Lawe they had respect to thre things, which were the groundes of their doctrine: First to the doctrine contained briefly in the twotables: secondely to the promises & threatenings of the Law: & thirdely, to the covenant of grace & reconciliation, grounded vpon our Saviour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any care or regarde to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their sauegarde by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation they haue more clearly intreated it then Moses, and set forth the more liuely Iesus Christ, in whome this covenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophetes, and was moste diligent to set out the same, with moste vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he sawe that the disease of the people required. He declaireth also manie notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promes of the Messiah, his office, and his kingdome. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocaton of the Gentiles, and their vnion with the Iewes. Which are as moste principal pointes contained in this booke, and a gathering of his sermons that he preached. Which after certeine daies that they had stand vpon the Temple dore (for the maner of the Prophetes was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certeine dayes that the people might the letter marke it, as Isa. 8, 1. & Habak. 2, 2.) the Priests toke it downe and referued it among their registers: and so by Gods providence these bookes were preserved as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his persone and time, he was of the Kings stocke: for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the best writers agree, and prophesied more then 64 yeres from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasséh, whose father in lawe he was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whome he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophetes this one thing among other is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come as though they were now past, because of the certentie thereof, and that they colde not but come to passe, because God had ordeined them in his secret counsel, and so reueiled them to his Prophetes.

CHAP. I.

^a Isaiah reproveth the Jewes of their ingratitude and stubbornnes, that neither for benefites nor punishment woulde amend. 11 He sheweth why their sacrifices are refused, and where n Gods true service standeth. 24 He prophesieth of the destruction of Ierusalem. 25 And of the restitution thereof

a vision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which he sawe concerning Iudah and Ierusalem: in the daies of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz & Hezekiah Kings of Iudah.

Heare, o heauens, and hearken, o earth: for the Lord hath said, I haue nourished and brought vp children, but they haue rebelled against me.

The ox knoweth his owners, and the asse his masters cryb, but Israel hathenot knownen my people nathe not vnderstand.

Ah, sinful nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a seede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forsaken the Lord: they haue prouoked the holy one of Israel: they are gone backwaide.

Wherefore shulde ye be smitten anie more: for ye fall away more and more the whole head is sicke, and the whole heart is heauie.

From the sole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but woundes, & swelling, and sores full of corruption: they haue not bene wiped, nor bounde vp, nor mollified with oyle.

Your land is waste: your cities are burnt with fyre: strangers deuoure your land in your presence, and it is desolate like the outflowe of strangers.

And the daughter of Zion shal remaine like a cottage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, & like a besieged citie.

Except the Lord of hostes had reserved vnto vs, euen a small remnant: we shulde haue bene as Sodom, & shulde haue bene like vnto Gomorah.

Heare the worde of the Lord, o princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, o people of Gomorah.

What haue I to do with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith the Lord: I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, & of the fat of fed beasts: and I desire not the blood of bullockes, nor of lambes, nor of goates.

Whē ye come to appeare before me, who required this of your hands to tread in my counties?

Bring no more oblations, in vaine: incense is an abomination vnto me. I can not suffer, our newe moones, nor sabbaths, nor solempne daies (it is iniquitie) nor solempne assemblies.

My soule hateth your newe moones & your appointed feasts: they are a burden vnto me. I am weary to beare them.

And whē you shal stretch out your hands, I wil hide mine eyes from you: and though ye make manie prayers, I wil not heare: for your hands are full of blood.

Wash you, make you cleane: take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes: cease to do euill.

Learne to do wel: seke iudgement, & relieue the oppressed: iudge the fatherles & defend the widowe.

Comer now, & let vs reason together, saith the Lord: though your sinnes were as crimson, they shalbe made white as snow: though they were red like skarlet, they shalbe as woll.

If ye consent and obey, ye shal eat the good things of the land.

But if ye refuse and be rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

How is the faithful citie become an habitation? it was full of iudgement, & iustice lodged therein, but now they are as a snare.

Thy siluer is become drossie. thy wine is mixt with water.

Thy princes are rebellious and companions of theues: euerie one loueth gifts, & followeth after rewards. they iudge not the fatherles, neither doeth the widowes cause come before them.

Therefore saith the Lord God of hostes, the mightie one of Israel, Ah, I wil ease me of mine aduersaries, and auenge me of mine enemies.

Then I wil turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drossie, til it be pure, & take away all thy rynne.

And I wil restore thy iudges as at the first, and thy counsellors as at the beginning.

CHAP. II.

1 The Church shalbe restored by Christ, and the Gentiles called. 6 The punishment of the rebellious & obstinate.

1 The worde that Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sawe vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

2 *It shalbe in the last daies, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shalbe prepared in the top of the mountaines, & shalbe exalted aboue the hilles, & all nations shal flowe vnto it.

3 And manie people shal go, & say, Come, and let vs go vp to the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iakob, & he wil teache vs his waies, and we wil walke in his paths: for the Law shal go forth of Zion, and the worde of the Lord from Ierusalem,

4 And he shal iudge among the natiōs, & rebuke manie people: they shal breake their swordes also into mattockes, & their speares into fishes. nacion shal not lift vp a sworde against nacion, nether shal they learn: to fight anie more.

5 O house of Iakob, come ye, and let vs walke in the light of the Lord.

6 Surely thou hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iakob, because they are full of the East maners, and are sorcerers as the Philistims, and abunde with strange children.

7 Their land also was full of siluer and golde, and there was none end of their treasures: and their land was full of horses, and their charrets were infinite.

8 Their land also was full of idoles: they worshipped the worke of their owne hands, which their owne fingers haue made.

9 He sheweth the frute of the peace, which the Gospel shulde bring to win, that men shulde do good one to another, where as before they were enemies. k He speaketh not against the vie of weapons and lawfull warre, but sheweth how the hearts of the godlie shalbe affected one toward another which peace and loue doeth begiue and growe in this life, but shal be perfected, when we are ioyned with our head Christ Iesus.

l Seeing the Gentiles wil be so readie, make you haste and shewe them the way to worship God. m The Prophet seeing the small hope, that the Iewes wolde conuert, complaineth to God, as though he had vterly forsaken them for their sinnes. n Full of the corruptions that reigned chiefly in the East partes.

o They altogether gave them selues to the factions of other nations. p The Prophet first condemned their superstition and idolatrie, next their couetousnes, and thurdly, their vaine trust in worldelic meanes.

9 And a man bowed him self, and a man humbled him self: therefore spare the not.

10 Enter into the rocke, & hide thee in the dult from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glorie of his maiestie.

11 The hie loke of man shalbe humbled, and the loftines of men shalbe abased, & the Lord onely shalbe exalted in that day.

12 For the day of the Lord of hostes is vpon all the proude and hautie, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shalbe made lowe.

13 Euen vpon all the cedres of Lebanon, that are hie and exalted, and vpon all the oaks of Bashan,

14 And vpon all the high mountaines, & vpon all the hilles that are lifted vp,

15 And vpon euerie hie towre, and vpon euerie strong wall,

16 And vpon all the shippes of Tarsish, and vpon all pleasant pictures.

17 And the hautines of men shalbe brought lowe, and the loftines of men shalbe abased, and the Lord shal onely be exalted in that day.

18 And the idoles wil he vtterly destroye.

19 Then they shal go into the holes of the rockes, and into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, & from the glorie of his maiestie, when he shal arise to destroye the earth.

20 At that day shal man cast away his siluer idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made them selues to worship them) to the mowles and to the backes,

21 To go into the holes of the rockes, and into the toppes of the ragged rockes from befoie the feare of the Lord, and from the glorie of his maiestie, when he shal rise to destroy the earth.

22 Cease you from the man whose breath is in his nostrilles. for wherein is he to be esteemed?

CHAP. III.

1 For the sime of the people God wil take away the wife men, and giue them foolish princes. 14 The couetousnes of the gouernours. 16 The pride of the women.

1 For so lo, the Lord God of hostes wil take away from Ierusalem and from Iudah the stay and the strength: euen all the stay of bread, and all the stay of water,

2 The strong man, and the man of warre, the iudge and the Prophet, the prudent and the aged,

3 The captaine of fiftie, and the honorable, and the counselei, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent man.

- 6 When euerie one shall take holde of his brother of the house of his father, & say, Thou hast clothing: thou shalt be our price, and let this fall be vnder thine hand.
- 7 In that day he shall swear, saying, I can not be an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no price of the people.
- 8 Doubtes Ierusalem is fallen, and Iudah is fallen down, because their tongue and workes are against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glorie.
- 9 The bityal of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes, as Sodóm, they hide them not. Wo be vnto them soules: for they haue rewarded euil vnto them selues.
- 10 Say ye, Surely it shall be well with yuste: for they shall eat the frute of their workes.
- 11 Wo be to the wicked, it shall be euil with him: for the rewarde of his hands shall be giuen him.
- 12 Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: om my people, they that lead thee, cause thee to erre, and destroye the way of thy paths.
- 13 The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, he standeth to iudge the people.
- 14 The Lord shall entrie into iudgement with the Ancients of his people and the princes thereof, for ye haue eaten vp the vineyarde: the spoyle of the poore is in your houses.
- 15 What haue ye to do, that ye beat my people to pieces, and grinde the faces of the poore, faith the Lord, euen the Lord of hostes.
- 16 The Lord also saith, Because the daughters of Zión are haughty, and walke with stretched out neckes, and with p wandring eyes, walking and murmuring as they go, and making a tinkeling with their fete,
- 17 Therefore shall the Lord make the heads of the daughters of Zión balde, and the Lord shall discouer their secret partes.
- 18 In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers, & the calles, & the rounde tyres,

3 Then he that shall be left in Zión, and he shall remaine in Ierusalem, shall be called holie, and cleare one shall be written among the liuing in Ierusalem,

4 When the Lord shall wash the filthines of the daughters of Zión, & purge the blood of Ierusalem out of the middes thereof by the spirit of iudgement, and by the spirit of burning.

5 And the Lord shall creat vpon euerie place of mount Zión, and vpon the assemblies thereof, a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fyre by night: for vpon all the glorie shall be a defense.

9 Thus in mine eares, saith the Lord of hostes. Surely manie houses shalbe desolate, euē great, & fayre without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shal yelde one bath, & the sede of an homer shal yelde an epháh.

11 ¶ Wo vnto them, that rise vp early to followe drunkennes, and to them that continue vntil a night, til the wine do inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viole, timbrel, and pipe, and wine are in their feastes: but they regarde not the worke of the Lord, nether consider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people is gone into captiuitie, because they had no knowledge, and the glorie thereof are men famished, & the multitude thereof is dryed vp with thirst.

14 Therefore he hath enlarged it self, and hath opened his mouth, without measure, and their glorie, and their multitude, and their pompe, and he that reioyced among them, shal descende into it.

15 And man shalbe broght downe, and man shalbe humbled, euē the eyes of the proude shalbe humbled.

16 And the Lord of hostes shalbe exalted in iudgement, and the holie God shalbe sanctified in iustice.

17 Then shal the lambes fede after their maner, and the strangers shal eat the desolate places of the fat.

18 ¶ Wo vnto them, that drawe iniquitie wth cordes of vanitie, and sinne, as with cart ropes:

19 Which say, Let him make spede let him hasten his worke, that we may se it: & let the counsel of the holie one of Israél drawe nere and come, that we may knowe it.

20 Wo vnto them that speake good of euil, and euil of good, which put darkenes for light, and light for darkenes, that put bitter for swete, and swete for fowre.

21 ¶ They that say, We will not seeke counsel: for we are wise, we will not call vnto the Lord. Therefore shall they be like the heathen, and they shall be as the foolishnes of the nations. For they shall be as the heathen, and they shall be as the foolishnes of the nations. For they shall be as the heathen, and they shall be as the foolishnes of the nations.

21 Wo vnto them that are wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Wo vnto them that are mightie to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as flame of fyre deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their roote shalbe as rottennes, and their budde shal rise vp like dust, because they haue cast of the Law of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the worde of the holie one of Israél.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, & he hath stretched out his hand vpon them, and hath smitten them that mountaines did tremble: and their karcases were torne in the middes of the stretes, & for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out stil.

26 And he will lift vp a signe vnto the nations a farre, and will hille vnto them from the end of the earth: & beholde, they shal come hastily with spede.

27 None shal famt nor fall among them: none shal slumber nor slepe, nether shal the girdle of his loynes be losed, nor the latchet of his shoes be broken:

28 Whose arrowes shalbe sharpe, & all his bowes bent: his horse hooves shalbe thought like flint, & his wheles like a whiele wide.

29 His roaring shalbe like a lyon, and he shal roare like lyons whelpes: they shal roare, and lay holde of the pray: they shal take it away, and none shal deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shal roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: & if they loke vnto the earth, beholde darkenes, and sorow, and the light shalbe darkened in their sight.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiáh sheweth his vocation by the Vision of the diuine maiestie. 9 He sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant reserved.

1 IN the yere of the death of King Vziazáh, I sawe also the Lord sitting vpon a high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower e parts thereof filled the temple.

2 The Seraphims stood vpon it: euerie one had six wings: with twaine he couered his face, and with twaine he couered his feet, and with twaine he did flie.

3 And one cryed to another, and said, Hob As a iudge ready to giue sentence c Of his garment, or of his throne. d They were Angels so called because they were of a fyre colour, to signifye they burnt in the loue of God, or were light as fyre to execute his wil. e Signifying, that they were not able to endure the brightness of Gods glorie. f Wherby was declared that man was not able to see the brightness of God in them. g Which thing declared the prompt obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement. h This oration signifieth, that the holy Angels can not satisfie them selues in praising God, to teache vs that in all our liues we shoulde giue our selues to the continual praise of God.

b Which are contemners of all doctrine & admonition

c Which are neuer weary, but shew their strength, and bringe in glorie tonic and drunkenness.

d Bothe they and their posteritie, so that nothing shalbe left.

e He sheweth that God had so sore punished this people, that the dumme creatures, if they had bene so plagued, wolde haue bene more sensible, and therefore his plagues must continue, til they begin to feele them.

f He will make the Babylonians to come against the at his beck, and to fight vnder his standard.

g They shalbe prompt, and lufie to execute Gods vengeance.

h The enemies shal haue none impediment.

i Wherby is declared the crueltie of the enemies.

k The Iewes shal finde no succour.

l In the land of Iudáh.

His glorie doeth not onely appeare in f^r becauses, but through all y worlde, and therefore all creatures are bounde to praise him. Which things were to confirme the Propheet, that it was not the voyce of man and by the smoke as signified the blindeas y shalut come vpon the Iewes. He speaketh this for two causes f^r one, because he y was a mortall creature, and therefore had more neede to worships God than the Angells, did not and the other, because y more nere y mⁿ approcheth to God, the more doeth he knowe his owne sinne, & corruption. Of y burnt offering, where the tyte neuer went out. This declarereth that man can not render true obedience to God, til he haue purged vs. Whereby is declared that for the malice of man God wil not immediately take away his worde, but he wil cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when his wil not learne thereby to obey his wil, and be saved hereby he exhorteth the ministers to do their duetie, and answereth to the wicked ministers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened. Mat 13, 14 act 28, 26 rom 11, 8 p. As he was moved with the zeale of Gods glorie, so was he touched with a charitable affⁿ toward the people. Meaning, the tenth parte or as some write, it was reuiled to Isaiáh for the confirmation of his prophete, that ten Kings shoulde come before their captiuitie, as were from Vzziah to Zedekiah. For the fewenes they shal se to be eaten vp yet they shal after flourish as a tre, which in winter loseth his leaues, and semeth to be dead, yet in sommer is fresh, and grene.

ly, holy, holy y Lord of hostes: the whole worlde is ful of his glorie.

And the linels of the dore chekes moued at the voyce of him that cryed, and the house was filled with smoke.

Then I said, Who is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lippes, and I dwell in the middes of a people of polluted lippes. for mine eyes haue sene the King and Lord of hostes.

Then flewe one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hand, which he had take from the altar with the tongs.

And he touched my mouth, & said, Lo, this hath touched thy lippes, and thine iniquitie shalbe taken away, and thy sinne shalbe purged.

Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whome shal I send, and who shal go for vs? Then I sayd, Here am I, send me.

And he said, Go, and say vnto this people, Ye shal heare in dede, but ye shal not vnderstand: ye shal plainly se, & not perceiue.

Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes, lest they se with their eyes, & heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and he heale them.

Then said I, Lord, how long? And he answered, Vntil the cities be waisted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate,

And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and the e be a great desolation in the middes of the land.

But yet in it shalbe a tenth, and shal retorne, and shalbe eaten vp as an olme: or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holie sede shalbe the substance thereof.

As they wil not learne thereby to obey his wil, and be saved hereby he exhorteth the ministers to do their duetie, and answereth to the wicked ministers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened. Mat 13, 14 act 28, 26 rom 11, 8 p. As he was moved with the zeale of Gods glorie, so was he touched with a charitable affⁿ toward the people. CHAP. VII.

1 Ierusalem besieged. 4 Isaiáh comforteth the King. 14 Christ is promised

King 16. And in the dayes of Aház, the sonne of Iothám, the sonne of Vzziah King of Iudáh, Rezín the King of Arám came vp, and Pekáh the sonne of Remaliáh King of Israél, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but he colde not ouercome it.

And it was tolde the house of Dauid, saying, Arám is ioyned with Ephráim: therefore his heart was moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde.

Then said the Lord vnto Isaiáh, Go forthe now to meete Aház (thou and e Siciat-iahab thy sonne) at the end of the conduit of the vpper pool, in the path of the fullers field,

And say vnto him, Take hede, & be still: feare not, neither be faint hearted for the two tailles of these smoking fyrebrandes, for the furious wrath of Rezín and of Arám, and of Remaliáh his sonne:

Because Arám hath taken wicked counsel against thee, & Ephráim, & Remaliáh his sonne, saying,

Let vs go vp against Iudáh, & let vs waiké them vp, and make a breche therein for vs, and set a King in the middes thereof, euen the sonne of e Tabeal.

Thus saith the Lord God, It shal not stand, neither shal it be.

For the head of Arám is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezín and with him Euz & therefore yere, Ephráim shal be destroyed from being a people.

And the head of Ephráim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliáh his sonne. If ye beleue not, surely ye shal not be established.

And the Lord spake againe vnto Aház, saying,

Aske a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, ether in the depth or in the height aboue.

But Aház said, I wil not aske, neither wil I tempt the Lord.

Then he said, Heare you now, o house of Dauid, Is it a smale thing for you to grieue men, that ye wil also grieue my God?

Therefore the Lord him self wil giue you a signe. Beholde, the virgine shal conceive and beare a sonne, and she shal call his name Immanú-el.

Butter and honie shal he eat, til he haue knowledge to refuse the euil, & to chuse the good.

For a fore y childe shal haue knowledge to chuse the euil, and to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shal be forsaken of bothe her Kings.

The Lord shal bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the daies that haue not come fro the daie that Ephráim departed from Iudáh) euen the King of Asshúr.

And in that day shal the Lord hiss for the flie that is at the vttermoste parte of the floods of Egypt, & for the bee which is in the land of Asshúr,

And they shal come and shal light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thornie places, and be nourished as other men, vntil y age of discretion. Not meanyng Christ, but anie childe for before a childe can come to the yeres of discretion, the signs of Samaria and Syria shal be destroyed. Since the time that the twelue tribes rebelled vnder Robcam. In whome saoul put thy trust. Meaning, the Egyptians for by reason the countrie is hote and moiste, it is ful of flies, as Assyria is ful of bees.

That is to say, The first shal retorne vnto Iudáh, gaue it some, to signifie, that y rest of the people shoulde retorne out of their captiuitie. Which haue but a litle smoke and shal quickly be quenched.

Which was an Israelite & as semeth, came me to the house of Dauid. Counting from y fue & twentieth yere of y reigne of Vzziah, at what time Amos prophesied this thing, and now Isaiáh confirmeth it. The Israelites shoulde be led into perpetual captiuitie, & thing came to pass in twelue yeres. After that Isaiáh did thus message.

For the confirmation of this thing that thine enemies shoulde destroy & thou pre seust.

Not to beleue Gods worde without assigne to tept Gods: but to refuse a signe w^{ch} God offereth, for y aide & helpe of our infirmities, is to rebel against him. You thinke you haue to do wth men, wh^{ch} ye contemne Gods messengers, but it is God, against whom ye bend your selues.

Forasmuche as thou art vnworthy, y Lord for his owne premiss sake wil giue a signe & shalbe that Christ the Saviour of his Church & the effⁿ of all sinnes & miracles shalbe renewed.

O, God with vs, which name can agree to no one, but to him, that is bothe God and man.

Meanyng, that Christ is not onely God, but man also, because he shal be nourished as other men, vntil y age of discretion. Not meanyng Christ, but anie childe for before a childe can come to the yeres of discretion, the signs of Samaria and Syria shal be destroyed. Since the time that the twelue tribes rebelled vnder Robcam. In whome saoul put thy trust. 3 The captivity of Israel & Judah by the Assyrians.
6 The infidelity of the Jews. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The word of God must be inquired at.

Moreouer, y^e Lord said vnto me, Take thee a^a great roale, and write in it^b with a mans penne, Make spede to the spoyle: haste to the pray.

2 Then I toke vnto me 4 faithfull witnesses to record, Vriah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah.

3 After, I came vnto the ^d Propheteſſe, & conceiued, and bare a ſonne. Then ſaid the Lord to me, Call his name, 'Mahérſhalál haſh-baz.

4 For before the child shall haue knowledge to crye, My father, and my mother, he shall take away the riches of Damascus and the spoile of Samaria, before the King of Asshur.

5 ¶ And y^e Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of ſhiloáh that runne ſoftely, and reioyce with Rezin, and the ſonne of Re-malíah,

7 Now therefore beholde, the Lord bringeth vp vpon the waters of ^h the Riuer mightie and great, even the King of Asshur with all his glorie, and he shal come vp vpon all their riuers, and go ouer all their bankes.

8 And shal breake into Iudáh, & shal overflowe and passe through, & shal come vp to the necke, & the stretching out of his wings shal fill the breadth of thy land, disturbing their owne power, which was small desired such as they sawe in Syria and Israell h That is, the Agg wel beyonde Euphrates. i Is shalbe ready to drowne thee

9 Gather together on heapes, ô ye' people, and ye shalbe broken in pieces, and hearted your f. lucs, & you shalbe broken in pieces.

10 Take counſel together, yet it ſhalbe brought to naught prono: nce a decre, yet ſhal it not ſtand. for God is with vs.

11 For y Lord spake thus to me in takig^m of mine hād, & taught me, y I shulde not wal-ke in the way of this people, saying,

12 Say ye not, Aⁿ confederacie to all them, to whome this people saith a confederacie, nether feare you^e their feare, nor be afraid of them.

13 ¶ Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread,

14 And he shall be as a Sanctuary: but as a stumbling stone & as a rock: to fall vpon, to bothe the houses of Israel, & as a snare & as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

15 And manie among them shal stumble, and shal fall and shal be broken and shalbe snaured & shalbe taken.

16 ⁊ Binde vp the testimonie: seale vp the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I wil wait vpo the Lord that hathe hid his face from the house of Iaakób, and I wil loke for him.

18 Beholke I, and the children whome the Loid hathe giue me, are as signes & as w ders in Israēl, by y Loid of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Z ōn.

19 And when they shall say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the south faiers, which whisper and murmur, ¹ Shulde not a people enquire at their God^s from the ^x liuing to the dead?

20 To the Lawe, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this worde:
because there is no light in them.

21 The he that is afflicted & famished, shal go to and fro in^a it: & when he shalbe hun-grie, he shal euen freat him self, ^b and curse his King and his gods, & shal loke vpwarde.

22 And whē he ſhal loke to the earth, beholde trouble, & c darkenes, vexacion & anguiſh, and he ſhall diſcū to darkenes.

t This was a confolation in their troubles, knowing that nothing coulde come hurt them, but by the wil of the Lord. v Answer the wicked thus, Shulde not Gods people seke succour onely at him. x That is, wil thei refuse to be taught of the Prophet, who is the mouth of God, and seke helpe at the dead, which is the illusion of Satan? y Seke remedie in the w o r d of God, where his wil is declared. z Thei have no knowledge, but are blinde leaders of blinde. a That is, in Iudith, where thei shulde haue had ref, if thei had not thus grievously offended God b In whome afore thei put their trust. c Thei shal

The people that walked in darkenes, haue ſene a great light: they that dwelled in the land of the ſhadow of death, vpon them hath the light ſhined.
Thou haſt multiplied the nation, & not increaſed their ioye: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioye in har-

For the yoke of their burdē, & the ſtaffe

Surely euerie battel of the warriour is dome, to order it, and to ſtabliſh it with iudgement and with iuſtice, from hence forth, euer for euer the zeale of the Lord of hoſtes wil performe this.

The Lord hath ſent a worde into Iſakōb, and it hath lighted vpon Iſraēl.
And all the people ſhal knowe, Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that ſaie in y pride & preſumptiō of y heart,
The bricke are fallē, but we wil buylde it with hewen ſtones: the wilde figges are cut downe, but we wil change the into cedies.
Neuertheles the Lord wil raiſe vp the aduerſaries of Rezim againſt him, & ioin-ne his enemies together.
Arām before & the Philiftines behind, and they ſhal deuour Iſraēl with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned awaie, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.
For the people turneth not vnto him that ſmiteth the, neither do they ſeke the Lord of hoſtes.
Therefore wil the Lord cut of from Iſraēl head and taile, branch and ruſh in one daie.
The ancient and the honorable man, he is the head: & the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile.

For the leaders of the people cauſe the to erie: and they that are led by them, are deuoured.
Therefore ſhal the Lord haue no plea-ſure in their yong men, neither wil he haue compaſſion of their fatherles and of their widowes: for euerie one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euerie mouth ſpeaketh ſolace: yet for all this his wrath is not turned awaie, but his hand is ſtretched out
ſtill.
For wickednes burneth as a fyre: it deuuoureth y briers & the thornes & wil kin-they ſhal moue vp like the liſting vp of 8 For he saith, Are not my princes all together Kings?

9 Is not Cainó as Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath founde the kingdoms of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboute Ierusalem, and aboute Samaria:

11 Shal not I, as I haue done to Samaria, & to the idoles thereof, so do to Ierusalem and to the idoles thereof?

12 ¶ But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I wil visit the frute of the proude heart of the King of Asshur, and his glorious and proude lokes,

13 Because he said, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: therefore I haue remoued the borders of the people, and haue spoiled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath founde as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shal the axe boast it self against him that heweth therewith? or shal the sawe exalt it self against him that moueth it? as if the rod shulde lift vp it self against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe shulde exalt it self, as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shal the Lord God of hostes send among his fat men, leanenes, and vnder his glorie he shal kindle a burning, like the burning of fyre.

17 And the light of Israēl shalbe as a fyre, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shal burne, and deuoure his thornes and his briars in one day:

18 And shal consume the glorie of his forest, & of his fruteful fields bothe soule and flesh: and he shalbe as the fainting of a standerd bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shalbe fewe, that a childe may tel them.

20 ¶ And at that day shal the remnant of Israēl, and such as are escaped of the house of Iaakób, staye no more vpon him that smote them, but shal stay vpon the Lord, the holy one of Israēl in trueth.

21 The remnant shal returne, euen the remnant of Iaakób vnto the mightie God.

22 For though thy people, O Israēl, be as the sand of the sea, yet shal the remnant of the returne. The consumption decreed shal ouerflowe with righteousness.

23 For the Lord God of hostes shal make the consumption, euen determined, in the middes of all the land.

Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur: he shal smite thee with a rod, and shal lift vp his staffe against thee after the maner of Egypt.

25 But yet a very litle time, and the wrath shalbe consumed, and mine angre in their destruction.

26 And the Lord of hostes shal raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Oré: and as his staffe was vpon the Sea, so he wil lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.

27 And at that day shal his burde be taken away from of thy shulder, & his yoke fro of thy necke: & the yoke shalbe destroyed because of the anointing.

28 He is come to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shal he lay vp his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the foorde: they lodged in the lodging at Gebá: Ramah is afraid: Gibeath of Saúl is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voice, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered them selues together.

32 Yet there is a time when he wil stay at Nob: he shal lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.

33 Beholde, the Lord God of hostes shal cut of the bough with feare, and the height shalbe cut of, and the high shalbe humbled.

34 And he shal cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, & Lebanon shal haue a mightie fall.

3 And shal make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shal not iudge after the sight of his eyes, nether reprocue by the hearing of his eares.

4 But with righteousness shal he iudge the poore, and with equitie shal he reprocue for the meke of the earth: and he shal smite the earth with the rodde of his mouth, & with the breath of his lippes shal he slaye the wicked.

z Fetter & destruction shal come vpon Iudah for the princes and people shal all be led away captiues.

a Because the captiuitie of Babylon was a figure of spiritual captiuitie vnder sinne, he sheweth that our true deliuerance must come by Christ for as David came out of Ishai a man with our dignitie so Christ shoulde come of a poore carpenters house as out of a dead stocke, Chap 3.2 b All these properties can agree to none but onely vnto Christ for it is he that toucheth the faultes of the faithfull and mortifieth their concupiscences & to the wicked he is a snoure of death & to them that shal perish so y all worlde shal be smitten with this rodde, & thus worlde.

e For as in the West partes y people used to let their beere growe long, when they mourned, so in the East partes they cut it off.
f The Prophet speaketh this in the persone of the Moabites, or a one that felt the great iudgement of God that shulde come vpon them
g Meaning, that it was a citie that euer liued in pleasure, and neuer felt sorowe.
h He describeth the miserable dissolution, and sight of the Moabites.

The burden of Moáb. Surely Ar of Moáb was destroyed & brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moáb was destroyed, & brought to silence in a night.

2 He shal go vp to the temple, and to Dibón to the hie places to wepe: for Nebó and for Medebá shal Moáb howle: vpon all e their heads shalbe baldenes, and euerie beard shauen.

3 In their stretes shal they be girded with sackcloth: on the toppes of their houses, and in their stretes euerie one shal howle, and come downe with weping.

4 And Heshbón shal crye, & Elealéh: their voyce shalbe heard vnto Iáhaz: therefore y warriors of Moáb shal showte: the soule of euerie one shal lament in him self.

5 Mine heart shal crye for Moáb: his fugitiues shal flee vnto Zóar, & an heiffer of thre yere olde: for they shal go vp w weping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonáim they shal raise vp a crye of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shal be dried vp: therefore the grasie is withered, the herbes consumed, & there was no grene herbe.

7 Therefore what euerie man hathe left, & their substance shal they beare to y broke of the willowes.

8 For the crye went rounde aboute y borders of Moáb: & the howling thereof vnto Egláim, & the skriking thereof vnto Beer Elím, 9 Because the waters of Dimón shalbe full of blood: for I wil bring more vpon Dimón, euen lyons vpon him that escapeth of Moáb, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

1 Send ye a lambe to the ruler of the Sworde from the rocke of the wilderness, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it shalbe as a birde that flyeth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moáb shal be at the foordes of Arnón.

3 Gather a counsell, execute iudgement: make thy shadowe as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewraye not him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwell with thee: Moáb be thou their couert from the face of the destroyer: for the extorcioner shal end: the destroyer shalbe consumed, & the oppressour shal cease out of the land.

5 And in mercie shal the throne be prepared, & he shal sit vpon it in stedfastnes, in the tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and siking iudgement, and hastening iustice.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moáb (he is verie proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignacion, but his lies shal not be so.

7 Therefore shal Moáb howle vnto Moáb: euerie one shal howle: for the fundacions of Kir-haréséth shal ye mourne, yet they shalbe stricken.

8 For the vineyardes of Heshbón are cut downe, & the vine of Sibmáh: the lords of the heathen haue broken the principal vines thereof. they are come vnto Iazér: they wandred in the wilderness: her goodlie branches stretched out them selues, & went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore wil I wepe with the weping of Iazér, & of y vine of Sibmáh, o Heshbón: and Elealéh, I wil make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy sommer frutes, and vpon thy haruest a showting is fallen.

12 And when it shal appeare that Moab shalbe wearie of his hie places, then shal he come to his temple to pray, but he shal not preuaile.

13 This is the worde that the Lord hathe spoken against Moab since that time.

14 And now the Lord hathe spoken, saying, In thre yerres, as the yerres of a phyling, and the glorie of Moab shalbe contéined in all the great multitude, & the remnant shalbe very smale & feble.

CHAP. XVII.

A prophesie of the destruction of Damascus and Ephraim. 7 Calamitie moueth to repentance.

The burden of Damascus. Beholde, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shalbe a ruinous heape.

The cities of Aroér shalbe forsaken: they shalbe for flockes: for thei shal lye there, and none shal make them afraide.

The munition also shal cease from Ephraim, & the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Arám shalbe as the glorie of the children of Israél, saith the Lord of hostes.

And in that day the glorie of Iakób shalbe impouerished, and the fatnes of his flesh shalbe made leane.

And it shalbe as when the haruest man gathereth the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shalbe as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of Repháim.

Yet a gathering of grapes shal be left in it, as the shaking of an olive tree, two or thre berries are in the top of the vpmoste boughs, & foure or fise in the hye branches of the frute thereof, saith the Lord God of Israél.

At that day shal a man loke to his maker, and his eyes shal loke to the holie one of Israél.

And he shal not loke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, nether shal he loke to those things, which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images.

In that day shal the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughs & bráches, which they did forsake, because of the childre of Israél, & there shalbe desolatio.

Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluacion, and hast not remembred the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plants, and shalt graffe strange vine branches:

In the day shalt thou make thy plant to growe, and in the morning shalt thou make thy sede to flourish: but the haruest shal be gone in the day of possession, and there shalbe desperate sorow.

Ah, the multitude of manie people, they shal make a sounde like the noyse of the sea: for the noyse of the people shal make a sounde like the noyse of mightie waters.

The people shal make a sounde like the noyse of manie waters: but God shal rebuke them, and they shal flee farre of, and shalbe chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rolling thing before the whirle winde.

And lo, in the euening there is trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the porcion of them that spoile vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

CHAP. XVIII.

Of the enemies of the Church. 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

Which is beyonde the riuers of Ethiopia,

Sending ambassadours by the sea, eué in vessels of reedes vpon the waters, saying,

Go, ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scatted abroad, and spoiled, vnto a terrible people from their beginning eué hitherto: a nacion by litle and litle, euén troden vnder fote, whose land the floods haue spoiled.

All ye the inhabitants of the worlde and dwellers in the earth, shal se when he setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpe, ye shal heare.

For so the Lord said vnto me, I wil rest & beholde in my tabernacle, as the heat drying vp the raine, & as a cloude of dewe in the heat of haruest.

For afore the haruest when the floure is finished, & the frute is riping in the floure, then he shal cut downe the branches with hookes, and shal take away, & cut of the boughs:

They shal be left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the beastes of the earth: for the foule shal sommer vp it, and euerie beast of the earth shal winter vpon it.

At that time shal a present be broght

Which are excellent, and brought out of other countries. As the Lord threateth the wicked in his Law, Leuit 26, 16.

The Prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague which was prepared against Israél by the Assyrians, which were infinite in number, and gathered of many nations.

He addeth this for consolation of the faithful, which were in Israél.

He compareth the enemies of the Assyrians to a tempest, which riseth ouer night, and in the morning is gone.

He meaneth that parte of Ethiopia, which lieth toward the sea, & was so full of shippes that the scales (which he compareth to wings) seemed to shadow the sea.

Which in those countreis were great inio much as they made shippes of the for swiftnesse.

This may be taken if they sent other to comforte the Iewes, and to promise them helpe against their enemies, and so the Lord did threaten to take away their strength that the Iewes shulde not trust therein:

or that they did sollicite the Egyptians, & promised the aide to go against Iudah.

To wit, the Iewes, who because of Gods plagues made all other nations afraid of the like, as God threateth.

When the Lord prepareth to fight against the Ethiopians, he wil stay a while from punishing the wicked.

Which two seasons are more profitable for the reaping of frutes: whereby he meaneth, that he wil seme to fauour them, & give them abundance for a time, but he wil suddenly cut them off.

Not onely men shal contrarie them, but the brute beasts.

Meaning, that God wil pitie his Church, and receiue that litle remnant as an offering vnto him self.

1 Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes. 11 The ruine of Iudea, 13 And of Arabia.

THE burden of the desert sea. As the whirlwindes in the South vse to passe from the wildernes, so shal it come from the horrible land.

A grievous vision was shewed vnto me, The transgressour against a transgressour, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Go vp to Elám, besige Media: I haue caused all the mourning thereof to cease.

3 Therefore are my loynes filled with sorrow: sorowes haue taken me as the sorowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I hearde it, & I was amased when I sawe it.

4 Mine heart failed: fearfulness troubled me: the night of my pleasures hath he turned into feare vnto me.

5 Prepare thou the table: watche in thy watch-towre: eat, drinke: arise, ye princes, anoynt the shield.

6 For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Go, set a watchman, to tel what he seeth.

7 And he sawe a charret with two horsemen: a charret of an asse, & a charret of a camel: and he hearkened & toke diligent hede.

8 And he cryed, A lyon: my lord, I stand continually vpon the watch towre in the day time, and I am set in my watch euerie night:

9 And beholde, this mans charret cometh with two horsemen. And he answered and said, Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the grounde.

10 O my threshing, and the come of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, haue I shewed vnto you.

11 The burden of Dumáh. He calleth vnto me out of Seir, Watchman, what was in the night? Watchman, what was in the night?

12 The watchman said, The morning cometh, & also the night. If ye wil aske, enquire: returne & come.

13 The burden against Arabia. In the forest of Arabia shal yet ary all night, euen in the waies of Dedaním.

14 O inhabitants of the land of Temá, bring forth the water to mete the thirstie, and preuent him that fleeth with his bread.

15 For they flee from the drawen swordes, euen from the drawen sworde, and from the bent bowe, and from the grievousnes of warre.

16 For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Yet a yere according to the yeres of an hyreling, & all the glorie of Kedár shal faye.

17 And the residue of the number of the strong archers of the sonnes of Kedár shal be fewe: for the Lord God of Israél hath spoken it.

1 A prophecie against Tyrus 17 A promise that it shal be restored.

1 THe ^a burden of Tyrus. Howle, ye shippes of ^b Tarshish: for it is destroyed, ^q y there is none house: none shal come from the land of ^d Chittim: it is ^e reueiled vnto them.

2 Be still, ye that dwell in the yles: the marchants of Zidon, & such as passe ouer the sea, haue ^f replenished thee.

3 The ^g sede of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, & the haruest of the riuier was her reuenues, and she was a mart of the nations.

4 Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the ^h sea hathe spoken, ^{even} the strength of the sea, saying, I haue not ⁱ trauailed, nor brought forth the childre, nether nourished yong mē nor brought vp virgins.

5 When the same commeth to the Egyptians, they shalbe ^k sorie, concerning the rumor of Tyrus.

6 Go you ouer to ^l Tarshish: howle, ye that dwell in the yles.

7 Is not this that your glorious ^m citie, her antiquitie ⁿ of ancient daies: her owne fete shal lead her a farre of to be a sojourner.

8 Who hathe decreed this against Tyrus (that ^o crowneth men) whose marchants are princes: whose chapmen are the nobles of the worlde?

9 The Lord of hostes hathe decreed this, to staine the pride of all glorie, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Passe through thy land like a flood to ^p daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.

11 He stretched out his hand vpon the sea: he shoke the kingdomes: the Lord hathe giuen a commandement concerning the place of marchandise, to destroye the power thereof.

12 And he said, Thou shalt no more reioyce when ^q art oppressed. ^r o virgin daughter of Zidon: rise vp, go ouer vnto Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest.

13 Beholde the land of the Chaldeans: this was no people: ^s Asshur founded it by the inhabitants of the wildernes: thei set vp the towres thereof, they raised the palaces.

^r The people of ^f Chaldea destroyed the Assyrians whereby the Prophet meaneth, that the Chaldeans were able to overcome the Assyrians, & were so great a nation, much more shall these two nations of Chaldea & Assyria be able to overthrow Tyrus: that is, Tyrus, by whom ye are enriched. Tyrus shall lie destroyed 70 yeres, which he calleth the regne of one King, or a mans age. ^u Shall vse all craft and subtilie to entise men againe to her. ^x She shall labour by all meanes to reuener her first credit, as an harlot when she is long forgotten, seeketh by all meanes to enterteine her louers. ^y Though she haue bene chastised of the Lord, yet she shall returne to her olde wicked practises, & for gaine shall giue her self to all mens lusts like an harlot. ^z He sheweth that God yet by the preaching of the Gospel will call Tyrus to repentance, & turne her heart from auarice and filthy game vnto the true worshiping of God and liberalitie toward his Saints.

CHAP. XXXIII.

A prophesie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people. 13 A remnant reserved, shall praise the Lord.

^a This prophesie is as a conclusion of that, which hath bene threatened to the Jewes & other nations from the 13 Chap. & therefore by ^f earth he meaneth those lands, which were before named. ^b Because this was a name of a guine, it was also applied to the, which were not of Aarons familie, & so signifieth also a man of dishonour, as 2 Sam 8, 18 and 20, 25 1 Chron. 28, 17 and by these wordes the Prophet signifieth an horrible confusion, where there shall be neither religion, order nor policie, Hosea. 49. ^c That is, rendereth not her thanks for the sake of ^f people, whom ^f earth deceiued of their nourture, because they de-thereof & he brought it to ruine.

 14 Howle ye shippes of Tarsish, for your strength is destroyed.
 15 And in that daie shall Tyrus be forgotte: seuentie yeres, (according to the yeres of one King) at the end of seuentie yeres shall Tyrus be as an harlot.
 16 Take an harpe, & go about the citie: (thou harlot that hast bene forgotten) make swete melodie, sing no songs that thou maiest be remembered.
 17 And at the end of seuentie yeres shall the Lord visite Tyrus, & she shall returne to her wages, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the worlde.
 18 Yet her occupying and her wages shall be holie vnto the Lord: it shall not be laied vp nor kept in store, but her marchandise shall be for the that dwell before the Lord, to eat sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

10 The citie of vanitie is broken downe: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in.
 11 There is a crying for wine in the stretes: all ioye is darkened: the mirth of the worlde is gone away.
 12 In the citie is left desolacion, & the gate is smitten with destruction.
 13 Surely thus shall it be in the middes of the earth, among the people, as the shaking of an olive tre, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended.
 14 They shall lift vp their voyce: thei shall shout for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from the sea.
 15 Wherefore praise ye the Lord in the valleys, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.

16 From the uttermost parte of the earth we haue heard praises, euen glorie to the Iusts, & I said, My leaneenes, my leaneenes, woe is me: the transgressors haue offended: yea, the transgressors haue grievously offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And he that fleeth from the noise of the feare, shall fall into the pit: & he that cometh vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the windowes from on high are open, and the fundacions of the earth do shake.

19 The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is moued exceedingly.

20 The earth shall reele to & fro, like a drunken man, and shall be remoued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

21 And in that day shall the Lord visite his hoste about that is on hie, euen the Kings of the worlde that are vpon the earth.

22 And thei shall be gathered together, as the prisoners in the pit: and thei shall be shut vp in the prison, & after manie daies shall thei be visited.

23 Then the moone shall be abashed, & the sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glorie shall be before his ancient men.

^{red.} ^p When God shall restore his Church, the glorie thereof shall so shine and his ministers (which are called his ancient men) that the sunne shall be darke in comparison thereof.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 O Lord, thou art my God: I wil exalte thee, I wil praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderful things, according

^f Which as it was without order, so now shalbe it brought to desolacion and confusion and this was not only ment of Ierusalem, but of all other wicked cities. ^g Because thei did not vse Gods benefites aright, their pleasures shal be faile, and they fall to mourning. ^h He comforteth the faithfull, declaring that in this great desolacion the Lord wil assemble his Church, & shall praise his name, as Chap 10, 22. ⁱ From the vtmost coastes of the worlde, where the Gospel shal be preached, as vers 16.

^k Meaning, to God, who wil publish his Gospel through all the worlde. ^l I am consumed with care, considering the affliction of the Church, bothe by fore enemies & domestical. Some read, my secret, my secret: that is, it was reueiled to the Prophet, that the good shal be pierced & the wicked destroyed. ^m Meaning, Gods wrath, and vengeance shalbe ouer & vnder them: so that thei shall not escape no more then thei did at Noahs flood.

ⁿ There is no power so high or mightie, but God wil visite him with his rodde. ^o Not with his rodde, as vers 21, but shalbe comforted.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noise of the strangers, as the heat in a drye place: he wil bring downe the song of the mightie, as the heat in the shadowe of a cloude.

6 And in this^b mountaine shal the Lord of hostes maie vnto all people a feast of fat things, even a feast of fined wines, & of fat things ful of marrow, of wines fined & purified.

7 And he wil destroye in this mountaine the couering that couereth all people, & the vail that is spred vpon all nations.

8 He wil destroye death for euer: and the Lord God wil^k wipe away the teares frō all faces, and the rebukes of his people wil he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

6 The fete shal treade it downe, even the fete of theⁱ poore, and the steps of the nedie.

7 The way of the iuste is righteousness: thou wilt make equal the righteous path of the iust.

8 Also we, o Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, & to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within me wil I seek thee in the mornig: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the worlde shal learne^h righteousness.

10 Let mercieⁱ be shewed to the wicked, yet he wil not learne righteousness: in^y land of vprightnes wil he do wickedly, and wil not beholde the maiesty of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they wil not beholde thine hie hand but they shal see it, and be confounded with^k the zeale of the people, & the fyre of thine^l benemes shal deuoure them.

12 Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other^m lords beside thee haue ruled vs, but we wil remember thee onely, & thy Name.

14 Theⁿ dead shal not liue, neither shal the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, & destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast encreased^o y nacion, o Lord: thou hast encreased the nacion: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coastes of the earth.

IN that day the Lord with his fore & great and mightie sworde shal visite uiathán, that croked serpent, & he shal slay the dragon that is in the sea.

 In that day sing of the vineyarde of red wine.
 I the Lord do kepe it: I wil watter it e-uery moment: lest anie assaile it, I wil kepe it night and day.
 Angre is not in me: who wolde set the briers and the thornes against me in battel?
 I wolde go through them, I wolde burne them together.
 Or wil he fele my strength, that he may make peace with me, & be at one with me?
 Here after, Iaakób shal take rote: Iúáel shal florish and growe, and the worlde shal be filled with frute.
 Hathe he smitten him as he smote those that smote him? or is he slayne according to the slaughter of them that were slayne by him?
 In measure in the branches thereof wilt thou cõtend w it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.
 By this therefore shal y iniquitie of Iaakób be purged, and this is all the frute, the taking away of his sinne: when he shal make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones, broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp.
 Yet the defensed cite shalbe desolate, & the habitation shalbe forsaken, and left like a wildernes. There shal the calfe sede, and there shal he lie, & consume the branches thereof.
 When the boughs of it are drye, they shalbe broken: the women come, and set them on fyre. for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore he that made them, shal not haue compasfion of them, and he that formed them, shal haue no mercie on were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shal worship the Lord in the holy mount at Ierusalém.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride & drunkennes of Israél, & The vntow-ardenes of them that shulde learne the worde of God.

God doeth all things in time and place.
 WO to the crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephráim: for his glorious beautie shalbe a fading floure, w is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, & are ouercome with wine.

Beholde, the Lord hathe a mightie and strong hoste, like a tempest of haile, & a whirlwinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters y ouerflowe, which throwe to the grounde mightely.

They shalbe troden vnder fote, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkards of Ephráim.

For his glorious beautie shalbe a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the vallei of them that be fat, and as y hastie frute afore sommer, which whē he that loketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

In that day shal the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glorie, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the residue of his people:

And for a spirit of iudgemēt to him that sitteth in iudgement, & for strength vnto the that turne away the battel to the gate.

But s thei haue erred because of wine, & are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest & the Prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed vp with wine:
 they haue gone astray through strong drinke: thei faile in vision: thei stumble in iudgement.

For all their tables are ful of filthy vomiting: no place is cleane.

Whome shal he teache knowledge, and whome shal he make to vnderstand the things that he heareth? them that are wei-ned from the milke and drawn from the breasts.

For precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle & there a litle.

For with a stammering tongue & with a strange language shal he speake vnto this people.

God on th.m that followe the traditions of men.

1 Altar, altar, of the citie that Da-uid dwelt in: adde yere vnto yere.
2 let them kil lambes.
3 but I wil bring the altar into distress, and there shalbe heauines & sorrow, and it shal-be vnto me like an altar.
4 And I wil besege thee as a circle, & fight against thee on a mount, & wil cast vp ramparts against thee.
5 So shalt thou be humbled, & shalt speake out of the d grounde, and thy speache shal be as out of the dust. thy voyce also shal be out of the grounde like him that hathe a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shal whisper out of the dust.
6 Moreover, the multitude of tny e strangers shal be like smale dust, and the multitude of strong men shal be as chaffe that passeth away, and it shal be in a moment, euen suddenly.
7 Thou shalt be visited of y Lord of hostes with thundre, and shaking, and a great noyse, a whirlwinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fyre.
8 And the e multitude of all the nacions y fight against the altar, shal be as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holds against it, and laye sege vnto it.
9 And it shal be like as an hūgrie man dreameth, and beholde, he eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is emptie: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and lo, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, beholde, he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shal the multitude of all nacions be that fight against mount Zión.
10 Stay your felues, and wonder: they are blinde, & make y^e blinde: they are dronken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

A wonderous worke of God. Isaiáh. In quietnesis strength^{590/1224}

12 And the boke is giuen vnto him that can not read, saying, Read this, I pray thee. And he shal say, I can not read.

13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people ^k come nere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lippes, but haue remoued their heart far frō me, and their ^l feare toward me was taught by the precept of men,

14 Therefore beholde, I wil againe do a maruelous worke in this people, even a maruelous worke, and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wisemen shal ^m perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shalbe hid.

15 Wo vnto them that ⁿ seke depe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their workes are in darknes, and they say, Who seeth vs, and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of desises shal it not be esteemed ^o as the potters claye? for shal ^y worke say of him that made it, He made me not: or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, He had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon shalbe ^p turned into Carmel: & Carmel shalbe counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shal the deafe heare the wordes of the boke, & the eyes of the blind shal se out of obscuritie, and out of darkenes.

19 The meke in the Lord shal receiue ioye againe, and the poore men shal reioyce in the holie one of Israël.

20 For the cruel man shal cease, and the scornful shalbe consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie, shalbe cut of:

21 Which made a man to sinne in ^y a worde, & toke him in a snare: which reiproued them in the gate, and made the iuste to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Iaakób, even he that redeemed Abraham, Iaakób shal not now be confounded, neither now shal his face be pale.

23 But when he seeth his children, the worke of mine háds, in the middes of him, they shal sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holie one of Iaakób, & shal feare the God of Israël.

24 Then they that erred in spirit, ^r shal haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shal leaue doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

He reiproueth the Lewes which in their aduersitie Used their owne counsels, and sought helpe of the Egyptians to Despisig the Prophetes 16 Therefore he sheweth what destruction shal come vpon them. 18 But offereth merce to the repentant.

WO to the ^a rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsell, but not of me, and ^b couer with a couer to cloke their doings, and not godlie meanes.

uening, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forth to go downe into Egypt (& haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen them selues with the strength of Pharaóh, and trust in the shadowe of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaóh shalbe your shame, & the trust in ^y shadowe of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his ^c princes were at Zóan, and his ambassodours came vnto Hanés.

5 They shalbe all ashamed of the people ^y can not profite them, nor helpe nor do the good, but shalbe a shame and also a reproche.

6 ¶ The ^d burden of the beastes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shal come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fyrie flying serpent against them that shal beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bouches of the camels, to a people that can not profite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shal helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vn. ^e her, Their strength ^f is to sit still.

8 Now go, & write ^g it before them in a table, & note it in a boke that it may be for the ^h last day for euer and euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, & children that wolde not ⁱ heare the Law of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, Se not: and to the Prophetes, Prophecie not vnto vs right things but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophecie ^k enours.

11 Depurte out of the way: go aside out of the path. cause the holie one of Israël to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holie one of Israël, Because you haue cast of this worde, and trust in ^l violence, and wickednes, and stay thereupon,

13 Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breache that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wail, whose breaking cometh suddenly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like ^y breaking of a potters por, which is broke without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not founde ^m a sheard to take fyre out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit.

15 For thus said the ⁿ Lord God, the holie one of Israël, In rest and quietnes shal ye be saued: in quietnes and in confidence shalbe your strength, but ye wolde not.

16 For ye haue said, No, but we wil flee away vpon ^o horses. Therefore shal ye flee. We wil ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shal your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand as one shal flee at the rebuke of one:

^c The chiefe of Israël went in to Egypt to aske helpe, and a boode at these cities.

^d That is, a heauy sentence or prophecie against the beastes that carried their treasures into Egypt, by the wilderness, & was South from Iudáh signifying that it ^y beastes shalbe not be spared, the men shalbe punished much more grievously ^e To wit, to be ruiated.

^f And not to come to & fro to seke helpe ^g That is, this prophecie.

^h That it may be a witness, against them for all posteritie.

ⁱ He sheweth what was the cause of their destruction, & bringeth in also all miserie to mā to wit, because they wolde not heare the worde of God, but delisted to be flattered, and led in error.

^k Threaten vs not by sworde of God, neither be sorrowous, nor talke vnto vs in the name of the Lord, as Jer 11.21.

^m Signifying, that the destruction of the wicked shalbe without recovery. ⁿ Oft times by his Prophetes he put you in remembrance of this, ^y you shalbe onely deped on him. ^o We wil trust to escape by our horses.

^k Because these are hypocrites & not sincere in heart, as Mat 15.8.

^l That is, their religion was learned by mā doctrine, & not by my worde in Meaning, ^y where as God is not worshipped according to his worde, bothe magistrates, and ministers are but foolles, & without vnderstanding.

^m This is spoken of the, & in heart despised Godsworde & mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face ^o For all your craft, saith the Lord, you can not be able to escape mine hands: no more the claye, th it is in the potters hande, hath power to deliuer it self.

^p Shal there not be a charge of all thing, and Carmel, that is a plentiful place in selfe: of that it shalbe then, may be taken, as Chap 32.15. & thus he speaketh to comfort the faithful.

^q They that went about to finde faulte in the Prophetes wordes, and wolde not abide admonitions, but wolde intagle the Lord bring the into daunger.

^r Signifying, ^y except God giue vnderstanding, & knowledge, man can not but sit erre, and murmur against him.

^a Who contrary to their promises, take not me for their protectour, & contrary to my commandement, seke helpe at strangers ^b They seke this.

p Whereas all the trees are cut downe fawe two or three to make mastres.
q He commendeth the great mercies of God who with patience waiteth to call sinners to repentance.
r Not ouely in punishing, but in vying moderation in the same, as Ier. 10. 24. and 30. 11.
s Or, iustitiam.
t God shal direct all thy wayes, and appoint thee how to go either hether or thether.
u Ye shal cast away your idoles, which you haue made of golde, & siluer with all that belongeth vnto them, as a moſte filthy thing and polluted.
v Shewing that there can be no true repentance except both in heart and dede we shewe our selues enemies to idolatrie.
w By these diuerſe maners of speache he sheweth y the felicitie of the Church shal be so great, y none is able sufficiently to expresse it.
y When the Church shal be restored, y glorie thereof shal passe ſeuē times y brightnes of y sunne: for by the sunne and moone, which are two excellent creatures, he sheweth what shal be the glorie of the children of God in the kingdom of Christ.
z This threatening is against the Assyrians, the chief enemies of the people of God.
a To drine thee to nothing: and thus God consumeth the wicked by y meanes, whereby he cleanseſeth his.
b Ye shal reioice at the destruction of your enemies, as they that sing for ioye of the ſolemne feaſt, which began in the euening.

of one : at the rebuke of ſiue ſhal ye flee, til ye be left as a ſhippe maſt vpon the top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpō an hill.
18 Yet therefore wil y Lord waite, that he may haue a mercy vpon you, and therefore wil he be exalted, that he may haue compaſſion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him.
19 Surely a people ſhal dwell in Ziōn, & in Ieruſalem: thou ſhalt wepe no more: he wil certainly haue mercie vpō thee at y voyce of thy crye: whē he heareth thee, he wil answer thee.
20 And when the Lord hathe giue you the bread of aduerſitie, and the water of afflictio, thy raine ſhal be no more kept backe, but thine eyes ſhal ſee thy raine.
21 And thine eares ſhal heare a worde behinde thee, ſaying, This is the way, walke ye in it, when thou turneſt to the right hand, and when thou turneſt to the left.
22 And ye ſhal pollute the couering of the images of ſiluer, and the riche ornament of thine images of golde, & caſt the away as a menſtruous cloth, and thou ſhalt ſay vnto it, Get thee hence.
23 Then ſhal he giue raine vnto thy ſede, when thou ſhalt ſowe the groude, & bread of the increaſe of the earth, and it ſhal be fat and as oyle: in that day ſhal thy cattel be fed in large paſtures.
24 The oxen alſo and the yong aſſes, that til the grounde, ſhal eat cleane prouendre, which is winowed with the ſhoouel and with the fanne.
25 And vpon euerie hie mountaine, and vpon euerie hie hil ſhal there be riuers & ſtreames of waters, in the day of the great ſlaughter, when the towers ſhal fall.
26 Moreover, the light of the moone ſhal be as the light of the ſunne, and the light of the ſunne ſhal be ſeuē folde, and like the light of ſeuē dayes in the day that the Lord ſhal binde vp the breache of his people, & heale the ſtroke of their wounde.
27 Beholde, the Name of the Lord cometh from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie: his lippes are ful of indignacion, and his tongue is as a deuouring fyre.
28 And his Spirit is as a riuier y ouerfloweth vp to y necke: it diuideth a ſondre, to fanne the nations with the fanne of a vanitie, and there ſhal be a bridle to cauſe them to erre in the chawes of the people.
29 But there ſhal be a ſong vnto you as in the night, whē a ſolemne feaſt is kept: & gladnes of heart, as he that cometh with a pipe to go vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Iſraēl.
30 And the Lord ſhal cauſe his glorious voyce to be heard, & ſhal declare the lighting downe of his arme with the angre of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fyre, with ſcattering & tempeſt, and hallel ſtones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord ſhal Aſhur be deſtroyed, which ſmote with the rodde.
32 And in euerie place that the ſtaffe ſhal paſſe, it ſhal cleaue faſt, which the Lord ſhal lay vpon him with tabrets and harpes: and with battels, & lifting vp of hands ſhal he fight againſt it.
33 For Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euē prepared for the King: he hathe made it depe and large: the burning thereof is fyre & much wood: the breth of the Lord, like a riuier of brimſtone, doeth kindle it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He curſeth them that forſake God, and ſeke for the helpe of men.
2 W vnto them that go downe into Egypt for helpe, and ſtay vpon horſes, and truſt in charrettes, becauſe they are manie, and in horſemen, becauſe they be very ſtrong: but thei loke not vnto the holie one of Iſraēl, nor ſeke vnto the Lord.
3 But he yet is wiſeſt: therefore he wil bring euil, and not turne backe his worde, but he wil ariſe againſt the houſe of the wicked, and againſt the helpe of them that worke vanitie.
4 Now the Egyptians are men, & not God, and their horſes fleſh and not ſpirit: and when the Lord ſhal ſtretch out his hand, the helper ſhal fall, and he that is holpe ſhal fall, and thei ſhal altogether faile.
5 For thus hath the Lord ſpoken vnto me, As the lion or lions whelpes roareth vpon his prairie, againſt whome if a multitude of ſhepherds be called, he wil not be afraid at their voyce, nether wil humble himſelf at their noiſe: ſo ſhal the Lord of hoſtes come downe to fight for mount Ziōn, and for the hill thereof.
6 As birdes that flie, ſo ſhal the Lord of hoſtes defend Ieruſalem by defending and deliuering, by paſſing through & preſeruing it.
7 O ye children of Iſraēl, turne againe, in aſmuch as ye are ſunken depe in rebellion.
8 For in that day euerie man ſhal caſt out his idoles of ſiluer, and his idoles of golde, which your hands haue made you, & ſinne.

a There were two ſpecial cauſes, why y Iſraelites ſhuld be not ioyne amitie with y Egyptians: firſt, becauſe the Lord had commanded them neuer to reurne thither, Deut. 17. 16. & 28. 68, leſt they ſhulde forget the benefite of their redemption: & ſecondly, leſt they ſhulde be corrupted with the ſuperſticio & idolatrie of the Egyptians, and ſo forſake God, Ier. 2. 13.
b Meaning, that thei forſake the Lord, that put their truſt in worldelie things: for thei can not truſt in bothe.
c And knoweth their craftie enterpriſes & wil bring all to nauyght.
d Meaning, bothe the Egyptians and the Iſraelites.
e He ſheweth the Iewes, that if thei wolde put their truſt in him, he is ſo able, that none can reſiſt his power: and ſo careful ouer the, as a bird ouer her yōg, which neuer ſleeth about them for their defence: which ſimilitude the Scripture voucheth in diuerſe places, as Deut. 32. 11. matt. 23. 37.
f He toucheth their conſcience that thei might earneſtly ſeek their grievous ſinnes and ſo truly repent, for aſmuch as now thei are almoſt drowned and paſt recouerie.

Now wil I arise, saith the Lord: now wil I be exalted, now wil I lift vp my self.

Ye shal conceiue chaffe, & bring forth stubble: the fyre of your breth shal deuoure you.

And the people shalbe as the burning of lime: & as the thornes cut vp, shal they be burnt in the fyre.

Hear, ye that are farre of, what I haue done, & ye that are neie, knowe my power.

The sinners in Zión are affraid: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shal dwell with the deuouring fyre: who among vs shal dwell with the euerlasting burnings.

He that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous thigs, refusing gaine of oppression, shaking his hands from taking of giftes, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euil.

He shal dwell on thye: his defence shal be the munitions of rockes: bread shal be giuen him, & his waters shal be sure.

Thine eyes shal se the King in his glorie: they shal beholde the land farre of.

Thine heart shal meditate feare, Where is the scribe: where is the receauer: where is he that counted the towres.

Thou shalt not se a fierce people, a people of a darke speache, that thou canst not perceiue, & of a stammering tongue that thou canst not vnderstand.

Loke vpon Zión the citie of our solenne feastes: thine eyes shal se Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that can not be removed: & the stakes thereof can neuer be taken away, nether shal any of the cordes thereof be broken.

For surely there the mightie Lord wil be vnto vs, as a place of floods & brode riuers, whereby shal passe no shippe with oares, nether shal great ship passe thereby.

For the Lord is our iudge, the Lord is our law giuer, the Lord is our King, he wil saue vs.

Thy cordes are loosed, they colde not wel strengthen their mast, nether colde they spread the saile: the shal the pray be deuided for a great spoyle: yea, the lame shal take awaye the pray.

And none inhabitant shal say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shal haue their iniquitie forgiven.

CHAP. XXXIII.

He sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth toward his Church.

Come nūe, ye nations and heare, and hearken, ye people. let the earth heare and all that is therein, the worlde and all thar procedeth thereof.

For the Lord is our iudge, the Lord is our law giuer, the Lord is our King, he wil saue vs.

For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: he hathe destroyed the & deliuered them to the slaughter.

And their slaine shalbe cast out, and their stincke shal come vp out of their bodies, and the mountaines shalbe melted with their blood.

And all the hoste of heauen shalbe dissolved, and the heauens shalbe folded like a boke: and all their hostes shal fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figtree.

For my sworde shalbe drunken in the heauen, beholde, it shal come downe vpon Edóm, euen vpon the people of my curse to iudgement.

The sworde of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat & with the blood of the lambs and the goats, with the fat of the kidneis of the rams: for the Lord hathe a sacrifice in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edóm.

And the vnicornes shal come downe with them and the haiffers with the bulls, and their land shalbe dronke with blood, and their dust made fat with fatnes.

For it is the day of the Lords vengeance, and the yere of recompence for the iudgement of Zión.

And the riuers thereof shalbe turned in to pitch, & the dust thereof into brimstone, and the land thereof shalbe burning pitch.

It shal not be quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shal go vpeuermore: it shal be desolate from generation to generation: none shal passe through it for euer.

But the pellicane & the hedgehog shal possesse it, and the great owle, & the rauē shal dwell in it, & he shal stretch out vpon it the line of vanitie, and the stones of emptines.

The nobles thereof shal call to the kingdome, and there shalbe none, and all the princes thereof shalbe as nothing.

And it shal bring forth the thornes in y^e palaces thereof, nettles & thistles in y^e strong holdes thereof, and it shal be an habitation for dragons and a court for ostriches.

There shal mete also Zión and Iim, and the Satyre shal crye to his fellowe, and the shrice owle shal rest thare, & shal finde for her self a quiet dwelling.

There shal the owle make her nest, and lay, and hatche, and gather the vnder her shadowe: thence shal y^e vultures also be gathered, euen one with her make.

Seke in the boke of the Lord & read: none of these shal faile, none shal want: her make for this mouth hathe comanded, & his voice Spirit hathe gathered them.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The great ioye of them that beleue in Christ, 3 The office which preacheth the Gospel, 4 The frutes that followe thereof.

a He propheseth of the full restoration of the Church bothe of the Iewes and Gentiles vnder Christ, which shall be fully accomplished at the last day: albeit as yet it is compared to a desert and wilderness.

1 The desert and the wilderness shall reioyce: and the waste ground shall be glad and flourish as the rose.

b The Church was before compared to a barren wilderness, shall by Christ be made moſte plentiful and beautiful.

2 It shall flourish abundantly & shall greatly reioyce also and ioy: the glorie of Lebanon shall be giuen vnto it: the beautie of Carmel, and of Sharon, they shall see the glorie of the Lord, & the excellencie of our God.

c He sheweth the presence of God is the cause that the Church doeth bring forth the frute and flourish.

3 Strengthen the weake hands, & comfort the feeble knees.

d He willeth all to encourage one another, and specially the ministers to exhort & streng then the weake, that they may patiently abide the coming of God, which is at hand.

4 Say vnto them that are feareful, Be you strong: feare not: beholde, your God cometh with vengeance: euen God with a recompence, he wil come and saue you.

e To destroy your enemies.

5 The shall the eyes of the blinde be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

f When the knowledge of Christs reuerled.

6 Then shall the lame man leape as an hart, & the dõme mans tongue shall sing: for in the wilderness shall waters breake out, & riuers in the desert.

g They were baren & destitute of graces of God, shall haue them giuen by Christ.

7 And the drye ground shall be as a poole, and the thistle (as springs of water in the habitation of dragons: where thei lay) shall be a place for reedes and rushes.

h It shall be for the saits of God & not for the wicked.

8 And there shall be a path and a way, and the way shall be called holy: the polluted shall not passe by it: for he shall be with them, and walke in the way, and the fooles shall not erre.

i God shall lead and guide them, alſo vnto the bringing forth of Egypt.

9 There shall be no lyon, nor noisome beastes shall ascend by it, nether shall they be founde there, that the redeemed may walke.

k As he threatened to the wicked to be destroyed hereby, Chap. 30, 6.

10 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne and come to Zion with praise: and euerlasting ioy shall be vpon their heads: thei shall obtaine ioy and gladnes, & sorrowe and mourning shall flee away.

l Whome the Lord shall deliuer from the captiuitie of Babylon.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Saneherib sendeth Rabshakéh to beseege Ierusalem. 15 His blasphemies against God.

a This historie is rehearsed, because it is as a seale & confirmation of the doctrine aforesaid, bothe for the threatnings & promises to wit, that God wolde suffer his Church to be afflicted, but at length wolde send deliuerance.

Now in the fourteenth yere of King Hezekiah, Saneherib King of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and toke them.

b When he had abolished superstition, & idolatrie, & restored religion, yet God wolde exercise his Church to trye their faith and patience.

And the King of Asshur sent Rabshakéh fro Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great hoste, and he stode by the conduite of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

e For he was now restored to his office, as Ifaiáh had prophesied, Chap. 22, 20.

4 And Rabshakéh said vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the King of Asshur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

d This declaration that there were fewe gods to be founde in the Kings house, where he was driuen to send this wicked man in such a weighe matter.

5 I saie, Surely I haue eloquence, but counsel and strength are for the warre: on whom then dost thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

e Saneherib chiefes praue.

6 Lo, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it wil go into his hand, and perce it: so is Pharaoh King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

f He speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah, falsely charging him, that he put his trust in his wit and eloquence, where as his onelie confidence was in the Lord.

7 But if thou say to me, We trust in the Lord our God. Is not that he, whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah toke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar?

g Satan labored to pul the godlie King from one vain confidence to another, to wit, from trust in the Egyptians, whose power was weake & would deceiue them.

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the King of Asshur, & I wil giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy parte to set riders vpon them.

h He reprocheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Saneheribs least captaines.

9 For how canst thou despise anie captain of the least of my lords seruants: and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, wil pretend the Name of the Lord but we must trye the spirits, whether thei be of God or no.

10 And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto me, Go vp against this land & destroy it.

k Or, turne backe.

11 Then said Eliakim, and Shebna and Ioah vnto Rabshakéh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

l He reprocheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Saneheribs least captaines.

12 Then said Rabshakéh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, & to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall, that they may eat their owne dounge, and drinke their owne piss with you?

m Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, wil pretend the Name of the Lord but we must trye the spirits, whether thei be of God or no.

13 So Rabshakéh stode, & cryed with a loud voyce in the Iewes language, and said, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the King of Asshur.

n Thei were afraid, lest by his wordes he shoulde haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appointment with him.

14 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shall not be able to deliuer you.

o Ebre, the waters of their face.

15 Nether let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord wil surely deliuer vs: this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Asshur.

p The Ebrewe word signifieth blessing whereby this wicked captaine wolde haue persuaded the people, that their condition shoulde be better vnder Saneherib then vnder Hezekiah.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Asshur, Make appointment with me, and come out to me, that euerie man may eat of his owne vine, and euerie man of his owne figtre, and drinke euerie man the water of his owne well,

27 T^h I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, even a land of wheat and wine, a land of bread and vineyardes, 28 Lest Hezekiah discerne you, saying, The Lord wil deliuer vs. Hathe anie of y gods of the naciõs deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Asshúr?

29 Where is the god of ^m Hamáth, and of Arpád? Where is the god of Sepharuáim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

30 Who is he among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord shulde deliuer Ierusalém out of mine hand?

31 Then they kept silence, and answered him not a worde: for the Kings commandment was saying, Answer him not.

32 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebná the chancellor, and Ioáh the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rét cloths, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakéh.

CHAP. XXXVII.

33 Hezekiah asketh counsel of Isaiáh, who promisseth him the victorie. 34 The blasphemie of Saneherib. 35 Hezekiahs praier. 36 The arme of Saneherib is slayne of the Angel. 38 And he himself of his owne sonnes.

1 AND ^{whē} the King Hezekiah heard it, he ^a rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth & came into the House of the Lord.

2 And he sent Eliakim the steward of the house, and Shebná the chancellor, with the Elders of the Priests, clothed in sackcloth vnto ^b Isaiáh the Prophet, the sonne of Amóz.

3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulacion & of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the ^c birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 If so be the Lord thy God hath ^d heard the wordes of Rabshakéh, whome the King of Asshúr his master hath sent to raile on y liuing God, & to reproche him with wordes which y Lord thy God hath heard, then ^e lift thou vp thy praier for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiáh.

6 And Isaiáh said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not affraid of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the King of Asshúr haue blasphemed me.

7 Beholde, I wil send a blast vpon him, & he shal heare a ^f noise, and retorne to his owne land, and I wil cause him to fall by the sworde in his owne land.

8 ¶ So Rabshakéh returned, and founde the King of Asshúr fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed fro Lachish.

9 He heard also men say of Tirhakah, King of Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shal ye speake to Hezekiah King of Iudáh, saying, Let not thy God ^h deceiue thee, in whome thou trustest, saying, Ierusalém shal not be giuen into the hand of the King of Asshúr.

11 Beholde, thou hast heard what y Kings of Asshúr haue done to all lands in destroying them, & shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the naciõs deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? ^a Gozán, and ^b Harán, and Rézeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Tc-lassar?

13 Where is the King of Hamáth, and the King of Arpád, and the King of the citie of Sepharuáim, Hena and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and red it, and he went vp into the House of the Lord, and Hezekiah spred it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah praied vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hostes, God of Isaiél, which dwellest betwene the Cherubims, thou art vey God a'one ouer al the kingdome of the earth: thou hast made the heauen & the earth.

17 Encline thine eare, ^o Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, ^o Lord, and se, and heare all the wordes of Saneherib, who hath sent to blasphemie the liuing God.

18 Truth it is, ^o Lord, that the Kings of Asshúr haue destroyed all lands, & ^m their countrey, 19 And haue cast their gods in the fyre: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, even wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, ^o Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that ⁿ all the kingdomes of the earth may knowe, that thou onely art the Lord.

21 ¶ Then Isaiáh the sonne of Amóz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith y Lord God of Israiél, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Saneherib King of Asshúr, 22 This is the worde that the Lord hath spoken against him, O ^o virgin, daughter of Ziõn, he hath despised thee, & laughed thee to scorne: ^o daughter of Ierusalém, he hath shaken his head at thee.

 downward and beare frute vpward.
 32 For out of Ierusalém shal go a remnant, zeale of the Lord of hostes shal do this.

 33 Therefore thus saith the Lord, concerning y^e King of Asshur, He shal not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrowe there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it.
 34 By the same way that he came, he shal returne, and not come into this citie, saith the Lord.
 35 For I wil defend this citie to saue it, for s He esteemeth more the remission of his finnes, & Gods fauour then a thousand liues.

t For as muche as God hath placed man in this world to glorifie him, the godlie take it as a signe of his wrath when their dayes are shortened, ether because they they liued vnto the end of their finnes to liue longer in his seruice, or for their zeale to Gods glorie, seeing that there is so fewe in earth, that do regarde it as Psal 65, and 115, 17.

all my bones, like a lion: from daie to night wilt thou make an end of me.

Like a crane or a swallow, so did I mchatter: I did mourne as a doue. mine eyes were lift vp on hie. O Lord, n it hath oppressed me, comfort me.

What shal I saie? o for he hath said it to me, and he hath done it: I shal walke weakely all my yeres in the bitterness of my soule.

O Lord, q to them that ouerliue them, & to all that are in them, the life of my spirit shal be knowne, that thou causedst me to flie, and hast giuen life to me.

Beholde, for t felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my v finnes behinde thy backe.

For u the graue can not cofesse thee: death can not praise thee: they that go downe into the pit, can not hope for thy trueth.

But the liuing, the liuing, he shal confesse thee, as I do this day: the father to the children shal declare thy trueth.

The Lord was ready to saue me: therefore we wil sing my song, all the dayes of our life in the House of the Lord.

Thé said Isaiáh, Take a lump of drye figges, and z laie it vpon the boile, and he shal recouer.

Also Hezekiáh a had said, What is the signe, that I shal go vp into the House of the Lord?

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiáh is reprov'd, because he shewed his treasures vnto the ambassadours of Babylon.

a King. 20, 12.
b This was y first King of Babilo which ouercame the Assyrians in y tenth yere of his reigne.
c Partly moued with y greatnes of y miracle, partly because he shewed him selfe enemy to his enemies, but chiefly, because he wolde come with the whome God fauoured, and haue their helpe, if occasion sereued.
d Read 2 King 20, 13, & 2. chr. 32, 25.

At the same time, a Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, King of Babel, sent b letters, & a present to Hezekiáh: for he had heard that he had bene sicke, and was recouered.
And Hezekiáh was c glad of them, and shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the golde, and the spices, & the precious ointement, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiáh shewed them not.

Thé came Isaiáh the Prophet vnto King Hezekiáh, and said vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiáh said, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel.

Thé said he, What haue d they sene in thine house? And Hezekiáh answered, All that is in mine house haue they sene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

And Isaiáh said to Hezekiáh, Heare the worde of the Lord of hostes, Beholde, the dayes come that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue laid vp in store vntil this day, shal be e caried to Babel. nothing shal be left, saith the Lord.

And of thy sonnes, that shal procede out of thee, & which thou shalt beget, shal they take away, and they shal be eunuches in the palace of the King of Babel.

Then said Hezekiáh to Isaiáh, The worde of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and he said, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.

CHAP. XL.

Remission of finnes by Christ. 3 The coming of Iohn Baptist. 18 The Prophet reproveth the idolaters and them that trust not in the Lord.

Comfort a ye, comfort ye my people, c wil your God say.

Speake comfortably to Ierusalém, & crye vnto her, that her b warrefare is accomplished, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for she hath receiued of the Lords hand c double for all her finnes.

A d voyce cryeth in the e wilderness, f Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make streight in the desert a path for our God.

Euerie vallie shal be exalted, and euerie g mountaine and hill shal be made lowe: & the croked shal be streight, and the rough places plaine.

And y glorie of the Lord shal be reueiled, and all h flesh shal se it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

A i voyce said, Crie. And he said, What shal I crye? All flesh is grasse, and all the k grace thereof is as y floure of the field.

The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because the l Spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse.

The grasse withereth, y floure fadeth: but them worde of our God shal stand for euer.

O Ziön, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the hie m mountaine: O Ierusalém, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength. lift it vp, be not affraide: say vnto the cities of Iudáh, Beholde a your God.

25 Therefore he hathe powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fyre round about, and he knewe not, and it burned him vp, yet he confided not.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. He promisseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 22 There is no God but one alone.

After these threatnings he promisseth deliuerance to his Church, because he hathe regenerate them, adopted them & called them.

formed thee, o Israél, Feare not: for I haue redemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine.

2 When thou passest through the waters, I wil be with thee, & through the floods, that they do not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest through the verie fyre, thou shalt not be burnt, nether shal the flame kindle vpon thee.

3 For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israél, thy Sautour: I gaue Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia, and Sebá for thee.

4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, & thou wast honorable, and I loued thee, therefore wil I giue a man for thee, & people for thy sake.

5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I wil bring thy sede from the East, and gather thee from the West.

6 I wil saie to the North, Giue: and to the South, Kepe not backe: bring my sonnes from farre, and my daughters from the endes of the earth.

7 Euerie one shalbe called by my Name: for I created him for my glorie, formed him and made him.

8 I wil bring forth the blinde people, and they shal haue eyes, and the deafe, & they shal haue eares.

9 Let all the nacions be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this and shewe vs former things, let them bring forth their witness, & they shal be iustified: but let them heare, and saie, It is trueth.

10 You are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my seruant, whome I haue chosen: therefore ye shal knowe and beleue me & ye shal vnderstand that I am: before me there was no God formed, nether shal there be after me.

11 I, euen I, am the Lord, & beside me there is no Sautour.

12 I haue declared, and I haue saued, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God.

13 Yea, before the day was, I am, and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hād: I wil do it, and who shal let it.

14 Thus saith the Lord your redemer, the holy one of Israél, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and brought it downe: they are all fugitiues and the Chaldeans cry in the shuppes.

15 I am the Lord your holy one, the creator of Israél, your King.

b When thou seekest dangers and conspiracies on all sides, remember this benediction and the loue of thy God, and it shal encourage thee. c By water & fyre, he meaneth all kinde of troubles and perils. d I turned Sancheribs power against these countreies and made the to suffer that affliction which thou shouldst haue done: and so were as the payment of thy ransome, Chap. 37.9.

e I wil not spare anie man rather then thou shouldest perish: for God more esteemeth one of his faithful, then all the wicked in the worlde. f He prophesied of their deliuerance from the captiuitie of Babilon, and so of the calling of the vniuersal Church, alluding to that which is written Deut 30.1. g Meaning, that he wolde not be vnmindful of them, except he wolde neglect his owne Name & glorie. h Signifying, that no power can resist him in doing this miraculous worke, nor all their idoles are able to do the like, as Chap 41.22. i To proue that the things, which are spoken of them, are true.

k Shewing, that the malice of the wicked hindereth them, in the knowledge of the trueth because they wil not heare when God speaketh by his worde. l The Prophetes and people to whome I haue giuen my Law. m Meaning, specially Christ and by him, all that faith him, all that faith by water, being y the course of Euphrates is turned another way by y enemies.

ful n By Darius and Cyrus o They shal crye when they wolde escape by water, being y the course of Euphrates is turned another way by y enemies.

16 Thus saith the Lord which maketh a way in the Sea, and a path in the mighty waters.

17 When he bringeth out the chariot, & horse, the armie & the power lie together, & shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as towes.

18 Remember ye not the former things, neither regard the things of olde.

19 Beholde, I do a new thing now: shall it come forth: shall you not knowe it? I will euē make awake in the desert & floods in the wilderness.

20 The wilde beasts shall honour me, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert & floods in the wilderness to giue drinke to my people, euē to mine elect.

21 This people haue I formed for my self: they shall shewe forth my praise.

22 And thou hast not called vpon me, O Iakób, but thou hast wearied me, O Iakób.

23 Thou hast not brought me the shepe of thy burnt offerings, neither hast thou honoured me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense.

24 Thou boghest me no sweete sauour & monie, neither hast thou made me drunke with the fatte of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made me to serue with thy sinnes, & wearied me with thine iniquities.

25 I, euē I, am he that putteth awake thine iniquities for mine owne sake, & wil not remember thy sinnes.

26 Put me in remembrance: let vs be iudged together: count thou that thou maiest be iustified.

27 Thy first father hath sinned, and thy teachers haue transgressed against me.

28 Therefore I haue prophaned the rulers of the Sanctuary, and haue made Iakób a curse, and Iakób a reproche.

Whereby he sheweth that his mercies were the onelie cause of their deliuerance, forasmuch as they had deserued the contrary. z Meant, in true faith & obedience. a Either for the conuersion of the swete ointment, Exod 30, 34, or for the swete incense, Exod 30, 7. b Thou hast made me to be in heauie burden by thy sinnes. c If I forget any thing that may make for thy iustification, put me in remembrance & speake for thy self. d I haue anctified. e Thy Priests and thy Prophets. f That is, reiected, abhorred and destroyed them in the wilderness, and at other times.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord promisseth comfort and that he wil assemble his Church of diuers nations. 2 The Vanitie of idoles. 3 The beausties of idolaters.

1 Et now heare, O Iakób my seruant, and Iakób, whome I haue chosen.

2 Thus saith the Lord, that made thee, and formed thee from the wōbe: he wil helpe thee. Feare not, O Iakób, my seruant, and thou righteous, whome I haue chosen.

3 For I wil powre water vpon the thirstie, a He created & chose thee from the beginning of his owne mercie, & before I could do thee any thing. b Whome God accepteth as righteous or which hadest occasion thereunto because of the Law, and of thine holy vocation. c Because man of him self is as the drye and baren land, he promisseth to moisten him with the waters of his holy Spirit, Iocel 2, 18. & floods vpon the drie ground: I wil powre my Spirit vpon thy sede, and my blessing vpon thy buddes,

4 And they shall growe as among the grasses, & as the wilowes by the riuier of waters.

5 One shall say, I am y Lords: another shall be called by the name of Iakób: & another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name him self by the name of Iakób.

6 Thus saith the Lord the King of Iakób & his redemer, the Lord of hostes, I am y first, and I am the last, and without me is there no God.

7 And who is like me, that shall call, and shall declare it, and set it in order before me, since I appointed the ancient people, and what is at hand, and what things are to come: let them shewe vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afiaied: haue not I tolde thee of olde, and haue declared it: you are euē my witnesses, whethere there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I knowe not.

9 All they that make an image, are vanitie, and their delictable things shall nothing profit: & they are their owne witnesses, that they knowe not: therefore they shall be confounded.

10 Who hath made a god, or molten an image, that is profitable for nothing?

11 Beholde, all that are of the fellowshipp thereof, shall be confounded: for the workmen them selues are men: let them all be gathered together, and stand vpon, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The smith taketh an instrument, & worketh in the coles, and facioneth it with hammers, & worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, & his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, & is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he facioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and he putteth it with the compass, and maketh it after the figure of a man, & according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in an house.

14 He wil hewe him downe cedres, and take the pine tre and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: he planteth a fyrr tre, and the raine doeth nourish it.

d That is, they shall be called by the name of Iakób, because they shall subscribe with their hand vnto the Lord, and name him self by the name of Iakób. e By this declaration of the people, he meaneth one thing, that is, that the people shall be holy & receiue the true religion of God, as Ier 31, 34. f I am alwayes I am my self, that is, meritorious to vnto my Church, and more able to waite vnto it, as Chap 41, 12. g And so, in them that shall declare the Church. h This is declare vnto me, I ought to provide hereon. i Graciously the Israelites are called, because he preferred them to all other in his eternal election. k Meaning, their idoles. l Read Chap. 41, 20. m Wherefore they bellowe vpon their idoles to make them some glorious. n That is, the idolaters, since their idoles be idle, must needs be witnesses of their owne blindness, and feeling that they are not able to helpe them, must confesse that they haue no power. o Meaning, that whosoever is made by the hand of man, if it be esteemed by God, is moste detestable. p Whereby appeareth their blasphemy, which still images the bowles of the latte, seeing that they are not onely he called vnprouitable, but Chap 41, 24. abominable and here called them the worke of errors Ier 10, 15. u He setteth forth the obit nacie and milice of the idolaters, & though thei se by daily experience y their idoles are no berter the the rest of y matter whereof thei are made, yet thei refuse the one parte & make a god of y other, as the papists make their cake, god and the rest of their idoles.

17 And y residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it and worshipeth and praith vnto it, and saith, Deliuere me: for thou art my god.

18 Thei haue not knowen, nor vnderstand: y for God hath shut their eyes that thei can not se, and their hearts, that thei cannot vnderstand.

19 And none considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to saie, I haue burnt halfe of it, euē in the fyre, & haue baked bread also vpon y coles thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, & shal I make the residue thereof an abomination? shal I bowe to the stocke of a tre.

20 He fedeth z of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceived him, that he can not deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lye in my right hand?

21 a Remembre these (o Iaakób and Israél) for y art my seruāt: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruāt: o Israél forget me not.

22 I haue put awate thy trasgressions like a cloude, and thy sinnes, as a mist: turne vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 b Reioyce, ye heauens: for the Lord hath done it: shoute, ye lower partes of y earth: braist forthe into praises, ye mountaines, o forest and euerie tre therein: for y Lord hath redeemed Iaakób and wil be glorified in Israél.

24 Thus saith the Lord thy redemer & he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord, that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my self.

25 I destroye the c tokens of the sothfaiers and make them that comeecture, foolles, & turne the wise men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnes.

26 ¶ He confirmeth the worde of his d seruāt and performeth the counsel of his messengers, saying to Ierusalém, Thou shalt be inhabited: and to the cities of Iudáh, ye shalbe buylt vp, and I wil repaire the decayed places thereof.

27 He saith to the e depe, Be drye and I wil drye vp thy floods.

28 He saith to f Cyrus, Thou art my shepherd:

& he shal reforme all my desire, sayig also to Ierusalém, Thou shalt be buylt: and to the Temple, Thy fundacion shalbe surely laied.

the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their armie.

13 I haue raised him vp in righteousness, & I wil duect all his wayes: he shal buyld my citie, and he shal let go my captiues, not for price nor reward, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 Thus saith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the merchandise of Ethiopia, & of the Sabeans, men of stature shal come vnto thee, and they shal be thine: they shal followe thee, and shal go in chaines: they shal fall downe before thee, and make supplicacion vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

15 Verily thou, o God, hast hidest thy self, o God, the Sautour of Israël.

16 All they shal be ashamed and also confounded: they shal go to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Israël shal be saued in the Lord, with an euertlasting saluacion: ye shal not be ashamed nor confounded woulde without end.

18 For thus saith the Lord (that created heauen, God him self, that formed y earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be inhabited) I am the Lord, and there is none other.

19 I haue not spoken in secret, neither in a place of darkness in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto y sede of Iakób, Scke you me: I the Lord do speake righteousness, & declare righteous things.

20 Assemble you selues, and come: drawe neie together, ye abict of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that can not saue them.

21 Telye and bring them, & let them take counsel together, who hath declared this from the beginning: or hath tolde it of olde? Haue not I the Lord? & there is none other God beside me, a iust God, & a Sautour: there is none beside me.

22 Loke vnto me, and ye shal be saued: all the ends of the earth shal be saued: for I am God, and there is none other.

23 I haue sworne by my self: the worde is gone out of my mouth in righteousness, and shal not returne, That euery knee shal bowe vnto me, and euery tongue shal sweare by me.

24 Surely he shal say, In the Lord haue I righteousness and strength: he shal come vnto him, and all that prouoke him, shal be ashamed.

25 The whole sede of Israël shal be iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

BEL is bowed downe: Nebó is fallen: their idoles were vpon the beasts, and vpon the cattel: they which did beare you, were laden with a weanie burden.

2 They are bowed downe, & fallen together: for they coulde not rid the of the burden, & their soule is gone into captiuitie.

3 Heare ye me, o house of Iakób, & all that remaine of the house of Israël, which are borne of me from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth.

4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, eue I wil beare you vntil the home heeres: I haue made you: I wil also beare you, and I wil carye you, and I wil deliuer you.

5 ¶ To whom wil ye make me like, or make me equal, or compare me, that I shulde be like him?

6 They drawe golde out of the bagge and weigh situer in the balance, and hyre a goldsmith to make a god of it, & they bowe downe, and worship it.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they cary him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, & can not remoue from his place. Though one crye vnto him, yet can he not answer, nor deliuer him out of his tribulacion.

8 Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe to minde, o you transgressors.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me, 12 Heare me, ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from iustice.

to these things, nether didest thou remember the latter end thereof.

^k Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, & dwellest careles, She saith in her heart, I am and none els: I shal not fit as a widdow, nether shal knowe thy losse of children.

^l But these two things shal come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children and widdowehead: they shal come vpon thee in their ^l perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinacions, & for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

^m For thou hast trusted in thy wickednes:
thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy ^k wis-dome & thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebell, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none els.

ⁿ Therefore shal euil come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof:
destruction shal fall vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shal come vpon thee suddenly, or thou beware.

^o Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whome thou hast ^l wearied thy self from thy youth) if so be thou maiest haue profite, or if so be thou maist haue strength.

^p Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starre gasers, & pronosticatours stand vp, and saue thee from these things, that shal come vpon thee.

^q Beholde, they shalbe as stubble: the fyre shal burne them: they shal not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame:
there shalbe no coies ^q to warme at, nor light to sit by.

^r Thus shal they serue thee, with whome thou hast wearied thee, ^q thy marchants from thy youth: euery one shal wander to his owne ^q quarter: none shal saue thee.

21 And they were not thirstie: he led them through the wildecines he caused thy waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he cleaue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

CHAP. XLIX.

The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleue his promises of Christ in the saluacion of all that beleue, and wil deliuer them from the tyrannie of their enemies.

1 HEARE ye me, o yles, & hearkē, ye people frō farre. The Lord hathe called me from the wombe, and made mencion of my name from my mothers bellie.

2 And he hathe made my mouth like a sharpe sword: vnder the shadowe of his hád hathe he hid me, and made me a chosen shafte: & hid me in his quiver,

3 And said vnto me, Thou art my seruant, o Israël, for I wil be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue labored in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my woike with my God.

5 And now saith the Lord, that formed me frō the wombe to be his seruant, that I maie bring Iakób againe to him (thogh Israël be not gathered, yet shal I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shalbe my strength)

6 And he said, It is a smale thing that thou shuldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iakób, and to restore the desolations of Israël. I wil also giue thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou maiest be my saluacion vnto the end of the worlde.

7 Thus saith the Lord the redemer of Israël, & his Holie one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a seruant of rulers, Kings shal se, and arise, and princes shal worship, because of the Lord, that is faithful, and the Holie one of Israël, which hathe chosen thee.

8 Thus saith the Lord, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluacion haue I helped thee. and I wil preserue thee, and wil giue thee for a covenant of the people, that thou maiest raise vp the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou maiest say to thy prisoners, Go forth: and to them that are in daikenes, Shewe your selues: they shal fede in the wayes, & their prisoners shalbe in all the toppes of the hilles.

10 They shal not be hungry, nether shal they be thirsty, nether shal the heat smite them, nor the sunne: for he that hathe compassion on them, shal lead them. euery to the springs of waters shal he driue them.

11 And I wil make all my mountaines, as a way, & my paths shalbe exalted.

12 Beholde, these shal come frō farre: & lo, these from the North and from the West, and these from the land of Siniim.

13 Reioyce, o heauens: and be ioyful, o earth: braile forth in to praise, o mountaines: for God hathe comforted his people, & wil haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hathe forsaken me, and my Lord hathe forgottē me.

15 Can a woman forget her childe, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her womb? though they shulde forget, yet wil I not forget thee.

16 Beholde, I haue graued thee vpon the palmes of mine hands. thy walles are euer in my sight.

17 Thy buylders make haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes rounde about & beholde: all these gather the selues together & come to thee. as I haue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely put the all vpon thee as a garmēt, & gird thy self wth the like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, & thy waste places, & thy land destroyed, shal surely be now narrow for them: they shal dwell in it, & they that did deuoure thee, shalbe farre away.

20 The children of thy barrennes shal say againe in thine eares, The place is straict for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 The shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hathe begotten me these, seing I am baren and

5 Thus he sheweth that the wicked hypocrites shulde not abuse Gods promises in whom was neither truth, nor ioy
6 Chap 57, 21

7 This is spoken in the passion of Christ to assure the faithful, that the promises shulde come to passe for they were all made in him, and a him shulde be performed

CHAP. I.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 3 Christs obedience & victorie.

Thus saith the Lord, Where is that subtil of your mothers diuorcement, whome I haue cast of for who is the creditor to whome I solde you? Beholde, for your iniquities are ye solde, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

Wherefore came I, & there was no man: I called, and none answered: is mine hand so shortened, that it can not helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? beholde, at my rebuke I drye vp the Sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dyeth for thirst.

I clothe the heauens with darknes, & make a sacke their couering.

The Lord God hath giuen me a tongue of the learned, that I shoulde knowe to minister a worde in time to him: for he is weary: he will raise me vp in the morning: in the morning he will waken mine eare to heare, as the learned.

The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.

I gaue my backe vnto the smiters, and my chekes to the nippers: I had not my face from shame and spitting.

For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I knowe that I shall not be ashamed.

He is nere that iustifieth me: who will contend with me? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come nere to me.

Beholde, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? lo, they shall waxe olde as a garment: the mothe shall eat them vp.

Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant. he that walketh in darkenes, & hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, & stay vpon his God.

Beholde, all you kindle a fyre, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fyre, and in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand: ye shall lie downe in sorowe.

CHAP. I.

To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, & her deliuerance.

Hear me, ye that follow after righteousness, & ye that seke the Lord: loke vnto the rocke, whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit, whence ye are digged.

Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, & blessed him, and increased him.

Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert like Eden, and her wilderness like the garden of the Lord: ioye and gladnes shall be founde therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and giue care vnto me, O my people. for a Law shall procede from me, and I will bring forth the my iudgement for the light of the people.

My righteousness is nere: my saluacion goeth forth, and mine armes shall iudge the people: the yles shall waite for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and loke vpon the earth beneth: for the heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like manner: but my saluacion shall be for euer, & my righteousness shall not be abolished.

Hearken vnto me, ye that knowe righteousness, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproche of men, neither be ye afraid of their rebukes.

I did not shrinke from God: for any persecution or calamitie whereby he sheweth, that the true ministers of God can loke for none other recompence of wicked but after this sorte, and also what is their comfort.

Shewing it is a rare thing that any should obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring the fire from heauen. You haue fought consolation by your owne deuises, & haue refused the light, and consolation, & God hath offered therefore ye shall remaine in sorowe, and not be comforted.

He comforteth the Church, that they should not be discouraged for their small number. That is, to Abraham, of whome ye were begotten, & to Sarah, of whome ye were borne.

As plentiful as Paradise, Genes 2.3.

I will rule, & gouerne my Church by my worde, and doctrine.

The time, I will accomplish my promises. My power, and strength.

He forewarneth them of the horrible change, & mutations of all things, & how he will preferue his Church in the middes of all these dangers.

For

affesheweth, Christ will not onely gather this grege number of the Iewes, but also of the Gentiles.

Meaning, Kings shall be converted to Gospel and be shewe their power, & autoritie for the preservation of the Church.

Being ioyned with the Church, they shall suble the felues to Christ their head, and giue him all honour.

He maketh this as an obiectio, although the Chaldees were strong, & had them in iuste possession.

This is the answer to their obiectio, none is stronger then the Lord, nether hath a more iuste title vnto them.

I will cause them to destroye one another, as Iud. 7. 22. 2 chro 20. 22. chap. 19. 22.

Meaning, he had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasio, as Hosea 2. 2. Which should declare, I haue cut her off, meaning, they colde shewe none.

Signifying, he solde them not for any det or pouertie, but they solde the felues to sinne to bte their owne lustes, & pleasures.

He came by his Prophetes, and ministers, but they wolde not beleue their doctrine and conuert. Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of olde, when I dryed vp the red Sea, and killed the fish in the riuers, & also as I ordeined in Iorden?

As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod 10. 21. The Prophet doeth represente here the persone and charge of them that are iustly called to the ministerie of Gods worde. To him that is oppressed by affliction and miserie. As they that are taught, and made free by him.

8 For the mothe ſhal eat the vp like a garment, and the worme ſhal eat them like wolfe: but my righteouſneſſe ſhal be for euer, and my ſaluacion from generacion to generacion.

9 Riſe vp, riſe vp, and put on ſtrength, & arme of the Lord: riſe vp, as in the olde time in the generacions of the worlde. Art not thou the ſame, that haſt cut Rana, and wounded the dragon?

10 Art not thou the ſame, which hath dried the Sea, & the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to paſſe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord ſhall retorne, and come with ioye vnto Zión, and euerting ioye ſhall be vpon their head: they ſhall obtaine ioye, & gladnes: & ſorowe and mourning ſhall flee away.

12 I, when I am he, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou ſhouldeſt feare a mortal man, and the ſonne of man, which ſhall be made as graſſe?

13 And forgeteſt the Lord thy maker, that hath ſpread out the heavens, and laide the fundacions of the earth: and haſt feared continually all the day, becauſe of the rage of the oppreſſour, which is ready to deſtroye: Where is now the rage of the oppreſſour?

14 The captiue ſhall haſteneth to be looſed, and that he ſhoulde not dye in the pit, nor that his bread ſhoulde faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that diuided the Sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hoſtes is his Name.

16 And I haue put my wordes in thy mouth, and haue defended thee in the ſhadow of mine hand, that I may plant thee in heauens, and iaye the fundacion of the earth, & ſay vnto Zión, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and ſtand vp, O Ieruſalem, which haſt drunke at the hand of the Lord the cup of his wrath. thou haſt drunken the dregges of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all ſonnes, whome ſhe hath brought forth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the ſonnes that ſhe hath brought vp.

19 Theſe two things are come vnto thee: who wil lament thee? deſolation and deſtruction, and famine, and the ſworde: by whome ſhal I comforte thee?

20 Thy ſonnes haue fainted, and lie at the head of all the ſtretes as a wilde bulle in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, & rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miſerable and drunken, but not with wine.

22 Thus ſaith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cauſe of his people, Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hand the cuppe of trembling, euen the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath. thou ſhalt drinke it no more.

23 But I wil put it into thou haſt that ſpoile thee, which haue ſaid to thy ſoul, Bowe downe, that we may go ouer, and thou haſt laid thy bodie as the ground, and as the ſtreete to them that went ouer.

CHAP. LII.

1 A conſolation to the people of God & Of the meſſengers thereof.

2 A Riſe, ariſe: put on thy ſtrength, & Zión: put on the garments of thy beautie, O Ieruſalem, the holy cite: for henceforth there ſhall no more come into thee the vncircumciſed and the unclean.

3 Shake thy ſelf from the duſt, ariſe, and ſit downe, O Ieruſalem: looſe the bandes of thy necke, & thou captiue daughter, Zión.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord, Ye were ſold for naught, therefore ſhall ye be redeemed without money.

5 For thus ſaith the Lord God, My people went downe aforetime into Egypt to ſourne there, and Aſſhur oppreſſed them without cauſe.

6 Now therefore what haue I here, ſaith the Lord, that my people is takē away for naught, and that they rule ouer them, make them to howle, ſaith the Lord, & my Name all the day continually is blaſphemed.

7 Therefore my people ſhall knowe my Name: therefore ſhall they knowe in that day, that I am he that do ſpeake: behold, it is I.

8 How beautiful vpon the mountaines are the ſite of him, that declareth & publiſheth peace: that declareth good tidings, & publiſheth ſaluacion, ſaying vnto Zión, Thy God reigneth.

9 The voice of thy watchmen ſhall be heard: they ſhall liſt vp their voyce, and ſhout together: for they ſhall ſee eye to eye, when the Lord ſhall bring againe Zión.

10 O ye deſolate places of Ieruſalem, be glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ieruſalem.

11 The Lord hath made bare his holy arme in the ſight of all the Gentiles, and all the ends of the earth ſhall ſee the ſaluacion of our God.

12 Departe, departe ye: go out from thence and touche no vnclean thing. go out of the middles of her: be ye cleane, that beare the veſſels of the Lord.

not depart from thee, neither shall the co-

Lord, that hath the compassion on thee.

O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with carbuncles, and lay

And I will make thy windows of emer-aules, and thy gates shining stones, children.

In righteousness shalt thou be established, & be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and thou shalt feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

Behold, the enemy shall gather him self,
but without me: who so ever shall gather him self in thee, against thee, shall fall.

Behold, I have created the smith that bloweth the coles in the fyre, and him that bringeth forth the instrument for his worke, and I have created the destroyer to destroye.

But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery gement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords seruants, and their righteousnes is of me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

An exhortation to come to Christ & Gods counsels are not as mans. The way of the faithful

Howeuer one y^e thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue no silver, come buy and eat: come, I saie, buy wine and meate without silver and without money.

Wherefore do ye late out silver & not for bread? & your labour without being satisfied: hearken diligently vnto me, & eat that which is good, and let your soule delight in fatnes.

Enlarge your eares, and come vnto me:
heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euerylasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of Dauid.

Behold, I gaue him for a witnes to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people.

Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knewe not thee, shall rune vnto thee, because of y^e Lord thy God, and the holie one of Isaiel. for he hath glorified thee.

Seek ye the Lord while he maie be founde:
call ye vpon him while he is nere.

Let the wicked forsake his waies, and the vnrightheous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he wil haue mercy vpon him: and to our God, for he is verie readie to forgiue.

For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your waies my waies, saith the Lord.

For as the heauens are higher than the earth, so are my waies higher than your waies, and my thoughts above your thoughts.

Surely as the raine cometh downe and the snowe from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth and maketh it to bring forth and budde that it maie giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

So shall my word be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I wil, and it shall prosper in the thing where-to I sent it.

Therefore ye shall go out with ioye, and be led forth with peace th^e mountaynes and the hills shall breake forth before you into ioye, and all the trees of the field shall clappe their hands.

For thornes there shall growe syre trees:
for nettles shall growe the myrrhe tree, and it shall be to the Lord for a name, and for an euerylasting signe that shall not be taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

An exhortation to iudgement and iustice to Shepherds that deuoure their flocke.

Thus saith y^e Lord, Keep iudgement & do iustice: for my saluacion is at hand to come & my righteousness to be reueiled.

Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which lieth holde on it: he that kepeth the Sabbath and polluteth it not, and kepeth his hand from doing anie euill.

And let not the sonne of the stranger, which is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separat me fro his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Behold, I am a drye tree.

For thus saith the Lord, vnto the Eunu-ches, that kepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth me, and take holde of my covenant,

Euen vnto the wil I giue in mine House & with my wailes, a place and a name better then of the sonnes & of the daughters I wil giue them an euerylasting name, that shall not be put out.

Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, & to loue the Name of the Lord, & to be his seruants euery one that kepeth the Sabbath, & polluteth it not & embrace my covenant,

They wil I bring also to mine holy moun-taine, & make them ioyful in mine House of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon mine altar:
for mine House shall be called an house of prayer for all people.

i Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. thus he speaketh to feare & hypocrites & to assure the faithful, that when this cometh, they may knowe it was tolde them before.
k He sheweth that his affliction shal come through the faule of the gouernours, Prophetes & pastors, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice & obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against them. l We are wel yet, and tomorowe shal be better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations which were made them in the Name of God.

prouoked Gods wrath against them. l We are wel yet, and tomorowe shal be better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations which were made them in the Name of God.

CHAP. LVII.

- God taketh awaie the good, that he shoulde not se the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters. 9 And their vaine confidence.

The righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and merciful men are taken awaie, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken awaie from the euil to come.

Peace shal come: they shal rest in their beddes, euerie one that walketh before him.

But you witches children, come hither, the sede of the adulterer and of the whore.

On whome haue ye iested vpon whome haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue: are not ye rebellious children; and a false sede?

Inflamed with idoles vnder euerie grene tree: and sacrificing the children in the valleis vnder the toppes of the rockes?

Thy porcion is in the smooth stones of the riuier. they, they are thy lotte: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offred a sacrifice. Shulde I delite in these?

Thou hast made thy bed vpon a verie hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thether, euen the her wentest thou to offre sacrifice.

Behinde the dores also and postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discovered thy self to another then me, and wentest vp and didest enlarge thy bed, & make a couenant betwene thee and them, and loudest their bed in euerie place a From the plague that is at hand, & also because God wil punish the wicked.

b The soule of the righteous shal be in ioye & their bodie shal rest in the graue vnto the time of the resurrection: because they walked before the Lord.
c He threatneth the wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of the name of Gods people derided Gods worde & his promises: boasting openly that they were the children of Abraham, but because they were not faithful & obedient as Abraham was, he calleth the bastards, & the children of forcerers, who forsake God and fled to wicked means for succour.
d Read Leui 18, 21. 2. King 23, 10.
e Meaning, euerie place was polluted with their idolatrie: or euerie faire one that they founde, they made an idole of it.
f In the sacrifices which you, offering before these idoles, thought you did serue God.
g To wit, thine altars, in an open place like an impudent harlot that careth not for the sight of her husband.
h In stead of setting vp the worde of God in the open places on the postes & dores to haue it in remembrance, Deut. 6. 9. & 27, 1. thou hast set vp figures and markes of thine idolatrie in euerie place.
i That is, didst thou encrease thine idolatrie more and more.

where thou sawest it.

Thou wentest to the Kings with oyle, & didest increase thine oynmentes & send thy messengers farre of, and didest humble thy selfe vnto hel.

Thou weariedst thy self in thy manifold iourneys, yet saidst thou not, There is no hope: thou hast founde life by thine had, therefore thou wast not grieved.

And whome didest thou reuerence or feare, seing thou hast lied vnto me, and hast not remembred me, nether set thy minde thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long time? therefore thou fearest not me.

I wil declare thy righteousness & thy workes, and they shal not profite thee.

When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together deliuer thee: but thy minde shal take the all away: vanitie shal pul them awaie: but he that trusteth in me, shal inherite the land, and shal possesse mine holie Mountaine.

And he shal saie, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the waie: take vp the stumbling blockes out of the waie of my people.

For thus saith he, that is hie and excellent, he that inhabiteth eternitie, whose Name is the Holie one, I dwell in the hie & holie place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit to reuue the spirit of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

For I wil not contende for euer, nether wil I be alwaies wrath, for my spirit shulde faile before me: and I haue made the breathe.

For his wicked couetousnes I am angrie with him, & haue smited him: I hid me & was angrie, yet he went awaie, & turned after the waie of his owne heart.

I haue sene his waies, and wil heale him: I wil leade him also, & restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him.

I creat the frute of the lippes to be peace: peace vnto them that are farre of, and to them that are nere, saith the Lord: for I wil heale him.

But the wicked are like the raging sea, that can not rest, whose waters cast vp mire and dirt.

There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

Yet they seke me daily, & wil knowe my waies, euen as a nacion that did righte: they wil seme to worship me and haue outward holines.

k Thou didst seke the fauour of the Assyrians by giftes and presents, to helpe thee against the Egyptians: & when they failed, thou soughtest to the Babylonians & more: and more didst torment thy self. l Although thou sawest all thy labours to be in vaine, yet wouldest thou neueracknowledge thy faule & leaue of. m He derideth their vnprofitable diligence & thought to haue made all sure, & yet were deceived. n Broken promises with me. o Meaning, the wicked abuse Gods lenitie & growe so farther wickednes.

p That is, thy naughtines, idolatries & impieties: which the wicked call Gods seruice: thus he derideth their obstinacie.

q Meaning, the Assyrians & others, whose helpe they looked for.

r God shal say to Darius and Cyrus.

s I wil not vse my power against fraile man whose life is but a blast: that is, for the vices & fautes of the people, which is ment here by couetousnes.

Chap. LVIII. a The Lord thus speaketh to the Prophet, willing him to vse all diligence & seruicence to rebuke the hypocrites.

ouly, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: thei aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they wil draw nere vnto God, saying,

3 ^e Wherefore haue we fasted, & thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, & thou regardest it not. Beholde, in y day of your fast you wil seke ^d your wil, and require all your dettes.

4 Beholde, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednes: ye shal not fast as ye do to day, to make your voyce be ^e heard aboue.

5 Is it suche a fast, that I haue chosē that a man shalde afflicte his soule for a day, & to bowe downe his head, as a bulle rush, and to lie downe in sackcloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this y fasting, that I haue chosē, to loose the bands of wickednes, to take of the heauy burdens, & to let the oppressed go fre, and that ye breake euery ^f yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, & that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy self from ^g thine owne flesh?

8 Then shal thy ^h light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shal growe spedely: thy ⁱ righteousness shal go before thee, and the glorie of the Lord shal embrace thee.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shal answer: thou shalt crye and he shal say, Here I am: if thou take away from the middes of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the ^k finger, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou ^l powre out thy soule to the hungry, & refresh the troubled soule: then shal thy light spring out in the ^m darkenes, and thy darkenes shalbe as the none day.

11 And the Lord shal guide thee cōtinually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watred garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shalbe of thee, that shal buyld the olde ⁿ waste places: thou shalt raise vp the fundacions for manie generacions, & y shalt be called the repaier of y breache & the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou ^o turne away thy fote from the Sabbath, from doing thy wil on mine holy day, & call the Sabbath a delite, to consecrat it, as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne waies, nor seeking thine owne wil, nor speaking a vaine worde,

14 Then shalt thou delite in the Lord, and I wil cause thee to mounte vpon the hie places of the earth, and fede thee with the heritage of Iakób thy father. for y mouth of the Lord hathe spoken it.

CHAP. LX.

2 The Gentiles shal come to the knowledge of the Gospell. 3 They shal come to the Church in abundance. 4 They shal haue abundance, though they suffer for a time.

A RISE, O IERUSALEM: be bought, for thy light is come, & the glorie of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For beholde, darkenes shal couer y^e earth, and grosse darkenes the people: but the Lord shal arise vpon thee, and his glorie shalbe sene vpon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shal walke in thy light, & Kings at y^e brightness of thy rising vp.

4 Lift vp thine eyes rounde about, & beholde: all these are gathered, & come to thee: thy sonnes shal come from farrre, and thy daughters shalbe nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt se and shine: thine heart shalbe astonied & enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shalbe conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shal come vnto thee.

6 The multitude of camels shal couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian & of Ephath: all they of Shebá shal come: they shal bring golde & incense, and shewe forth the praises of the Lord.

7 All the shepe of Kedar shalbe gathered vnto thee: y^e rams of Nebat^h shal serue thee: they shal come vp to be accepted vpon mine altar: and I wil beautifie the house of my glorie. 8 Therefore shall the offering of the Gentiles be acceptable to him, which is not offered to him by this altar, who was bothe the offering and the altar & self.

2 To preache the acceptable yere of the Lord, and the daie of vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne,

3 To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zión, & to giue vnto them beautie for ashes, the oyle of ioye for mourning, the garmēt of gladnes for the spirit of heauines, that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified.

4 And they shal buyld the olde waste places, & raise vp the former desolations, & they shal repaire the cities which were desolate and waste through manie generations.

5 And the strangers shal stande and fede your shepe, & the sonnes of the strangers shalbe your plowe men & dressers of your vines.

6 But ye shalbe named the Priests of the Lord, & men shal saie vnto you, The ministers of our God, Ye shal be the riches of the Gentiles, and shalbe exalted with their glorie.

7 For your shame you shal receiue double, and for confusion they shal reioyce in their porcion: for in their land they shal possesse the double: euerlasting ioye shalbe vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement & hate a robberie for burnt offering, and I wil direct their worke in trueth, and wil make an euerlasting couenant with them.

9 And their sede shal be knowne among the Gentiles, & they buddes among the people. All that se the, shal knowe them, they thei are the sede which the Lord hath blessed.

CHAP LXIII.

3 The Prophet prayeth for the sinners of the people. 6 Man's righteousness is like a filthy cloth.

OH, that thou woldest breake the heauens, & come downe, and that thy mountaines might melt at thy presence!

As ſmelting fy rebuindes, as the fyre caufed the waters to boile, (that thou mighteſt declare thy Name to thy auerſaries)
the people did tremble at thy preſence.

When thou didest terrible things, which we looked not for, thou camest downe, & the mountaines melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the worlde they haue not heard nor vnderstand with the eare, neither hathe the eye sene another God beside thee, which doeth so to him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou didest mete him,^d that reioyced in thee, and did iustly: they remembred thee in thy wayes: beholde, thou art angrie, for we haue sinned: yet in them is continuance, and we shall be saued.

6 But we haue all bene as an vncleane thing
 & all our brighteousnes was filthy cloutes and we all do fade like a leafe, and our ini-quities like the winde haue taken vs away

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp him self to take holde of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, ô Lord, thou art our Father: we are the¹ claye, and thou art our potter, & are the clay, and thou art loam potter, therefore cause we have prouoked thee to anger, and though we were excused our believes, yet our righteousness, & best virtues are before thee as filthy cloths, &c.

(as some read) like the menstruous clothes of a woman, as Alber, 10. 10.
by thy iust judgement thou hast utterly destroyed us, as the potter may be-pot, yet we appeal to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to mercy us so by thy children.

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Ieremiāh borne in the citie of Anathóth in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiāh, whome some thinke to be he that founde out the booke of the Lawe, and gave it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent giftes of God, and moste eudent reuelations of propheticie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very yong to propheticie, that is, in the thirtieth yere of Iosiah, and continued eightene yere vnder the said King, and thre moneths vnder Ichoaház, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeres, and thre moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeres: vnto the tyme that they were carryed away into Babylon. So that this tyme amounteth to aboue forty yere, besides the tyme that he propheticied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares, and lamentation the destruction of Ierusalém, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, conetousnes, subtiltie, crueltie, excesse, rebellion, and contempt of Gods worde, and for the consolation of the Church, reuileth the iuste tyme of their deliuerance. And here chieflie are to be considered thre things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubberne and obstinate, when the Prophetes do admonish them moste plainly of their destruction. Next how the Prophetes and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocatio, though they be persecuted & rigorously handlede of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdely, though God shewe his iuste iudgement against the wicked, yet wil he euer shewe him self a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seme to mans iudgement to be abolished, the wil he declare him self victorious in preseruing his.

Then the wordes of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

Before I ^g formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee; and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, & ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the ^h nations.

Then said I, Oh, Lord God, beholde, I cannot speake, for I am a childe.

But the Lord said vnto me, Saie not, I am a childe: for thou shalt go to all that I shal send thee, and whatsoever I commande thee, shalt thou speake.

Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand & ^k touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto me, Beholde, I haue put my wordes in thy mouth.

10 Beholde, this daie haue I set thee ouer y ^l nationes and ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throwe downe, to buylde, and to plant.

2 God rehearseth his benefites done vnto the Iewes. 2 Against the Priests and false prophetes. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

1 Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Go, and cry in the eares of Ierusalēm, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee, with the kindnesses of thy youth and y^e loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after me in the wilddernes in a land that was not sowed.

3 Israël was as a thing c^halowed vnto the Lord, & his first frutes: all they d^h that eat it, shal offend. euil shal come vpon them, saith the Lord.

4 Heare ye the worde of the Lord, o house of Iakób, and all the families of the house of Israël.

5 Thus saith the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers founde in me, that they are gone c^h farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become f^h vaine?

6 For they said not, Where is y^e Lord that brought vs vp out of the land of Egypt? that led vs through y^e wilddernes, through a desert, and waite land, through a drye land, and s^h by the shadowe of death, by a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt?

7 And I brought you into a plentiful countrey, to eat the frute thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when ye entred, ye defiled h^h my land, and made mine heritage an abominacion.

8 The Priests said not, i Where is the Lord? and they that shulde minister the Law, knewe me not: y^e i^h pastours also offended against me, and the prophetes prophesied in m^h Báal, and went after things that did not profite.

9 Wherefore I wil yet a^h plead with you, saith the Lord, and I wil plead with your childrens children.

which yet are no gods: but my people haue chāged their glorie, for that which doeth not profite.

12 O ye fleauent, be astonied at this: be afrayed and vterly cōfounded, saith the Lord.

13 For my people haue cōmitted two euils: they haue forsakē me: the fountaine of liuing waters, to digge the pittes, euen broken pittes, that can holde no water.

14 Is Israël a s^heruant, or is he borne in the house? why then is he spoiled?

15 The s^h Lyons roared vpon him & yelled, and they haue made his land waite: his cities are burnt without y^e inhabitant.

16 Also the children of c^h Noph and Tahanēs haue a broken thine head.

17 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy self, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he b^h led thee by the way?

18 And what hast thou now to do in the way of c^h Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Asshūr? to drinke the water of the d^h Riuer?

19 Thine owne wickednes shal c^h correct thee, and thy turnings backe shal reprove thee: knowe therefore and beholde, that it is an euil thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hostes.

20 For of olde time I haue brokē thy yoke, & burst thy bōds, and thou saidest, I wil no more t^hāsgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon all hie hilles, and vnder all grene trees.

21 Yet I had plāted thee, a noble vine, whose s^h plants were all natural: how then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine?

22 Thogh thou wash thee with s^h nitre, & take thee muche sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before me, saith the Lord God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, nether haue I b^h followed Baalim: beholde thy wayes in the valley, and knowe, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes.

24 And as a wilde k^haffe, vsed to the wilddernes, that snoffeth vp the winde by occasiō at her pleasure: who cā turne her backe? all thei that seke her, wil not weary them selves, but wil finde her in her l^h moneth.

25 Kepe thou thy fete from barenes, and thy throte from thirst: but thou saidst desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, & them wil I followe.

26 As the thefe is ashamed, when he is founde, so is the house of Israél ashamed, they, their Kings, their princes and their Priests, and their Prophetes.

27 Saying to a tre, Thou art my father, & to a stone, Thou hast begotten me: for they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face: but in y^e time of their trouble they wil say, Arise, and helpe vs.

28 But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, o Iudáh.

29 Wherefore wil ye pleade with me? ye all haue rebelled against me, saith the Lord.

30 I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your owne sworde hathe deuoured your Prophetes like a destroying lyon.

31 O generacion, take hede to the worde of the Lord: haue I bene as a wilderness vnto Israél? or a land of darkenes? Wherefore saith my people then, We are lords, we wil come no more vnto thee.

32 Can a maide forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, daies without number.

33 Why dost thou prepare thy way, to forsake amitie? euen therefore wil I teache thee, that thy waies are wickednes.

34 Also in thy wings is founde the blood of the foules of the poore innocents: I haue not founde it in holes, but vpon all these places.

35 Yet thou saist, Because I am gileles, surely his wrath shal turne fro me: beholde, I wil entre with thee into iudgement, because thou saiest, I haue not sinned.

36 Why runnest thou about so muche to change thy waies? for thou shalt be confounded of Egypt, & as thou art confounded of Asshur.

37 For thou shalt go forth from thence, & thine hands vpon thine head, because the Lord hathe reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people vnto repentance. 14 He promisseth the restitution of his Church. 20 He reprobeth Iudáh & Israél, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

a According to it is writte, Deut. 24. 4.

THey say, If a mā put away his wife, and she go from him, and become another mans, shal he returne againe vnto her? shal not this land be polluted? but y^e b If he takee suche one to wife againe: c That is, with idoles, & with them, whom thou hast put thy confidence in. d And I wil not cast thee off, but receiue thee, accordig to my mercie. e Which dwelleth in tents & waiteth for thee that passe by to spoyle them. f As God threatened by his Law, Deut. 28. 24. g Thou woldest neuer be ashamed of thine actes & repent: & this impudencie is comūe to idolaters, & wil not giue of, though they be neuer so manifestly conuicted. h He sheweth that y^e wicked in their miseries wil crye vnto God and vie outward praier as the godlie do, but because they turne not fro their euil, they are not heard. 1. Lift vp thine eyes vnto the high places, & beholde, where thou hast not plaid the harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the waies, as the Arabian in the wilderness: & y^e hast polluted the land with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice.

2. Therefore the showres haue bene restrained, and the latter raine came not, and thou haddest a s whores for head: thou woldest not be ashamed.

3. Didst thou not stil crye vnto me, Thou art my father, & the guide of my youth?

4. Wil he kepe his angre for euer? wil he reserve it to the end? thus hast thou spoken, but thou dost euil, euen more and more.

5. The Lord said also vnto me, in the daies of Iosiah the King, Hast thou sene what this rebel? Israél hathe done? for she hathe gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery grene tre, & there plaid the harlot.

6. And I said, when she had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but she returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudáh sawe.

7. When I sawe, how that by all occasions rebellious Israél had plaid the harlot, I cast her away, and gaue her a byl of deuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudáh was not afraied, but she went also, & plaid the harlot.

8. So that for the lightnes of her whoredome she hathe euen defiled the land: for she hathe committed fornicaciō with stones and stockes.

9. Neuertheles for all this, her rebellious sister Iudáh hathe not returned vnto me with her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.

10. And the Lord said vnto me, The rebellious Israél hathe iustified her self more then the rebellious Iudáh.

11. Go and crye these wordes towarde the North and saie, Thou disobedient Israél, returne, saith the Lord, & I wil not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am merciful, saith the Lord, & I wil not alway kepe mine angre.

12. But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God & hast scattered thy waies to the strange gods vnder euery grene tre, but ye wolde not obeye my voyce, saith the Lord.

13. O ye disobedient childre, turne againe, saith the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I wil take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe and wil bring you to Zión,

14. And I wil giue you pastours according to mine heart, which shal fede you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 Moreouer, when ye be increased & multiplied in the land, in those daies, saith the Lord, thei shal say no more, The Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shal come no more to minde, nether shal they remember it, nether shal they visit it, for that shalbe no more done.

17 At that time they shal call Ierusalém, The throne of the Lord, & all the nations shalbe gathered vnto it, euen to y^e Name of the Lord in Ierusalém: and thence forth they shal followe no more the hardenes of their wicked heart.

18 In those daies the house of Iudáh shal walke with the house of Israël, & thei shal come together out of y^e land of y^e North, into the land, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I said, How did I take thee for children & giue thee a pleasant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and said, Thou shalt call me, saying, My father, and shalt not turne fró me?

20 But as a woman rebelleth against her husband: so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israël, saith the Lord.

21 A voyce was heard vpon the high places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israël: for thei haue peruered their way, & forgotten the Lord their God.

22 O ye disobedient children, returne and I wil heale your rebellions. Beholde, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truly the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israël.

24 For confusion hath deuoured our fathers labour, from our youth their shepe & their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 We lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth: euen vnto this day, & haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudáh is prophesied, for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamēteth it.

O Israël, if thou returne, a returne vnto me, saith the Lord: & if thou put away thine abominaciōs out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue.

And thou shalt sweare, The Lord liueth in trueth, in iudgement, and in righteousness, and the nations shalbe blessed in him, and shal glorie in him.

For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudáh, and to Ierusalém,

4 Breake vp your fallow grounde, & sowe not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudáh, and inhabitants of Ierusalém, lest my wrath come forth like fyre, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednes of your inuentions.

5 Declare in Iudáh, and shewe forth in Ierusalém, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the land: crye, and gather together, & say, Assemble your selues, and let vs go into strong citiēs.

6 Set vp the standart in Ziōn: prepare to flee, & stay not: for I wil bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

7 The Lyon is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, & gone forth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy citiēs shalbe destroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore girde you with sackcloth: lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, saith the Lord, the heart of the King shal perish, and the heart of the princes and the Priests shalbe astonished, and the Prophets shal wonder.

10 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, surely thou hast deceiued this people & Ierusalém, saying, Ye shal haue peace, and the sworde perceth vnto the heart.

11 At that time shal it be said to this people and to Ierusalém, A drye winde in the hie places of the wilderness cometh toward the daughter of my people, but nether to fan, nor to cleanse.

12 A mightie winde shal come vnto me fró those places, and now wil I also giue sentence vpon them.

13 Beholde, he shal come vp as the cloudes, and his charrets shalbe as a tempest: his horses are lighter then egles. Wo vnto vs, for we are destroyed.

14 O Ierusalém, wash thine heart from wickednes, that thou maiest be saued: how long shal thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declareth from Dan, and publisheth affliction fró mount Ephraim.

16 Make ye mentiō of the heathē, and publish in Ierusalém, Beholde, the skoutes come from a farre countrey, and crye out against the citiēs of Iudáh.

17 They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the field, because it hath prouoked me to wrath, saith the Lord.

18 Thy waies & thine inuentions haue prouoked me to wrath, saith the Lord.

cured thee these things, such is thy wickednes: therefore it shalbe bitter, therefore it shal perce vnto thine heart.

¹⁹ My bely, my bely, I am pained, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me: I can not be styl: for my soule hathe heard the sounde of the trumpet, & the alarme of the battel.

²⁰ Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole land is wasted: suddenly are my tentes destroyed, and my curteines in a moment.

²¹ How long shal I se the standart, & heare the sounde of the trumpet?

²² For my people is foolish, they haue not knowen me: they are foolish childre, & haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to do euil, but to do wel they haue no knowledge.

²³ I haue looked vpon the earth, and lo, it was without forme and voide: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

²⁴ I beheld the mountaines: & lo, they trembled and all the hilles shooke.

²⁵ I beheld, and lo, there was no man, and all the birdes of the heauen were departed.

²⁶ I beheld, and lo, the fruteful place was a wilderness, and all their cities thereof were broke downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

²⁷ For thus hathe y^e Lord said, The whole land shalbe desolate: yet wil I not make a ful end.

²⁸ Therefore shal the earth mourne, and the heauens aboute shalbe darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and wil not repent, nether wil I turne backe from it.

²⁹ The whole citie shal flee, for the noise of the horsmen and bowe me: they shal go into thickets, and clime vp vpon the rockes: euerie citie shalbe forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

³⁰ And when thou shalt be destroyed, what wilt thou do? Thogh thou x clovest thy self with skarlet, thogh thou deckest thee with ornamets of golde, thogh thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy self in vaine: for thy louers wil abhorre thee & seke thy life.

³¹ For I haue heard a noise as of a woman trauailing, or as one laboring of her first childe, euen the voice of the daughter Ziôn that sigheth and stretcheth out her hands: y^e wo is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murderers.

CHAP. V.

¹ In Iudáh no righteous man found nether among the people nor the rulers. ² Wherefore Iudáh is destroyed of the Caldeans.

³ Vnto & fro by the firetes of Ierusalem, and beholde now, & knowe, & inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that excuteth iudgement, and seketh the trueth, and I wil spare it.

² For thogh they say, The Lord liueth, yet do they sweare falsely.

⁴ Therefore I said, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they knowe not the way of the Lord, nor y^e iudgement of their God.

⁶ Wherefore ^f a lion out of the forest shal slay them, and a wolfe of the wilderness shal destroye them: a leoparde shal watche ouer their cities: euerie one that goeth out thence, shalbe torne iⁿ pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are encreased.

⁸ They rose vp in y^e morning like fed horses: for euerie man neyed after his neighbours wife.

⁹ Shal I not visit for these things, saith the Lord? Shal not my soule be auenged on suche a nation, as this?

¹⁰ Clime vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a ful end: take away their batilmets, for they are not the Lords.

¹¹ For the house of Israél, and the house of Iudáh haue grieuouly trespassed against me, saith the Lord.

¹² They haue ^k denied the Lord, & said, It is not he, nether shal y^e plague come vpon vs, nether shal we se sword nor famine.

¹³ And the Prophetes shalbe as ^l winde, and the worde is ^m not in them: thus shal it come vnto them.

¹⁵ Lo, I wil bring a nation vpon you ^o from far, o house of Israél, saith the Lord, which is a mightie nacion, & an ancient nacion, a nacion whose language y^e knowest not, nether vnderstandest what they say.

17 And thei shal eat thine haruest and thy bread: thei shal deuoure thy sonnes & thy daughters: thei shal eat vp thy shepe and thy bullocks: thei shal eat thy vines & thy figtrees: thei shal destroe with y^e sworde thy fenced cities, wherein y^e didest trust.

18 Neuertheles at those daies, saith the Lord, I wil not make a ful end of y^e you.

19 And when y^e shal saie, Wherefore doeth y^e Lord our God do these things vnto vs? then shalt thou answer them, Like as ye haue forsaken me and serued strange gods in your land, so shal ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iaakób & publish it in Iudáh, saying,

21 Heare now this, o foolish people, and without vnderstáding, which haue eyes and se not, which haue eares & heare not.

22 Feare ye not me, saith the Lord: or wil ye not be afraid at my presense, which haue placed the sande for the bondes of the sea by the perpetual decre that it can not passe it, and thogh the waues thereof rage, yet can thei not preuaile, thogh thei roare, yet can thei not passe ouer it?

23 But this people hath an vnfaithful and rebellious heart: thei are departed & gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine bothe early & late in due season: he referueth vnto vs the appointed wokes of the haruest.

25 Yet your iniquities haue turned awaie these things, and your sinnes haue hindred good things from you.

26 For among my people are founde wicked persones, that laie waite as he that setteth snares: thei haue made a pit to catche me.

27 As a cage is ful of birdes, so are their houses ful of deceit: thereby thei are become great and waxen riche.

28 Thei are waxen fat & shining: thei do ouerpasse the dedes of y^e wicked: thei execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherles: yet thei prosper, thogh thei execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shal I not visite for these things, saith the Lord: or shal not my soule be auenged on suche a nation as this?

30 An horrible and filthie thing is committed in the land.

31 The Prophetes Prophecie lies, and the Priestes receiue giftes in their hádes, and my people delite therein. What wil ye then do in the end thereof?

CHAP. VI.

The comming of the Assyrians and Caldeans. 16 He exhorteth the Iewes to repentance.

O Ye children of Beniamín, prepare to flee out of the middes of Ierusalem and blow the trumpet in Tekoá: set vp a standart vpon Beth-haccérem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great destruction.

I haue compared the daughter of Zión to a beautiful and deintie woman.

The pastors with their flockes shal come vnto her: thei shal pitch their tents round about by her, & euerie one shal fede in his place.

Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs go vp toward the South: wo vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out.

Arise, and let vs go vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

For thus hath the Lord of hostes said, Hewe downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this citie must be visited: all oppression is in the middes of it.

As y^e fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her malice: & crueltie and spoile is continually heard in her before me with sorow and strokes.

Be thou instructed, o Ierusalem, lest my soule departe from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land, that none inhabiteth.

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Thei shal gather as a vine, the residue of Israél: turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

Vnto whome shal I speake, & admonish that thei may heare? beholde, their eares are vncircumcised, and thei can not hearken: beholde, the worde of y^e Lord is vnto them as a reproche: thei haue no delite in it.

Therefore I am ful of the wrath of the Lord: I am wearie with holding it: I wil powre it out vpon the childre in y^e strete, & likewise vpon y^e assemblie of the yong men: for the hous band shal euen be taken with the wife, & the aged with him that is ful of daies.

And their houses with their lands, and wiues also shalbe turned vnto strangers: for I wil stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

For fro the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euerie one is giuen vnto couetousnes, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, thei all deale falsely.

Thei haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with swete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

Werethei ashamed when they had committed abomination: nay, thei were not ashamed, no nether colde they haue anie shame: therefore thei shal fall among the flaine: when I shal visite them, they shalbe cast downe, saith the Lord.

Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the waies and beholde, and aske for the olde waye, which is the good waye & walke therein, d I haue increased her greatly & giuen her abundance of all things.

e She shalbe so destroyed, y^e shepe may be fed in her.

f He speaketh this in y^e person of y^e Babylonians, who complain that the time faileth them before thei haue brought their enterprises to passe.

g He sheweth y^e cause why it shulde be destroyed & how it cometh of them selues.

h He warneth the to amend by his corrections, & to turne to him by repentance.

i He exhorteth y^e Babylonians to be diligent to searcho out all & to lase none.

k Thei delite to heare vayne things & to shut vp their eares to true doctrine.

l As the Lord had giuen him his worde to be as a fyre of his indignation to burne y^e wicked, Chap. 5. 14 so he killeth it now whē he seeth y^e all remedies are past.

m None shalbe spared.

se thei haue not taken hede vnto my wor-

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil lay stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shal fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shal perish.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, a people cometh from the North countrey, and a great nation shal arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bowe and shield shal they be wea-poned: thei are cruel and wil haue no compasion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, wel appointed,
like men of warre against thee, o daughter Zión.

24 We haue heard their fame, & our hands waxe feble: sorowe is come vpon vs, as the sorowe of a woman in trauail.

25 Go not forthe into the field, nor walke

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallowe thy self in the aning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shal suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set u thee for a defence & for-

CHAP. VII.

1 Ieremiáh is commanded to shewe vnto the people the worde of God, which trusteth in the outward seruice of the Temple. 13 The euils that shal come to the Iewes for the despising of their Prophetes. 21 Sacrifices doeth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they shoulde obeye his wordes.

THE wordes that came to Ieremiáh from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords House & crye this worde there, and saie, Heare the worde of the Lord, all ye of Iudáh that entre in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israël, * Améd your waies & your wor-kes, and I wil let you dwell in this place.

4 Trust not in a lying wordes, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amend & redresse your waies and your workes: if you execute iudgemēt betwene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppresse not the stranger, the father-les and the widdowe & shed no innocent blood in this place, nether walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then wil I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

8 Beholde, you truste in lying wordes, that can not profite.

9 Wil you steale, murder, and commit adul-terie and swear falsely and burne incense vnto Báal, & walke after other gods who-me ye knowe not?

10 And come and stand before me in this House, whereupon my Name is calle d, & saie, We are deliuered, thogh we haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this House become a dēne of theues, whereupō my Name is called before your eies? beholde, euen I see it, saith the Lord.

12 But go ye now vnto my place which was in Shiló, & where I set my Name at the beginning, and beholde, what I did to it for the wickednes of my people Israël.

13 Therefore now because ye haue done all these workes, saith the Lord, (& I rose vp early and spake vnto you: but when I spake, ye wolde not heare me, nether wē
I called, woldest ye answer)

14 Therefore wil I do vnto this House, of heauen & to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that thei maie prouoke me vnto angre.

19 Do thei prouoke me to angre, saith the Lord, and not them selues to the confuſion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, mine angre and my wrath shalbe powred vpon this place, vpon man & vpon beaſt, and vpon the tre of the field and vpon the frute of the ground, and it ſhal burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Put your burnt offerings vnto your ſacrifices, and eat the fleſh.

22 For I ſpake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I broght them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and ſacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, ſaying, Obey my voice, & I wil be your God, and ye ſhal be my people: and walke ye in all the waies which I haue commanded you, that it maie be wel vnto you.

24 But thei wolde not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counſels and the ſtubbornes of their wicked heart, & went backward and not forward.

25 Since the daie that your fathers came vp out of the Land of Egypt, vnto this day, I haue euen ſent vnto you all my ſeruants the Prophetes, riſing vp early euerie daie, and ſending them.

26 Yet wolde thei not heare me nor incline their eare, but hardened their necke and did worſe then their fathers.

27 Therefore ſhalt thou ſpeake all theſe wordes vnto the, but thei wil not heare thee: thou ſhalt alſo crye vnto the, but thei wil not anſwer thee.

28 But thou ſhalt ſaie vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiueth diſcipline: trueth is periſhed, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut of thine heere, o Ieruſalem, & caſt it awaie, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reieſted & forſaken the generation of his wrath.

30 For the children of Iuda have done euil in my ſight, ſaith the Lord: thei haue ſet their abominations in the Houſe, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And thei haue buylt the hie place of Topheth, which is in the vallei of Ben-Hinnom to burne their ſonnes & their daughters in the fyre, which I commanded the not, nether came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore beholde, thou daies come, ſaith the Lord, that it ſhal no more be called Topheth, nor the vallei of Ben-Hinnom, but the vallei of ſlaughter: for thei ſhal burye in Topheth til there be no place.

And the carkeiſes of this people ſhalbe meat for the foules of the heauen & for the beaſtes of the earth, and none ſhal fray them awaie.

34 The I wil cauſe to ceaſe from the cities of Iuda and from the ſtreets of Ieruſalem the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnes, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride: for the land ſhalbe deſolate.

CHAP. VIII.

The deſtruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord moueth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine & the couetouſnes of the Prophetes & Priests.

At that time, ſaith the Lord, thei ſhal bring out the bones of the Kings of Iuda, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the Priests and the bones of the Prophetes, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ieruſalem out of their graues.

And thei ſhal ſpread the before the ſunne & the moone, and all the hoſte of heauen, whome they haue loued, and whome thei haue ſerued, & whome thei haue followed, & whome thei haue fought, and whome thei haue worſhiped: thei ſhal not be gathered nor be buried, but ſhal be as dung vpon the earth.

And death ſhalbe deſired rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue ſcattered them, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

Thou ſhalt ſaie vnto them alſo, Thus ſaith the Lord, ſhal thei fall & not ariſe? ſhal he turne awaie and not turne againe?

Wherefore is this people of Ieruſalem turned backe by a perpetual rebellion? thei gaue the ſelues to deceit, & wolde not returne.

I hearkened and heard, but none ſpake aright: no man repented him of his wickednes, ſaying, What haue I done? euerie one turned to their race, as the horſe ruſteth into the battell.

OH, that mine head were full of water and mine eyes a fountaine of tea-res, that I might wepe day and night for the slaine of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh, that I had in the wilderness a cottage of way faring men, that I might leaue my people, & go from them: for they be all adulterers & an assemblie of rebels,
And they bend their tongues like their bowes for lies: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon earth: for their pro-cede from euil to worfe, and they haue not known me, saith the Lord.

4 Let euerie one take hede of his neighbour, & trust you not in anie brother: for euerie brother wil vse deceit, and euerie friend wil deale deceitfully,

5 And euerie one wil deceiue his friend, & wil not speake the trueth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paines to do wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the middes of deceit: because of their deceit they refuse to knowe me, saith the Lord.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I wil melt them, & trye the: for what shulde I els do for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue as an arrowe shot out, & speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably

the Lord? or shal not my soule be aduenged on ſuche a nation as this?

10 Vpon the mountaines wil I take vp a weeping and a lamentacion, and vpon the faire places of the wilderness a mourning, because they are burnt vp: so that none ca passe through them, nether can men heare the voyce of the flocke: bothe the foule of ſ aire, & the beast are fled away & gone.

11 And I wil make Ierusalem an heape, & a den of dragons, & I wil make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is wise, to vnderstand this, and to whome ſ mouth of the Lord hath spokē, utterly confounded for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings have cast vs out.

Therefore heare the worde of γ Lord, δ ye womē, and let your eares regarde the wordes of his mouth, and ρ teache your daughters to mourne, and euerie one her neighbour to lament.

For death is come vp into our widowes, ϵ is entred into our palaces, to destroye γ children without, and the yong men in the stretes.

Speake, thus saith the Lord, The carkeises of men shal lie, euen as the dung vpon the field, & as the hādful after the mower, and none shal gather them.

Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glorie in his wisdom, nor the strong man glorie in his strength, neither the riche man glorie in his riches.

But let him that glorieth, glorie in this, that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which ϵ shewe mercie, iudgement, and righteousnes in the earth: for in these things I delite, saith the Lord.

Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I wil visit all them, which are ϵ circumsised with the vncircumsised.

Egypt and Iudāh, and Edōm, and the children of Ammōn, and Moāb, & all the vtmost corners of them that dwell in the wilderness: for all these nations are vncircumsised, & all the house of Israhēl are vncircumsised in the heart.

Egypt and Iudāh, and Edōm, and the children of Ammōn, and Moāb, & all the vtmost corners of them that dwell in the wilderness: for all these nations are vncircumsised, & all the house of Israhēl are vncircumsised in the heart.

These three pointes are necessarie to knowe aright: his mercie wherein consisteth our saluation: his iudgement, & he executeth continually against the wicked, and his iustice, whereby he defendeth, and maintaineth the faithful.

Meaning bothe Iewes and Gentiles, as in the next verse he sheweth the cause, read Chap. 4.4.

CHAP. X.

The constellations of the starres are not to be feared. The weaknes of idoles, & of the power of God. Their pastours are become brute beasts.

Heare ye the worde of the Lord that he speaketh vnto you, δ house of Israhēl.

Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraide for the signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraide of suche.

For the customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tre out of the forest (which is the worke of the hāds of the car-penter) with the axe.

And another decketh it with siluer, and with golde: they fasten it with nailes, and hammers, that it fall not.

The idoles stand vp as the palme tre, but speake not: they are borne because they can not go: feare them not, for they can not do euil, nether can they do good.

God forbidde his people to giue credit or feare the constellations & conuulsions of starres, and planets, which haue no power of the felues, but are gouerned by him, & their secret motions & influences are not knowen to mā, and therefore there can be no certaine iudgement thereof, Deut. 18.9.

Meaning not onely in the obseruation of the starres, but their laws and ceremonies whereby they confirme their idolatrie, which is forbidden, Deu. 12.30.

The Prophetes vsē thus plainly & simply to set forth the vile absurditie of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of γ , whereunto their corrupt nature is moſte subiect, read Isa. 44.12.

There is none like vnto thee, δ Lord: thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.

Who wolde not feare thee, δ King of nations: for to thee apperteineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.

But altogether thei dote, and are foolish: for the stocke is a doctrine of vanitie.

Siluer plates are broght from Tarsish, and golde ϵ from Vphāz, for the worke of the workeman, and the hands of the founder: the blewē filke, and the purple ϵ their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

But the Lord is the God of trueth: he is the liuing God, and an euēlasting King: at his angre the earth shal tremble, & the nations can not abide his wrath.

(Thus shal you say vnto them, The gods that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shal perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens)

He hathe made the earth by his power, and established the worlde by his wisdom, and hathe stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascēd from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

Euerie man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euerie fōlder is cōfounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehode, and there is no breth therein.

They are vanitie, & γ worke of errours: in the time of their visitation they shal perish.

The portion of Israhēl is not like the: for he is the maker of all things, & Israhēl is the rod of his inherite: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

Gather vp thy wares out of the lād, & thou shalt dwellest in the strong place.

For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, at this time I wil throwe as with a sling the inhabitants of the land, and wil trouble them, and they shal finde it so.

Wo is me for my destruction, & my grievous plague: but I thought, Yet it is my sorowe, and I wil beare it.

My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my as all the rest of his writing is Hebrew. h The more that man thinketh to do any thing wel by his owne wisdom, and not as God instructeth him, the more doeth he proue him self to be a vile beast. i By these wordes, Portion and rod, he signifieth their inheritance: meaning, that God shulde be all sufficient for them, and that their felicitie consisted in him alone, & therefore thei ought to renounce all other helpe, & succours as of idoles, &c. Dene. 32.9. psal. 16.5. k The Prophet willett the Iewes to prepare the felues to this captiuitie, shewing that it was now at hand, that they shulde fele the things, whereof he had tolde the. l It is my nife plague: & therefore I wil take it patiently: whereby he teacheth the people how to behaue the self toward God. m He sheweth how Ierusalem shal lament.

He teacheth γ people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath the all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein he sheweth them not onely the euil that they ought toeschew but the good, which they ought to follow Reuel. 15.4. e Because the people thought that to haue images was a meane to serue God and to bring them to γ knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaith God, nor bringeth man into greater errors & ignorance of God: & therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanities, γ worke of errors, etc. 15. & Habak 2.18. calleth them γ teachers of lies: contrarie to that wicked opinion, γ thei are the bookes of the laye people.

f Where as they founde γ best golde: shewing, γ thei thought nothing to deare for their idoles: some read Ophir, as 1 Kin. 9.28.

g This declarereth that all, γ hathe bene in this Chapter spoken of idoles, was to arme the Iewes whe they shulde be in Caldea among γ idolaters, and now γ one sentence he instructeth the how to protect their owne religion against γ idolaters, & how to answer the to their shame which shulde exhorthe the to idolatrie, and therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, where coards are broken: my children are gone from me, & are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my courtaines.

²³ O Lord, I knowe, that ^p the way of man is not in him self, nether ^u it in man to walke and to direct his steps.

²⁴ O Lord, correct me, but with ^q iudgement, not in thine angre, lest thou bring me to nothing.

²⁵ Powre out ^r thy wrath vpon the heathen, that knowe thee not, & vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaakób & deuoured him & consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

¹⁰ They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israël, and the house of Iudáh haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers.

¹¹ Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon them, which they shal not be able to escape, and though they crye vnto me, ^s I wil not heare them.

¹² Then shal the cities of Iudáh, and the inhabitants of Ierusalém go, and crye vnto the gods vnto whome thei offer incense, but they shal not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

¹⁸ And the Lord hath taught me, and I knowe it, ^{euen} then ^y shewedst me ^a their practises.

¹⁹ But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knewe not ^y thei had deuised thus against me, saying, Let vs ^o destroye the tre with the frute thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

CHAP. XII.

The Prophet marueleth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Lewes are forsake of the Lord 10 He speaketh against pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations, that troubled Iudah.

O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doeth the waye of the wicked prosper? why are all they in welth that rebelliously transgress?

Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they growe, and bring forth fruite: thou art nere in their mouth, and farre from their reines.

But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast se-ne me, and tyled mine heart toward thee:
pul them out like shepe for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter.

How long shal the land mourne, and the herbes of euery field wither, for the wickednes of them that dwell therein? the beasts are consumed and the byrdes, because they said, e He wil not se our last end.

If thou hast runne with the footmen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou matche thy self with horses? & if thou thoghtest thy self safe in a peaceable lād, what wilt thou do in the swelling of Iordén?

For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue delt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cryed out altogether vpon thee: but beleue them not, thogh they speake faire to thee.

I haue forsaken mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the derelie beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

Mine heritage is vnto me, as a lyon in the forest: it cryeth out against me, therefore haue I hated it.

Therefore they hardened them (sues in fine, till at length the beasts and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubberne rebellion against God f Some thinke that God reprocureth Ieremiáh in that, that he wolde reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to matche with men, that he were farre vnable to dispute with God. Or hars, by the foremen, meane them of Anathóth, & by y horse men them of Ierusalém, which shulde trouble the Prophet worse, then his owne country men did. g God willett the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalém, notwithstanding that they shal bothe by threatnings and flatteries labour to put him to silence. h Euen sampling her, saying, Come, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to eat her?

Many pastors haue destroyed my vineyard, and troden my porcion vnder fo-te: of my pleasant porcion they haue made a desolate wilderness.

They haue laid it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth vnto me: and the whole land lyeth waste, because no mā setteth his minde on it.

The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wilderness: for y sworde of the Lord shal deuoure from the one end of the land, euen to the other end of the land: no flesh shal haue peace.

They haue sown wheat, and reaped thornes: they were sicke, and had no pro-fite: and they were ashamed of your fru-tes, because of the fierce wrath of y Lord.

il neighbours, that touche the inheritace, which I haue caused my people Irael to inherite, Beholde, I wil plucke them out of their land, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

And after that I haue plucked them out,
I wil reurne, and haue compassion on them, and wil bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

my people, to sweare by my Name, (The Lord liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Báal) then shal they be buylt in 7 Then wēt I to Peráth, and digged, & toke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, & beholde, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this maner wil I destroye the pride of Iudáh, & the great pride of Ierusalém.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my worde, & walke after the stubbernes of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shalbe as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loines of a man, so haue I tyed to me the whole house of Israël, and the whole house of Iudáh, saith the Lord, that they might be my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and glorie, but they wolde not heare!

12 Therefore thou shalt saie vnto them this worde, Thus saith y^e Lord God of Israël, Euerie^b bottel shalbe filled with wine, and they shal saie vnto thee, Do we not knowe that euerie bottle shalbe filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou saie vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Priests and the Prophetes, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalém with drunkenes.

14 And I^c wil dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I wil not spare, I wil not pitie nor haue compassiō, but destroye them.

15 Heare and giue eare, be not prouder: for the Lord hath spokē it.

16 Giue glorie to y^e Lord your God before he bring^d darknes, and or euer your fete stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you loke for^e light, he turne it into the shadowe of death and make it as darkenes.

17 But if ye wil not heare this, my soule shal wepe in secret for your pride, & mine eye shal wepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried awaie captiue.

18 Saie vnto the^g King and to the Queene, Humble your selues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glorie shal come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of^h the South shalbe shut vp, and no man shal open them: all Iudáh shalbe caried awaie captiue: it shalbe wholly caried awaie captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes and beholde them yⁱ come from the North, where is y^j flocke y^k was giue thee, euen thy beautiful flocke.

21 What wilt thou saie, when he shal visit thee? (for thou hast^k taught the to be captiues & as chief ouer thee) shal not sorow take thee as a woman in trauail?

22 And if thou saie in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts^l discovered & thy heles made bare.

23 Can the blacke More change his skin? or the leopard his spottednes? then maie ye also do good, that are accustomed to do euil.

24 Therefore wil I scatre the, as the stubble that is taken awaie with the South winde.

25 This is thy portion, and the parte of thy measures from me, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me and trusted in lies.

26 Therefore I haue also discovered thy skirts vpon thy face, m that thy shame may appeare.

27 I haue sene thine adulteries, & thyⁿ neyings, y^o filthines of thy whoredome on the hilles in^o the fields, and thine abominations. Wo vnto thee, o Ierusalém: wilt thou not be made cleane: when shalt it once be?

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the dearth that shoulde come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The unfaithful people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophetes that seduce the people.

1 The worde of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiáh, concerning the^a dearth.

2 Iudáh hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bene^b brought to heaunnes vnto the grounde, and the crye of Ierusalém goeth vp,

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the welles, and founde no water: they returned with their vessels emptie: they were ashamed & confounded, and^c couered their heads.

4 For the grounde was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heades.

5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the field, and forsoke^d it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, and drewe in their winde like^e dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 O Lord, thogh our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are manie, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israël, the sauour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the lād, as one that passeth by to tarie for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as^h a strong man that can not helpe? yet thou, o Lord, art in the middes of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

k By seeking to straggers for helpe thou hast made the skilful to fight against thee.

l Thy cloke of hypocrisie that be pulled of and thy shame sene.

m As thine iniquities haue bene manifest to all the world: so shal thy th me, & punishment. n He compareth idolaters to horses inflamed after mares.

o There is no place so high nor low, where as the markes and signes of thine idolatrie appeare not.

a Which came for lacke of raine, as ver. 4.

b The worde signifieth to be made blacke, and so is here taken for extreme sorowe.

c To wit, with ashes in token of sorowe.

d Meaning, y^e brute beasts for drought were compelled to forsake their yong, contrary to nature, & to go seke water, which they coude not finde.

e Which are so hote of nature, that they can not be cooled with drinking of water, but still gape for the aire to refresh them.

f He sheweth the onely way to remedie Gods plagues, which is by vnfained confession of our sinnes, and returning to him by repentance.

g That taketh no care for vs.

h As one thine hath strength to helpe, & yet is afraid to put to his hands

b Euerie one of you shalbe filled with spiritual drunkenes, and be without all knowledge to seke how to helpe your selues.

c It shalbe as easie for me to destroye y^e greatest, and y^e strongest, as it is for a man to breake earthe bottels.

d That is, affliction & miserie by the Babylonians, Isa. 8. 22

e Meaning, for helpe and support of the Egyptians.

f You shal surely be led away captiue & I, according to mine affection toward you, shal wepe, and lament for your stubbernes.

g For Ichozin, & his mother rendered them selues by Ieremiás counsel to the King of Babylon, 2. King. 24. 12.

h That is, of Iudáh which lieth Southward fro Babylon.

i He asketh y^e King, where his people is become.

Falle prophetes.

Ieremiáh. Praier reiected.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delited to wādre: they haue not refrained their fete, therefore the Lord hathe no delite in the: but he wil now remember their iniquitie, and visit their finnes.

i Read Chap. 7, 16 & 21, 14.

11 Then said the Lord vnto me, i Thou shalt not praye to do this people good.

12 Whē ther fast, I wil not heare their crye, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I wil not accept them: but I wil consume them by the sworde, and by the famine and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, beholde, the k Prophetes say vnto them, Ye shal not se the sworde, nether shal famine come vpon you, but I wil giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The Prophetes prophecie lies in my Name: i I haue not sent them, nether did I commande them, nether spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulness of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the Prophetes that prophecie in my Name, whome I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shal not be in this land, by sworde & famine shal those Prophetes be consumed.

16 And the people to whome these Prophetes do prophecie, shalbe cast out in the strectes of Ierusalēm, because of the famine, & the sworde, & there shalbe none to burye them, but they, and their wiues, and their sonnes, & their daughters: for I wil powre their wickednes vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe i teares night and day without ceasing: for y virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grievous plague.

18 For if I go into the field, beholde the slaine with the sworde: and if I entre into the citie, beholde the that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer the Prophet also and the Priest go a wandring m into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiecte a Iudáh, or hathe thy soule abhorred Zión? Why hast thou smitten vs, that we can not be healed? We looked for peace, & there is no good, & for the time of health, & beholde trouble.

20 We acknowledge, o Lord, our wickednes & the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Do not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the thronē of thy glorie: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs.

22 Are there anie among y p vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine, or can the heauē giue showers? is it not thou, o Lord our God? therefore we wil waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord wolde heare no prayer for the Iewes, 3 But threatneth to destroye them with foure plagues.

1 THE said the Lord vnto me, i Thogh Mosēs and Samuēl stode before me, yet mine affectiō colde not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them departe.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whether shal we departe? then tel them, Thus saith the Lord, i Suche as are appointed to death, vnto death: & suche as are for the sworde, to the sworde, & suche as are for the famine to the famine, and suche as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I wil appointe ouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sworde to slay, and the b doggs to teare in pieces, & the fowles of the heauen, & the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroye.

4 I wil c scatter them also in all kingdomes of the earth, d because of Manassē the sōne of Hezekiāh King of Iudāh, for that which he did in Ierusalēm.

5 Who shal then haue pitie vpon thee, o Ierusalēm? or who shalbe sorie for thee? or who shal go to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, & gone backward: therefore wil I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroye thee: for I e am wearie with repenting.

7 And I wil scatre the with the fanne f in y gates of the earth: I haue wasted, & destroyed my people, yet they wolde not returne from their wayes.

8 Their widdowes g are increased by me aboute the sand of the sea: I haue brought vpon the, & against the h assemblie of the yong men a destroyer at none day: I haue caused h m to fall vpon them, & the citie suddenly, and i spedely.

9 She that hathe borne h seuen, hathe bene made weake: her heart hathe failed: the sunne hathe failed i her, whiles it was day: she hathe bene confounded, & ashamed, and the residue of them wil I deliuer vnto the sworde before their enemies, saith y Lord.

10 k Who is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man, & a mā that striueth with y whole earth: I haue nether lent on vsurie, nor mē haue lent vnto me on vsurie: yet euerie one doeth curse me.

11 The Lord said, m Surely thy remnant shal haue welth: surely I wil cause rhine enemye to increat thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

Lord comforted me, & said y my last dayes shulde be quiet: & by y enemye he meaneth here, Nebuzardān the capitaine of Nebuchadnezzar, who gaue Ieremiāh y choise ether to remaine in his countrey, or to go whither he wolde: or by the enemye he meaneth the Iewes, whulde afterward knowe Ieremiāhs fidelitie, and therefore fauour him.

a Meaning, that if there were anie man liuing, moued with so great zeale toward y people, as were these two, yet that he wolde not grante this request, forasmuch as he had determined the contrarie, Ezek. 14, 14. Zach. 11, 9.

b The doggs, birdes & beastes shulde deuoure them, y were slaine.

c The worde signifieth to rūne to & fro for feare, and vniquietnes of conscience, as did Cain.

d Not that y people was punished for the Kings sinne onely, but for their owne finnes also, because they consented to his wickednes, 2. King. 21, 9.

e That is, I wil not call backe my plagues, or spare thee any more.

f Meaning, the cities.

g Because I had slaine their houbands,

h Or, mother,

i Or, fearfully,

h She that had manie, lost all her children.

i She was destroyed in the middes of her prosperitie.

k These are y Prophetes wordes, complaining of y obstinacie of y people, & that he was referred to so wicked a time wherei also he sheweth what is the condition of Gods ministers: to wit, to haue all the world against the, though they giue none occasion.

l Which is an occasion of contention and hatred.

a As for the people though they ſemed ſtrong as yron, yet ſhulde they not be able to reſiſt y^e hard yron of Baby- lon, but ſhulde be led capti- ues

Or, ranſome. He ſpeaketh not this for de- ſire of reueged- ce, but wiſhing y^e God wolde deliuer his Church of the whome he knewe to be hardened and incorrigible p I receiued the v^e as great ioye as he, y^e is aſſured ca- teth meat q I had nothing to do with the wicked cōtem- ners of my worde, but la- mented bitter- ly for thy plag- ues ſhewing what the faith- ful ſhulde do wh^e they ſe to- kens of Gods angre r And haſt not aſſiſted me ac- cording to thy promiſe wher^e I appeareth, y^e in the Saints of God is imper- ſectio of faith, v^e through im- pacience is of- times failed as Chap 20, 7 f If thou for- get theſe car- nal conſidera- tions, & faith- fully execute thy charge t That is, ſeke to winne the good from the bad u To wit, as my mouth ha- the pronounced Chap 1, 18, & as here follow- eth verſ 20 x Coſorme not thy ſelf to their wicked- nes, but let them followe thy good ex- ample y I wil arme thee wth an in- uincible ſtrength & cōrancie, ſo that all the powers of the worlde ſhal not overcome thee

14 And I wil make thee to go with thine enemies into a lād that thou knoweſt not; for a fyre is kindled in mine angre, which ſhal burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knoweſt, remembre me, & viſit me, and reuenge me of my^e perſe- cuters: take me not awaie in the continuance of thine angre: knowe that for thy ſake I haue ſuffred rebuke.

16 Thy wordes were founde by me, and I did eat them, and thy worde was vnto me the ioye and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hoſtes.

17 I ſate not in the aſſembly of the moc- kers, nether did I reioyce, but ſate alone: because of thy plague; for thou haſt filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heavineſſe continual? & my plague deſperate? can not be healed: why art thou vnto me as a lyer, and as waters that faile.

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, If thou returne, then wil I bring thee againe, & thou ſhalt ſtand before me: and if thou take awaie the precious from the vile, thou ſhalt be according to my worde: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I wil make thee vnto this people a ſtrong braſſe wall, and they ſhal fight againſt thee, but they ſhal not preuaile againſt thee: for I am with thee to ſaue thee & to deliuer thee, ſaith the Lord.

21 And I wil deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I wil redeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

CHAP. XVI.

The Lord forbidding Jeremiáh to marie, ſheweth him what ſhulde be the afflictions vpon Iudáh. 13 The capti- uity of Babylon. 15 Their deliuerance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

The worde of the Lord came alſo vn- to me, ſaying,

2 Thou ſhalt not take thee a wife, nor haue ſonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord concerning the ſonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, & concern- ing their fathers, that beget them in this land.

4 They ſhal dye of deaths & diſeaſes: they ſhal not be lamented, nether ſhal they be buried, but they ſhal be as dung vpon the earth, and they ſhal be conſumed by the ſworde, and by famine, and their carkeiſes ſhal be meat for the foules of the heauen, and for the beaſtes of the earth.

5 For thus ſaith the Lord, Entre not into the houſe of mourni^g, nether go to lamēt, nor be moued for them: for I haue taken my peace fro this people, ſaith the Lord, euen mercie and compaſſion.

6 Bothe y^e great, & the ſmale ſhal dye in this land: they ſhal not be buried, nether ſhal men lamēt for them, nor cut them ſelues, nor make them ſelues bald for them.

7 They ſhal not ſtretch out the hands for them in the mourning to cōfort them for the dead, nether ſhal they giue them the cup of conſolation to drinke for their fa- ther or for their mother.

8 Thou ſhalt not alſo go into the houſe of feaſting to ſit with them to eat & to drinke.

9 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Beholde, I wil cauſe to ceaſe out of this place in your eyes, euen in your daies the voice of mirth, & the voice of gladneſſe, the voice of the bride grome and the voice of the bride.

10 And when thou ſhalt ſhewe this people all theſe wordes, & they ſhal ſaie vnto thee,

*Wherefore hathe the Lord pronounced all this great plague againſt vs, or what is our iniquitie? and what is our ſinne that we haue omitted againſt y^e Lord our God?

11 Then ſhalt thou ſaie vnto them, Becauſe your fathers haue forſaken me, ſaith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue ſerued them, & worſhiped them, & haue forſakē me, & haue not kept my Law,

12 (*And ye haue done worſe then your fa- thers: for beholde, you walke euerie one af- ter the ſtubborneſſe of his wicked heart, and wil not heare me)

13 Therefore wil I driue you out of this land into a land that ye knowe not, nether you, nor your fathers, and there ſhal ye ſerue other gods daie and night: for I wil ſhewe you no grace.

14 *Beholde, therefore, ſaith the Lord, the daies come that it ſhal no more be ſaid, The Lord liueth, which broght vp y^e chil- dren of Iſraél out of the land of Egypt,

15 But the Lord liueth, that broght vp the children of Iſraél from the land of the North, and from all the lands where he had ſcattered them, and I wil bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.

16 Beholde, ſaith the Lord, I wil ſend out many fiſhers, and they ſhal fiſh them, and after, wil I ſend out many hunters, & they ſhal hunt them from euerie mountaine and from euerie hill, and out of the cau- ces of the rockes.

17 For mine eyes are vpon all their waies: they are not hid from my face, nether is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

e Zion y^e was my mountaine, shal now be left as a waste field.

f Because thou woldest not giue the lād rest at such times, dayes, & yerres as I appointed.

g The Iewes were given to worldlie policies, & thought to make them selues strong by the friendship of the Egyptians, Isa. 31, 3, and strangers, & in the meane season did not depēd on God, & therefore he denounceth Gods plagues against them, shewing that they preferre corruptible man to God, which is immortal, Isa. 2, 22. chap. 48, 6.

h Read Psal. 1, 3. i Because the wicked haue euer some excuse to defend their doings, he sheweth, that their owne lewde imaginations deceiue them, & bring the to these incoūtenances: but God wil examine their dedes by the malice of their hearts, 1. Sam. 16, 7. 1. chro. 28, 9. psal. 7, 10. chap. 15, 20. & 20, 12. psal. 2, 23.

THE sinne of Iudáh is written with a penne of syron, & with the point of a diamode, & graue vpon the table of their heart, & vpon the hornes of your altars.

2 They remēber their altars as their children, with their groues by the grene trees vpon the hie hilles.

3 O my mountaine in the field, I wil giue thy substance, & all thy treasures to be spoiled, for the sinne of thy high places through out all thy borders.

4 And thou shalt rest, & in thee shalbe arest fro^m thine heritage that I gaue thee, & I wil cause thee to serue thine enemies in the lād, which thou knowest not: for ye haue kindeled a fyre in mine angre, which shal burne for euer.

5 Thus saith the Lord, & Cursed be the mā that trusteth in mā, & maketh flesh his arme, & withdraweth his heart fro^m y^e Lord.

6 For he shalbe like the heath in the wilderness, and shal not se when any good cometh, but shal inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 Blessed be the man, that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

8 For he shalbe as a tre that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her rootes by the riuer, and shal not fele when the heat cometh, but her leaf shalbe grene, and shal not care for the yere of drought, neither shal cease from yelding frute.

9 The heart is deceitful and wicked about all things, who can knowe it?

10 I the Lord searche the heart, & trye the reins, euen to giue euerie man according to his wayes, and according to the frute of his workes.

11 As the partryche gathereth the yong, which she hathe not broght forth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shal leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his end shalbe a foole.

12 As a glorious throne exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuary.

13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shalbe confounded: thei that departe from thee, shalbe written in the earth, because they haue forsakē the Lord, the fountaine of liuing waters.

14 Heale me, o Lord, and I shalbe whole: saue me, and I shal be saued: for thou art my praise.

15 Beholde, o they say vnto me, Where is the worde of the Lord? let it come now.

16 But I haue not thrust in my self for a pastor after thee, nether haue I desired the daye of miserie, thou knowest: that which came out of my lippes, was right before thee.

17 Be not terrible vnto me: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them be confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let not me be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, & destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hathe the Lord said vnto me, Go and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby y^e Kings of Iudáh come in, and by the which thei go out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem,

20 And say vnto them, Heare the worde of the Lord, ye Kings of Iudáh, and all Iudáh, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that entre in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take hede to your soules, and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem.

22 Nether carye for the burdē out of your houses in the Sabbath day: nether do ye any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, nether inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe & wolde not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheles if ye wil heare me, saith the Lord, & beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye do no worke therein,

25 Then shal the Kings and the princes entre in at the gates of this citie, and shal sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and shal ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both thei and their princes, the men of Iudáh,

10 I the Lord searche the heart, & trye the reins, euen to giue euerie man according to his wayes, and according to the frute of his workes.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destitute the dispensers of his worde. 12 The conspuration of the Iewes against Ieremiáh. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

1 The worde which came to Ieremiáh from the Lord, sayng,

2 Arise, & go downe into the potters house, and there shal I shewe thee my wordes.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and beholde, he wrought a worke on the wheelles.

4 And the vessel that he made of a claie, was broken in the hand of the potter. so he returned, & made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 O house of Israél, can not I do with you as this potter, saith the Lord: holde, as y^e claie is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, o house of Israél.

7 I wil speake suddely against a nation or a against a kingdome to plucke it vp, & to roote it out and to destitute it.

8 But if this nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne fro their wickednes, I wil repent of y^e plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I wil speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to buylde it and to plant it.

10 But if it do euil in my sight and heare not my voice, I wil repēt of the good that I thought to do for them.

11 Speake y^e now therefore vnto the men of Iudáh, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalém, saying, Thus saith y^e Lord, Beholde, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euerie one from his euil waie, and make your waies and your workes good.

12 But ther said euery speratly, Surely we wil walke after our owne imaginacions & do euerie man after the stubbernes of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard suche things: the virgine of Israél hath done verie filthily.

14 Wil a man forsake the snowe of Libanon, which cometh from y^e rocke of the field?

15 Or shal the colde flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

16 Because my people hath forgotten me, & haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their

Prophetes haue caused them to stumble in their waies from the ancient waies to walke in the paths and waie that is not trodden,

17 To make their land desolate & a perpetual derision, so that euerie one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished and wagge his head,

18 I wil scattre them with an East winde before the enemy: I wil shewe them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction.

19 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuise against Ieremiáh: for the Lawe shal not perish from the Priest, nor counsel from the wise, nor the worde from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the tongue, and let vs not greeue hede to any of his wordes.

20 Hearken vnto me, o Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

21 Shal euil be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remembre that I stood before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

22 Therefore, deliver vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sworde, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their yong men be slayne by the sworde in the battell.

23 Let the crye be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my fete.

24 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsel against me tendeth to death: forgie not their iniquitie, nether put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine angre.

b When y^e Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that he doeth contrary to that which he hath ordered in his secret counsell: but when he threatneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giveth man grace to repent, y^e threatening (which euercōteth a condition in y^e creature) hath no place: and thus the Scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans iudgement nóm, which is by the entrie of the East gate: & thou shalt preache there the wordes, that I shal tel thee,

3 And shalt say, Heare ye the worde of the Lord, o Kings of Iudáh, and inhabitants of Ierusalém, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, y God of Israël, Beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon this place, the which whoso euer heareth, his eares shal tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whome neither they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudáh (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue buylt the hie places of Báal, to burne their sonnes with fyre for burnt offrings vnto Báal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, nether came it into my minde)

6 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shal nomore be called Tópheth, nor the vallei of Ben-hinnóm, but the vallei of slaughter.

7 And I wil bring the counfel of Iudáh & Ierusalém to noght in this place, and I wil cause the to fall by the sworde before their enemies, & by the hand of them that seke their liues: & their carkeises wil I giue to be meat for the foules of y heauen, and to the beastes of the field.

9 *And I wil fede thē with y flesh of their sonnes and with the flesh of their daughters, and euerie one shal eat the flesh of his friend in the siege and stretnes, where-with their enemies that seke their liues, shal holde them streit.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottle in the sight of the men that go with thee,

11 And shalt saie vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Euen so wil I breake this people & this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessel, that can not be made whole againe, & thei shal burye them in Tópheth til there be no place to burye.

12 Thus wil I do vnto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I wil make this citie like Tópheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalém, and the houses of the Kings of Iudáh shalbe defiled as the place of Tópheth, because of all the houses vpon whose rofes thei haue burnt incense vnto all the hoste of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offrings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiáh from Tópheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophetic, and he stode in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people,

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israël, Beholde, I wil bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues y I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and wolde not heare my wordes.

a Ieremiáh is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the worde of God. 3 He prophesieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaneth that he is a mocking stocke for the worde of God 9 He is compelled by the spirit to preache the worde.

WHEN Pashúr, the sonne of Immér, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in y House of the Lord, heard that Ieremiáh prophecied these things,

2 Then Pashúr smote Ieremiáh the Prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the hie gate of Beniamín which was by the House of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Pashúr broght Ieremiáh out of the stocks. Then said Ieremiáh vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashúr, but Magór-missabib.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil make thee to be a terrour to thy self, & to all thy friends, and thei shal fall by the sworde of their enemies, & thine eyes shal beholde it, and I wil giue all Iudáh into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shal carie them captiue into Babel, and shal slae them with the sworde.

5 Moreover I wil deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof & all the precious things thereof, and all y treasures of the Kings of Iudáh wil I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shal spoyle them, and take them awaie and carie them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashúr, & all that dwell in thine house, shal go into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt dye, and shalt be buried there, thou & all thy friends, to whome thou hast prophecied lies.

3 Then said Jeremiáh, Thus shal you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israél, Beholde, I wil^b turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the King of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, & I wil assemble them into the middes of this citie.

6 And I wil smite the inhabitants of this citie, bothe man, and beast: they shal dye of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saith the Lord, I wil deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and suche as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sworde and from the famine into the had of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seke their liues, and he shal smite them with the edge of the sworde: he shal nor spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

and his seruants and his people.

But if ye wil not heare these wordes, I b swear by my self, saith y Lord, that this House shalbe waste.

For thus hathe the Lord spoken vpon the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art c Gileád vnto me, and the head of Lebanón, yet surely I wil make thee a wildernes & as cities not inhabited,

And I wil d prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shal cut downe thy chief e cedre trees, and cast them in the fyre.

f And many nations shal passe by this citie, & they shal say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hathe y Lord done thus vnto this great citie?

Then shal they answer, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of y Lord their God, and worshipped other gods & serued them.

¶ Wepe not for the dead, & be not moued for them, but wepe for him s that goeth out: for he shal returne no more, nor se his natie countrey.

For thus saith the Lord, As touching b Shallúm the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, which reigned for Iosiáh his father, which wēt out of this place, he shal not returne thether,

But he shal dye in y place, whether they haue led him captiue, and shal se this land no more.

¶ Wo vnto him y buyldeth his house by vnrighteousnes, & his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages and giueth him not for his worke.

He saith, I wil buyld me a wide house and large chambers: so he wil make him self large windowes, and siling with cedre and pante them with vermelon.

Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy self in cedre? did not thy k father eat and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice?

But thine eyes and thine heart are but o-nely for thy couetousnes, and for to shed innocent blood, & for oppression, and for destruction, euen to do this.

Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, They shal l not lamēt him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah, sister: nether shal they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie.

Thou that dwellest in Lebanón, and makest thy nest in the cedies, how beautiful shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorow of a woman in trauail?

As I liue, saith the Lord, though r Coniáh the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudáh, were the signet of my right hand, yet wolde I plucke thee thence.

And I wil giue thee into the hand of the that seke thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, eue into the hand of Nebuchad nezzá King of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

And I wil cause them to cary thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey, where ye were not borne, & there shal ye dye.

Against false Pastors. s A prophete of the great Pastor Iesús Christ.

W O vnto a the Pastors that delirute and scatter b the shepe of my pasture, saith the Lord.

Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Iisraél vnto the Pastors that c feede my people, Ye haue scattred my flocke and thrust them out, & haue not visited the: behold, I wil visite you for the wickednes of your worke, saith the Lord.

And I wil gather the d rénant of my shepe out of all countreys, whether I had driuen them, and wil bring them againe to their foldes, and they shal growe and encrease.

And I wil set vp shepherdes ouer them, which shal fede them: and they shal dread no more nor be afraid, nether shal any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

he sheweth how God wil gather his Church after this dispersion.

o For this was the way out of Iudeáh to Assyria where-by is met that all helpe shulde failer for the Caldeans haue subdued bo- the them and the Egyptians.

3 Beholde, The daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil raise vnto Daud a righte-prosper, and shal execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

6 In his daies^{} Iudáh shalbe saued, and Is-raél shal dwell safely, and this is the name whereby thei shal call him, ^{} The Lord our righteousness.

7 Therefore beholde, the daies come, saith the Lord, that thei shal no more say,
The^f Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israél out of y land of Egypt,

8 But the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the sede of the house of Israél out of the North countrey & from all contreys where I had scattered them, and thei shal dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within me, because of the^e Prophetes, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (& like a man whome wine hathe^o ouercome) for the ptesence of the Lord and for his holie wordes.

10 For the land is ful of adulterers, and because of othes y land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wildeynes are dryed vp, and their^b course is euil, and their force is not right.

11 For bothe the Prophet and the Priest do wickedly: and their wickednes haue I founde in mineⁱ House, saith the Lord.

12 Wherefore their waie shalbe vnto them as superie^r waies in the darkenes: thei shal be driuen forth and fall therein: for I wil bring a plague vpon them, euen the yere of their visitacion, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue sene foolishnes in the Prophetes of Samaria, y prophecied in Báal and caused my people Israél to erre.

14 I haue sene also in the Prophetes of Ieru-salém^k filthines: thei commit adulterie & walke in lies: thei strengthen also the háds of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednes: thei are all vnto me as So-dóm, and the inhabitants thereof as Go-moráh.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the Prophetes, Beholde, I wil fede them with^m wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from y Prophetes of Ierusalém is wickednes gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Heare not the wordes of the Prophetes that prophecie vnto you, and teache you vanitie:
thei speake the visiõ of their owneⁿ heart & not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 Thei saie stil vnto them that despise me,
The Lord hath said, Ye^o shal haue peace:
& thei saie vnto euerie one that walketh after the stubbernes of his owne heart,
No euil shal come vpon you.

18 For p who hathe stand in the counsel of the Lord that he hathe perceiued & heard his wordes: Who hathe marked his worde and heard it?

19 Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forthe in his wrath, & a violent whirlwin-de shal fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The angre of the Lord shal not returne vntil he haue executed, and til he haue performed the thoghts of his heart: in the latter daies yeⁱ shal vnderstand it plainly.

21 ^{*} I haue not sent these Prophetes, saith the Lord, yet thei ranne: I haue not spoke to them, and yet thei prophecied.

22 But if thei had stand in my counsel, and had declared my wordes to my people, then they shulde haue turned them from their euil waie, and from the wickednes of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God^f farre off?

24 Can anie hide him self in secret places, that I shal not se him, saith the Lord?
Do not I fil heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the Prophetes said, that prophecie lies in my Name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long^o Do the Prophetes delite in prophecie lies, euen prophecying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke thei to cause^a my people to forget my Name by their dicames, which thei tel euerie man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgottē my Name for Báal?

28 The Prophet that hathe a dreame, let him^a tel a dreame, and he that hathe my worde, let him speake my worde faithfully: y what is y chaffe to the wheat, saith
the Lord?

29 Is not my worde euen like a fyre, saith the Lord? and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore beholde, I wil come against the Prophetes, saith the Lord, that^a steale my worde euerie one from his neighbour.

31 Beholde, I wil come against the Prophetes, saith the Lord, which haue swete tongues, and saye, ^a He saith.

32 Beholde, ^k I wil come against them that prophecie false dreames, saith the Lord, & do tel them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I send them not, nor cõmanded them: the-fore thei bring no profite vnto this people, saith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the Prophet, or a Priest shal aske thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord^b thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I wil euen forsake you, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XXIII.

¹ The vision of the baskets of figges ² Signifieth that parte of the people shoulde be brought againe from captiuitie. ³ And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people shoulde be carryed away.

1 The Lord shewed me, & beholde, two baskets of figges were set before ^g the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadnezzár King of Babel had caried away captiue Ieconiah ^g sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudáh, and the princes of Iudáh with the workemen, and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had verie good figges, euen like the figges that are first ripe: & the other basket had verie noghtie figges which coulde not be eaten, they were so euil.

3 Then said the Lord vnto me, What seest thou, Ieremiáh? And I said, Figges: the good figges verie good, & the noghtie verie noghtie, which can not be eaten, they are so euil.

4 Again the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so wil I knowe them that are caried away captiue of Iudáh to be good, whome I haue sent out of this place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I wil set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I wil bring them againe to this land, and I wil buyld them, and not destroy them, and I wil plant them, and not roote them out,

And I wil giue them an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they shal be my people, and I wil be their God: for they shal returne vnto me with their whole heart.

*And as the noghtie figges which can not be eaten, they are so euil (saith the Lord) so wil I giue Zedekiah the King of Iudáh, and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this land, & them that dwell in the land of Egypt:

9 I wil euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a commune talke, and for a curse, in all places, where I shal cast them.

10 And I wil send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, til they be consumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXVI.

Jeremiáh moueth the people to repentance. He is taken of the false Prophetes and Priestes and brought to iudgement. 23 Uriáh the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakim contrary to the wil of God.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, came this worde from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the court of the Lords House, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudáh, which come to worship in the Lords House, all the wordes y I commad thee to speake: kepe not a worde backe,

3 If so be they wil hearken, and turne euerie man from his euil way, that I may repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednes of their workes.

4 And y shalt say vnto thé, Thus saith the Lord, If ye wil not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the wordes of my seruants the Prophetes, whome I sent vnto you, both rising vp early, and sending them, and wil not obeye them,

6 Then wil I make this House like a Shiloh, and wil make this citie a curse to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priestes, and the Prophetes, and all the people heard Jeremiáh speaking these wordes in the House of the Lord.

8 Now when Jeremiáh had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, thé the Priestes, and the Prophetes, and all the people toke him, and said, Thou shalt dye the death.

9 Why hast thou prophecied in the Name of y Lord, saying, This House shalbe like Shiloh, & this citie shalbe desolate without an inhabitant: & all the people were gathered against Jeremiáh in the House of the Lord.

10 And when the princes of Iudáh heard of these things, they came vp from y Kings house into the House of the Lord, & sate downe in the entre of the newe gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the Priestes, and the Prophetes vnto the princes, & to all y people, saying, " This man is worthie to dye: for he hathe prophecied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Jeremiáh vnto all the princes, & to all the people, saying, The Lord hathe sent me to prophecie against this House and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now améd your waies & your workes, & heare the voice of y Lord your God, y the Lord may repent him of y plague, y he hathe pronounced against you:

14 As for me, beholde, I am in your hands: do with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But knowe ye for certeine, y if ye put me to death, ye shal surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truerh y Lord hath sent me vnto you, to speake all these wordes in your eares.

16 Then said the princes and all the people vnto the Priestes & to the Prophetes, This man is not worthie to dye: for he hathe spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certeine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying,

18 Micháh the Morashite *propheciéd in y dayes of Hezekiáh King of Iudáh, and spake to all the people of Iudáh, saying,

Thus saith y Lord of hostes, Zíon shalbe plowed like a field, and Ierusalém shalbe an heape, & the mountaine of the House shalbe as the high places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiáh King of Iudáh, and all Iudáh put him to death: did he not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the plague, that he had pronouced against them: thus might we procure great euil against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophecied in y Name of the Lord, one Vriáh the sonne of Shemaiáh, of Kiríath-iaírem, who prophecied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the wordes of Jeremiáh.

21 Now when Iehoiakim the King with all his men of power, & all the princes heard his wordes, the King soght to slae him. But when Vriáh heard it, he was afraied and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Thé Iehoiakim the King sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathán the sonne of Achbár, and certeine with him into Egypt.

23 And they fet Vriáh out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Iehoiakim the King, who slewe him with the sworde, and cast his dead bodie into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán was with Jeremiáh y they shulde not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

Jeremiáh as the commandement of the Lord sendeth bondes to the King of Iudáh and to the other Kings that were nere, whereby they are manifested to be subserues Unto Nebuchad-nazár: He warneth the people & the Kings & rulers that they beleue not false Prophetes.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim y sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did set some afore, which shulde be after, and contrarie wise: which if the reader marke wel, it shal auoide many doubts, & make the readinge muche easier.

Micháh 1, 2. & 3, 12.

1 That is, of the House of y Lords: to wit, Zíon, and these examples the goulie alledged to deliner Jeremiáh out of the Priestes hands whose rage would not haue bene satisfied, but by his death.

2 So that the citie was not destroyed, but by miracle was deliuered out of the hands of Saneherib. 1 Here is declared the furie of tyrants, who can not abide to heare Gods worde declared, but persecute the ministers thereof, and yet in the end they procure nothing, but proue Gods iudgements so muche y more. 3 As in the first Hezekiás example is to be followed. 4 In this other Iehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his house holde.

5 Which declareth that nothing colde haue appeased their furie, if God had not moued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

6 As touching the dispositiō of these propheties, they that gathered them into a booke, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did set some afore, which shulde be after, and contrarie wise: which if the reader marke wel, it shal auoide many doubts, & make the readinge muche easier.

d Read Chap 7, 12. e So y when they wolde curse any, they shal say, God do to thee as to Ierusalém.

f Because of Gods promise to the Temple, Psal. 132, 14. y he wolde for euer remaine there, y hypocrites thought this Temple colde neuer perishe, and therefore thought blasphemie to speake against it. Mar 26, 61. act 6, 13, not considering y this was ment of y Church, where God wil remaine forever. g So called, because it was repaired by Ioshafat, 2 Kings 19, 35. h By iudgements of death bestowed on thirman. h He bothe sheweth the cause of his doings plainly, and also threatneth them y they shulde nothing auoide, though they shulde put him to death, but heepegreater vengeance vpon their heads.

dáh came this worde vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee bondes, and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

3 And send them to the King of Edóm, & to the King of Moáb, and to the King of the Ammonites, and to the King of Tyrus, and to the King of Zidón, by the hád of the messengers which come to Ierusalém vnto Zedekiah the King of Iudáh,

4 And commande them to say vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israél, Thus shal ye say vnto your masters,

5 I haue made the earth, the man, and the beast that are vpon the grounde, by my great power, & by my outstretched arme, & haue giuen it vnto whome it pleased me.

6 But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hád of Nebuchad-nezzár the King of Babél my seruant, and the beastes of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.

7 And all nations shal serue him, and his sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntil the verie time of his land come also: then manie nations and great Kings shal serue them selues of him.

8 And the nation & kingdome which wil not serue y same Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél, and that wil not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babél, the same nation wil I visite, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntil I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your Prophetes nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your forceiers, which saie vnto you thus, Ye shal not serue the King of Babél.

10 For their prophecie a lie vnto you to cause you to go farre from your land, and that I shulde cast you out, and you shulde perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babél, & serue him, those wil I let remaine stil in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shal occupie it and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah King of Iudáh according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babél, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why wil ye dye, thou, & thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spokē against y nation, that wil not serue y King of Babél?

14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the Prophetes, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shal not serue the King of Babél: for they prophecie a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not sent the, saith the Lord, yet they prophecie a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, bothe you, & the Prophetes that prophecie vnto you.

16 ¶ Also I spake to y Priestes, & to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the wordes of your Prophetes that prophecie vnto you, saying, Beholde, the vessels of the House of the Lord shal now shortly be brought againe from Babél, for they prophecie a lie vnto you.

17 Heare the not, but serue the King of Babél, that ye may liue: wherefore shulde this cite be desolate?

18 But if they be Prophetes, and if the worde of the Lord be with the, let them treat the Lord of hostes, that the vessels, which are left in the House of the Lord, & in the house of the King of Iudáh, & at Ierusalém, go not to Babél.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this cite,

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél toke not, when he caryed away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudáh from Ierusalém to Babél, with all the nobles of Iudáh and Ierusalém.

21 For thus saith the Lord of hostes y God of Israél, concerning the vessels y remaine in the House of the Lord, & in y house of the King of Iudáh, and at Ierusalém, 22 They shalbe brought to Babél, and there they shalbe vntil the day that I visite the, saith the Lord: then wil I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

20 ¶ Heare ye therefore the wordes of the Lord all ye of the captiuitie, whome I haue sent from Ierusalém to Babél.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, of Aháb the sonne of Kolaiáh, & of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophetic lies vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I wil deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzár Kig of Babél & he shal slay e them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudáh, that are in Babél, shal take vp this curse against them, & say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Aháb, whome the King of Babél burnt in the fyre, ^m Because they gaue the people hope of speedy returning.

ⁿ Which was adulterie, and falsifying the wordes of God.

23 Because they haue committed a vilenie in Israél, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I knowe it, & testifie it, saith the Lord.

^o Or, dreamer

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh ^y Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, saying, Because thou hast set letters in thy name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalém, & to Zephaniáh the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

^o Shemaiah ^y false prophet flattereth Zephaniáh the chief Priest, as though God had giuen him the spirit and zeale of Iehoiada to punish whosoever trespassed against the wordes of God, of the ^w he wolde haue made Ieremiáh one, calling him a rauer & a false pphet

26 The Lord hath made thee Priest, for ^o Iehoiada the Priest, that ye shulde be officers in the House of ^y Lord, for euery mā that raueth & maketh him self a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes.

27 Now therefore why hast not thou reproued Ieremiáh of Anathóth, which propheticth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause he sent vnto vs in Babél, saying, This captiuitie is long: buylde houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eat the frutes of them.

29 And Zephaniáh the Priest red this letter in the eares of Ieremiáh the Prophet.

30 Then came the wordes of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh, saying,

31 Send to all the of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath propheticd vnto you, & I sent him not, & he caused you to trust in a lye, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his fede: he shal not haue a man ^p to dwell among this people, nether shal he beholde the good, that I wil do for my people, saith ^y Lord, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

^p He & his fede shalbe destroyed, so that none of the shulde se the benefite of this deliuerance.

CHAP. XXX.

ⁱ The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies, 18 And comforteth the Church.

1 The wordes, that came to Ieremiáh from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israél, saying, Write thee all the wordes, that I haue spoken vnto thee in a booke.

3 For lo, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil bring againe ^y captiuitie of my people Israél and Iudáh, saith the Lord: for I wil restore them vnto the land, that I gaue to their fathers, & they shal possesse it.

^a Because they shulde be assured and their posteritie confirmed in the hope of this deliuerance promised.

4 Again, these are the wordes ^y the Lord spake concerning Israél, and concernig Iudáh.

5 For thus saith the Lord, We haue heard a terrible voyce, of feare & not of peace.

6 Demande now & beholde, if man trauail with child: wherefore do I beholde euery man with his hands on his loines as a woman in trauail, & all faces are turned into a palenes?

^b He sheweth that before ^y this deliuerance shal come, the Caldeans shulde be extremely afflicted by their enemies, and ^y they shulde be in such perplexitie & sorrow as a woman in her trauail, as Isa. 13, 8.

7 Alas, for this day is great: none hath bene like it: it is euen the time of Iakobs trouble, yet shal he be deliuered from it.

8 For in that ^d day, saith the Lord of hostes, I wil breake ^e his yoke from thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shal no more serue them selues ^f of him.

^c Meaning, ^y the time of their captiuitie shulde be gracious ^d When I shal visit Babylon.

9 But they shal serue the Lord their God, & Dauid their King, whome I wil raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, ^o my seruāt Iakób, saith the Lord, nether be afraied, ^o Israél: for lo, I wil deliuer thee from a farre country, and thy fede from the land of their captiuitie, & Iakób shal turne againe, & shalbe in rest and prosperitie & none shal make him afraid.

^e Of the King of Babylon ^f To wit, of Iakób ^g That is, Messiah, ^w shulde come of ^y stocke of Dauid, according to the flesh and shulde be the true pastor, as Ezek. 34, 23 who is set forth and his kingdom shall be everlasting in the persone of Dauid, Hof. 3, 5.

^c To declare the greatnes of Gods mercie in deliuering the Iewes he sheweth them that they were like to the Beniamites, or Israelites: that is, utterly destroyed, and carryed away in so much that if Rahel the mother of Benjamin coulde haue risen againe to seeke for her childre she shulde haue founde none remaining. That is, the people that were led captiue.

^x Which was wanton and colde not be subiect to the yoke.

^b So wit, in pitying him for my promes sake.

^c Marke by what way thou didest go into captiuitie, and thou shalt turne againe by the same.

^d Because their deliuerance from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance from sinne, he sheweth how this shulde be pured, to wit by Iesus Christ whome a woman shulde conceiue, & beare in her womb. Which is a strange thing in earth, because he shulde be borne of a virgine with our man or, he meaneth, that Ierusalém which was like a bare woman in her captiuitie shulde be fruitful as she, that is ioyned in marriage, and whome God blesteth with children.

^e Having vnderstand this visio of the Messias to come in whome the two houses of Israel, and Iudah shulde be ioyned, I reioyced.

^f I wil multiplye, and enriche them with people and cattel.

15 Thus saith the Lord, A voice was heard on hie, a mourning and bitter weping. Rahel weping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voice from weping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded, saith y Lord, and they shal come againe from the land of the enemye:

17 And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that thy children shal come againe to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an vntamed calfe: y conuert thou me, and I shalbe conuerted: for thou art y Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: & after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproche of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim my dere sonne or pleasant childe? yet since I spake vnto him, I stil remembred him: therefore my bowelles are troubled for him: I wil surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee vp signes: make thee heapes: set thine heart toward the path and waie, that thou hast walked: turne againe, o virgine of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go astraye, o thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created a newe thing in the earth: a woman shal compasse a man.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Yt shal thei saie this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shal bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord blesse thee, o habitation of iustice & holie mountaine.

24 And Iudah shal dwell in it, & all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that go forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue satiat the weary soule, and I haue replenished euerie sorowful soule.

26 Therefore I awaked and behelde, and my slepe was swete vnto me.

27 Beholde, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil sowe the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah with the sede of man and with the sede of beast.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to roote out, & to throwe downe, and to destroye, and to plague them, so wil I wathe ouer them, to buylde and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shal they say no more, The fathers haue seaten a sowe grape, & the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euerie one shal dye for his owne iniquitie: euerie man that eateth the sowe grape, his teeth shalbe set on edge.

31 Beholde, the daies come, saith y Lord, that I wil make a newe couenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah,

32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I toke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they brake, although I was an husband vnto them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shalbe the couenant that I wil make with the house of Israel, After those daies, saith the Lord, I wil put my Law in their inward partes, & write it in their hearts, & wil be their God, and they shalbe my people.

34 And they shal teache nomore euerie man his neighbour and euerie man his brother, saying, Knowe the Lord: for they shal all knowe me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I wil forgiue their iniquitie, and wil remember their sinnes no more.

35 Thus saith the Lord, which giueth the sunne for a light to the day, and the courses of y moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, whe the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hostes.

36 If these ordinances departe out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shal the sede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer.

37 Thus saith the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, or the fundacions of the earth be searched out beneath, then wil I cast of all the sede of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

38 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the cite shalbe buylt to the Lord fro the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the measure shal goe forth in his presence vpon the hill Garéb, & shal compasse about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields: vnto the broke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horsagate toward the East, shalbe holie vnto the Lord, nether shal it be plucked vp nor destroyed anie more for euer.

Isa 54, 13.

^m but the full accomplishing hereof is referred to the kingdome of Christ, when we shalbe ioyned with our head.

CHAP. XXXII.

Jeremiáh is cast into prison because he prophesied that the citie shoulde be take of the King of Babylon. 7 He sheweth, that the people shoulde come againe to their owne possession. 35 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

THe worde that came vnto Jeremiáh from the Lord, in the tenth yere of Zedekiáh King of Iudáh, which was the eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzár.

For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Jeremiáh the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, & was in the King of Iudahs house.

For Zedekiáh King of Iudáh had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore dost thou prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hands of the King of Babel, and he shal take it?

And Zedekiáh the King of Iudáh shal not escape out of the hand of y Caldeans, but shal surely be deliuered into the háds of the King of Babel, and shal speake with him mouthe to mouthe, and his eyes shal beholde his face,

And he shal lead Zedekiáh to Babel, and there shal he be, vntil I visite him, saith the Lord: thogh ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shal not prosper.

¶ And Jeremiáh said, The worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Beholde, Hanameél, the sonne of Shalúm thine vncle, shal come vnto thee and saie, Bye vnto thee my field, that is in Anathóth: for the title by kinred apperteineth vnto thee to bye it.

So Hanameél, mine vncles sonne, came to me in the court of the prison, according to the worde of the Lord, and said vnto me, Bye my field, I praie thee, that is in Anathóth, which is in the counrei of Beniamín: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: bye it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the worde of the Lord.

And I bought the field of Hanameél, mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathóth and weighed him y siluer, euen seuē shekels, and ten peces of siluer.

And I writ it in the boke and signed it, & toke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the balances.

So I toke the boke of the possession, being sealed according to the Law, and custome, with the boke that was open,

And I gaue the boke of the possession vnto Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, the sonne of Maaseráh, in the sight of Hanameél mine vncles sonne, and in y presence of the witnesses, written in the boke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

And I charged Barúch before them, saying,

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israël, Take the writings, euen this boke of the possession, bothe that is sealed, and this boke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that thei maie continue a long time.

For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israël saith thus, Houses and fields, and vineyardes shalbe possessed againe in this land.

¶ Now when I had deliuered the boke of the possession vnto Barúch, the sonne of Neriáh, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

Ah Lord God, beholde, thou hast made the heauē and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing hard vnto thee.

* Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompencest the iniquitie of the fathers into y bosome of their childre after them: o God the great and mightie, whose Name is the Lord of hostes,

Great in counsel, and mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are opē vpon all the waies of the sonnes of men, to giue to euerie one according to his waies, and according to the frute of his workes)

Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, & in Israël, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this daie,

And hast broght thy people Israël out of the lād of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terror,

And hast giuen them this land, which thou didest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land, that floweth with milke and honie,

And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, nether walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to do, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

Beholde, the mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sworde, and of the famiue, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and beholde, thou seest it.

And thou hast said vnto me, o Lord God, Bye vnto thee the field for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

¶ The came the worde of the Lord vnto Jeremiáh, saying,

Beholde, I am the Lord God of all flesh: is there anie thing to hard for me?

Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzár

And so to hide them in the ground, that they might be preferred as a token of their deliuerance.

Or, hid

29 And the Caldeans shal come and fight against this citie, and set fyre on this citie and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose roofes they haue offered incense vnto Báal, and powred drinke offrings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto angre.

30 For the children of Israél, and the children of Iudáh haue surely done euil before me from their youth: for the children of Israél haue surely prouoked me to angre with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hathe bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine angre, and of my wrath, from the daye, that they buyt it, euen vnto this daye, that I shulde remoue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euil of the children of Israél, and of the children of Iudáh, which they haue done to prouoke me to angre, euen they, their Kings, their princes, their Priests, and their Prophetes, and the mé of Iudáh, and the inhabitáts of Ierusalém.

33 And they haue turned vnto me the backe & not the face: thogh I taught them, rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obediēt to receiue doctrine,

34 But they set their abominations in the house (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it,

35 And they buyt the hye places of Báal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnóm, to cause their sonnes, and their daughters to passe through the fyre vnto Moléch, & I commaunded them not, nether came it into my minde, that they shulde do suche abomination, to cause Iudáh to sinne.

36 And now therefore, thus hathe the Lord God of Israél spoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shalbe deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel by the sworde, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, 37 Beholde, I wil gather the out of all countreys, wherein I haue scatred them in mine angre, & in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I wil bring them againe vnto this place, and I wil cause them to dwell safely.

38 And they shal be my people, and I wil be their God.

39 And I wil giue the one heart & one way, y thei may feare me for euer for the welth of them, & of their children after them.

40 And I wil make an euerlasting couenāt w the, that I wil neuer turne away frō the to do the good, but I wil put my feare in their hearts, y thei shal not departe frō me.

41 Yea, I wil delité in the to do the good, & I wil plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, & with all my soule.

42 For thus saith the Lord, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so wil I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them.

43 And the fields shal be possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beaft, and shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Mé shal bye fields for siluer, and make writings, and seale them, and take witness in the land of Beniamín, and round about Ierusalém, & in the cities of Iudáh, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, saith the Lord.

Moreover, the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiáh, the seconde time (while he was yet shut vp in the court of the prison) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call vnto me, and I wil answer thee, and shewe thee great & mightie things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israél, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudáh, which are destioied by the mountes, and by the sworde,

5 They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fil the selues with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slaine in mine angre and in my wrath: for I haue hid my face from this citie, because of all their wickednes.

6 Beholde, I wil giue it helth & amendment: for I wil cure them, and wil reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

7 And I wil cause the captiuitie of Iudáh, and the captiuitie of Israél to returne, & wil buylde them as at the first.

8 And I wil cleanse them from all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I wil pardone all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against me, and whereby they haue rebelled against me.

9 And it shalbe to me a name, a joy, a praise, and an honour before all the nacions of the earth, which shal heare all the good that I do vnto them: and they shal feare, & tremble for all the goodnes, and for all the welth, that I shewe vnto this citie.

19 The princes of Iudáh, and the princes of Ieruſalém, the Eunuches, and the Priſtes, and all the people of the land, which paſſed betwene the partes of the calfe,

20 I wil euē giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of the that ſeke their life: and their dead bodies ſhalbe for meat vnto the ſoules of the heauen, and to the beaſtes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah King of Iudáh, and his princes wil I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of the that ſeke their life, & into the hand of the King of Babels hoſte, who are gone vp from you.

i To fight againſt Egypt, as Chap. 37, 11.

22 Beholde, I wil comāde, ſaith the Lord, and cauſe them to returne to this citie, and thei ſhal fight againſt it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I wil make \hat{y} cities of Iudáh deſolate without an inhabitant.

The worde which came vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, in the daies^a of Iehoiakim the ſonne of Joſiah King of Iudáh, ſaying, a For the diſpoſition and order of theſe prophecies, read Chap 27.

2 Go vnto the houſe of the^b Rechabites, & ſpeake vnto them, & bring them into the Houſe of \hat{y} Lord into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

b Thei came of Hobab Moſes father in law, who was no Iſraelite, but after joyned with them in the ſeruaice of God.

3 Then toke I Iazaniáh, the ſonne of Ieremiáh the ſonne of Habazzaniáh, and his brethren, and all his ſonnes, and the whole houſe of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into \hat{y} Houſe of the Lord, into the chamber of the ſonnes of Hanán, the ſonne of Igdaliah a man^c of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboute the chamber of Maafaiáh the ſonne of Shallúm, the keeper of the^d treaſure.

c That is, a Prophete.

5 And I ſet before the ſonnes of the houſe of the Rechabites, pottes ful of wine, and cuppes, and^e ſaid vnto them, Drinke wine.

d Or, deere.

6 But thei ſaid, We wil drinke no wine: for^f Ionadáb the ſonne of Recháb our father commanded vs, ſaying, ^g Ye ſhal drinke no wine, neither you nor your ſonnes for euer.

e The Prophet ſaith not, The Lord ſaith thus: for then thei ought to haue obeyed. but he tendereth to another end: is, to declare their obedience to man, ſeing the Iewes wolde not obey God him ſelfe. f Whome Iehu the King of Iſraél ſauored for his zeale, 2 King 10, 15. g Teaching them hereby to ſee all occaſions of intemperancie, ambition and auarice, and that thei might knowe that thei were ſtrangers in \hat{y} earth, and be ready to depart at all occaſions.

7 Neither ſhal ye buylde houſe, nor ſowe ſede, nor plant vineyarde, nor haue any, but all your daies ye ſhal dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be ſtrangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed \hat{y} voice of Ionadáb the ſonne of Recháb our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our daies, neither we, our wiues, our ſonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither buylde we houſes for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyarde, nor field, nor ſede,

10 But we haue remained in tētes, and haue obeyed, & done according to^h all that Ionadáb our father commanded vs.

11 But when Nebuchadnezzár King of Babel came vp into the land, we ſaid, Come, and let vs go to Ieruſalém, from the hoſte of the Caldeans, and from the hoſte of Arám: ſo weⁱ dwell at Ieruſalém.

h Which declareth that thei were not ſo bound to their vowe, that it coulde not be broke for any neceſſitie: for where thei were recomanded to dwell in tētes, thei dwell now at Ieruſalém for feare of \hat{y} warres.

12 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh, ſaying,

13 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Go, and tel the men of Iudáh, and the inhabitants of Ieruſalém, Wil ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, ſaith the Lord?

14 The comādemēt of Ionadáb the ſonne of Recháb that he comāded his ſonnes, that thei ſhulde drinke no wine, is ſurely kept: for vnto this day thei drinke none, but obey their fathers comādemēt:

i Whome I haue choſen to be my childre, ſeing theſe were the children of an heathen man, obeyed the comādemēt of their fathers.

I have most diligently exhortet & warned you bothe by my selfe & my Prophets. Chap. 18, 11. 23, 24.

notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, rising early, and speaking, but ye wolde not obcie me.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruantes the Prophetes, rising vp early, and sending them, saying, *Returne now euerie mā from his euil waie, and amende your workes, and go not after other gods to serue them, & ye shal dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye wolde not incline your eare, nor obcie me.

16 Surely the sonnes of Ionadáb the sonne of Recháb, haue kept y^e cōmandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hathe not obciēd me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, y^e God of Israél, Beholde, I wil bring vpon Iudáh, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalém, all y^e euil that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue¹ spoken vnto them, but thei wolde not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but thei wolde not answer.

18 And Ieremiáh said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith y^e Lord of hostes the God of Israél, Because ye haue obciēd the commandement of Ionadáb your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hathe commanded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, Ionadáb the sonne of Recháb shal^m not want a man, to stād before me for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Barúch writeth, as Ieremiáh enditeth, the booke of the curses against Iudáh and Israél. 9 He is sent with the booke vnto the people and readeth it before them all, 14 He is called before the rulers and readeth it before the also. 23 The King casteth it in the fyre. 28 There is another written as the commandement of the Lord.

a Read Chap. I 25.

And in the fourth^a yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, came this worde vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, saying,

2 Take thee a roole or boke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israél, & against Iudáh, and against all the nations, from the daie that I spake vnto thee, euē^b from the daies of Iosiáh vnto this daie.

b Which were twenty and thre yere, as Cha 25, 3 counting from the thirteenth yere of Iosiáhs reigne.

3 It maie be that the house of Iudáh wil heare of all the euil, which I determined to do vnto them that thei may returne euerie man from his euil waie, that I maie forgiue their inquitie and their sinnes.

c As he did tude.

4 Then Ieremiáh called Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, and Barúch wrote^c at y^e mouth of Ieremiáh all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roole or boke.

5 And Ieremiáh cōmanded Barúch, saying,

I am shut vp,^d & can not go into y^e House of the Lord.

d Meaning, in priso, through the malice of the Priestes.

6 Therefore go thou, and read the roole wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lord in the audience of the people in the Lords House vpon the^e fasting day: also thou shalt read them in the hearing of all Iudáh, y^e come out of their cities.

e Which was proclaimed for feare of the Babylonians, as their custome was when this redwarre or any great plague of God t He sheweth that fasting without prayer and repentance auaileth nothing, but is mere hypocritie.

7 It may be that thei wil^f pray before the Lord, and euerie one returne from his euil way, for the angre & the wrath, that the Lord hathe declared against this people.

So Barúch the sonne of Neriáh did according vnto all, that Ieremiáh y^e Prophet commanded him, reading in the boke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords House.

g The fast was then proclaimed, and Barúch red this roole, which was a litle before that Ierusalém was first taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel, and his cōpanions were led away captiues.

9 ¶ And in the fift^s yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalém, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudáh vnto Ierusalém.

10 Then red Barúch in the boke the wordes of Ieremiáh in the House of the Lord, in the chambre of Gemariáh the sonne of Shaphán the secretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the^h newe gate of the Lords House, in the hearing of all the people.

h Which is y^e East gate of the Temple.

11 When Michaiáh the sonne of Gemariáh, the sonne of Shaphán had heard out of the boke all the wordes of the Lord,

12 Then he went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and lo, all y^e princes sate there, euē Elishamá the Chancellour, & Delaiáh the sonne of Shemaiáh, and Elnathán y^e sonne of Achbór, and Gemariáh the sonne of Shaphán, and Zedekiáh the sonne of Hananiáh, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiáh declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard whē Barúch red in the boke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudí the sonne of Nethaniáh, the sonne of Shelemiáh, the sonne of Chushí, vnto Barúch, saying, Take in thine hand the roole, wherein thou hast red in the audience of the people, and come. So Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, toke the roole in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And thei said vnto him, Sit downe now, and read it, that we may heare. So Barúch red it in their audience.

16 Now when thei had heard all the wordes, they whereⁱ afrased bothe one and other, and said vnto Barúch, We wil certifie the King of all these wordes.

i The godhe were afrased, seing God so offend. d. & the wicked were anonied for y^e horror of the punishment.

17 And thei examined Barúch, saying, Tell vs now, how didest y^e write all these wordes at his mouth.

18 Then

18 Then Barúch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with yncke in the booke.

19 Then said the princes vnto Barúch, Go, ^hhide thee, thou and Ieremiáh, and let no man knowe where ye be.

20 ¶ And they wēt in to the Kig to ŷ court, but they laied vp ŷ roole in the chābre of Elishamá the Chancellour & tolde ŷ King all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the King sent Iehudi to ŷ roole, & he toke it out of Elishamá the Chancellors chambre, and Iehudi red it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princis, which stode beside the King.

22 Now the King sate in the winter house, in the ninth moneth, and there was a fyre burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had red thre, or foure sides, he cut it with the penknife, and cast it into the fyre, that was on the herth vntil all the roole was consumed in the fyre, that was on the herth.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor rent their garments, ^mneither the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these wordes.

25 Neuertheles, Elnathán, and Delaiáh, and Gemariáh had besought the King, that he wolde not burne the roole: but he wolde not heare them.

26 But the King commanded Ierahmeél the sonne of Hammélech, & Seraiáh the sonne of Azriél, & Shelemiáh the sonne of Abdiél, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiáh the Prophet, but the Lord ^ahid them.

27 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came to Ieremiáh (after that the King had burnt the roole and the wordes w^t Barúch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiáh) saying,

28 Take thee againe ^oanother roole and write in it all ŷ former wordes that were in the first roole which Iehoiakim ŷ King of Iudáh hath burnt,

29 And ŷ shalt say to Iehoiakim Kig of Iudáh, Thus saith ŷ Lord, Thou hast burnt this roole, saying, Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the King of Babel shal certainly come and destroye this land, and shal take thence bothe man and beast?

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakim King of Iudáh, He shal haue none to sit vpon the throne of Daud, and his dead bodie shalbe cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I wil visite him and his sede, and his seruantes for their iniquitie, & I wil bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalém, & vpon the men of Iudáh all the euil that I haue pronounced against them: but they wolde not heare.

32 Then toke Ieremiáh another roole, and gaue it Barúch the scribe ŷ sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiáh all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim Kig of Iudáh had burnt in the fyre, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succeded Ieconiah. 9 He sendeth vnto Ieremiáh to praye for him. 12 Ieremiáh, going into the land of Benjamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten and put in prison.

1 AND Kig Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for ^aConiah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whome Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel ^bmade King in the land of Iudáh.

2 But nether he, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land wolde obey the wordes of the Lord, which he spake by the ^mministerie of the Prophet Ieremiáh.

3 And Zedekiah the King ^csent Iehucál the sonne of Shelemiáh, and Zephaniáh the sonne of Maaseriáh the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiáh, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now I. remiáh ^dwent in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

5 The Pharaohs hoste was ^ecome out of Egypt: and whē the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalém, heard tidings of them, they ^fdeparted from Ierusalém.)

6 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiáh, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israël, Thus shal ye say to the King of Iudáh, ŷ sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Beholde, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shal returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shal come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it & burne it with fyre.

9 Thus saith the Lord, ^gDeceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shal surely departe from vs: for they shal not departe.

10 For though ye had smiten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, & there remained but wounded men among them, yet shulde euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fyre.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalém, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Ieremiáh went out of Ierusalém to go into the ^fland of Benjamin, separating him self thence from among the people.

13 And when he was in the ^ggate of Benjamin, there was a chief officer, whose name was Irisáh, the sonne of Shelemiáh, the sonne of Hananiáh, and he toke Ieremiáh the Prophet, saying, Thou ^hfleest to the Caldeans.

^h These ŷ were godlie among the princes, gaue this counsell, by whose means it is like that Ieremiáh was delivered: for they knewe the rage of ŷ King and of ŷ wicked to be such that they coulde not escape without danger of their liues.

ⁱ Which continued parte of November & parte of December.

^m Shewing, ŷ the wicked instead of repenting, when they heare Gods iudgements, grow into farther malice against him and his worde.

^a Thus we see the continual care, that God hath euer ouer his to preserve them from the rage of the wicked.

^o Though the wicked chike to haue abolished the worde of God, when they haue burnt the booke thereof: yet this declarerh that God wil not onely raise it vp againe, but also increase it in greater abundance to their condemnation, as vers. 32.

^p These are Iehoiakims wordes.

^q Though Iehoiachin his sonne succeded hi, yet because he reigned but thre moneths, it was esteemed as no reigne.

^r It ad Chap. 23. 19.

2. King 24. 17. 2 chro. 36. 10. chap 33. 1. a Who was called Iehoiachin or Ieconiah b And called him Zedekiah where as before his name was Mattaniah 2 King 24. 17. c Because he was afraid of the Caldeans that came against him

d That is, was out of prison and at liberty.

e To helpe the Iewes.

^f Ebr. went up

^g Or, lift not up your misdeeds.

f As some thinke, to go to Anathoth his owne towne. g By ŷ which men went into the countrey of Benjamin.

^h Ebr. fleest.

14 Then said Jeremiáh, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeas: but he woldenot heare him: so Iriiáh toke Jeremiáh, and broght him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Jeremiáh, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Iehonathán the scribe: for they had made that the ^h prison.

^h Because it was a vile and filthy prison.

16 When Jeremiáh was entred into the dongeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time,

17 Then Zedekiáh the King sent, and toke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any worde from the Lord? And Jeremiáh said, Yea: for, said he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel.

18 Moreover, Jeremiáh said vnto King Zedekiáh, What haue I offended agáist thee, or agáist thy seruants, or agáist this people, that ye haue put me in prison?

Chap. 28. 4.

19 *Where are now your Prophetes, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shal not come agáist you, nor agáist this land?

*Ebr. fall.

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O my lord the King: let my prayer be accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Iehonathán the scribe, lest I dye there.

21 Then Zedekiáh the King commanded, that they shulde put Jeremiáh in the court of the prison, and that they shulde giue him daiely a piece of bread out of the bakers strete vntil all the ⁱ bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Jeremiáh remained in the court of the prison.

ⁱ That is, so long as there was any bread, in the citie: thus God promised for his ^y he wil cause their enemies to preferre them to ^y end whereunto he hathe appointed them.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Jeremiáh is put into a dongeon. 14 At the request of Ebed-melech the King commandeth Jeremiáh to be broght forth of the dongeon. 17 Jeremiáh sheweth the King how he might escape death.

1 Then Shephatiáh the sonne of Matán, and Gedaliáh the sonne of Pashúr, and Iucál the sonne of Shelemiáh, & Pashúr the sonne of Malchiáh, heard the wordes that Jeremiáh had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shal dye by the sworde, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shal liue: for he shal haue his life for ^b a pray, and shal liue.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shal surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shal take it.

4 Therefore the princes said vnto ^y King, We beseeche you, let this man be put to death: for thus he^c weakeneth the hands of the men of warre: & char remaine in this citie; and the hands of all the people, in speaking suche wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiáh the King said, Beholde, he is in your hands, for the King can denie ^d you nothing.

6 Then toke they Jeremiáh, and cast him into the dongeon of Malchiáh the sonne of Hammélech, that was in the ^e part of the prison: and they let downe Jeremiáh with coards: and in the dongeon there was no water but myre: so Jeremiáh sticke fast in the myre.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the ^f blacke More one of the Eunuches, which was in the Kings house, heard that they had put Jeremiáh in the dongeon (then the King fate in the ^g gate of Beniamín)

8 And Ebed-melech wét out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lord the King, these men haue done euil in all ^y they haue done to Jeremiáh the Prophet, whome they haue cast into ^y dongeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commanded Ebed-melech ^y blacke More, saying, Take fró hence thirtie men ^h with thee, and take Jeremiáh the Prophet out of the dongeon before he dye.

11 So Ebed-melech toke the men with him and went to the house of the King vnder the treasurie, and toke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coardes into the dongeon to Jeremiáh.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke More said vnto Jeremiáh, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne vnder thine arme holes, betwene the coardes. And Jeremiáh did so.

13 So they drewe vp Jeremiáh with coardes and toke him vp out of the dongeon, and Jeremiáh remained in ⁱ the court of the prison.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiáh the King sent, and toke Jeremiáh the Prophet vnto him, into the third entrie that is in the House of the Lord, & the King said vnto Jeremiáh, I wil aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiáh said to Zedekiáh, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slaye me? and if I giue thee counsel, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King sware secretly vnto Jeremiáh, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I wil not slaye thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seke thy life.

17 Then said Jeremiáh vnto Zedekiáh, Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, ^y God of Israël, If thou wilt go forth vnto the King

^d Wherein he grievously offended in that that not onely he wolde not heare the truth spoken by the Prophet, but also gaue him to ^y lusts of the wicked to be cruelly intreated ^e Ebr. Cushite, or Ethiopians.

^e To heare matters & giue sentence.

^f Herby is declared that the Prophet founde more fauour at this strangers hands then he did by all them of his countrey which was to their great condemnation. ^h Ebr. under thine hand.

^g Where the King had set him before to be at more liberty, as Chap 37. 21.

^a For Zedekiáh had sent these to Jeremiáh to inquire at the Lord for the state of the countrey now whé Nebuchad-nezár came, as Chap 21. 1 b Read Chap. 21. 9.

^c Or, discourse.

^d Thus we see how the wicked whé they can not abide to heare ^y truth of Gods wordes, seke to put the ministers to death as tyrants for of poli tics.

^h And yelde thy self vnto
them.

King of Babels ^h princes, then thy soule shal liue, and this citie shal not be burnt vp with fyre, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

18 But if thou wilt not go forth to ^g King of Babels princes, then shal this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and thei shal burne it with fyre, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiáh the King said vnto Iere-miáh, I am careful for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest thei deliuer me into their hands, and thei mocke me.

ⁱ Which decla-reth that he more feared the reproche of men, then the threatnings of God.

20 But Jeremiáh said, Thei shal not deli-uer thee: hearken vnto the voice of the Lord, I beseeche thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shal it be wel vnto thee, and thy soule shal liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to go forth, this is the worde ^g the Lord hath shewed me.

22 And beholde, all the women that are ^k left in the King of Iudahs house, shal be brought forth to ^g King of Babels princes: and those women shal say, Thy friendes haue perswaded thee, and haue preuiled against thee: thy fete are fastened in the myre, and thei are turned backe.

^k When Ieroniáh and his mother with others were caried away, the fewe of the Kings house were left: & shal be taken, saith the Prophet, and tel ^g
King of Babel
how Zedekiáh hath bene seduced by his familiar friends and false Prophets, which haue leit him
in the myre.

23 So thei shal bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the King of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fyre.

24 Then said Zedekiáh vnto Jeremiáh, Let no man knowe of these wordes, and thou shalt not dye.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and thei come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast said vnto the King, hide it not from vs; and we wil not slay thee: also what the King said vnto thee, ⁱ Herein, ap-peareth the infirmite of the Prophet, who did dissemble to saue his life albeit it was not to the denial of his doctrine, or to ^g harm of any.

26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly ^l besoght the King that he wolde not cause me to returne to Iehonathans house, to dye there.

27 The came all the princes vnto Jeremiáh and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these wordes that ^g King had commanded: so thei left of speaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Jeremiáh abode still in ^g court of the prison, vntil the day that Ierusalém was taken: and he was there, when Ierusalém was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Nebuchad-nezzár besiegeth Ierusalém, 4 Zedekiáh fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sonnes are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Jeremiáh is prouided for. 15 Ebed-melech is deliuered from captiuitie.

^g King. 25. 1.
chap. 33. 4.

IN the ninth yere of Zedekiáh King of Iudah in ^g tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel and all his hoste against Ierusalém, and thei besetged it.

2 And in the eleuenth yere of Zedekiáh in the fourth moneth, the ninth ^g daie of the moneth, the citie was broken ^a vp.

^a The gates & walles were bre-
ken downe.

3 And all the princes of the King of Babél came in, and sate in the middle gate, euen Neregál, Sharézer, Samgar-nebo, Saršechím, Rab-saris, Neiegál, Sharézer, Rab-mag with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiáh the King of Iudáh sawe them, and all the men of warre, then thei fled, & went out of the citie by night, through the Kings garden, & by the ^g gate betwene the two walles, and he went toward the wilderness.

^b Which was a postern doore, read 2. Reg.
25. 4.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertoke Zedekiáh in the desert of Ierichó: and when thei had taken him, thei broght him to Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel vnto ^c Ribláh in the land of Hamáth, where he gaue iudgemēt
vpon him.

^c Which is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiáh in Ribláh before his eyes:
also the King of Babel slewe all the nobles of Iudáh.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bounde him in chames, to carye him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings hou-

17 But I wil deliuer thee in that daie, saith the Lord, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whome thou fearest.

18 For I wil surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sworde, but thy life shalbe for a pray vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

g Thus God recompensed his zeale and fauour, which he shewed to his Prophet in his troubles,

CHAP. XL.

1 Jeremiáh hath licence to go whether he wil. & He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliáh.

THE worde which came to Jeremiáh from the Lord after that Nebuzaradan the chief steward had let him go fro Ramáth, when he had taken him being bounde in chaines among all that were caryed awaie captiue of Ierusalém and Iudáh, which were caryed awaie captiue vnto Babél.

a From this se code vers vnto chap 43, 7 it seemeth to be as a parenthesis, and separated matter: & there this storie begunneth againe, & this visio is declared what it was. b God moued this insoule to speake this, to declare the great blindness and obdurance of the Iewes, which coulde not see that which their heathen man coufessed. c Or, as thy commandment.

2 And the chief steward toke Jeremiáh, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath broght it, & done according as he hath said: because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now beholde, I lose thee this daie from the chaines which were on thine handes, if it please thee to come with me into Babél, come, and I wil loke wel vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with me into Babél, tary stil: beholde, all the land is before thee: whether it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to go, thether go.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore he said, Returne to Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, the sonne of Shaphán, whome the King of Babél hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudáh, and dwell with him among the people, or go wheresoeuer it pleaseth thee to go. So the chief steward gaue him vitayles and a rewarde, and let him go.

c Which was a citie of Iudáh.

6 Then went Jeremiáh vnto Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, to Mizpáh, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

d Which were scattered abroad for feare of the Caldeans.

7 Now when all the captaynes of the hoste, which were in the fields, euen thei and their men heard, that the King of Babél had made Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caryed away captiue to Babél,

Then they came to Gedaliáh to Mizpáh, euen Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, and Iohanán, and Ionathán the sonnes of Karéah, and Seraiáh the sonne of Tanhuméth, and the sonnes of Ephái, the Netophathite, and Iezaniáh the sonne of Maachathí, thei and their men.

e Who was of Kings blood and after slew him, Cha. 41.

9 And Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, the sonne of Shaphán sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the King of Babél, and it shalbe wel with you.

f King. 23, 24

10 As for me, beholde, I wil dwell at Mizpáh to serue the Caldeans, which wil come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and sommer frutes, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, & dwell in your cities, that ye haue taken.

Or, to receiue them, or to treat them for you.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in Moáb, and among the Ammonites, and in Edóm, and that were in all the countreis, heard that the King of Babél had left a remnant of Iudáh, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán,

Or, chosen to dwell in. Which were fled also for feare of the Caldeans.

12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where thei were driuen, and came to the land of Iudáh to Gedaliáh vnto Mizpáh, and gathered wine and sommer frutes, very muche.

13 Moreouer Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaynes of the hoste, that were in the fields, came to Gedaliáh to Mizpáh, 14 And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh to slay thee? But Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám beleued them not.

g For vnder colour of intertaining of Ishmaél he sought only to make the to destroy one another.

15 Then Iohanán the sonne of Karéah spake to Gedaliáh in Mizpáh secretly, saying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I wil slay Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, and no man shal knowe it. Wherefore shulde he kyl thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, shulde be scattered, and the remnant in Iudáh perishe?

h Thus the godlie, which thinke no harme to others, are somtyme deceiued & neuer lacke such as conspire their destruction.

16 But Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám said vnto Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, Thou shalt not do this thing: for thou speakest falsely of Ishmaél.

CHAP. XLI.

sonne of Elishamá of the sede royal, and the princes of the ^b King, & ten men with him, vnto Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám to Mizpáh, and there thei did ^c eat bread together in Mizpáh.

2 Then arose Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh with these ten men that were with him, and smote Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán with the sword, and slew him, whome the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmaél also slewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliáh at Mizpáh, & all the Caldeans that were founde there, & the men of warre.

4 Now the seconde daie that he had slaine Gedaliáh, and no man knewe it,

5 There came men from Shechem, fró Shilóh, & from Samaria, euen foure scoremen, hauing their beades shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with ^d offerings and incense in their hands to offre in the House of the Lord.

^d For they thought that the Temple had not bene destroyed, & therefore came vnto the least of Tabernacles, but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they shewed these signes of sorrowe.

^e For his death was kept secret, & he feared that he lamented for the destruction of Ierusalem & the Temple: but after slewe she when thei seemed to sorrowe Gedaliáh

6 And Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh went forth from Mizpáh to mete them, weping as he went: & when he met them, he said vnto them, Come ^e to Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám.

7 And when thei came into the middes of the citie, Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh slewe the, and cast them into the middes of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were founde among them, that said vnto Ishmaél, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so he staied, and slewe them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Ishmaél had cast the dead bodies of the men (whome he had slaine because of Gedaliáh) is it, which Asá the King had ^f made because of Balthá King of Israël, and Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh filled it with them that were slaine.

^f As a fortified Mizpáh for feare of the enemy, and cast dyches & trenches, i. King. 15. 22.

10 Then Ishmaél caryed away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpáh, euen the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpáh, whome Nebuzar-adán the chief steward had committed to Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, and Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh caryed them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, & all the ^g captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euil that Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh had done, ^g Which had bene captaines vnder Zedekiah.

12 Then they all toke their men, and went to fight with Ishmaél ^h sonne of Nethaniáh, and founde him by the great waters that are in Gibeón.

13 Now when all the people whome Ishmaél caryed away captiue, sawe Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ishmaél had caryed away captiue from Mizpáh, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanán the sonne of Karéah.

15 But Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, escaped from Iohanán with eight men, and went to the ⁱ Ammonites.

16 The he toke Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, & all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him all the remnant of the people, whome Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, had caryed away captiue from Mizpáh, (after that he had slaine Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, & the eunuches, whome he had brought againe from Gibeón:

^h For Balthá King of the Ammonites was the cause of this warre ther.

17 And thei departed and dwelt in Gerúth Chimham, which is by Beth-léhem, to go ⁱ to entre into Egypt, 18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh had slaine Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, whome the King of Babel made gouernour in the land.

ⁱ Which place David of olde had giuen to Chimham the sonne of Barzilai the Gileadite, 2. Sam. 33. 38.

CHAP. XLII.

^j The captaines aske counsell of Jeremiáh what they ought to do. 7. He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to go into Egypt.

1 Then all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, & Iezaniáh the sonne of Hoshaiáh, and all the people from the least vnto the moste

2 And said vnto Jeremiáh ^k Prophet, "Hear our prayer, we beseeche thee, & pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a fewe of manie, as thine eyes do beholde)

3 That the Lord thy God may shewe vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may ^l do.

4 Then Jeremiáh the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: beholde, I wil pray vnto the Lord your God according to your wordes, and whatsoeuer thing the Lord shal answer you, I wil declare it vnto you: I wil kepe nothing backe fró you.

5 Then they said to Jeremiáh, ^m The Lord be a witness of trueth, and faith betwene vs, if we do not, euen according to all things for the which the Lord thy God shal send thee to vs.

send thee that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

¶ And so after ten dayes came y^e worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh.

Then called he Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the moste.

And said vnto the, Thus saith the Lord God of Israël, vnto whome ye sent me to present your prayers before him.

If ye wil dwell in this land, then I wil buyld you, and not destroye you, and I wil plant you, and not roote you out: for I repent me of the euil that I haue done vnto you.

Feare not for the King of Babel, of whome ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand,

And I wil grant you mercie that he may haue compassion vpon you, and he shal cause you to dwell in your owne land.

But if ye say, We wil not dwell in this land, nether heare the voyce of the Lord your God,

Saying, Nay, but we wil go into the lād of Egypt, where we shal se no warre, nor heare the sounde of the trumpet, nor haue hungre of bread, and there wil we dwell,

(And now therefore heare the worde of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudáh: thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israël, If ye set your faces to entre into Egypt, and go to dwell there)

Then the sworde that ye feared, shal take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for y^e which ye care, shal there háge vpon you in Egypt, & there shal ye dye.

And all the men that set their faces to entre into Egypt to dwell there, shal dye by the sworde, by the famine & by y^e pestilence, & none of them shal remaine nor escape from the plague, that I wil bring vpon them.

For thus saith the Lord of hostes y^e God of Israël, As mine angre and my wrath hath bene powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalém: so shal my wrath be powred forth vpon you, when ye shal entre into Egypt, & ye shal be a detestation, & an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproche, and ye shal se this place no more.

O ye remnant of Iudáh, the Lord hath said concerning you, Go not into Egypt: knowe certainly that I haue admonished you this day.

Surely ye haue dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto y^e Lord our God and declare vnto vs euen according vnto all that the Lord our God shal say, and we wil do it.

Now therefore, knowe certainly that ye shal dye by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to go and dwell.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanán carryeth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrarie to the minde of Jeremiáh. Jeremiáh prophesieth the destruction of Egypt.

Now whē Ieremiáh had made an end of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which y^e Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these wordes,

Then spake Azariáh the sonne of Hoshaiah, and Iohanán the sonne of Karéah and all the proude men, saying vnto Ieremiáh, Thou speakest fallsy: the Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there,

But Barúch the sonne of Neriáh prophesieth thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and carie vs away captiues into Babel.

So Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudáh.

But Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoite toke all y^e remnant of Iudáh, that were returned from all nacions, whether they had benedried, to dwell in the land of Iudáh:

Euen men and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and euerie persone, that Nebuzar-adán the chief steward had left with Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, the sonne of Shaphán, and Ieremiáh the Prophet, & Barúch the sonne of Neriáh.

So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they to Tahpanhes.

¶ Thē came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh in Tahpanhes, saying,

Take great stones in thine hand, and hide them in the clay in the bricke kil, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudáh,

And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israël, Beholde, I wil send and bring Nebuchad-nezzár the King of Babel my seruant, and wil set his throne vpon these stones y^e I haue hid, and he shal spreade his pauillion ouer the.

And when he shal come, he shal smite the land of Egypt: such as are appointed for death, to death, & such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sworde, to the sworde.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproveth the people for their idolatrie 15 Thei that set light by the threatening of the Lord, are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt and of the Lewes therein, is prophesied.

- 1 THe worde that came to Ieremiáh concerning all the Lewes, which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remained at Migdól and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the countrey of Pathró's, saying,
- 2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israël, Ye haue sene all the euil that I haue broght vpon Ierusalém, and vpon all y cities of Iudáh; & beholde, this day thei are desolate, & no man dwelleth therein,
- 3 Because of their wickednes which thei haue committed, to prouoke me to angre in that thei went to burne incense, & to serue other gods, whome thei knewe not, neither thei nor you nor your fathers.
- 4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruantes the Prophetes rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh do not this abominable thing that I hate.
- 5 But thei wolde not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.
- 6 Wherefore my wrath, and mine angre was powred forthe and was kindled in the cities of Iudáh, and in the stretes of Ierusalém, and thei are desolate, & wasted, as appeareth this daye.
- 7 Therefore now thus saith y Lord of hostes the God of Israël, Wherefore commit ye this great euil against your soules, to cut of from you man and woman, childe & suckeling out of Iudáh, and leaue you none to remaine?
- 8 In that ye prouoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whether ye be goneto dwell: y ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproche among all nations of the earth.
- 9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednes of your fathers, and the wickednes of the Kings of Iudáh and the wickednes of their wiues and your owne wickednes and the wickednes of your wiues, which thei haue committed in the land of Iudáh and in y stretes of Ierusalém?
- 10 Thei are not humbled vnto this daie,

- neither haue thei feared nor walked in my Lawe nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.
- 11 Therefore thus saith y Lord of hostes y God of Israël, Beholde, I wil set my face against you to euil & to destroy all Iudáh,
- 12 And I wil take the remnant of Iudáh, that haue set their faces to go into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and thei shal all be consumed & fall in the land of Egypt: they shal be consumed by the sworde & by y famine: thei shal dye from the least vnto the moste, by the sworde, & by the famine, & thei shal be a detestation and an astonishment and a curse and a reproche.
- 13 For I wil visit them that dwell in the lād of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalém, by y sworde, by the famine, & by the pestilence,
- 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudáh, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shal escape or remaine, that thei shuld returne into the lād of Iudáh to the which thei haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shal returne, but as suche as shal escape.
- 15 Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, and all the women that stode by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathró's, answered Ieremiáh, saying,
- 16 The worde that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, we wil not heare it of thee,
- 17 But we wil do whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Quene of heauen, & to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, as we haue done, bothe we and our fathers, our Kings and our princes in the citie of Iudáh, and in the stretes of Ierusalém: for then had we plenty of vitales and were wel and felt none euil.
- 18 But since we left of to burne incense to the Quene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, we haue had scarcenes of all things, and haue bene consumed by the sworde and by the famine.
- 19 And when we burnt incense to the Quene of heauen & powred out drinke offrings vnto her, did we make her cakes to make her glad, and powre out drinke offrings vnto her without our housbandes?
- 20 Then said Ieremiáh vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all y people w had giue him y answer, saying,
- 21 Did not y Lord remeber the incense, that ye burnt in y cities of Iudáh, & in the stretes of Ierusalém, bothe you, & your fathers, your Kings, and your princes, and the people of y lād, & hathe he not considered it?

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wiues haue bothe spoken with your mounthes, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, We wil performe our vowes & we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to poure out drinke-offerings to her: ye wil performe your vowes and do the things that ye haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the worde of the Lord,
all Iudáh that dwell in the land of Egypt.
Beholde, I haue sworne by my great Name, saith the Lord, that my Name shal no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudáh, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth.

27 Beholde, I wil watche ouer them for euill and not for good, and all men of Iudáh that are in the land of Egypt, shal be consumed by the sworde, and by the famine, vntil they be vtterly destroyed.

28 Yet a smale nombre that escape the sworde, shal returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudáh: and all the remnant of Iudáh that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shal knowe whose wordes shal stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shal be a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, when I visite you in this place, that ye maie knowe that my wordes shal surely stand agais̄t you for euil.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seke his life: as I gaue Zedekiáh King of Iudáh into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel his enemy, who also soght his life.

Ieremiáh comforteth Baruch assuring him that he should not perish in the destruction of Ierusalem.

¶ The worde that Ieremiáh the Prophet spoke vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriáh, when he had writen these wor-des in a booke at the mouth of Ieremiáh, in the fourth yere of Ichoiakim the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, saying,

1 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,

2 Thou didest say, Wo is me now: for the Lord hath layed sorowe vnto my sorow:
I am fainted in my mourning, and I can finde no rest.

3 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lord saith thus, Beholde, that which I haue buyt, wil I destroye, & that which I haue planted, wil I plucke vp, euen this whole land.

4 And sekest thou great things for thy selfe: seke them not: for beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon all flesh, saith the Lord: but thy life wil I giue thee: for I pray in all places, whether thou goest.

He prophesieth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Deluerance is promised to Israel.

¶ The wordes of the Lord, which came to Ieremiáh the Prophet agais̄t the Gentiles,

1 As agais̄t Egypt, agais̄t the armie of Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, which was by the riuer Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel smote in the fourth yere of Ichoiakim the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh.

2 Make readie buckeler and shield, and go fourth to battel.

3 Make readie the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, & stand vp wth your fallers, fourbish the speares, and put on the brigandines.

4 Wherefore haue I sene them afraide, & driuen backe: for their mightie men are smitten, and are fled away, and loke not backe: for feare was round about, saith the Lord.

5 The swift shal not flee away, nor the strong manscape: they shal stumbe, and fall towarde the Northe by the riuer Perath.

6 Who is this, that cometh vp, as a flood, whose waters are moued like the riuers?

7 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are moued like the riuers, and he saith, I wil go vp, & wil couer the earth:
I wil destroye the citie with them that dwell therein.

8 Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye charets, and let the valiant men come forth, the blacke Mores, and the Lybians that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle & bend the bowe.

9 For this is the day of the Lord God of hostes, & a day of vengeance, that he may aduége him of his enemies: for the sworde shal deuoure, and it shal be sariat, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord

¹ The words of the Lord against the Ammonites, ⁷ Damascus, ²³ Kedar, ³⁴ & Elam.

^a They were separated from the Moabites by the river Arnon, & after that the ten tribes were carryed away into captiuitie, they invaded ⁷ country of Gad

^b To wit, of ⁷ Ammonites

^c Meaning, of the Israelites

^d Which was one of ⁷ chief cities of the Ammonites, as were Heshbón and Ai: there was also a citie called Heshbón among ⁷ Moabites

^e In thy plentiful countrey, ^f signifying ⁷ power and riches can not preuaile when as God wil execute his iudgements

^g That is, without looking backe and as euerie one can finde away to escape.

^h In the time of Christ whē ⁷ Gentiles shal be called.

¹ Vnto the children of ^a Ammón thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath he none heire? Why then hath their ^b King possessed Gad? and his people dwell in ^c his cities?

2 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I wil cause a noyse of warre to be heard in ^d Rabbáh of the Ammonites, and it shalbe a desolate heape, & her daughters shalbe burnt with fyre: then shal Israel possesse those that possessed him, saith the Lord.

3 Howle, o Heshbón, for Ai is wasted: crye ye daughters of Rabbáh: girde you with sackcloth: mourne & runne to & fro by ⁷ hedges: for their King shal go into captiuitie, & his Priests, and his princes likewise.

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the ^e valleis? thy valley floweth away, o rebellious daughter: she trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shal come vnto me?

5 Beholde, I wil bring ^f a feare vpon thee, saith the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and ye shalbe scarred euerie man ⁸ right forthe, & none shal gather him that fleeth.

6 And, ^h afterward I wil bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammón.

7 ⁷ To Edóm thus saith the Lord of hostes, Is wisdom no more in ¹ Temán? is counsell perished from their children? is their wisdom vanished?

8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedán (^k they are turned backe; and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esáu vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

9 If the ¹ grape gatherers come to thee, wolde they not leaue some grapes? if theues come by night, they wil destroye til they haue ynough.

10 For I haue discovered Esáu: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shal not be able to hide him self: his sede is wasted, and his brethré and his neighbours, and there shalbe none to say,

11 Leaue thy ^m fatherles children, & I wil preserue them aliue, and let thy widowes trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord, ⁿ Beholde, thei whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cuppe, haue assuredly drunkē, and art thou he that shal escape fre? thou shalt not go fre, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue swoine by my self, saith the Lord, that ^o Bozrah shalbe waste, and for a reproche, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shalbe perpetual desolations.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, & an embassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against ^p her, and rise vp to the battel.

15 For lo, I wil make thee but smale among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy ^q feare, and the pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rocke, and kepest the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the egle, I wil bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

17 ⁷ Also Edóm shalbe desolate: euerie one that goeth by it, shalbe astonished, & shal hiss at all the plagues thereof,

18 As in the ouerthrowe of Sodom, and of Gomoráh, and the places thereof nere about, saith the Lord: no man shal dwell there, nether shal the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Beholde, ^r he shal come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iordén vnto the strong dwelling places: for I wil make Israhel to rest, euē I wil make ^s him to haste away from her, & who is a chosē mā that I may appoint against her? for who is like me? & who wil appoint me ^t time? & who is the ¹ shephér that wil stand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that he hath deuised against Edóm, & his purpose ^y he hath conceiued against ^y in Minm. ii.

CHAP. I.

He prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

THe worde that the Lord spake, concerning Babel, ^e cöcerning the land of the Caldeans by the ² ministerie of Jeremiáh the Prophet.

² For out of the North there ^c cometh vp a nation against her, which shal make her land waste, and none shal dwell therein: they shal flee, and departe, ^{bothe} man and beast.

³ In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israël shal ^d come, they, and the children of Iudáh together, going, and ^e weeping shal they go, and seke the Lord their God.

⁴ They shal aske the waye to Ziön, with their faces thetherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetual couenant that shal not be forgotten.

⁵ ¶ My people hathe bene ^{as} ^{lo}it shepe: their ¹ shepherdes haue caused them to go astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from ² mountaine to hil, ^e forgotté their resting place.

⁶ All that found them, haue deuoured thé, and their enemies said, We offend not because they haue sinned against the Lord, ^h the habitation of iustice, ^{euen} the Lord the hope of their fathers.

⁷ ¶ Flee from the middes of Babel, and departe out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the he goates ² before the flocke.

¹ I wil place Nebuchad-nezzár there, and in these prophesies Jeremiáh speaketh of those countreies, which shoulde be subdued vnder the first of those foure monarchies whereof Daniel maketh mention.

^k This may be referred to the empire of the Persians, and Medes after ³ Caldeans, or vnto the time of Christ, as Chap 48, 47.

⁴ He speaketh to the enemies the Medes and Persians

⁵ Though the Lord called y^e Babylonians his seruants, and their worke his worke in punishing his people, yet because they did it not to glorifie God, but for their owne malice, & to profite them selues, it is here called sinne.

²⁸ Or, of this shalbe the reward.

11 Because ye were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, & because ye are grown fat, as the calves in the stable, & neyed like strong horses, 12 Therefore your mothers shalbe sore confounded, and she that bare you, shalbe ashamed: beholde, the vttermoſt of the nations shalbe a desert, a drye land, & a wildeynes.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord it shal not be inhabited, but shalbe wholly desolate: euerie one that goeth by Babel, shal be astonished, & hisse at all her plagues.

14 Put your selues in araye against Babel round about: all ye that bend the bowe, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for she hath sinned against the Lord.

15 Crye against her round about: she hath giuen her hand: her foundations are falle, & her walles are destroyed: for it is y^e vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as she hath done, do vnto her.

16 Destroye the tower from Babel, and him that handleth the sieh in the time of haruest: because of the sworde of the oppressour they shal turne euerie one to his people, and they shal flee euerie one to his owne land.

17 Israel is like scattered shepe: the Lyons haue disperfed them: first the King of Asshur hath deuoured him, & last this Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath broke his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil visite the King of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the King of Asshur.

19 And I wil bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shal fede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shalbe satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shalbe sought for, and there shal be none: and the finnes of Iudah, & they shal not be found: for I wil be merciful vnto them, whome I referue.

21 Go vp against the land of the rebelles, euen against it, and against the inhabitants of Pekod: destroye, and lay it waste after them, saith the Lord, and do according to all that I haue commanded thee.

22 A crye of battell in the land, & of great destruction.

23 How is the hammer of the whole worlde destroyed, and broken! how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

24 I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art founde, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hostes in y^e land of the Caldeans.

26 Come against her from the vtmost border: open her store houses: tread on her as on sheaues, and destroye her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroye all her bullockes: let them go downe to the slaughter. Wo vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

28 The voice of them that flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion y^e vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all ye that bend y^e bowe, besiege it rounde about: let none thereof escape: recompence her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, do vnto her: for she hath bene proude against the Lord, euen against the holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shal her yong men fall in the stretes, and all her men of warre shalbe destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.

31 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proude man, saith the Lord God of hostes: for thy day is come, euen the time that I wil visite thee.

32 And the proude shal stumble and fall, & none shal raise him vp: and I wil kindle a fyre in his cities, and it shal deuoure all rounde about him.

33 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that toke them captiues, helde them, and wolde not let them go.

34 But their strong redemer, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, he shal mainteine their cause, that he may giue rest to the land, & disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35 A sworde is vpon the Caldeans, saith the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men.

36 A sworde is vpon the sothefayers, and thei shal dote: a sworde is vpon her strong men, and thei shal be afraied.

37 A sworde is vpon their horses and vpon their charrets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and thei shal be like women: a sworde is vpon her treasures, and thei shal be spoiled.

38 A drought is vpon her waters, and thei shal be dried vp: for it is the lad of graue images, and thei dote vpon their idoles.

39 Therefore y^e Ziiims with the Iims shal dwell there, & the ostriches shal dwell therein: for it shal be no more inhabited, neither shal it be inhabited from generation vnto generation.

CHAP. I I.

1 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vaine of idolaters.
49 Jeremiah gaueh his booke to Seraiah.

Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying winde,

2 And wil send vnto Babel fanners that shal fanne her, and shal emptie her land:
for in y^e day of trouble thei shal be against her on euerie side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himself vp in his brigandine, wil I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroye all her hoste.

4 Thus the flaine shal fall in the lād of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streres.

5 For Israel hath bene no widow, nor Iudáh from his God, from the Lord of hostes, though their lād was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel.

6 Flee out of the middes of Babel, & de-liuer euerie mā his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lord's vengeance: he wil rendre vnto her a recompence.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cuppe in the Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore do the nations rage.

* Babel is suddely fallen, & destroyed: how-le for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed.

9 We wolde haue cured Babel, but she wil de not be healed: forsake her, and let vs go euerie one into his owne countreie: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, & is lifted vp to the cloudes.

10 The Lord hath brought forth the our righteousnes: come and let vs declare in Zión the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: gather y^e shil-des: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroye it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the standart vpon the walles of Babel, make the watche strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the skoutes: for the Lord hath bothe deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine end is come,

25 Beholde, I come vnto thee, o destroying mountaine, saith the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I wil stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roll thee downe from the rockes, & wil make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 Thei shal not take of thee a stone for a corne, nor a stone for fundaciós, but thou shalt be deltoied for euer, saith the Lord.

27 Set vp a standart in the land: blowe the trumpets among the nacions: prepare the nacions against her: call vp the king domes of Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenáz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare against her the nacions with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, & the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shal tremble & sorowe: for the deuise of the Lord shal be perform d against Babél, to make the land of Babél waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babél haue ceased to fight: thei haue remained in their holdes: their strength hath failed, and thei were like women: thei haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A post shal runne to mete the post, and a messenger to mete the messenger, to shewe the King of Babél, that his citie is taken on a side thereof,

32 And that the passages are stopped, and y redes burnt with fyre, and the me of warre troubled.

33 For thus saith y Lord of hostes the God of Israél, The daughter of Babél is like a threshing floore: the time of her threshing is come: yet a litle while, and the time of her haruest shal come.

34 Nebuchad nazzár y King of Babél hath deuoured me, & destroyed me: he hath made me an empty vessel: he swallowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belie with my delicates, & hath cast me out.

35 The spoile of me, & that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babél, shal the inhabitant of Zión say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, shal Ierusalem say.

36 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil mainteine thy cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I wil drye vp the sea, and drye vp her springs.

27 And Babél shal be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, without an inhabitant.

38 Thei shal roare together like lions, and yell as the lions whelpes.

39 In their heat I wil make them feastes, and I wil make them drunken, that they may reioice, and slepe a perpetual slepe, and not wake, saith the Lord.

40 I wil bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter, & like rams and goates.

41 How is y Sheshách taken! and how is the glorie of the whole earth taken! how is Babél become an astonishment among the nacions!

42 The sea is come vp vpon Babél: she is couered with the multitude of the waues thereof.

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is drye & a wildernes, a land wherein no mā dwel leth, nether doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I wil also visite Bel in Babél, and I wil bring out of his mouth, that which he hath swallowed vp, and the nacions shal runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babél shal fall.

45 My people, go out of the middes of her, & deliuer ye euerie man his soule frō the fierce wrath of the Lord,

46 Left your heart euen faint, and ye feare the rumour, that shal be heard in the land: the rumour shal come this yere, and after that in the other yere shal come a rumour, and crueltie in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, that I wil visite the images of Babél, and the whole land shal be confounded, & all her slaine shal fall in the middes of her.

48 Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, shal reioice for Babél: for the destroyers shal come vnto her frō the North, saith the Lord.

49 As Babél caused the slaine of Israél to fall, so by Babél the slaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that haue escaped the sworde, go away, stande not stil: remembre the Lord afaire of, & let Ierusalem come into your minde.

51 We are confounded because we haue heard reproche: shame hath couered our face: for strangers are come into the sanctuaries of the Lords House.

52 Wherefore beholde, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil visite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shal grieve.
